

New Berlin Program Begins As 4/18 Recon Learns German

by SP4 J.D. Wilson

The Reconnaissance Platoon of the 4th Battalion, 18th Infantry, whose normal duty is patrol of the wall, is currently patrolling a new area—the classroom of a special course in the German language—in a program which has just been instituted in Berlin as a USAREUR first, according to Rudolph L. London, education coordinator for Berlin Brigade.

The purpose of the new program is to insure that all personnel serving in reconnaissance units in Berlin Brigade have a good working knowledge of the German language in order to increase their effectiveness in performance of duties while patrolling the wall, London said.

He explained that similar programs are being conducted, and have been conducted in the past in USAREUR by armored cavalry regiments which patrol the border between Germany and Czechoslovakia, but these programs are for selected personnel within reconnaissance units.

All personnel of reconnaissance platoons of Berlin Brigade's three infantry battalions will take part in the course.

"Our program differs from those in the Zone in that the entire unit—officers, NCO's and enlisted men—will be trained in the German language," London said. "This is the first time that this type of program has been implemented in USAREUR."

He explained that the USAREUR General Education Development (GED) Agency has developed a German language border guard course which is, basically, the course that is being implemented in Berlin.

"It's being modified," he said, "to meet the needs of Berlin personnel; that is, to suit the locations, types of German personnel and situations they might encounter along the wall."

He explained that the course will emphasize expressions and terms pertinent to the Berlin situation and will offer instruction more intensive than that offered in the Zone.

The course, which began Monday, will consist of 180 hours of instruction at the rate of 10 hours each week. Upon successful completion of the course, the men will be awarded a German language training proficiency certificate.

London said the program was initiated by Brigadier General Raymond O. Miller, commanding general, Berlin Brigade, and developed through the cooperative efforts of the heads of G-1, G-2 and G-3.

The Reconnaissance Platoon of the Vanguard Battalion is the first of Berlin Brigade's three infantry battalions to begin the course. The reconnaissance platoons of the 2nd and 3rd Battalions, 6th Infantry, are scheduled to begin the course upon completion of training at the Major Training Area (MTA) in West Germany.

Army Aids German Red Cross As Local Clothing Drive Opens

The U.S. Army in Berlin will, as in years past, assist the German Red Cross with its annual clothing drive in the American Sector of Berlin.

The Red Cross will begin making collections in the U.S. Sector on Monday, with completion scheduled for Sept. 22. The assistance of 10 U.S. Army trucks and drivers will begin Tuesday, following the Labor Day Weekend.

Clothing collections in U.S. housing areas will take place in Dueppel on Monday, in Dahlem (Clayallee area) on Wednesday and in Lichterfelde on Thursday.

The Red Cross can use any item of clothing, whether serviceable or not. All items will be shipped to the central warehouse facility in West Germany for distribution to emergency areas throughout the world.

Those people wishing to make contributions should have the items in plastic bags, placed on the curb in front of their quarters on the respective dates. Plastic bags may be obtained in the lobby of the Shopping Center PX.

Last year the German Red Cross collected more than 900 tons of clothing in West Berlin.

British and French forces in Berlin will be providing similar assistance to the German Red Cross in their respective sectors from Sept. 23-Oct. 7.

LETTER OF COMMENDATION — Lieutenant Colonel Thomas F. Fallon (l.), assistant chief of staff, G-3, is shown here forwarding a letter of commendation to Mr. K. AER Kicks Off 1971 Campaign

Last Tuesday morning, in the office of Major General William W. Cobb, U. S. Commander, Berlin, the 1971 Army Relief Society Campaign of the U. S. Army, Berlin, was officially kicked off. The campaign, designed to bolster funds of the Army Emergency Relief (AER) program, will run through Oct. 4.

Since its foundation in 1942 the AER has been living up to its motto "The Army Takes Care of its Own." AER was formed as an Army-sponsored, nonprofit corporation dedicated to helping members of the Army and their dependents in times of financial stress.

Emergency financial assistance is rendered to members of the Army on active duty and their dependents, retired Army personnel and their dependents, the dependents of Army personnel missing in action and for the immediate needs of dependents of Army personnel who died while on active duty or during retirement.

Through its many sections established at Army installations throughout the world, AER assists in many varying types of emergencies by extending either loans without interest, outright grants or a combination of a loan and a grant, whichever is considered the most appropriate. Assistance to dependents of deceased personnel is normally in the form of a grant.

Each case is determined on its own merits by the local AER officer. Loans are normally repaid by a Class E Allotment in small monthly installments in order not to cause a hardship.

