Volksfest Names Queens

The German-American Volksfest named its royalty for the 1971 festivities during ceremonies held Friday evening. As last year, the Volksfest will have a German and American Queen. The German Queen this year is Ursula Kliemt, an employee of the Civilian Personnel Division, U. S. Army, Berlin Brigade. The American Volksfest Queen for 1971 is Marie Jenkins, the wife of Second Lieutenant Harry K. Jenkins, pictorial officer for the brigade. Runners-up, also named Friday night, are Ursula Rumler and Katie Fulton, German and American respectively. In addition to her job, Ursula Kliemt enjoys playing chess, ping-pong and tennis. She snow skis, crochets and likes to travel. A native Berliner, Ursula's job involves interviewing applicants for jobs with the U. S. Command, Berlin, and making preselections of personnel.

Before coming to Berlin with her husband, Marie Jenkins was a school teacher for five years and hopes to start teaching here in the fall. Marie has been married for four years and enjoys reading, learning to sew and helping her husband with his hobbies collecting coins, model cars and flags. In keeping with the Volksfest theme, the "Wild West," Marie is part Cherokee Indian.

For being selected Volksfest Queens both girls will be given trips for two, the German Queen to Austria and the American Queen to the United States. They each also received a dress, beach outfit, night club tickets and a free dinner for two.

The two queens will participate in all official functions at the 1971 Volksfest.

USAREUR Revises Priorities To Fill Vacant Job Positions

The priorities for filling vacant positions in all non-appropriated fund (NAF) activities has been revised in a message issued by USAREUR July 7.

Vacant positions, both full-time and part-time, which are designated as LN (Local National) or Category C will be filled in the following order:

- Dependents of U. S. personnel, including command sponsored dependents of sponsors serving outside the European theatre;
- Local Nationale;
- Non-dependent U. S. citizens who are not "ordinarily resident" in the area.

Local National and Category C positions will be considered to be interchangeable insofar as the nationality of the incumbent is concerned.

USAREUR also announced that it has increased the minimum hourly wage for off duty military personnel employed on a part-time basis to $1.40 per hour, effective July 4.

Anyone interested in further information should contact Civilian Personnel Division or Personnel Services Branch, G1 Division.

Two Grid Coaches Visit Divided City

Vince Dooley and Bo Schembechlar, two of the nation's premier college football disciples, visited Berlin last weekend and while they were here they aired their views on a number of matters concerning their profession.

Dooley, coach of the Georgia Bulldogs, and Schembechlar, coach of the Michigan Wolverines, are currently touring Europe and the United Kingdom with Jim Otto, Oakland Raider center, and Ross Dean, head of the Big 10 officials, while conducting a series of USAFE football clinics.

While in the Divided City, Dooley and Schembechlar began discussing the pros and cons of a playoff to determine the college football champion and they soon discovered that they had divided opinions on the subject.

"I don't see how you can do it with the 11-game schedule," Schembechlar said when the question was first posed to him.

"It depends on how many games you have to add," Dooley noted. "If you just take the top eight teams I don't think there would be much argument about who should be in it. It's only when you get down to picking the ninth through 20th teams that there are a lot of arguments."

"You might be wrong there," Schembechlar interrupted. "There might be about 12 teams grouped together."

"That could be true," Dooley conceded, "if one of the teams lost early in the season. I think the solution to that problem would be a panel of about 20 members of the news media and ex-coaches that could watch all the teams and over the year keep the rankings up. That would be a start to having the playoffs."

"But where are you going to play these games?" Schembechlar asked. "And you've got the bowl games to think about, too."

"That's where the games would be played," Dooley answered. "In the bowl games."

"But you always have to play in the South, Schembechlar came back. "We don't want to have to keep going down South to play."

"But you can't play football in the North that time of the year," Dooley laughed. "Besides, the bowl games are all in the South."

"That's just one game," the Michigan coach pointed out. "How would you like to pack up your stuff and travel that far three weeks in a row?"

Schembechlar then brought the friendly argument to a close when he stepped up and announced, "Just (Cont. on p. 4, col. 5)

USCOB CHIEF OF STAFF — Colonel R. D. Renick, Jr. has replaced Colonel R. H. Ferriter as chief of staff, Office of the U. S. Commander, Berlin. Renick comes to Berlin from Tulane University, New Orleans, where he recently earned a PhD degree in political science.

