

Rally Day Attendance Over 500 Last Sunday

by Rev. K. G. Jung

Rally Day was held at the American Community Chapel Sunday, at 10:30 a.m. More than 500 people attended the unique service, which recognized Sunday School students and promoted them to their next grades.

Beth Melton, Nancy Lou Jung, Debbie Maryland and Becky Spradlin, students of the Berlin American High School and John F. Kennedy School, and members of the Senior High School class read the scriptures and led the prayers during the service. The Junior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Susan Willis, sang "Amazing Grace."

Mrs. Sandra Thomas and her sixth grade class presented a well produced play based on the Book of Esther. The children, after studying the Old Testament narrative, wrote and produced the play themselves and made their own costumes.

The apse of the chapel was decorated beautifully with 300 fuchsia and geranium plants. The plants and Certificates of Promotion were presented to the students by their teachers and the Sunday School Superintendent, Mr. S. A. Buchanan.

The Rally Day service was very meaningful and made an impressive closing service for the 1970-71 Sunday School year. The 1971-72 Sunday School year will begin June 6. The Berlin Brigade Sunday School program operates throughout the year. Due to vacations and rotations there is always a need for teachers and helpers. Interested persons may call the chapel, 819 6356, for more information.

The Vacation Church School (VCS), another important religious emphasis of the Department of Religious Education, will take place at the Thomas A. Roberts school June 14-25, Monday-Friday, 9-11:30 a.m. "God and My Life" is the main topic the students and teachers will discuss. The VCS is a program designed for all children, Protestant and Catholic, with the approval of the Catholic Chaplain. Classes are available for children aged 3-14. Children who will be three years old before Dec. 31 may register for the nursery class.

Handicraft, recreation, worship and refreshments will also be vital emphases of the VCS. This well-rounded program will be an exciting change-of-pace activity as it enlarges and enriches the experiences of the children. A vacation church school provides a different kind of opportunity for Christian education than can be found in any other setting. It has a distinctive and vital contribution to make to the total program of Christian education.

Those children who have not registered may do so during the opening days of VCS. Bus transportation from the outlying housing areas will be provided.

British To Hold Parade Honoring Queen Elizabeth

British Forces here will hold a parade to mark the birthday of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II on the Maifeld at Olympic Stadium Thursday at 5 p.m. The parade will be led by the commandant of the British Sector of Berlin, Major General The Earl Cathcart.

Highlights of the parade will be the Trooping of the Queen's Color of the 2nd Battalion, The Royal Regiment of Fusiliers, who leave Berlin later this year after a two-year stay here; a fly-past by British Army helicopters and a feu-de-jolie, which will include a 21-gun salute fired by men of A Squadron, 1st The Queen's Dragoon Guards from their Centurion battle tanks.

The massed bands of the three British infantry battalions in Berlin — 1st Battalion, The Queen's Regiment; 2nd Battalion, The Royal Regiment of Fusiliers; and 1st Battalion, The 22nd (Cheshire) Regiment — will perform, and fanfares will be played by the Trumpeters of the Queen's Own Hussars, who will travel to Berlin for the parade.

Also on parade will be members of all supporting arms and services of the British Berlin Infantry Brigade.

All Berliners, city visitors and Allied servicemen are welcome to watch the ceremony, which is unique to the British Army. There is ample seating available and admission is free.

Spectators may enter via the main entrance on Passenheimerstrasse. Parking areas are close by.

Regulations For Travelers

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — Beginning immediately commercial airlines will be asking for DD Form 1580 along with leave papers when servicemen want to purchase Military Standby and Military Reservation tickets.

The DD 1580 is the military's Authorization for Air Travel. In the past, commercial airlines have accepted leave orders or leave papers as a substitute for the form.

If no form is presented, "Airline ticket agents will have no recourse but to refuse sale of reduced fare tickets to military personnel," according to officials of the Military Traffic Management and Terminal Service, which monitors the program.

For air travel, fare reductions of two types are offered: the Military Standby Fare and the Military Reservation Fare.

The standby fare permits seats remaining available after all reservations have been claimed to be offered military passengers at approximately half of the applicable fare. The reservation fare, approximately two-thirds fare, is accepted in advance of scheduled departure and space is confirmed similar to that for other passengers with full fare reservations.

