Ceremony Announces Beginning of G-A Volksfest

BBde Programs Observe Annual Library Week

The 10th anniversary of National Library Week will be observed throughout the United States and by units of the Department of the Army from April 16 through 22.

The growing complexity of our civilization and the increasing level of our population and its changing cultural characteristics have created and will continue to create new and heavier demands upon libraries. The concept of total community access to a variety of reading sources for information and education as well as enjoyment is one of the objectives of the Army Library Program.

Here in Berlin, in honor of the occasion, a number of programs have been planned by the Brigade Librarian Pat Bramlett and members of the library staffs.

The first program will be a book discussion led by Mrs. Dorothy Hendee of the Crump Hall Library at the All-American Service Club, McNair Barracks, April 16, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

An open house will be conducted at Crump Hall Library, April 18, between 3 and 5 p.m., to which all members of the American Community are invited to attend. Special book displays, hand-out literature and an exhibition of a microfilm reader, an opaque projector and other items of interest will be on display.

The following evening, April 19, beginning at 8 p.m., Major Ed Platt, Largest Annual Community Event Will Recreate St. Augustine, Fla.

The Seventh German-American Volksfest theme -- "Saint Augustine, Florida" -- was officially announced Tuesday, April 11, during a ground-breaking ceremony at the Berlin Brigade Sports Center Field.

Brigadier General James L. Baldwin, commanding general, Berlin Brigade, and Hans-Joachim Schnitzer, Mayor of the American Sector District of Zehlendorf, turned the spade of earth to signal the beginning of construction of the Volksfest village which is to be completed in July.

The Volksfest is the U.S. Army's largest annual community relations event in Berlin. Annually, a part of America's history and culture is recreated in Berlin for 16 days. This year's Volksfest will run from July 22 through August 6, recreating "St. Augustine, Florida -- the Oldest City in the United States."

After General Baldwin and Mayor Schnitzer officially broke the ground in front of the four flags that have flown over Saint Augustine -- Spanish, British, Confederate and the United States -- representatives of the Berliner Kindl Brewery presented General Baldwin with a check for 12,000 DM to help in the construction of the village.

Lieutenant Colonel Thomas C. Clary, Volksfest director, and Siegfried Zarske, Volksfest architect and builder, then escorted the dignitaries to a model of the Volksfest village and pointed out the buildings and their proposed locations. The ceremony ended as refreshments were served by the Harnack House and Berliner Kindl.

Recreation of Oldest City

This year's historical Volksfest presentation will recreate "Saint Augustine, Florida," which was founded by the Spanish in 1565. Mr. Siegfried Zarske is again responsible for designing and building the Volksfest's American historical village. This is the sixth German-American Volksfest for which Mr. Zarske has served as architect and builder.

Saint Augustine was named by Don Pedro Menendez de Aviles, Spain's number one admiral. He chose that name because he had first sighted Florida on August 28th,

Replicas of Buildings

Recreated at the Volksfest will be the famous Old City Gates of Saint Augustine which for many years guarded the drawbridge across the moat over which the city was entered from the north. A facade of the old fort -- the Castillo de San Marcos -- will also be reconstructed. Work on the original fort was begun in 1672 and took 24 years to complete. The oldest wooden school house in America will also be recreated in the Volksfest village as will the oldest surviving house in Saint Augustine and the Mission of Nombre de Dios (Church of the Name of God). A replica of the legendary "Fountain of Youth," which the Spanish explorer Ponce de Leon reportedly sought near Saint Augustine, will also be reconstructed at the Seventh German-American Volksfest.

The Sixth German-American Volksfest, held in 1966, set an all-time record for the huge community relations event as more than 440,000 people passed through the gates to observe "The Alamo" recreated in Berlin. All proceeds derived from the Volksfest are donated to local youth groups and various other charitable organizations.

Mayor Designates City

Coincidental with the Volksfest ground-breaking ceremony in Berlin, the city of Saint Augustine, Florida was designated the "VOLKSFEST CITY" in a proclamation by the Honorable John D. Bailey, mayor-commissioner of Saint Augustine.

In part the proclamation read: "I, John D. Bailey, Mayor of the City of Saint Augustine, in the state of Florida, do hereby proclaim and designate Saint Augustine, Florida as 'VOLKSFEST CITY' for the period of April 11 through August 6, 1967, in recognition of the honor paid to our community by this recreation of the Nation's Oldest City, and as a sign both of our friendship for the German people in Berlin and our desire to join with them wholeheartedly in celebrating the 1967 German-American Volksfest."