MOS Policy Rewritten By U.S. Army

WASHINGTON (ANF) — The Army will revise its policies governing reclassification of enlisted military occupational specialties (MOS), effective July 1.

The new procedures are aimed at reducing career management field (CMF) and MOS imbalances Army-wide.

Under the plan, authority for reclassification of E6s and below involving a change of CMF will be established at major command level.

Authority for reclassification of E6s and below within CMFs but outside the career progression pattern outlined in DA Circular 611-7 will be established at division and installation level. Authority for reclassification within the pattern remains unchanged.

All reclassification affecting grades E7, E8 and E9 will be controlled by the Office of Personnel Operations at DA level.

The Department of the Army will furnish guidance on CMF and MOS levels to major commanders, who will add any appropriate guidance and pass the information to the next subordinate commander.

Reclassifications will thus be tailored to the units as the guidance passes down the chain of command.

For example, if DA identifies a CMF or MOS that is overstrength, it will issue guidance encouraging movement out of the occupation and restricting movement into it.

However, a major commander may determine that his command is short in this particular area. He may then restrict movement from this CMF or MOS within his command—but he can't reclassify personnel into a field that has been identified by DA as being overstrength.

Similarly, he may not reclassify personnel out of Army-wide shortage areas.

AYA Sponsors Course For Teenage Babysitters

by John G. Freeman

Looking for a qualified babysitter?

The American Youth Activities (AYA) has been sponsoring a "Babysitting Course" this week for interested girls between the ages of 12 and 18. The purpose of the clinic is to teach the girls how to properly handle the children and whatever situation comes up.

Mrs. Sheila Beach, in conjunction with the AYA, is in charge of the class. Meetings were held Monday through Thursday at the AYA from 7-8:30 p.m.

The girls have been learning something different every night. On Monday a kindergarten teacher spoke about things to do with small children and Tuesday Mrs. Beach spoke on "Discipline." A nurse from the U. S. Army Hospital, Berlin lectured Wednesday evening on first aid.

The course was rounded out Thursday evening when two mothers brought their small babies to the AYA and the girls got a first-hand look at the actual feeding, caring and washing of a baby.

Graduation for the four-day course is set for Monday evening at the AYA. All girls' names will then be placed on a roster along with their telephone numbers and addresses.

Good Food

If you like good food then you will want to be around when the 11th Annual German-American Volksfest opens Friday.

This year the Volksfest will feature American fried chicken and corn on the cob with melted butter. The American hamburger stand will again be serving french fries, chili, soft drinks and hamburgers, of course.

In the way of good things to eat, visitors to the Volksfest will once again feast on American ice cream, Mexican tacos and American beer.

The 1971 Volksfest will offer 17 days of entertainment and an opportunity to please German-American appetites.

THE STAGE IS SET — The photograph above is a representation of the stage for "Pow WOW West," this year's all-girl revue, which will be presented twice daily at the 11th Annual German-American Volksfest July 23-Aug. 8. The design was created by Mrs. Hannelore

Olson, an American dependent who is currently studying at the Academie der Kuenste, and Specialist Four Bob Brandon, of Charlie Company, 2nd Battalion, 6th Infantry, who studied art at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn. The artists approached the Volks-fest theme, the Wild West, in a different way, combining a modern design with the traditional subject. The result as pictured above, compiled from Mrs. Olson's original sketches, does not do justice to the actual design, owing largely to the absence here of color.

EDITORIAL

Criticism Has Its Merits

It has been said that critics are often men who have failed. A literary critic often is one who tried his hand at literature, but never quite succeeded in producing it. A dramatic critic is one who sits on the edge of the Planet No-Drama to criticize the dramas on all other planets. Not always, but sometimes, criticism is the outcome of an incapacity to produce, or a defense against one's own inferiority.

Because criticism can be disappointed ambition, it does not follow that it has no function. But it's never well to dig a hole unless you put something in it.

Wise men, who are leaders, find that encouragement is often a better stimulus to improve efforts than any criticism.

Our mood today is more critical than encouraging, perhaps because no one examines his own conscience, and few, therefore, are conscious of their own faults. There is no character in the world so bad that there is still not left within it a potency for betterment. A dry stick is better for burning than a wet stick, but there does come a moment when the flames will eventually ignite it.