Military members are eligible for reduced military fares on the following basis:

- On active duty as a member of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps or Coast Guard, or a cadet of the respective academies.
- On official leave, pass liberty, furlough, or within seven days of discharge.
- Traveling at their own expense.
- Traveling in uniform.

Commencement

Commencement exercises for the graduating class of Berlin American High School will be held Monday in the school auditorium. The 45-minute ceremony is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. Several seniors will present a short selection of contemporary songs and Minister David Klein will present diplomas to graduates. Awards and scholarships will also be presented. The public is invited to attend.

CAST AND DIRECTOR — A play, based on the Book of Esther, was presented Sunday at the American Community Chapel by Mrs. Sandra Thomas and her sixth grade class. The children wrote and produced the play themselves and made their own costumes. Members of

Military Dependents Also Get Many Social Security Benefits

WASHINGTON — "Umm, let's see now, my withholding form shows the Federal taxes I paid . . . some of that should be coming back . . . but what's this Social Security deduction . . . I didn't know that I had to pay for old age retirement in this man's Service."

This imaginary but very real line of thinking must be duplicated many thousands of times if the most recent survey of the Armed Forces is correct.

The survey showed that many of today's servicemen and women did not know they were paying into their Social Security program while serving in the Armed Forces.

And, if they didn't know they were contributing, they certainly were also unaware of the protection they were paying for. While Social Security is certainly a valuable program for retired persons, or a disabled man and his family, it also provides many benefits for the members of a young Service family.

A Simple Idea

First of all, what is Social Security?

The basic idea behind Social Security is a simple one. During working years, employees and their employers make Social Security contributions into special trust funds. The amount of the contribution on each side depends on the wage of the employee. The funds that the money is channeled into are retirement and survivor's benefits, disability benefits and hospital insurance (Medicare).

So, when a contributor's earnings stop because of death or are reduced because of disability or retirement, monthly benefits are paid out of these trust funds to replace part of the lost earnings.

As a member of the Armed Forces you are an "employee" and so contributions are deducted from your pay each payday. Your "employer," the Department of Defense, contributes also. In fact, in Fiscal Year 1970 the Department put more than $615,883,000 into Social Security for its employees.

Of course, you can ask, "What do I get from putting my money into Social Security?"

Obviously you are not going to get the retirement benefits for a long time to come, but that future benefit should not be dismissed too lightly since it will put money into your pocket when you are 65.

So right now we are concerned with the survivor's benefits and the disability benefits that you and your family may be entitled to receive.

Long-Term Benefits

If you should die while on active duty, your wife and your children are eligible to receive several different types of payments. There is the lump-sum payment from your Service; this can be as high as $3,000, depending on the grade you held.

There is also the dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC) benefits which come under the Veterans Administration.

And, there is Social Security.

Under Social Security, the program that most servicemen are unaware of, your dependent children can receive monthly checks until they reach 18, or, if they are full-time students, until they are 22 years old. Your widow will also receive a monthly check as long as she is caring for a child who is under 18 and who is entitled to benefits because of your Social Security contributions.

In addition to these immediate benefits which can assure that your children will be able to go through school, your widow may receive monthly payments for the remainder of her life when she reaches 60 years of age.

So, while no one really thinks about dying, if you do die while on active duty, Social Security can give valuable benefits to your dependents.

SAFETY

The Mowing Season is Here

- Before starting, make sure all guards are in place and the mower is in good mechanical condition.
- Never fill the gas tank when the engine or exhaust is hot or while the motor is running.
- Stand clear of the grass discharge chute when starting the engine. Be sure your foot is not under the blade housing.
- Don't allow children to use or play with a power mower. Keep other people out of the mowing area, and don't allow children to ride as passengers on tractor-type mowers.

- Mow only in daylight when the grass is dry.
- Don't leave the mower unattended while it is running.
- Turn off the motor and disconnect the spark plug before clearing a jam, making adjustments, or making minor repairs.
- Shut off the motor before moving from one level to another. Also, cut hills or terraces sideways.
- Store fuel in approved safety cans.
- Allow mower to cool before storing.

At Jr.-Sr. Prom

Katrin Lindroth New Prom Queen

by J. G. Freeman

Berlin American High School held its annual prom Friday evening at the Hotel Palace, amid the splendor of downtown Berlin.