The 298th Army Band entertained with Spanish-type music at the ground-breaking ceremony, and among the guests were members of the Volksfest Committee and Mr. Hans Purwin, the Volksfest concessionaire.

U.S. TV Programs Scheduled to Begin Monday; Ribbon-Cutting Ceremony to Open TV Facility

Berlin's long-awaited American Television Station will become a reality Monday, April 17. United States Armed Forces Television (AFTV) Berlin will begin broadcasting on a regular schedule at 5 p.m. on that day.

The station will be formally opened at a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 11 a.m. Monday, April 17. Holding the scissors will be the Vice-Commander-in-Chief of the United States Air Forces in Europe, Lieutenant General Arthur C. Agan and Major General John F. Franklin Jr., U.S. Commander, Berlin.

According to the station commander, First Lieutenant Rallin J. Aars, the first program will be a documentary of the history of the United States Armed Forces Radio and Television Service (AFRTS) and of the construction of the Berlin station. This feature will be followed by the station's regular schedule of news and packaged programs provided by the AFRTS headquarters.

Television in the Dahlem-Zehlendorf area will be received on UHF, Channel 25. This frequency may be received without modification on any United States TV set manufactured since February 1965, or what is commonly known as an 83-channel set.

The AFTV signal will be relayed to Tempelhof Central Airport where it will be rebroadcast in the immediate area over VHF Channel 12.

Station antennas in both locations have been installed to limit reception to the American housing areas. Although Germans in the vicinity of the two transmitters may be able to receive a picture, they will not be able to hear the American sound without converting their German receivers.

The television studio is housed in the former APO on Saargemunder Strasse. This building was remodeled by the Berlin Brigade Engineer and Installations Division under the supervision of Lieutenant Colonel Stuart McArthur. Installation of equipment was by a team from the

2874th GEEIA Squadron from Ramstein Air Base under the supervision of Mr. Bruce Joyner and Mr. Frank Graham of the Sacramento AFRTS Engineering Branch. Lieutenant Colonel James D. Donnelly, the U.S. Army project officer for the Armed Forces Television in Berlin and the personnel of his Communications and Electronics Division contributed significantly to the completion of the TV facilities as did the project

German-American Coin Group Sponsors First Annual Exhibit

More than 2,000 coin-collecting enthusiasts are expected to converge on the Harnack House on April 23, to view numismatic displays and dealers items valued at nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

Sponsored by the newly-formed German-American Coin Club of Berlin, an organization composed of both German and U.S. collectors, the affair is the first of its kind ever to be held in Berlin.

Exhibitors and dealers from such places as Frankfurt, Hamburg and Ramstein, as well as the city of Berlin, will be on hand with choice numismatic items gathered from every country of the world.

Visitors to the show will be able to view world coin rarities such as the famous "Russian Family Ruble," of which only 40 were minted in 1836; the New Zealand "Waitangi Treaty Crown," with a mintage of just a little over 750; and a pair of excessively rare five-cent patterns of Hawaii of which only three of each were struck.

Scheduled to take place from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., the event will be held in the Ball Room. Admission will be free, but chances on door prizes will be sold for 25 cents with the proceeds going to charity.

All German and American collectors, and non-collectors interested in the best that coin collecting has to offer should not miss this opportunity to attend what promises to be a fine exhibition.

French to Hold Horse Show

Major General Francois Binoche, French Commandant, Berlin, has announced that the annual French Horse Show of the Berlin Garrison will take place June 10 and 11 on the race grounds of the French Equestrian Center, inside the Quartier Napoleon.

Interested persons are requested to contact the Monsieur le Colonel Commandant, the director of the show, by calling 4129-2065.

Presidential Disability

After 180 years of constitutional ambiguity and many years of careful study and research, the problem of Presidential disability and succession has been resolved and defined within the limits of human foresight and planning.

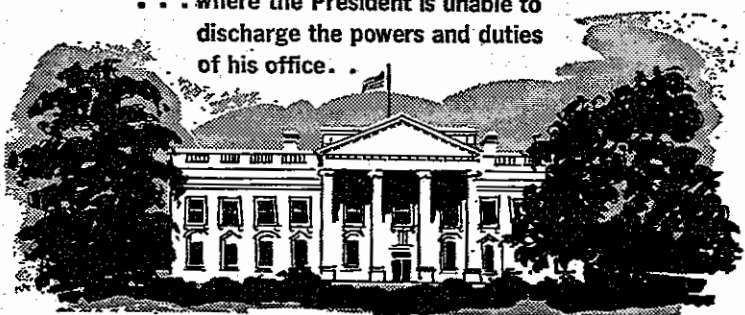

The 25th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, ratified Feb. 10, 1967, gives the Nation an orderly means of dealing with a crisis caused by either permanent or temporary disability of the President.