Encouragement, given with sincerity, can be the most effective tool of any superior. The section chief, the teacher in the classroom, the father and mother in the home, the coach of the football team will find greater success at times by a word of encouragement that expresses confidence in the other than by severe and biting criticism.

The true critic will always fill the hole that he has dug. The false and selfish critic will leave the hole empty and no one profits from the criticism, especially the critic himself. (AFPS Editorial by Chaplain (LTC) Thomas J. Neumann)

'In the Summertime' All Wet

Rock Concerts Losing Appeal

by John G. Freeman

It sure wasn't Woodstock.

Last Friday evening I ventured to the Sportpalast for the big "In the Summertime" show and came home a little disappointed.

It brought to light much that has been said about rock concerts — how they are dying, how they will become a part of the past. In spite of the crowd, the equipment and the talent, the concert didn't click. Even the usual sticky sweet smell seemed missing.

Perhaps I judged the evening poor because it got off to a bad start. We (a friend and I) missed the 60 bus to Zehlendorf by seconds and then rode two stops too far when the next bus came. Tracing our steps, the transfer to the 48 bus went OK. We arrived at the Sportpalast 15 minutes late.

Golden Earring, a five man band from Holland, was already on stage. Their sound was quite a surprise. If they had to be compared to another group, Grand Funk would come the closest, mainly because of the harmony that was present in most of the vocals. All seemed quite competent on their respective instruments, but they fell into a rut. Like so many other groups, the last song turned into a huge roar of electronic noise, each musician seemingly trying to out-do and over-ride the other.

Surprisingly enough, the crowd gave them a standing ovation and demanded an encore.

After the intermission, we sat on steps in the aisle to watch Shocking Blue. They came out looking pretty amateurish, the female lead singer simply standing there while the guitarists re-tuned. Their songs were rather short and all sounded similar, but at least the sound was well-balanced and the singer's voice carried nicely. She wore black hot pants with matching knee-high boots and a hot pink top.

In spite of Shocking Blue's efforts the crowd tore them apart. Whistling and yelling covered up any trace of applause in the auditorium. The members of Shocking Blue were forced to nervously stand on stage asking each other what would work out best. They quickly left after their gig. Even "Venus" had failed to make an impression with the unruly mob.

Mungo Jerry was the final band for the night, and we left after their third song. I never thought I would hear a band that I considered too loud. But they proved me wrong.

Opening up with a traditional, "Midnight Special," Mungo Jerry blasted away. They quickly cleared out the first five or six rows of people and others in the back began leaving.

I waited for "In the Summertime," then went home, sorely disappointed.

FRAT, TLC, GLC Symbolize Army Effort To Curb Drugs

FRAT, TLC and GLC. These three acronyms have been added to the Army's drug abuse program and they stand for a way to detect, treat and counsel heroin users in Vietnam before they return to the U. S.

Servicemen reporting to Long Binh and Cam Bay for outprocessing are given a urinalysis. Then FRAT, TLC and GLC enter the picture.

The first phase of the new program was the Free Radical Assay Technique (FRAT), which ended in June. Under this system a small amount of the urine sample was mixed with two chemicals and placed in a "black box" machine which produced a readout, either positive or negative, within one minute.

This month a more definitive procedure known as thin layer chromatography (TLC) and gas-liquid chromatography (GLC) have replaced FRAT.

Under this new system, all urine samples are first checked by TLC. If this test is positive, meaning there's a possibility of heroin addiction, the same sample is given the GLC test to confirm the presence of heroin. Both tests are completed in 24 hours.

A negative TLC test means no delay in outprocessing for home, but a positive TLC and GLC means segregation from other servicemen. The tests are the first stop in a comprehensive detection and treatment program.

Those who show no withdrawal symptoms will be retested on the fourth day in quarantine. If they still have a positive reaction, they will be treated as heroin users. Along with those who spontaneously entered withdrawal, they will be returned to the U. S. by MEDEVAC under control of the Armed Services Medical Regulatory Office.

If the test on the fourth day is negative, they will be returned through normal channels.

Servicemen indentified as addicts will be sent directly to a military hospital with drug rehabilitation capability located nearest their next duty station or home. Right now there are 41 such locations, including one at each CONUS port of entry. The goal is to have a complete drug rehabilitation capability at each major U. S. installation.