Some typical cases assisted by AER are for nonreceipt of pay, allotments, or allowances; loss of pay or other personal funds; emergency medical expenses; funeral expenses; travel expenses due to emergency leave; payment of rent to prevent eviction; or privation of dependents due to emergencies.

AER does not normally give assistance for divorcees, liquidation or consolidation of debts, financing of business ventures, civilian court fees, fines, judgments, liens, bail, legal fees, income tax or travel expenses for leaves not involving any emergency. The amount of assistance authorized will not usually exceed $250 in the U. S. or $500 overseas.

To obtain AER help when an emergency arises you should:

Wage-Price Freeze Affects Military in Several Areas

President Nixon's wage-price freeze is having great effect on the citizens of the U. S., particularly military personnel and their dependents serving overseas. Two areas of direct interest to the military community in Europe are the effect of the freeze on pay and entitlements, and on the cost of food and merchandise in the commissary and PX.

According to Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard, DoD will institute no pay or allowance rate increase in any category during the current freeze. This includes new proficiency pay categories and longevity pay, with certain exceptions. Personnel who are promoted will receive pay associated with their new rank, however. Also, a man who qualifies for special or incentive pay will receive that pay at rates in effect before Aug. 14.

In the area of commissary prices, a TASCOM official said recently that the cost of items in commissaries will depend on the degree of cooperation between the government and business. The official also said that current prices would be extended to mid-September, after which some changes might be made.

EES Headquarters in Munich has announced that it is placing a moratorium on all price changes, upward or downward, with certain exceptions. The single exception causing a possible upward price change is that of perishable food items purchased from local sources. All other exceptions concern downward changes.

Additional information will be reported as it is made available.

Guardians' Lane Receives 2nd Arcom

by SP4 Larry Maloney

Specialist Four William F. Lane, company clerk for Headquarters Company, 2nd Battalion, 6th Infantry received an Army Commendation Medal (first oak leaf cluster) at the battalion command formation here Monday.

Lane received the award for "... exceptionally meritorious achievement in support of military operations against communist aggression in the Republic of Vietnam.... Through diligence and determination he invariably accomplished every task with dispatch and efficiency.... Selflessly working long and arduous hours, he has contributed significantly to the allied effort."

When William Lane came into the Army, he decided to get something out of it, not simply waste the two years. He signed up to go to OCS (Officer Candidate School) after basic training and infantry AIT (Advanced Individual Training).

After trying OCS for a while, Lane decided the officer corps was not for him. He was then school trained in electronic warfare, a field in which he was quickly put to work in the Republic of Vietnam as an Unattended Ground Sensor Operator.

While in Vietnam, then-Private First Class Lane was assigned to Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 23rd Infantry Division. He worked for the G-2 Target Mission Force, which handled intelligence and target acquisition. While Lane could not give details of his work for security reasons, he did say that he moved around quite a bit.

"I operated out of three bases while in Vietnam: LZ (landing zone) Professional from March 1970 to July of that same year, and LZ Mary Ann from July to September 1970.

"From those two bases we (a team of four) would link up with a security force and move to an assigned location. We would usually be inserted and withdrawn by helicopter and would stay in a given location anywhere from 2 1/2 hours to 20 days.

"Then, from October 1970 to January 1971, I was assigned to the 2nd ARVN Infantry Division-liaison to G-2 Target Mission Force as an advisor. They were all good jobs, even though I was scared like hell. We had our share of fire fights, but we were rarely mortared."

In January 1971 Lane was transferred to Berlin. "When I got to Berlin," he said, "Captain Rooker (Cont. on p. 5, col. 1)

Strong Medicine

Do statistics give you a pain?

Just hold your nose and take your medicine and we'll give you a pleasant surprise at the end.

A recent edition of a national magazine, citing American Medical Association figures, says that at last count America had 334,028 doctors, but that nearly 17 per cent of them don't practice. Of the 225,027 available to the private citizen, only 50,816 are general practitioners, while the others are specialists. Pediatricians are GP's for children, according to the article, but there are only 10,310 of them for 58 million children under 15, a ratio of one doctor for 5,625 kids. The whole theme of the article was the shortage of doctors and the rarity of a doctor in a rural or small community. The writer cites startling statistics that show doctors leaving the workingman's communities and moving into the highest income areas.

But, there was a reassuring fact for servicemen among the downers. Of that total figure of 334,028 American doctors, nine per cent are federally employed.