Section One of the amendment specifically authorizes the Vice President to become President in the event of the death or resignation of the President, rather than assuming only the "powers and duties" of the office.

Although this has been the custom since 1841 when John Tyler succeeded President William Henry Harrison, it was never officially stated in the Constitution.

25th AMENDMENT

- ... where the President is unable to discharge the powers and duties of his office.

To further insure that a qualified alternate is always available to assume the responsibilities of the Presidency in the event of crises, Section Two of the amendment gives the President authority to appoint, with the consent of both houses of Congress, a new Vice President whenever that office is vacant. Thus, whenever a Vice President succeeds to the Presidency or dies in office and the office of Vice President is unfilled, the President is assured of being able to fill the office almost immediately rather than waiting until the next national election.

Section Three of the amendment provides a method for the President to temporarily transfer power to the Vice President at any time and to resume that power on his own option. This will allow an exhausted or ill President to gain respite from the burdens of his office.

Thus, the question of Presidential disability, long a serious problem, has been resolved and the Nation is assured of continuity in the exercise of the powers and duties of our most important office. (AFNB)

Bde Work Simplifying Course Teaches Personnel To Improve Working Methods, Increase Efficiency

"Work simplification," an Army-wide program, is taught here in the Berlin Brigade to both U.S. and German supervisory personnel.

In the 13-hour course, the fundamentals of work distribution, flow process analysis, work count, motion economy and layout planning are presented to the students. By implementing these principles, it has been possible to improve working methods, provide better working conditions and increase efficiency throughout the Brigade.

between management and workers.

Each supervisor is expected to make a work simplification improvement proposal for his individual area of supervision. Full participation in the course on a command-wide basis has resulted in the better use of manpower, equipment, material and space.

Supervisors' proposals implemented in the 3rd Quarter, FY 1967 are expected to result in a saving of $16,492 per year for the Brigade as well as providing many other intangible benefits to the employees.

Vanguard Soldiers Conduct Training at Wildflecken; Platoon, Company Attack & Defense Highlight Week

The 4th Battalion, 18th Infantry is well underway with its three-week semi-annual zonal training period at Wildflecken in the Federal Republic of Germany.

The Vanguardsmen, under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Donald J. Hassin, have been training in the Rhone Mountain area for the past two weeks.

Platoon live-fire attack, platoon live-fire defense, company attack and company defense, with companies A, B and C participating, were the training topics for the first days.

During the platoon live-fire attack, the platoons moved from their assembly area to conduct their attack on "enemy" troops represented by silhouette targets. Enroute to the objective, the platoons were confronted with simulated sniper and artillery fire. Following the seizure of the objective, the platoons received a counter-attack.

The platoon defense problem was conducted in two phases. The first phase consisted of the platoons setting up a hasty defense position in a designated assembly area. During this phase, the platoons received probing action from the "aggressor" forces.

During the second phase, the "aggressor" forces launched an all-out attack. The platoons used their artillery fire and small arms as the "enemy" came into range. As the "aggressors" launched their final assault, the signal was given for the platoons to fire their final protective fire.

The purpose of the company attack was to give the individuals within the company an opportunity to conduct a live-fire attack utilizing all small arm and crew-served weapons organic to a rifle company.

Bn Undergoes General Inspection, CMMI

The 2nd Battalion, 6th Infantry underwent its annual general inspection, as well as the CMMI (Command Maintenance and Management Inspection) during this week. Company A was the first of the Guardian companies to be inspected by the CMMI team on Monday. At this time, first, second and third echelon inspection of vehicles was conducted at the battalion motor pool. A certain percentage of various types of battalion vehicles was given a complete inspection by the team while the drivers of the vehicles stood by to test them for operation.

As standard procedure went for this inspection, a company would have its CMMI one day and its IG the next. Company A was inspected by Lieutenant Colonel Robert P. Story, inspector general, Berlin Brigade, and his team on April 11. At the same time the CMMI ordnance team visited Company C to inspect their vehicles.