Detection at the outprocessing centers will provide a start toward rehabilitation of the naive addict. It will also provide a deterrent to the man with a habit who might be tempted to smuggle his "horse" on the plane. It may also keep addicted servicemen from being victimized by pushers near the CONUS ports of entry.

With an emphasis on detection, treatment and rehabilitation, the new program offers hope for the cure and return to useful lives of those who have had little help in the past.

Competition in the 14th Interservice Photography Contest and the USAREUR Photo Contest for Civilians and Civilian/Military Dependents has begun in Berlin and will run through Oct. 15.

Although the contests are being run simultaneously, they are separate competitions and have different sets of rules.

There will be cash awards and merchandise for the top 27 photos in the 14th Interservice contest. First place is worth $20, second place $15, third place $10 and 24 honorable mentions will receive merchandise awards. The "Best of Show" will receive a silver bowl.

In the USAREUR Civilians Contest, first place is $15, second place

$10, third place $5 and honorable mention wins a merchandise award. Prizes are awarded in each category and there will be a silver bowl for "Best of Show."

In the Berlin phase of the competition, both contests will carry a $15 first prize, $10 second prize and a $5 third prize.

The interservice contest is divided into three groups—monochrome prints, color prints and color transparencies—while the civilian competition will be grouped into people, places and things.

Anyone interested in further information should contact the crafts director at the Andrews or McNair photo labs.

Bears Take 2 From 1st Infantry Division

Two Coaches Visit Berlin

Starting pitchers Bob Wallis and Wayne Gollaher became relievers last weekend, as they came in to stop the 1st Infantry Division in time for 6-5 and 9-6 victories.

Like the previous weekend, it took the Bears a game to get warmed up as they again got walloped in the series opener, this time 10-4.

After the opening game, Wallis and Gollaher not only stopped the Guardians scoring attack, but each got credit for the win.

Wallis came on in the seventh inning of Sunday's game with the score tied 5-5, bases loaded and one out. He struck out the next two Guardians. But before Wallis got his second strike out, Guardian Steve Ward broke for the plate with Wallis throwing a high outside pitch. Catcher Dan Newman was able to block the ball, but had no chance of retiring Ward. After that Wallis retired the Guardians in order the last two innings, including two more strike outs.

In Saturday's nightcap Gollaher came in to start the fourth. It was also the only inning Gollaher got into trouble after giving up a walk and double, but he pitched his way out of it. After that Gollaher had complete command the remaining five innings, facing no more than four Guardians per inning.

Both performances were in contrast to their previous starts. Wallis started Saturday's second game, lasting only an inning and two-thirds and giving up five runs, while Gollaher didn't even last an inning the previous weekend against V Corps.

In Sunday's game the Guardians began chasing Bears' starter Mickey Rogers in the first inning. After retiring the lead-off batter, Rogers gave up singles to Bobo Webster and Earl Williams, followed with a triple by Ron Nietupski. After the next batter struck out, Percy Weatherly hit a Rogers' pitch over the left field wall for two more runs. But after the first inning Rogers settled down when he gave up two more runs.

In that inning Guardians Sulu Soveris, Ward and Dwight Harrison singled for one run. Then Webster walked, and in came Wallis to end the threat.

The Bears scored twice in the first, third, seventh and eighth innings and once in the sixth.

In the first Greg Parker and Gene Stephenson singled, and Angel Cotto walked. Then Newman reached base on an error, enabling Parker to score. Stephenson eventually scored on a wild pitch.

In the third Stephenson and Newman doubled for the first run. After Newman reached third on a wild pitch, Gary Lasley grounded out to second, scoring Newman.

Scott Frymire and Parker singled, and walks to Stephenson and Cotto forced in another run in the sixth.

Larry Douglas led off the seventh with a walk, was sacrificed to second, and scored on another Frymire single. After reaching second on a wild pitch, Frymire scored on a Wallis single.

The Bears scored their last two runs in the eighth on a Stephenson walk and Cotto single. Both advanced on a wild pitch, and after the throw to second was wide, Stephenson scored. Cotto moments later scored on another wild pitch.

Both teams collected ten hits with Parker, Stephenson and Frymire leading the Bears' attack with two each while the Guardian hits were scattered with Soveris getting two.

Bill Lisek started for the Guardians but was relieved by Milton Maddox. Larry Steptoe, Joe Harvala and Raul Soto also saw mound action for the Guardians.