You as a military member have access to modern medicine for yourself and your family and it's free! Yes, the military is feeling the pinch of the doctor shortage too, but the per capita rate doesn't come close to the civilian ratio.

How many times have you and the family visited the clinic at your installation this year? How much did it cost?

If you've married while you've been in uniform you may not know that family medical cost in civilian life is a bitter pill to take. (AFPS Editorial)

AER Campaign...

● If you are on active duty stationed in Berlin, first discuss your problem with your commanding officer, complete DA Form 1103, hand carry the completed form to the American Red Cross office above the Crump Hall Library. If they are unable to help, they will note it on the form, which you should then bring to the Personnel Actions Branch of the Adjutant General Division located in Bldg. 1, Rm. 1015, Berlin Brigade Headquarters.

● Dependents residing in Berlin whose sponsor is not present or retired Army personnel residing in Berlin should personally come into the Personnel Actions Branch at the Headquarters Compound for assistance.

● Personnel living in a civilian community may apply through the local Red Cross Chapter for AER assistance, or may apply directly to the AER officer at the nearest Army post or installation with an AER section.

Voluntary contributions from members of the Army, sought on an annual basis, support the Army Emergency Relief. AER makes no appeal for funds outside of the Army. Unsolicited gifts and legacies are accepted provided the donor does not use the name of AER for the purpose of gain or advantage.

AER also receives donations from members of the Army, their families and friends in memory of deceased loved ones. Acknowledgement is made to each donor and a letter of sympathy to the bereaved family that includes the names and addresses of the contributors.

3/6 Mortar Platoon Tackles Pro Test With New Faces

by PFC John L. Moore

The MTA (Major Training Area) meant hard work for the 4.2-inch mortar section of Headquarters Company, 3rd Battalion, 6th Infantry. The "four-deuce" section faced its proficiency test this year with 75 per cent of its platoon being new troops who had not tackled the test previously. The West Germany training area is the only area in which the mortar platoons of the Berlin Brigade can fire for practice. As soon as the Defender Battalion reached Hohenfels, the 4.2-inch mortar platoon started preparing for the proficiency test by using live fire to polish the technique of gunners, FO's (Forward Observers), and FDC (Fire Direction Center) personnel.

Subsections of the mortar platoon work together to accomplish a mission, like the systems of the human body which coordinate their actions in order to be efficient in defeating an enemy or performing an action. The FO team acts as the eyes of the body, seeing what needs to be done and relaying a message to the brain. The brain, or the FDC, takes the message and coordinates the muscles, or 4.2-inch guns, so that the body, or platoon, can do its job. The men in the four-deuce section are qualified to work in any of the subsections, but for perfection and efficiency each man has a certain area of responsibility.

The proficiency test given the mortar platoon grades every movement a 4.2-inch mortar section would make under combat conditions. The gunners have to set up their equipment in a minimum of time. Shallow holes for the gun bases are dug and the bases are set into the ground and the mortar tube and adjusting apparatus attached.

The section leader at the aiming circle stake gives adjustment data to the gunners so they can get all four tubes parallel to each other. With this accomplished, the base plates must be settled. Two rounds are fired from each of the guns for this purpose.

The FDC is graded during the proficiency test on its part in the mission. The FDC compiles and computes all information coming from the FO and sends the gun section the adjustments needed to change from their present setting to their new target. The FDC also keeps all target settings on data sheets as well as computer sheets so that if a target is engaged in the future the map coordinates have already been converted into the adjustments needed by the gunners.

It is the men at the FO post that formulate the fire request. They relay the coordinates of targets to the FDC and when the No. 2 gun zeroes in on the target, the FO sees where the round is hitting and relays this information to the FDC. Since all tubes are kept parallel, when "fire for effect" is called all guns are on target.

The four-deuce section boasts openly about their role in the Defender Battalion. Under combat conditions, the 4.2-inch mortar section is the infantry battalion's personal artillery. Whether it's a test, a parade, or just practice, the platoon does its very best to accomplish its mission.

Artillery Battery Returns After 3 Weeks' Training

by SP4 Thomas M. Loreto

Berlin Brigade's Battery C, 94th Artillery has returned to McNair Barracks after almost three weeks of training at Grafenwoehr, West Germany. From Aug. 3-22 the artillerymen expended over 1,400 rounds while engaging simulated enemy targets in practicing direct and indirect fire.

The men of Charlie Battery utilized all of their firepower, which includes, in addition to their M-108 105 mm self-propelled howitzers, .50 caliber machine guns, M-79 grenade launchers and M-72 LAW's (light anti-tank weapons) in destroying simulated enemy armored personnel carriers, gun emplacements and tanks.