The Inspector General's tour of the company usually involved the entire day and during this time he checked the billets and the troops for personal appearance and care of their equipment, with special attention to cleanliness of personal area and field gear.

The men were questioned concerning their particular occupation or job assignments including facts and information about their assigned weapons.

The CMMI team checked not only the care and maintenance of the vehicles but also the company's and battalion's records and equipment in the areas of chemical, signal, engineering and quartermaster.

Even 10 Inches of Snow Doesn't Stop Re-Up SGT

Ten inches of fresh fallen snow, moist mountain air and slippery Wildflecken streets don't stop the reenlistment NCO of the 4th Battalion, 18th U.S. Infantry from doing his job.

Staff Sergeant George C. Cunningham, Vanguard re-up NCO, has reenlisted three personnel, one of which is the first U.S. for Berlin Brigade for this quarter, while the battalion has been participating in its semi-annual zonal training here.

The latest soldier to reenlist was Specialist Four Douglas C. Petties, Company C of the Vanguard Battalion. His official reenlistment time was 0001 hours on April 7, 1967. Specialist Petties, an M79 operator, was reenlisted in the field by Lieutenant Colonel Donald J. Hassin, battalion commander.

The ceremony took place last Friday morning after the Wildflecken Sub-Post, the community of Wildflecken and the surrounding mountain villages were covered with a white blanket.

Also reenlisted within the battalion this month were Private First Class Joseph D. Clevenger of Company C and Staff Sergeant Robert C. Torka of Headquarters Company.

The 4th Battalion, 18th Infantry finished first in the Berlin Brigade for reenlistments during the first quarter of 1967 with a figure of 59.6 percent.

Cubs Open Track Season With Win; McCalley Wins 3 Events in Tri-Meet

The Berlin-American High School Cubs successfully opened their 1967 track season as they soundly topped two other teams in a tri-meet held Saturday at Yankee Stadium, Andrews Barracks. The sky was overcast and light showers hit the field events during the morning, but the sun came through in the afternoon for the running events. The Cubs tallied 72 points for the day, as compared to 55 for the Bearcats from Bad Kreuznach and 36 points for the Bitburg Barons.

Larry McCalley was the top point-getter for the home Cubs, as he picked up three individual first places and ran a leg on the winning 800-meter relay team. McCalley, in the first official outing of the season, showed all European competition that he is out to break the USDESEA triple jump record this year, as he limbered up with a total distance of 40 feet 5½ inches. He won the USDESEA hop-step-jump last year with a jump of 43 feet 3½ inches. In other events, McCalley, jumping in competition for the first time, cleared 5 feet 6½ inches in the high jump to take that event. He also took the broad jump with a leap of 19 feet 2¼ inches for his total 16¼ points for the meet.

Bad K's Fred Cheeks was another top attention-getter in the meet as he won three events and placed second to McCalley in the high jump. Cheeks ran at ease as he took first place wins in the 100-meter dash (:11.5), 400-meter dash (:55.8) and the 200-meter dash (:24.1).

Berlin's Tom Robinson is to be commended for his second place finish in the 800-meter run. After taking a tumble on the first turn of the first lap and falling to last place, Robinson fought his way back into second for the finish. He was more successful in the 1500-meter run as he won with ease in 4:51.

Mike Chaney picked up 12 points for the Cubs with a win in the pole vault, seconds in the high hurdles and the broad jump and a third place in the high jump. He had no competition in the pole vault, so he just had to make one jump.

Steve Cooch was another double winner for the Bad K thinclads, with wins in the shot put and the discus.

Mike Miller was the top performer for the Barons, with a win in the 180-yard low hurdles (:24.1), a second in the discus and a third in the shot put.

AFN to Broadcast Baseball Games

The American Forces Network-Berlin will kick-off its weekend coverage of major league baseball for the 1967 season tomorrow night when it broadcasts its first of two weekend encounters featuring both American and National League action.

In the first game-of-the-week, the Chicago White Sox, who had a 16-10 won-loss record in exhibition play this year, will entertain the Washington Senators in Comiskey Park. The Senators compiled a 14-12 record in spring exhibitions.

On Sunday night the action will shift to the National League, as the San Francisco Giants invade Crosley Field for an encounter with the Cincinnati Reds. The Giants topped the National League edition of the Grapefruit League standings with a record of 17-9, while Cincinnati had a 17-12 record.

Both games will be broadcast at 9:05 p.m., atmospheric conditions permitting.