In Saturday's opener the Bears never were in the game as the Guardians built a big 10-0 lead after four innings, which was enough to win as they were held scoreless the remainder of the game.

The Guardians scored one in the first on singles by Harrison, Nietupski and Weatherly. In the third they scored three more on a Harrison double, Soveris single, hit batsman, an error and squeeze play.

In the fourth the Guardians put the game away with six runs. Lisek and Soveris singled and Harrison reached base on an error for the first run. After a walk Nietupski tripled in three more runs. Nietupski eventually scored on a wild pitch. Weatherly ended the scoring after walking, stealing second, reaching third on a wild pitch and scoring on a force out.

SAFE AT SECOND — Bear's first baseman Gene Stephenson slides head first for a stolen base during the doubleheader Saturday against the 1st Infantry Division. Stephenson collected four hits in the three-game series won by the Bears, two games to one. (Photo by SP4 Larry Maloney)

The Bears scored one in the fifth on singles by Reggie Pettit and Parker, and a wild pitch. In the seventh they scored two more on a Ted Purdom walk, singles by Newman and Lasley and a Glenn Chapple sacrifice fly. And in the seventh the Bears added their last run as Greg Hildebrand doubled, reached third on a fly out and scored on a Stephenson sacrifice fly.

For the Bears, Hildebrand had two of the seven hits. For the Guardians, Harrison, Soveris, Nietupski and Soto contributed two hits apiece in the 11-hit attack.

In the nightcap the Bears performed another late inning comeback to win, 6-5. The Guardians did all their scoring in the first two innings. After Webster singled and stole second, he scored on a Weatherly single. In the second Bert McCue and Harrison singled and Webster walked to load the bases. Williams tripled them home and then scored on a Nietupski single.

The Bears scored first in the third on walks to Dan Burns and Hildebrand and a Stephenson single. After a force out, the first baseman threw to second, hoping for a pickoff, while Hildebrand dashed home for the second run.

Bill Kutzner started for the Bears, being relieved by Bob Plese in the fourth and Gollaher in the seventh. Soto started and went the distance for the Guardians.

Then came the big eighth with four runs with Stephenson walking and Purdom reaching base on an error. Cotto doubled then home. Then Newman hit a hard ground single up the middle. The Guardian centerfielder charged the ball, hoping for a play at home, but the ball got through him while Newman circled the bases scoring the winning run.

The Bears were out 10-7. Leading the Bears' attack was Gollaher with two while Nietupski, Harvala, Ward and McCue had two each for the Guardians.

In the Guardians big second inning Burns reliever starter Wallis and also pitched the third inning before Gollaher got the call in the fourth and finished up. For the Guardians Ward went the distance.

Next weekend the Bears go on the road to meet the 8th Infantry Division, and the following weekend play host to the 1st Armored Division.

Little Leaguers Ousted From Tournament Play

The Berlin Little League All Stars were eliminated from tournament play Wednesday while the Senior League stars suffered one loss in their double elimination tournament.

The Little Leaguers were knocked out of the North District Tournament at Bonn when they suffered a 10-6 loss to Bremerhaven following their 5-2 defeat at the hands of Bonn.

The two losses came after an opening day 6-3 win over Giessen Monday when Peter Chametzky hit a home run.

The Senior League, competing in the European Tournament at Bremerhaven, lost their opening game to Bremerhaven, 1-0, despite an excellent pitching job by Tony Garrels.

The Berliners stayed alive in the tournament by bouncing back to topple Rhein-Main, 8-0, behind the pitching of Whitey Robinson.

In local AYA action, the Dodgers took over first place in the Minor League race by blanking the Cardinals, 12-0, and Pirates, 3-0, while the Giants fell a game behind by losing to the Cards, 1-0.

The Pirates remain 1½ games off the pace as they beat the Reds, 12-5, in their other game while the Cardinals are two games back following their split.

The Reds took over fifth place as they routed the Athletics, 15-6, for their first win of the season.

Soccer Team Resumes Play

The U.S. Forces soccer team resumed action this week in hopes of moving one step closer to wrapping up the Division IV of the German Industrial title after edging Mibag two weeks ago, 2-1. See page three for pictures on the win over Mibag.