As an example of combined training, the men of C/94 coordinated with the V Corps Artillery Radar Team, using V Corps tracking systems to adjust fire on targets while shooting their service practice. They also assisted V Corps Artillery by shooting their calibration test for them.

The service practice allowed the men of C/94 to gain valuable training in shooting all phases of artillery gunnery. The forward observers, the men of the FDC (fire direction center) and the gun crews practiced together, gaining experience in working as a tight-knit, well-coordinated team.

Approximately 20 forward observers from the 2nd Battalion, 6th Infantry joined the men of Charlie Battery at Grafenwoehr in order to become familiar with artillery tactics and procedures.

The mission of Battery C was to synchronize man and machine, speed and accuracy without sacrificing safety. During the training, the new men of the battery learned from the experienced men just what it takes to be part of a unit that has attained excellence and holds a world record in shooting emergency fire missions.

Fall Preview Starts Monday

Fall is not only in the air already, but also in the fashion world. The ladies (and, of course, the gentlemen) who would like to get an idea of what's "in" this fall, can inform themselves in a most pleasing manner at the Wertheim Department store in Steglitz. Next Monday through Friday, a fashion show will be held on the fifth floor of the store at 3:30 p.m. The tickets, which can be obtained on the ground floor of the store, cost DM 5 and include either a combination of roast turkey, Waldorf salad, toast and a glass of French wine or an ice-cream cocktail, French pastry and a glass of champagne.

BAHS Booster Club To Meet

The Berlin American High School Cubs Athletic Booster Club is holding its first general membership meeting of the year on Sept. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. All new Booster Club members and interested parents and adults are urged to attend. The meeting is important to everyone who wishes to actively support the high school sports' calendar and community activities designed to supplement the athletic program's limited funds. Booster Club membership cards will be available for purchase at the meeting.

FIRST TIME OUT — Approximately 20 kindergarten students braved Berlin traffic for the first time Tuesday morning, but they had little to worry about. The children wore yellow safety hats, identifying them to Berlin drivers as beginners at negotiating street crossings. Leading the children is Mrs. Judith Plocharczyk, a teacher at the Thomas A. Roberts School.

Nash Sings of War, Destruction

by PFC John C. Hinds Jr.

"Military madness is ruining our country."

Graham Nash, best known for his part in Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young, and before that with the Hollies, has chosen this title for his latest hit single. The song deals with the fact that he was brought up in England during World War II and he saw how the war destroyed the British Empire, and now that he resides in the U. S. he believes the Vietnam War is having the same effects on our country.

The point that he makes is certainly something to think about. However, the point can be debated as to whether the artist is beating a dead horse in order to sell records.

For even the most casual listener of rock music, Graham Nash can be easily recognized as one of the most brilliant singers and musicians in rock music today. His music has always reflected a commentary on the social and political aspects of today's society, and to even suggest that he made this record at this time merely to sell another record is absolutely out of the question as far as I am concerned.

Naturally a record of this type must be listened to before a valid judgment can be passed on it. I am sure that it will be in Berlin before too much longer, so when it comes listen to it and then decide for yourself whether it is a valid political comment or merely Graham Nash trying to sell records.

I would like to point out two items which were incorrectly reported in this column last week and correct them. First of all, Deep Purple, not Pink Floyd, will be appearing at Speyer this weekend, and secondly, "Chirpy, Chirpy, Cheap, Cheap" not "Cheapy, Cheapy, Cheap, Cheap" is the name of the hit single making the teeny bopper scene these days.

In case you haven't heard, The Creedance Clearwater Revival will be at the Deutschlandhalle Sept. 16, and John Mayall on the following evening at the same location.

Hope to be seeing you in Speyer this weekend. If not you'll be hearing from me next week. Peace.

Spearheaders Visit Berlin for 'Adventure' Training

What is written on the wall of Berlin's Olympic Stadium about American Olympic star Jesse Owens? How many steps are in the Victory Column from the ground to the observation platform? And how many trucks enter and exit the main gate of Flugplatz Gatow in a one-hour period?

These are but some of the questions 36 men from the 3rd Armored Division were busy trying to answer last week as they trained with the 4th Battalion, 18th Infantry here in the Divided City, marking the first time a unit from West Germany has come to Berlin for "adventure" training.

The men, from 2nd and 3rd Platoons, Company C, 1st Battalion, 36th Infantry, stationed at Friedburg, near Frankfurt, began their Berlin "adventure" soon after arrival at the Rail Transportation Office (RTO) Aug. 23.