The baseball season was officially opened Tuesday as the New York Yankees topped the Washington Senators in Washington, 8-0, and the Cincinnati Redlegs opened the National League by dropping the Los Angeles Dodgers, 6-1, in Cincinnati.

The Baltimore Orioles and the Pittsburgh Pirates have been tabbed the pre-season favorites for the 1967 World Series, with the Minnesota Twins and the Detroit Tigers in the American League and the San Francisco Giants and the Atlanta Braves in the National League putting up the biggest threats.

1967 Braves Football Coaching Staff Selected

In our major sports it is necessary to think several months ahead of the opening date, to formulate plans and start the ball rolling to a successful season. So it is with the Berlin Braves 1967 football edition.

Experienced Men

The four have a vast amount of gridiron experience behind them. Sandlin has been participating as a coach and player on the gridiron since 1939, and has studied under some of the great coaches in today's coaching profession, including "Bear" Bryant, Duffy Daugherty, Bud Wilkinson and Paul Dietzel.

Coach Sandlin has prior experience as head mentor of a division-level Army team and a regimental team in the Far East, and was line coach for last year's Braves football team. Berlin's line was considered to be one of the best in Europe. Sandlin also has playing experience with one stint with a professional team. Since entering the Army in 1947 he has been selected to seven All-Far East squads, four All-Europe squads and has been honorable mention on All-Army teams. In his first tour in the Divided City in 1959, he was elected to the league coaches' all-star team as captain. Sandlin repeated the performance in 1960 and was additionally elected to the All-Army squad after being instrumental in leading Berlin to an undefeated season.

Player-coach Mike Davis played ball with the University of Utah four years and served for a year as assistant coach before entering the Army in 1965. Davis' ability as a player has been outstanding. On last year's squad, he was shifted to a position that was new for him, but quickly developed into one of the best quarterbacks in the league. On defense Davis was somewhat of a phenomenon as a defensive half-back and was selected to the All-USAFA squad. Davis also doubled as the backfield coach.

Donald Veazey has football experience with Lackland Air Force Base and prior to entering the service, with New Mexico State University. Veazey will head the backfield and with his prior experience should be a valuable asset to the coaching staff.

Richard Munk, who will also be listed as player-coach, played college football with the University of Wisconsin. While playing with Wisconsin, he played in the 1963 Rose Bowl game.

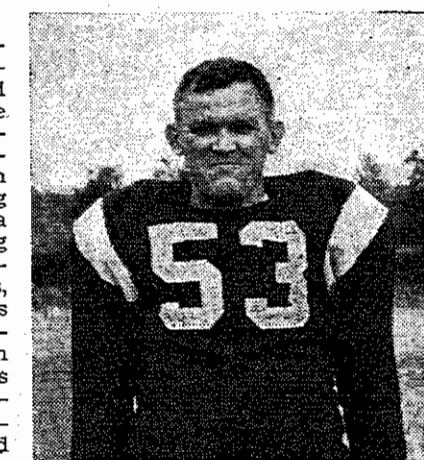

The Berlin offense will operate out of a split-T formation with split ends, flanker men in motion and a full backfield, and will concentrate on timing and speed.

The defense alignment will be basically the same as last year's squad, that type utilized by Alabama and Utah. This year's team will have more of the Alabama-type offense and defense which indicates that they will be quick, alert and aggressive.

Returning Veterans

The Braves have an outstanding crop of veterans who should return from last year's squad, including All-League center Clarence Dean, Davis, All-League defensive end Randy Rendon, honorable mention All-League guard John Holt and tackle Chuck Pilcher.

Others expected to return from last year are defensive lineman Tom Zender, "Fire Plug" Miller, Bill Sweeney, "Golden Boy" Sertin, James Krivonak, Ralph Vitali, Ben Conrad, Holloway "That-away" Moore, Lucien Young, Nate Wood, Frank Letoile, kicker Mike Henderson, Bob Routt, Jim Feaster and Pete O'Leary. Two promising newcomers are Richard Munk and Bobby Frazier, who quarterbacked at Tennessee State University.

As director, Vittorio De Sica spoofs his profession with a wild fake movie-making sequence. A return to the screen after a long absence is Victor Mature. Also starring Britt Eklund, Akim Tamiroff, Martin Balsam and Paolo Stoppo.

ALVAREZ KELLY—A hefty action picture in the Western tradition. William Holden in one of his most striking roles plays an adventurer delivering cattle desperately needed to feed Civil War soldiers. The film is based on a true story. Richard Widmark and Patrick O'Neal are also superb. The film has a tight script, vivid direction and good dialogue. Even the love interest (Janice Rule) has a point. One funny point: Holden's strikingly 1967 duds in a Civil War era story. Only at Stewart.