French Capture First Place In Regatta Meet

The French Yacht Club of Berlin captured the Commander's Cup in the annual Commander's Cup Regatta last weekend, sponsored by the American Yacht Club of Berlin.

Colonel R. D. Renick, Jr., chief of staff, Office of the U. S. Commander, Berlin, awarded the Cup to the French victors in a ceremony held Sunday. The French will now keep the rotating cup for one year until next year's event.

The French yachtsmen won with the lowest point total of 53½, followed by the British with 69 and the Americans with 98.

The three countries battled for the Cup Saturday on the 2½ mile course on the Wannsee and the Havel River, competing in three classes, the international 470, the enterprise and the bosum. Each club entered 24 boats, eight for each event.

SOAP BOX DERBY — Richard J. Largen, an American dependent in Berlin, traveled to Ramstein Air Force Base recently to compete in the USAREUR Soap Box Derby. Walt Disney's 'The Aristocats'

Paris Estate Goes to the Cats

THE ARISTOCATS — A wealthy Parisian lady wills her estate to her collection of cats. The butler, next in line for the inheritance should the cats die, decides to do away with the felines. The Disney Studios' fantastic animation brings to life the many colorful characters who chase through Paris alleyways in this comic adventure saga.

BATTLE OF EL ALAMEIN — In the scorching desert summer of 1942, German General Rommel's forces faced Field Marshal Montgomery's troops in a deadly stand off that ended in one of the epic battles of the war. Starring Frederick Stafford and George Hilton.

I LOVE MY WIFE — As Elliott Gould's medical practice gets better his marriage grows worse. A wife going to fat sends him into a series of brief affairs ending in an unsuccessful attempt to form a permanent relationship with a beautiful TV actress. Also stars Brenda Vaccaro.

THE WIZARD OF OZ — Judy Garland plays Dorothy, the little girl from Kansas who is whisked away by a tornado to the emerald land of Oz. She joins up with the Cowardly Lion and the Tin Woodsman for a wonder filled journey down the yellow brick road to visit the WIZARD OF OZ. Also stars Bert Lahr and Ray Bolger.

TRUE GRIT — The strangest trio ever to track a bad man consisted of a perpetually thirsty, fearless and somewhat overage one eyed Marshal, a bounty hungry Texas Ranger, and a starry eyed teenage girl whose ideal is a man having TRUE GRIT. Starring John Wayne, Glen Campbell and Kim Darby.

OPERATION CROSS EAGLES — In Yugoslavia during World War II, a commando unit joins forces with a partisan band to capture a German Commandant and exchange him for a captured American officer. A traitor in the group complicates things. Starring Richard Conte and Rory Calhoun.

GOODBYE MR. CHIPS — Peter O'Toole, a shy dedicated schoolmaster in a British school has two loves: the children under his instruction and Petula Clark. Miss Clark plays a music hall actress who gives up her glamorous life to become a school teacher's wife. Also starring Sir Michael Redgrave.

NED KELLY — Rolling Stone Mick Jagger plays an Australian outlaw named Ned Kelly. The character is something of a folk hero to the out country's poor folk but a definite nuisance as far as the cops are concerned. Parents are reminded that the film is not considered suitable entertainment for children. Also stars Allen Bickford.

HOW TO COMMIT MARRIAGE — When Bob Hope's teenage daughter announces her engagement to Jackie Gleason's son, Bob postpones his divorce until after the children are happily married. The kids get wind of their folk's plans and launch an offensive that gets the two old pros of comedy off and running. Also stars Jane Wyman. Playing at the Jerboa Cinema.

THE KREMLIN LETTER — A mysterious letter that could start World War III brings the murky characters of the shadowy world of espionage to the surface in a frantic rush. All the dirty tricks of this twilight profession are on display in THE KREMLIN LETTER. (Parents are especially reminded that this film is not considered suitable entertainment for children or young people.) Starring Richard Boone, Patrick O'Neal, Bibi Andersson and Nigel Green. Playing at the Jerboa Cinema.

ON HER MAJESTY'S SECRET SERVICE — The new James Bond matches wits with super villain Blofeld in this latest 007 adventure. All the spectacle, gadgets, love, intrigue and high pressure action are here in spades as Bond faces his toughest ordeal to date: he must spend a night each with ten of Blofelds most lethal ladies. Starring George Lazenby, Diana Rigg, Telly Savalas. Playing at the Jerboa Cinema.