After a series of welcomes and orientation sessions, the men were sent that afternoon on missions to various "targets" throughout Berlin.

In carrying out these missions they were allowed to use any form of transportation available to West Berlin military personnel—U-bahn, bus, taxi—if they wanted to use their own money.

Four-Man Groups

Operating in four-man groups, the men were issued sealed packets which the number of people who crossed the Freedom Bridge, the number of trains and passengers that come into West Berlin at the Reinickendorf Station, how many guards the Russians have on duty at the Soviet War Memorial in West Berlin and the frequency of guard relief.

Other groups counted the number of U. S. licensed vehicles crossing into Headquarters Company team played the visitors in a game of softball that, perhaps, did not conform to the rules of hospitality as the home team won.

Upon their arrival, the men were welcomed to Berlin at the RTO by Major William T. McNamara, executive officer of the 4th Battalion, 18th Infantry, who at that time was acting commander of the Vanguard Battalion.

Later that morning they were again welcomed and briefed by Colonel Robert W. Hill, deputy commander, Berlin Brigade. They were then given an orientation to Berlin by Master Sergeants Stephen N. Rabourn and H. J. Ricci, operations and intelligence sergeants of the battalion, respectively.

Tour of Facilities

First Sergeant Jose C. Longoria, Jr., of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 4/18, led the visitors on a tour of billets, game rooms and snack facilities.

Before their departure Aug. 26 on the duty train, Lieutenant Colonel Lonnie T. Howard, commanding officer of the battalion, gave the men an exit briefing, asking for comments or suggestions concerning their training and visit.

Evaluating the joint "adventure" training, Howard said, "It was an experiment for us and it turned out to have great value not only as a type of adventure training, but as an educational means to show these men, who would otherwise not have the opportunity, what the Berlin situation is all about.

"They were all enthusiastic and agreed that the Berlin experience had given them a better appreciation as to why they are in Germany," he said, "and they were somewhat awed by the friendliness of the city and its people."

Others Benefitted

He pointed out that the men from the 3rd Armored Division were not the only ones who benefitted from the experience.

"As a result of the visit," he said, "we have been extended an invitation to send our APC drivers to train with them in the Zone when we get our new diesel powered APC's.

"The joint training has also given us new ideas for training and expanded our base of knowledge," he added.

Asked about the possibility of similar exchange visits in the future, Howard said, "We are willing to sponsor other units that would like to come to Berlin for 'adventure' training."

disclosed their missions. Dressed in civilian clothing, the men were given until the following morning to report the answers of their missions to their platoon sergeants.

Other missions included counting

East Berlin at Check Point Charlie in an hour, determined which Four Power nation had guard of Spandau Prison and the frequency of guard relief or what prominent man-made feature is located on an 80-degree azimuth from the Funkturm.

The object of this phase of training was to force patrol leaders to use their ingenuity in reaching targets, accomplishing the missions and finding their way back to McNair Barracks within the time limit of approximately 20 hours.

Accompanied Patrols

In other training throughout the week, men were selected on a rotating basis to accompany 4/18's Reconnaissance Platoon on regularly scheduled patrols along the wall—both along division of sectors of the city and the division of West Berlin and the Soviet Zone of Germany.

The men also participated in a Berlin Project Partnership activity as the 4th Battalion, 18th Infantry hosted the visiting unit to joint training with the British.

The men were taken to Brooke Barracks for orientation on the British military system with the Duke of Edinburgh's Royal Regiment.

They were given an introduction to the organization and history of the Regiment and a guided tour of the British facilities.

Members of the Regiment helped familiarize the men with various weapons and equipment used by the British, including Armored Personnel Carriers (APC's), Ferret Scout Car, General Purpose Machine Gun, Heavy Mortar, Anti-Tank Gun and various small arms.

Berlin Tours

Crammed into the busy schedule was a tour of East and West Berlin.

Adventure training would not have been complete without organized athletics, so 4/18's Headquarters and

Coca-Cola All Wet as Yanks' Yarr Scores 5 Goals

by SP4 Robert M. Carmany

The U. S. Forces soccer team rebounded strongly from its only league defeat to crush two opponents last week, 6-0 and 6-3, as Noel Yarr sparked the Yanks with eight goals in the two games.

On Wednesday, the Yanks travelled to Frohnau to take on Krankenhaus Tegel-Sued. The game proved to be extremely one-sided as the Americans took a 6-0 decision from the Krankenhaus eleven.