Seventh Army Soldiers Chorus Entertains Germans, Americans

Somebody said "raise a ruckus tonight" and the 29 men of the Seventh Army Soldiers Chorus did that more than once in Berlin last week.

The first "ruckus" was one of the songs they sang from the movie "How The West Was Won" and the second, and largest "ruckus" that was raised, was the overwhelming response the chorus received at their two performances in the Divided City.

The chorus arrived in Berlin Tuesday, April 4. Their major reason for coming was to perform in the International Police Chorus Concert at the High School for Music, on Hardenbergstrasse, two days later.

Wednesday gave them a chance for a dress rehearsal at the downtown auditorium and in the evening they gave their only performance for the American community, at the All-American Service Club, McNair Barracks.

The hour-long show featured American spirituals, folk songs and Broadway and movie music. Witnessed by nearly 200 Berliners and soldiers, the chorus also performed several songs in German.

The songsters were directed by their commander, Captain John P. Casey, and piano accompaniment was provided by their executive officer, First Lieutenant James B. Doyle. The chorus performed in their usual dress of brilliant red blazers, with the Seventh Army patch on the breast pocket and black trousers.

Thursday, April 6, provided the highlight of the Berlin visit for the singers when they received an enthusiastic reception at the police concert from the more than 1,100 persons attending. They performed two spirituals: "I'm Going to Ride in a Chariot" and "Sit down Servant," a medley of four songs from "How the West Was Won," "Lara's Theme" from the movie "Dr. Zhivago," and the popular "I Could Have Danced All Night" from "My Fair Lady."

Also performing in the concert, the profits of which went to charity, were choruses from Sweden, the Netherlands, West Germany and the Berlin Police Chorus and Orchestra.

The next evening, in the Neukölln District, a small party was held for all the performers and each chorus briefly serenaded the others. Again the singing soldiers were heartily applauded.

The chorus left Berlin April 8 for their home post at Heidelberg. But plans call for them to return here next month for several days when they will again present their music for the Americans serving here.

Did you know that Berlin has a puppet theater for adults? The little theater called "die buhne" is located in the Uraniahaushaus on Kleiststrasse and plays nightly at 8 p.m. with the exception of Sunday and Monday. Saturday at 5 p.m., however, the children are included in the program too, and the group plays fairy tales for their "little" audience. The program for adults changes quite often, so you might call 887-1869 to find out what is on for the evening you want to go. Tonight "Faust" is the featured attraction. The admission prices are small and you can always get tickets at the door.

The 18-year-old Andreas Klein is going to play a piano concert in the College of Music on Hardenbergstrasse on April 30. This young talent will perform Bach's "Italian Concert," Mussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition" and preludes and waltzes by Chopin. This evening of piano music costs you between 2 DM and 4 DM.

There are still some tickets to be had for the only Berlin concert of the world-famous flamenco guitarist Carlos Montoya. He will play a new program in the College of Music this Tuesday, April 18. This same evening a master of another string instrument, the violin, will fill the auditorium of the Congress Hall in the Tiergarten with the music of Brahms, Prokofiev and Paganini. The Rumanian violinist Ion Voicou, pupil of David Oistrach, is said to be the most prominent interpreter of Paganini's music on his stradivari. Check with the PX ticket agency for tickets.

Each Saturday in April at 6 p.m., there is an evening concert of church music in the Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial Church. The Bach Choir of Berlin under the direction of Karl Hochreither sings cantatas by Bach. An experience to be recommended if you haven't been inside of this "point of interest" in Berlin.

If you understand German and prefer your theater entertainment to be out of the ordinary, get yourself some tickets for the Schlosspark-Theater in Steglitz for April 23. This evening Vitrac's "Victor oder Die Kinder an der Macht" (Victor or the Children in Power) is playing. This somewhat surrealist play tells how a little boy, who is quite mature for his age, exposes the sins of his family and friends which are carefully hidden behind the Victorian morals of the time. The plot which develops is as funny as it is strange. Tickets for this play sell out fast, so order soon.

The lady of the house will find the exhibition at the Funkturm, which opens tomorrow at 1 p.m., quite interesting. "The Woman of our Time," as it is named, is for and about the international housewife of today. The exhibition will run until April 30 and will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.