FRAULEIN DOKTOR — An utterly ruthless female agent of the First World War played havoc with Allied plans. Her daring and infamous deeds included stealing the French formula for nerve gas for the Germans. Starring Susy Kendall, James Booth and Kenneth More. Playing at the Jerboa Cinema.

Careful — it brakes . . .
 The Staatliche Porzellan-Manufaktur Berlin opened an exhibition at Charlottenburg Castle, showing a wide selection of "Berliner Porzellan" — china in the Rococo and Early Victorian style. About 500 pieces of the most valuable china can be admired at "Lustschloss Belvedere," located in the park of Charlottenburg Castle. The exhibition is open daily from 9 a.m.-5 p.m., except Mondays. The Staatliche Porzellan-Manufaktur Berlin also has exhibition halls at Kurfürstendamm 205, where its present-day production is on display.

Bicycle Race
 Eight National Teams start in Berlin for "Interrad 71" — a 100-kilometer bicycle race to take place between the Victory Column, on Strasse des 17. Juni, and Kladow. The event goes underway at 8 a.m. on Sunday.

Open-air performance
 "Der liebe Augustin" an operetta by Leo Fall is presented at the Freilichtbühne Rehberge, Berlin 65, Petersallee (Volks-park) tonight, Saturday and on July 23 and 24 with curtain time at 8 p.m. on all dates. Just in case the weather god is in a bad humor, 451 46 34 will let you know any change in performance dates.
Care to Dance?
 The First "JAZZ & SOUL & BEAT" Dance Studio in Berlin has opened at Roseneck, 17, Tepitzer Strasse. Young ladies between the age of 18 and 28 interested in amateur or professional dancing are requested to call 826 45 27 between 6 and 8 p.m. for registration.

Folk Service
 On Sunday at 10:30 a.m. Andrews Barracks Chapel will once again present the "New Sounds of Worship," a folk service of praise in the music of our time. Bring your friends and your voices and join in on the songs and music of today.

Audio Club Hours
 The new operating hours of the Tempelhof Audio Club, effective immediately, are: Tuesday-Friday, noon -7:30 p.m.; Saturday, 11 a.m.-5 p.m.; and Sunday and Monday, closed.

AYA Boat Trip
 Another boat trip is being sponsored by the AYA on Thursday from 1-3 p.m. Due to a seating limit of 25 people, prior registration at the AYA House is necessary. Registration will take place until Wednesday and the cost of the boat trip is 25 cents. All AYA members may attend.

Garage Sale
 The Tempelhof NCO Wives Club is holding a garage sale today and tomorrow at Onkel Tom Strasse 51 from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Among the items to be sold to Americans only are baked goods and fresh fruits.

PWOC Meeting
 The Protestant Women of the Chapel invite their members and friends to the next meeting on Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the American Community Chapel. There will be an opportunity to visit over a cup of coffee before the business meeting at 10 a.m. "Through

Community Observations
 Gates of Splendor," a movie about missionaries, will also be shown. As usual, free nursery service will be provided at the chapel.

AYA Dance
 An international dance will take place tomorrow night at the AYA House on Huttenweg with music by The Babylon. One British and two German Youth Clubs have been invited and refreshments will be served. The dance will be held from 7-11 p.m. and all AYA members over 13 years of age may attend.

Photo Tour

by Judy Pricks

The third session of "Jazz in the Garden" today at 7 p.m. will feature Eberhard Schoener on the Moog Synthesizer, an instrument designed for electronic music. As part of the "Bach Days," which are in full swing now, the program "Destruction of Harmony" will include a tribute to J. S. Bach and a homage to Miles Davis. With good weather the electronic sounds will be heard among the sculptures outside the New National Gallery, which gives this event its special atmosphere.

Otherwise, the Ernst Reuter Haus on the Strasse des 17. Juni Nr. 135 will be the scene for the jazz session. The decision will be made today and if you want to find out for sure where it will be call the organizers of "Jazz in the Garden" at 883-6355. Tickets sell for DM 5.

Looking ahead to the next session of "Jazz in the Garden" on July 30, it is said that this will be a "tidbit" for the jazz fans. An American jazz combo which features two top musicians, Bobby Hutcherson on the vibraphone and Harold Land on the tenor saxophone, will be introduced to the Berlin audience.