With the game some 16 minutes old, the Big Blue got on the board when outside left Randy Achenbach took a pass from outside right Harry Gonyer and scored from five yards out to give the U. S. Forces a 1-0 lead.

Seventeen minutes later, Yarr got the first goal of his three goal "hat trick." Yarr took a pass from inside right Jim Elwood and pumped the ball into the goal from nine yards out to push the ante to 2-0.

In the closing minutes of the half, the Americans were awarded a penalty kick for a hand ball infraction and Elwood converted it to raise the score to 3-0.

Then, with barely more than a minute left before intermission, Yarr got his second goal of the afternoon on a pass from Elwood to give the Yanks a 4-0 halftime lead.

As the second half began, it appeared that the U. S. Forces eleven would run the Germans right off the field. Three minutes into the half, Yarr scored his third goal of the afternoon when he intercepted an errant German pass and beat the goalkeeper to bring the score to 5-0.

Despite their complete domination of the game, the Yanks were unable to score until there were 15 minutes left in the game. Achenbach lofted a corner kick into the middle where Yarr got a head on the ball.

Right half Rod Smith was able to get a foot on the ball and slam it past the shell-shocked goalkeeper to give the Yanks the final 6-0 advantage.

On Saturday the U. S. Forces was in action at Stadion Lichterfelde as they met the team from Coca-Cola. The game was highlighted by a record-tying five-goal performance by Yarr, the inside left.

Although the game was played on a field that was, at best, less than third rate, it affected the U. S. Forces very little. Midway through the first half, Gonyer was able to deflect a pass from the German goalkeeper to Yarr, who blasted the ball into the VICTORY JIG — Randy Achenbach (3) goes into his victory dance as the U.S. Forces got back on the winning track by bouncing Krankenhaus Tegel-Sued, 6-0, and Coca-Cola, 6-3. Achenbach scored the Yanks' first goal in the shutout win over Krankenhaus but the big news was Noel Yarr's eight goals for the week, five of them coming against the soft drink men. The Yanks are now 13-1 in league play with two makeup games left.

goal to give the Americans a 1-0 lead.

Ten minutes later, Yarr was able to steal a pass and beat the goalkeeper again to push the score to 2-0.

With the half drawing to a close, Achenbach slipped the ball inside to Yarr, who was able to get around the last defender and rifle the ball into the nets to give the Yanks a 3-0 lead which they held as the teams left the field at halftime.

The Germans were able to tighten the score to 3-1 early in the second half before Yarr went on another scoring rampage. After taking a pass from Elwood, he slammed the ball past the bewildered goalie to bring the score to 4-1.

Yarr got his fifth goal of the game with 20 minutes left after taking a pass from Achenbach and ramming a powerful shot into the goal to run the score to 5-1.

The Germans were able to score again to bring the score to 5-2 but minutes later, Yarr was at it again.

This time, however, he was the playmaker rather than the scorer.

His pass across in front of the goal was netted by Gonyer to bring the count to 6-2.

The Germans were able to score again with less than a minute remaining in the game and the game ended with the U. S. Forces on the long end of a 6-3 score.

The Coca-Cola game was officiated by the manager of the Coca-Cola team because the referee failed to make a showing. This marked the second time in the last three games that the league failed to provide an official and the game was officiated by a person associated with the U. S. Forces' opponent.

Despite this and some very poor calls (a ball being in play after coming back on the field after bouncing around in the top of a tree adjacent to the field), the Americans had little trouble in disposing of the Coca-Cola team.

The U. S. Forces will be in action at the Zehlendorf German-American Sports Day Sept. 12 at the sports complex on Onkel Tom Strasse when they participate in an all-day tournament.

Garmisch Hosts Tennis Finals

MUNICH — The 1971 USAREUR open and senior tennis championships will run Wednesday-Friday at the Garmisch Sports Center.

Each USAREUR sports conference may enter a six-man team consisting of four open and two senior contestants. Only U. S. military personnel participating in the command sports program are authorized to compete in the single-elimination championship being hosted by the Armed Forces Recreation Center.

In open-class play, four individuals will participate as four singles and two doubles teams. Individuals participating in open play are ineligible to compete in senior-class competition.

Senior-division contestants will be limited to two individuals who will participate as two singles and one double team. Only individuals reaching their 40th birthday on or before Sept. 8 are eligible to enter the senior-division lists. Play in the senior division will run concurrently with open competition.

Singles and doubles competitions will be scheduled in both open and senior play. The maximum of sets will be three in all matches — except the finals of the open singles and doubles will be five.