Thirty-seven couples attended the formal event, sponsored by the school's Junior Class. With music by the "Rainbow Power," students and chaperones rocked the dance floor until midnight.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Prom Queen. Miss Katrin Lindroth was chosen by the couples as 1971 Junior-Senior Prom Queen. Runners-up were Misses Renee Shipley and Toni Yarbrough, both seniors. The Queen's Court was rounded out by two Junior representatives, Misses Jose Mercer and Carol Carter.

After the crowning ceremony, couples slowly drifted out to seek other fun around the city. Many met at Berlin's "Chee-tah" and later attended a breakfast.

At six the following morning, students held a going-away party for classmate Pascal Sherrod. Pascal, who received his diploma and a $500 scholarship from the American Women's Club of Berlin at the Prom, will be attending North Georgia College this summer.

CROWNING MOMENT — Miss Katrin Lindroth (c.) is crowned "Prom Queen 1971" at Berlin American High School's annual Junior-Senior Prom. This year's formal event was held at the Palace Hotel in downtown Berlin and was sponsored by the Junior Class at B.A.H.S. Three Blues Albums Well Worth the Money

by Steve Sauls

The admirable blues recordings currently on sale are "Really Chicago Blues," "Fred McDowell and His Blues Boy" and "On the Road Again."

From the cough on the first cut to the final dynamic guitar sounds, "Really Chicago Blues" should hold your attention all the way. This isn't the Butterfield blend, but rather the Mississippi blues brought north to Chicago without losing its true essence. No matter what kind of blues it is, nothing can detract from the fine performances of Johnny Shines, Sam Firk, John Granderson, Joe Wil-harp and kazoo, you're in for some good listening.

Bluesmen Fred McDowell and Mike Russo have joined together for a spontaneous and improvised country blues set entitled "Fred McDowell and His Blues Boys." McDowell plays an obscure Delta slide on the electric guitar while Russo accompanies on acoustic, combining for an extremely good album. Fred is limited in technique, but his ability to transmit a song's heart to his audience is brilliant. He is a spontaneous artist who plays what he feels, and for this reason his recordings never quite measure up to his capabilities.

He is unique with his strong, dirty slide sound that rattles against the guitar frets. McDowell occasionally repeats themes, but he is still a rare musician. He uses slide along with his vocals in "My Baby" and "When the Saints Go Marching in" for a beautiful tone. In "Diamond Ring" and "You Ain't Treating Me Right," he answers himself with slide, using impact and drive. Russo stays in the background, but fills enough to add a new dimension to Fred's sound. The communication between the two musicians is obvious as they maintain their identities and yet merge into the blues. "Fred McDowell and His Blues Boys" is a good demonstration of country blues and Fred McDowell's distinctive artistry.

Perhaps my favorite blues album is "On the Road Again," featuring 77-year old Furry Lewis supported by Gus Cannon, the banjo player in his mid-80's, the late Booker T. White and Sam Firk. From his first $15 guitar to his J45 Gibson, Furry has come up from Mississippi, pure Mississippi. It's not what you hear coming out of the stereo speakers that makes a musician good, it's what you feel in your soul, and Furry Lewis reaches your soul.

Booker T.'s three harsh vocals beam forth a sorrowful vitality as he strums out a streaming rhythm on his National guitar. He is incredibly free and smooth, not a rare quality among Mississippi Bluesmen, but "Bukka" surpasses most. Furry and Booker make a dynamic, way down low, dirty blues combination. Through a process of growth, both have refined their styles somewhat, but still maintain that quality of slide and lunk in their vocals and leads. Most of the tunes have standard leads which gives to the listener the hard-to-believe realization that much of their lead work is alive today in the music of "Cream," "The Stones," "The Beatles" and other rock groups.

Listen with an unprejudiced ear and you will thoroughly enjoy all three of these very blue albums.

liams and Sunnyland Slim. That slipshod, functional style of blues which has helped "create" many recent rock stars is present in one of its original forms, although somewhat polished.

This album is quite a classic, complete with off-the-cuff dialogue, but don't be sold on the idea that you're buying "real Chicago blues." Instead, look forward to a Louisiana-Mississippi sound with perhaps a drop of Chicago's influence. If you like a good combination of electric and acoustic guitar, spiced with some

Berliner Senior Citizens To Attend Ballet Recital

More than 200 needy Berlin senior citizens will be entertained by 85 young American ballet students tomorrow afternoon at the Outpost Theater at 1:30. The ballet recital is sponsored by the American Women's Club of Berlin.