Two Groups
 On Aug. 13 the series will present two groups in one evening. The gypsy violinist Nipso Brantner will appear together with the German composer and pianist Pristian Schultze to present their "Electric Gypsy" sound. The second group falls in the jazz-rock direction and comes from Holland, the Pierre Courbois Association.

The prices and places for the above-mentioned Friday concerts are the same, but the times are different. Note that these events are scheduled to begin at 6 p.m.

The summer concerts which are listed under the "Cultural Events Around Town" can be highly recommended not only for their musical pleasure, but for the atmosphere that goes along with it. The setting for these concerts is one of the most beautiful rooms of the Charlottenburg Castle, the Eosander Chapel, named after its builder, the Swedish architect Eosander von Goethe. The baroque splendor dates back to the beginning of the 18th century.

Sign of Royalty
 The first Prussian King Friedrich I and his family gave the instructions to have this chapel built and as a sign of their royalty a huge golden crown signifies the historic first crowning in Prussia. The chapel had been destroyed by bombs in 1943 and its renovation was completed last year. The ornate organ has also been reconstructed, after the 200-year-old original was destroyed in the Berlin City Castle in 1944 where it had been stored for safety reasons.

But when you sit in the chapel with the incoming twilight and the flickering light of the burning candles, which are lit for the concerts, you forget about the destruction and just let the eye wander in the once again magnificent room.

RESTORED ORGAN — The pipes of the restored organ at the Eosander Chapel will resound with music during August weekend concerts.

The musicians are hidden from the audience since they play up in the balcony, so you let yourself be carried away by the chamber music and the lovely surroundings. Since the concerts don't begin until 8 p.m., a walk through the well-kept garden of the castle will add to the enjoyment of the evening.

Get Tickets Early
 These concerts have become very popular in Berlin, so you should plan ahead and get your tickets early at a ticket agency. You find the Eosander Chapel when you turn to your left (when facing the castle), go through the gate and then take a sharp right. Or better yet, just follow the people; there will be plenty of them.

The Deutschlandhalle is going to open its doors to a children's playground on July 28 and hold a big children's party until Aug. 20. The Senate of Berlin plus a great number of public and private organizations have gotten together to really offer something for those children who have to stay in the city during the summer. From 10 a.m.-6 p.m. the youngsters from 5-13 years of age are invited to come and play.

There are a great number of toys, slides, movies, horseback riding (20 minutes once each day), handicrafts and picture painting, or bicycle riding in a traffic training garden constructed and guided by the police. A soft drink and cookies and a warm meal are included. All this is available for DM 2 for the entire day (Monday through Saturday) — so mother will have a rest, too.

Those parents who would like to see how their children play under trained supervision can do so from the balcony of the Deutschlandhalle for 50 pfennig. The tickets can be purchased at the Deutschlandhalle and on it the name, address and telephone number of the child and parents should be printed.

Open-Air Theater
 Another place to check for summer entertainment is the pretty little open-air theater in Spandau, next to the Citadel. The "Freilichtbuehne am Juliiusturm," as it is called, is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year. For 50 summers it has been offering a mixture of music, theater and variety shows for young and old.

On Saturday, July 24, the "Kleines Schauspielensemble Berlin" will present the comedy "Arsenic and Old Lace" at 7:30 p.m. On the following weekend, July 31, at the same time, the boys of the "Belgian Flag Ballet" will entertain with their colorful flag-twirling demonstrations. For both evenings you pay only DM 2 for your tickets, which you can get at the door.

This summer a visit to the zoo (Berlin has the best-stocked zoo in all of Europe) not only gives you a look at a great variety of live animals, but at an adorable collection of porcelain creatures. In the Antelope House a special exhibition entitled "Animals in Porcelain" awaits the visitor with over 400 pieces of the Hutschenreuter collection. Check "Events in Town" for details about opening hours, etc. for the Berlin Zoo.

I hope that my 282nd "Let's See Berlin" column will see you well through the next four weeks and that some of these hints will add to your summer pleasure in Berlin. I'll be checking out Ireland. Happy Summer!

Community Observations

Folk Service

On Sunday at 10:30 a.m. Andrews Barracks Chapel will once again present the "New Sounds of Worship," a folk service of praise in the music of our time. Bring your friends and your voices and join in on the songs and music of today.