USAREUR championship play will be governed by the 1971 rules of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association (USLTA).

72-Hole Tournament To Decide Golf Title

MUNICH — The 1971 USAREUR Golf Championship, featuring both open and senior classes in 72-hole stroke play, will be held Sept. 23-26 at the AFRC golf course in Garmisch.

Teams of four open and two senior players from each USAREUR sports conference may enter the four-day links championships being hosted by the Armed Forces Recreation Center. Only U.S. military personnel participating in the USAREUR sports program are authorized to compete in the championship playoffs.

In open division play four contestants, regardless of age, will be eligible to compete. However, contestants electing to compete in open division play will not be eligible to enter the senior division. Two contestants who have attained the age of 35 on or before Sept. 23 are eligible to compete in senior category play.

All USAREUR contestants will be scheduled to play a minimum of 18 holes each day and complete 72 holes of stroke play. Pairings after the first round will be scheduled on the basis of the aggregate score of each competitor after each successive round (18 holes) — except that no pairing will include more than one competitor from any team.

The USAREUR individual champion, second-place winner and third-place finisher in open and senior division play will be determined by the lowest aggregate scores of the 72 holes of stroke play.

Team championship honors, including both open and senior contestants, will be decided by the lowest aggregate 72-hole score of the lowest five of the six contestants forming each team.

A team managers meeting will be conducted at the Green Arrow Inn Lounge at 7 p.m. Sept. 22.

Awards will be presented to the first and second place teams and first, second and third place individual winners in each division of competition.

THE ANDERSON TAPES — Sean Connery masterminds a complex scheme to rob a luxury apartment house in New York City. He fields a team of experts to do the job and with his girlfriend as the inside man, the crew ransacks the place while many of the tenants are still at home. Also stars Dyan Cannon.

THE BODY STEALERS — During a parachute test at an airfield in England, three chutists mysteriously vanish while floating to earth. The only clue to their disappearance is a weird alien noise. Starring George Sanders and Maurice Evans.

VILLA RIDES — This fast moving film portrays the life of Pancho Villa when he fought insurgent military leaders determined to wrest power from President Madero. Violence roars across seething Mexico as the Villistas return blow for blow and murder for murder. Starring Yul Brynner and Robert Mitchum.

THE STATUE — The wife of a language professor about to be awarded a Nobel Prize is commissioned to make a statue to commemorate the event. The lady creates a colossal nude likeness of her man which differs in only one vital detail. It is that difference which drives David Niven on a mad search to discover his wife's model. Also stars Virna Lisi.

MELODY — MELODY is a study of bittersweet childhood. A boy and a girl, age 11, use their love for one another as a shield against the unpredictable world of adults. Music by the Bee Gees. Starring Jack Wild and Mark Lester.

ROSEMARY'S BABY — Mia Farrow becomes the dupe of a group of modern day practitioners of medieval witchcraft. Their sinister plans make this chilly tale of the supernatural a convincing chronicle of horror. Also starring John Cassavetes, Sidney Blackmer and Ruth Gordon.

ON A CLEAR DAY YOU CAN SEE FOREVER — Barbra Streisand plays a goofy New York girl who discovers she has extra sensory perception. Psychiatrist Yves Montand finds she also had a previous life as a low born 18th century English wench. Barbra makes the most of her dual role and belts out some fine numbers in this unusual musical. Also stars Bob Newhart.

MY FAIR LADY — Eliza Doolittle was a different kind of flower child. Professor Henry Higgins makes a bet that with a little help the bedraggled cockney lass could be made into a great lady. And she is. Great music and entertainment along the way from the Academy Award winning film version of the hit Broadway musical. Starring Rex Harrison and Audrey Hepburn.

LOVING — LOVING presents an inside view of infidelity with George Segal as the philandering husband whose wife is unaware of his affairs. LOVING goes to a party for laughs and to the city for adventure but finds truth at home. Also stars Eva Marie Saint.

CRY OF THE BANSHEE — Vincent Price plays a brutal 17th century English magistrate who seeks to destroy the cult of Witch Elizabeth Bergner. In retaliation, the lady casts a spell of evil upon his family. Also stars Essy Persson and Hugh Griffith.

HELLO DOLLY — Barbra Streisand plays Dolly Levi, the master matchmaker who decides that the best mate for her prize customer, Horace Vandergelder, would be herself. Barbra schemes, arranges, and with the help of Louis Armstrong, sings the famous song. Also stars Walter Matthau, Michael Crawford. Playing at the Jerboa Cinema.