The senior citizens will be brought to the theater by U. S. Army buses from their homes in Zehlendorf and Steglitz.

Mrs. Deedee Leda, ballet director, is a former member of the Berlin

Opera, with which she danced for 10 years. Her students, ranging in age from 6-15 years, will present the one-and-one-half hour performance, a series of classical ballet dances with emphasis on such forms as expressed in the music of several countries. Included in the program are numbers ranging from a German-Austrian polka to Bizet's "Carmen."

Tickets will be available tomorrow at the Outpost Theater ticket window for a donation of 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults. Proceeds will be used by Mrs. Leda to take her students to a performance of the Berlin Opera.

Members of the Berlin American Community and their friends are invited to attend the recital.

Curtis Mayfield To Appear in Berlin

Curtis Mayfield, the former lead singer of "The Impressions," is scheduled to perform at Pralat Schoneberg, 122-124 Hauptstrasse in Schoneberg, at 8 p.m. June 24. Tickets for the performance, which is being presented by the Prince Hall Masonic Lodge, may be obtained at the PX ticket agency.

As a supplement to Mayfield and his band, "Wess and the Airdales" from the Apollo Theater will perform.

Mayfield has written such hits as "Gypsy Woman," "I Am So Proud," "Choice of Colors" and many of the Jerry Butler hits. Since leaving "The Impressions," he has received a gold record for a million sales of his first album, "Curtis Mayfield." A single from the album, "If There Is a Hell Below," also reached the top ten on the U. S. charts.

Mayfield has just completed a two-week stand at the Bitter End in New York, where he recorded his second album, "Curtis Live at the Bitter End." The album has been picked by Billboard to be the outstanding album of the year.

Curtis is president of Curdom Records and he writes and produces all of his records and those off "The Impressions."

CURTIS MAYFIELD — The world famous Curtis Mayfield, who writes, produces and sings his own songs, will be in Berlin June 24 for a performance at Pralat Schoeneberg. Mayfield is the former lead singer for "The Impressions."

Defenders' Weisheim Plays Part Well In Dual Role of Actor-Infantryman

by SP5 Dan Fredrickson

William Shakespeare once quipped that the love of the theater had made a whole man of him, had challenged his puerile understandings of life and had given him a measureable yardstick to gauge the trends of society of that time. Today, his postulations still ring true — at least for one soldier of the 3rd Battalion, 6th Infantry.

The man, Specialist Five Richard Weisheim, is a 23-year-old native of Baraboo, Wis., and a bon vivant enthusiast when it comes to talking about the theater, acting, set design, plus being a natural wit.

As a member of the Charlie Company 106 mm gun crew and his unit's projectionist, Weisheim is not of the normal strain of infantryman one sees around the Defender Battalion. Rather, he is an individual richly versed in the theater arts, possessing a strong sense of "total theater," total involvement with star-crossed personalities performing on the stage.

Weisheim also has a fine ear for dialogue and fits into the serious role of the characters he portrays. His first attempt in Berlin at performing in front of an audience was sterlingly successful. Featured as Mattock, a poetic-style drunk in the American Community Theater (ACT) production "Dylan," revealed his depth of character for the role, earning laudits from the audience as well as theater critics.

Just recently he starred as King Duncan in ACT's production of MacBeth, a stirring portrayal of the elderly royal head of Duncan castle. Within the same play he also undertook the part of a slovenly murderer, the kind of role which he says he prefers.

'... serious drama'

"I like the 'gutsy-type' character roles," he explains. "They're much more open for involvement, and besides, they let you get into the whole characters, and that can make, or some times, break a good play."

Weisheim's interest in the theater got its start back in his childhood days in Baraboo at local movie theaters, where a mixture of old Tom Mix shoot-em-ups, Marlon Brando on the waterfront, and Superman reigned high. Even then he viewed those shows as absurd. Then several touring summer stock play troupes came to town and his interest in the dramatic form took full bloom.

"It was at this time that I decided," he recalled, "to make the theater my life's challenge."

"As I matured through this experience with the stock groups, I gathered an invaluable source of insights into not only the theater, but also the struggle of my fellow man."

Through his high school years he shared leading roles in "Guys and Dolls," "Love is Eternal," and an abbreviated try at avant-garde with "Evening of the Absurd," three melodrama's from Ionesco's memory of his corrupt childhood.

Following graduation he continued his theatrical pursuits on the campus of the University of Wisconsin where he chose the theater arts and set design as his principle choice of study.

Bolstering his interest once more, he tried out for a minor part in the experimental play, "The Medium," and much to his surprise was cast in the male lead — a mute, retarded boy (Toby) — who falls victim to an obsessed female fortune-teller in Budapest.

He regards his role as Toby as his most challenging character — using nothing but facial expression and hand notions to convey the misgivings of a lost soul in termoil.

"It was a study of total character," he relates, "the difficulties I discovered rehearsing for the play gave me a strong feeling for compassion, something so very essential to a good actor."

He continued to face challenging roles in future productions at Wisconsin with plays such as "Oliver" and "Oklahoma," but his first love fell inadvertently to the serious drama form.

"That's the 'meat' of the acting profession as I see it," he believes.

4/18 NCO's Honor Schaal

by PFC Jackson D. Wilson

The noncommissioned officers of the 4th Battalion, 18th Infantry conducted a retirement and awards ceremony and parade last Friday on the 4-Ring in front of Vanguard Battalion Headquarters in honor of their fellow NCO, Staff Sergeant Robert L. Schaal, who retired after completing 20 years of active service in the Regular Army, and four awards recipients.

Upon his retirement Schaal was serving as supply sergeant in Headquarters Company.

He entered service Jan. 17, 1951 in Wisconsin and has served with the 11th Airborne Division, the 198th Regimental Combat Team, the Army Security Agency and the 1st Cavalry Division.

The ceremonies in honor of Schaal and the awards recipients began at 10 a.m. with Colonel Robert W. Hill, deputy commander, Berlin Brigade, and Vanguard Command Sergeant Major John R. Miller serving as Reviewing Officers.

First Sergeant James L. Edwards, Headquarters Company, was Commander of Troops.

A unique feature of the event was its being planned, coordinated and carried out by NCO's.

The parade consisted of three 90-man marching elements — Bravo, Charlie and Headquarters Companies — Color Guard from Headquarters Company and the 298th Army Band. Alfa Company personnel served as ushers and handled decoration arrangements.

Company commanders were First Sergeants Donald Wilson, Bravo Company and Jose C. Lonogoria, Charlie Company; and Platoon Sergeant Harold Miracle of Headquarters Company's Reconnaissance Platoon.

Representing the battalion staff sections were Sergeant First Class Julian L. Gillispie, S-1; Master Sergeant Henry Ricci, S-2; Master Sergeant Stephen N. Rabourn, S-3; and Sergeant First Class John E. Fouts, S-4.

During the ceremonies Hill presented awards to four battalion personnel.

The Bronze Star Medal was awarded to Sergeant Leon L. Bellamy, rifle squad team leader in Bravo Company's Third Platoon, "for meritorious achievement in ground operations against hostile forces in the Republic of Vietnam during the period June 1969-June 1970."

Staff Sergeant Otis Ingram, section leader in Bravo Company's Mortars Platoon, received the Army Commendation Medal "for meritorious service during the period Dec. 1969-March 1971."

The Army Commendation Medal was awarded to Sergeant William T. Moore, team leader in Alfa Company's First Platoon, "for meritorious achievement in the Republic of Vietnam during the period Jan.-April 1970."

Specialist Five Francis Wilcox, Headquarters Company's Maintenance Platoon, was awarded the Army Commendation Medal "for meritorious achievement in the Republic of Vietnam during the period Dec. 1969-Nov. 1970."

Following the ceremonies and parade a reception in honor of Schaal and the four awards recipients was held in the Infantry Hall of Honor at McNair Barracks.

Travelers Can Get Cheap Rooms

There are places to stay on military installations for as little as 50 cents per night. The average cost is around $2. The catch to it is how to find out which installations have what!

To solve this problem, several military dependents have contacted military installations around the world requesting information on temporary lodging available for travelling military families. The answers have been tabulated and the result is a guide book, "Temporary Military Lodging," published by Military Living, a local publication in the Washington, D.C. area.

The guide lists temporary accommodations on Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine and Coast Guard installations in CONUS and selected ones overseas. The new motel-type transient family housing now being built by the Army, Navy and Air Force are highlighted as well as guest house type accommodations. Particulars on types of temporary housing, eligibility, reservations information and contact points, rates, facilities, in-out process, occupancy limits, times, etc., are all included. Publication date is June 10.

Social Security Benefits . . .

Suppose you are disabled in line of duty or in an accident. What then? To get Social Security disability benefits, you must —

- be fully insured and have credit for five years of work in the 10-year period ending when you become disabled if you are 31 or older;

- have credit for one-half the time between age 21 and the time you are unable to work if you become disabled between 24 and 31; or

- if your disability starts before 24, you need credit for one and one-half years of work in the three years before you become disabled.

Fully vs Currently Insured

If you should die while on active duty, the benefits which can be paid to your survivors will depend on your "insured" status.

To be "currently insured" you must have Social Security credit for at least one and one-half years of work within three years before death.

"Fully insured" status depends on your age and the amount of credit you have. If you should die before reaching 28, you would be fully insured if you have one and one-half years credit. But, suppose you did not enter active duty until you were 28. It would take two years of service before you were fully insured. Rather than go into elaborate charts, we might say: no one can be fully insured unless he has credit for at least one and one-half years of coverage, and a person with 10 years credit under Social Security can be sure he will be fully insured for life.

The Social Security Administration has booklets which describe in detail the requirements.

Having credit for sufficient coverage, however, means only that certain kinds of benefits may be payable — it does not determine the amount of the benefit. The amount will depend on your average earnings covered by Social Security.

Your dependent children will receive monthly survivor's benefits if you are fully or currently insured; your widow also will receive a monthly check if she is caring for a child under 18 who is receiving a benefits check.

However, you must be fully insured for a dependent parent who is 62 or older to receive a monthly check.

Keep Tabs On Your Account

It is important to know the status of your Social Security record since it is a valuable asset in planning your estate.

You can ask for a statement of your Social Security record by writing to the Social Security Administration, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Md., 21235. Be sure to give your full name and your Social Security/Service number when you write.

When you write you might want to ask for one of the many booklets the Social Security Administration puts out on the programs and its many phases. Or, if you are at a Stateside installation, make it a point to visit the nearest Social Security office to go over all the aspects of this very valuable program.

You're paying for it . . . you may as well be familiar with it.

Bears Return Home With 3-3 League Record

Parker Injured As Celts Take 2

The Berlin Bears left Munich Tuesday with more than their pride hurt. The defending USAREUR champions not only dropped two of three games to the USAREUR and Seventh Army Celtics to fall to 3-3 in league play, but they also lost the services of secondbaseman Greg Parker.

Parker suffered a broken collarbone in the first game of the series Saturday and stayed behind in a Munich hospital when the team returned home. Greg is expected to rejoin the team in a week but it is not known how long he will be out of action.

Parker's injury seemed to signal the beginnings of an ominous week-end. The Bears started by dropping Saturday's game, 6-2, as the Celtics teed off on three Berlin pitchers for 10 hits.

After falling behind, 2-0, the Bears tied the game in the fourth inning when Scott Frymire lined a bases-loaded single to right field.

The tie was short lived, though, as the Celtics chased Bunker with two runs in the fourth and another in the fifth. Charlie Rogers blanked Berlin the rest of the way to pick up the win with a six-hitter.

The second game of the doubleheader was postponed because of darkness and rain Sunday forced the two teams to wait until Monday to play the final two games of the series.

The Bears took the first game of the twinbill as righthander Bob Wallis scattered nine hits for a 5-1 win. Bob also provided the offensive spark as he poled a two-run homer in the sixth to cap a three-run rally that put Berlin on top to stay, 3-1.

The homer was Wallis' second of the year and the win evened his record at 1-1.

But in the nightcap the Celtics wasted no time in jumping on Wayne Gollaher and Mickey Rogers as they scored six runs in the first two innings. Bunker and Bob Plese finished up the game for the Bears as the home team coasted to the final 7-1 margin.

Plese accounted for the only Berlin run on a seventh inning double and two consecutive wild pitches.

Sixth-Place Berlin To Face TASCOM Crew in Home Opener

The difference between the 1970 Berlin Bears and the 1971 Bears is 16 games. Last year, the Bears roared out of the starting gate by winning their first 18 games to wrap up the first half title in the USAREUR League before there was time for anyone else to even mount a challenge.

Things have changed this year as Berlin made it through only two games before they were ambushed. After sweeping a doubleheader from 3rd Armored on opening day, they dropped a single game to the Tankers and then fell to USAREUR and 7th Army twice in the three games.

Berlin is now in sixth place with a 3-3 record as they return home for their home opener against the TASCOM Titans, who are 4-2. A doubleheader will be played Saturday at 11 a.m. and a single game is set for 1 p.m. Sunday. Although coach Gene Stephenson has not named his starting line-up yet, position by position the Bears shape up as follows:

● CATCHER — Behind the plate for the Bears will be Dan Newman, one of the better defensive catchers in the league. Newman, who started for last year's championship team, is a switch-hitter and batted .218 last season. The reserve strength here is still suspect, though. "We're not as strong overall as we have been," Stephenson summed up.

● FIRST BASE — Berlin is solid here with Stephenson holding down

Sports Nixed

All U. S. Army division level sports will be eliminated at the end of the current baseball season, according to a USAREUR directive issued earlier this week. The first sport affected will be football, as preparations for the 1971 season have now been cancelled. More information on the subject will be forthcoming in the near future.

the starting role. The player-coach batted a solid .353 last year and is also an excellent fielder.

● SECOND BASE — Greg Parker had nailed down the second base job with his timely hitting, good defense and hustle, but a broken collarbone put him out of action indefinitely. "We're just as strong here as we were last year," Stephenson commented before the injury. Larry Douglas is filling in for Parker until his injury heals.

● THIRD BASE — What started out as the Bears' glaring weakness has been filled by Claude Clay, a strapping right-hander who provides Berlin with a long-ball threat. Clay started spring practice as an outfielder but was brought in to plug the gap in the infield. "He's looked good so far but we've got to cut down on his strikeouts," the coach noted.

● SHORTSTOP — Glen Chapple still hasn't reached his full potential in the field but he is a dangerous hitter and his improvement could hold the key to the Bears' success. "Our shortstops aren't being aggressive and they're not good enough to not be aggressive," Stephenson noted before the team opened the season.

DAN NEWMAN
... strength behind the plate

Glen won one preseason game with a ninth-inning, inside-the-park home run.

● OUTFIELD — The top man in the outfield is centerfielder Willie Harper, who is a strong hitter and an excellent fielder. The two players on Harper's flanks continue to fluctuate, however. Steve Bunker holds down the right field spot when he isn't pitching but he is one of the Bears' starting hurlers so every three games he will be on the mound. Other players who will be seeing duty at the two positions are Greg Hildebrand, Scott Frymire, Douglas and Perez Cotto.

● PITCHING — This is one of the Bears' strong suits with Bunker, Wayne Gollaher and Bob Wallis holding down the starting spots through the first two weeks of the season. Bunker and Wallis are sporting 1-1 records while Gollaher is 0-1. Heading up the bullpen corps is Barney Caulfield, who is 1-0 in regular season play after compiling a 3-0 mark in preseason play. Berlin will also count on Mickey Rogers, the team's fourth starter, and reliever Bob Plese. "We've got strong pitching overall," Stephenson summarized.

Yanks Finally Scored On But Autowash Falls, 5-1

by SP4 Robert Carmany

The U. S. Forces exploded for four goals in the last 20 minutes of play to whip Autowash, 5-1, in a game played at Tempelhof last Friday. The win was the sixth straight for the American eleven and kept them in first place in their section of the German Industrial League with a perfect 6-0-0 record.

Plagued by a sputtering offense, the Yanks were unable to muster much of a sustained threat in the first half. However, the very strong American defense, spearheaded by Steve Stone, completely snuffed out the German team's offense.

The Autowash team managed to snap the Yanks' shutout string by knotting the score at 1-1 early in the second half. Goalkeeper Lee Hemink came through with a clutch performance some 20 minutes into the second half when he miraculously stopped two penalty kicks with the score still tied at 1-1.

Then, with a little less than 20 minutes to go in the game, right half Noel Yarr pushed a loose ball over the goal line and into the net to give the Big Blue a 2-1 lead. Just minutes later Yarr was able to nudge another loose ball past the German goalie to put the U. S. Forces ahead, 3-1.

The assault on the German goal continued as Arens got his second goal of the day when he fired the ball into the goal on a pass from left half Jim Elwood. With less than two minutes to play, Arens scored again as he headed a center from Gonyer into the net to bring the score to the final 5-1 count.

The U. S. Forces was in action again on Saturday in a holiday tournament sponsored by Versicherungs Sport Club 64. After dropping their first game, 1-0, to Kreuzberg 11, the team bounced back to win its next two games, 1-0 over the host team VSC 64 and 2-0 over Phillips Berlin.

In their final game, the Yanks were held to a 1-1 tie with Phillips Endhoven. The 2-1-1 record was good enough to place the Americans second to the Dutch Endhoven team.

Instead of the full regulation ninety minute games, the tournament games were two fifteen minute halves.

The U. S. Forces is in action again tomorrow as they take on second place Krupp-Druckenmueller at 1 p.m. at Markengraf Strasse.

Chicago, Pink Floyd Groups Head Entertainment Scene This Week

by Judy Pricks

The pop music scene in Berlin this weekend promises a lot of musical action. Seven young men, who call themselves "Chicago," will be the main attraction at the Deutschlandhalle tonight. The progressive group from the States has become famous with their hard, dynamic jazz rock and their precise arrangements. Most of the musicians have studied music and have been in the business many years before becoming a part of "Chicago." The successful team doesn't leave a concert up to chance; long rehearsal sessions as well as detailed analyses of past and present concerts are a part of their routine. If you want to be there, figure on paying DM 9 (same price for all seats). The music is to begin at 8 p.m.

When they first appeared on the pop market, the critics were amazed; but now the group is already "in" and has its faithful fans. "Pink Floyd," the four British fellows call themselves, a name which has become associated with a new, experimental sound — a fascinating mixture of organ, a roaring motorcycle, lovely voices and a wealth of well-played instruments. You can experience them live in a two-and-one-half-hour show in the Sportpalast tomorrow night, scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. Here also the tickets cost DM 9 on all seats (or the floor if you prefer).

Exotic Puppet Show

Music from those "far off" places has been featured in the Academy of Arts since the beginning of the week during a weeklong program of non-European music. Tonight and tomorrow night, one of the highlights of the program can be seen and heard at the Academy — the Wayang Kulit Shadow Theater from Malaysia. Hamzah bin Muhamad puts life into his delicately carved leather puppets and speaks the text, while accompanied by a five-man orchestra. The puppet theater in Malaysia has an age-old tradition and is even a rarity in its homeland, because it takes many years to become an expert with the puppets. You can let yourself be fascinated by this lovely piece of culture for DM 8. The performances begin at 8 p.m. on both nights at the Academy.

SUPERGROUP — Fans of the supergroup "Chicago" are in store for a treat tonight. The group, whose music is a swinging combination of brassy jazz and hard rock, will be in concert at Deutschlandhalle this evening. Things start at 8 p.m.

The brothers Kumar Chatterjee are experts in the classical Indian song. They will close out the week of non-European music with a concert on Sunday also beginning at 8 p.m. It costs only DM 4 to attend this evening of classical Indian music.

Steglitz Festival

The District of Steglitz is holding a big two-week festival, featuring Lower Saxony as the "guest star." On the festival grounds in the park next to the Teltowkanal in Lichterfelde a huge carnival has been set up, where a colorful program awaits visitors until June 13. Folklore groups from Lower Saxony, as well as brass bands and quiz shows offer entertainment on the main stage. Aside from the familiar beer tents, there will also be a tent offering the specialties from this part of Germany. At 7 p.m. there is a quiz show on the main stage each evening and on Saturday nights fire works are to begin around 9:45 p.m. The gates to the festival usually open around 2 p.m. and it costs adults 50 pfenning to go through — children pass for free.

Looking ahead, there is a concert of the RIAS Youth Orchestra well worth noting. Next Friday the orchestra, conducted by Adalbert Heinisch, will play selections by J. S. Bach, Anton Webern and Joseph Haydn in the Hochschule fuer Musik. Tickets for the 8 p.m. concert begin at DM 3.50.

The word has been going around, and here it is in black and white: Neil Diamond is coming to the Philharmonie on June 14 at 8 p.m. Also a part of the program are "Mami's Children." Tickets (DM 10-18) are selling pretty fast at the PX ticket agency.