MY SIDE OF THE MOUNTAIN — A 13-year-old adventurer named Sam leaves his home to spend a year in the beautiful wilderness of Canada with only a pet raccoon and a trained falcon for company. The boy's ability to survive is severely tested in this engrossing saga. Starring Theodor Bikel, Teddy Eccles and Tudi Wiggins. Playing at the Jerboa Cinema and as Children's Matinee at the Outpost Theater.

AFTV Begins New Schedule

AFTV-Berlin begins a new season of programming Monday and will begin broadcasting one-half hour earlier. Several new shows will be making premiers during the second week of September and some popular series will return.

Most programming that might appeal to children will be scheduled before 8 p.m. "Magic Land of Allakazam," "Jim Bowie," "Expedition Colorado" and "My Favorite Martian" will be shown at 4:30 p.m.

A new local production, "The Fun Shop," will replace "In The Corner" at 5 p.m. The host, "Uncle Harvey," will feature construction projects, cartoons and safety hints for the younger set. He will be assisted by Miss Jenny.

Many other changes will take place for the fall season. "Glen Campbell's Goodtime Hour" will be seen on Mondays at 8:10 p.m. On Tuesdays, "Family Affair" moves to 7:20 p.m. followed at 7:45 by "The Addams Family."

Thursday's programming features the premier of "The Carol Burnett Show" on AFTV-Berlin and time changes for others. "Carol Burnett" begins at 7:45 p.m. while "The Bill Cosby Show" moves to 7:20 p.m. and "Harrigan and Son" switches to 8:45 p.m.

Three changes will take place on Saturday evenings. "Mod Squad" returns to Berlin at 9:10 followed by "This Week In The News," a review of the past week's top news stories, the fall television schedule, AFTV-at 10 and "Rawhide" at 10:20.

Because of the many changes in the fall television schedule, AFTV-Berlin suggests that viewers obtain a TV guide and follow the second week of September closely.

DON'T YOU KNOW THAT YOU'RE NOT SUPPOSED TO SALUTE SERGEANTS? — The police take time out to regroup their forces in an attempt to foil Sean Connery's robbery scheme in The Anderson Tapes. Co-star Dyan Cannon ends up stealing most of the attention, though.

Vienna Ice Show Premieres Today In Sportpalast After 2-Year Pause

by Judy Pricks

Upcoming entertainment in Berlin can really be classified under "something for everybody." Tonight, the Vienna Ice Show will once again have a premier in the Sportpalast after a two-year pause. The break was used by the management to reorganize and work together with Holiday on Ice, so that a brand-new show may be presented to Berliners, even though it will feature a great number of oldies-but-goodies.

"Unforgettable Melodies" is the name of the program, which features an international array of skaters from Europe, the U.S. and Australia. Topping the list is the talented, as well as sexy, Milena from Czechoslovakia. Naturally there will also be plenty of comical numbers mixed in, including an acrobatic trampoline performance. The well-shaped chorus line of international origin won't be missing.

So it's off to the Sportpalast to the big ice show which goes on nightly at 8 p.m., with the exception of Sunday, when it begins at 7:30 p.m. The "Unforgettable Melodies" will also be on the ice on Saturday and Sunday afternoon at 3:30. Tickets sell for DM 6-16. The show will be in Berlin until Sept. 19.

Charlie Rivel

One of the last of the big clowns, Charlie Rivel, who is mentioned in the same breath with Charlie Chaplin, will be the main attraction at the Deutschlandhalle Sept. 8-12. The 75-year-old Spanish artist, who lives in France, has been giving joy to his audiences since he hit the big business in 1926 in Berlin. His special kind of comedy, which has nothing to do with the often plump and dumb antics of a clown, still finds a strong echo in today's hectic world.

His guest performances in Munich in March of this year were sold out. The most "decorated" Spaniard (he has been presented 27 medals) claims no nationality; he says "I am a clown, I love all people." He wants to continue bringing his love to people as long as he is able to. He certainly has no need to keep working, but his wife (who has been at his side for 52 years!) says that he becomes unbearable when he is not working.

The Charlie Rivel Show will also include his sons "The Charivels;" the magicians Michael Allport and Jennifer from Las Vegas; the Trio Holt's Mexican games; Russian folklore by two young fellows called the "Kiev's;" and the music of the Teddy Stauber band.

Performances begin at 8 p.m. Sept. 8-10, and at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. on Sept. 11 and 12. Check with the PX ticket agency for tickets which sell for DM 6-20 with half prices for children's matinees — children are fascinated by his performance.

HIYA KIDS, HIYA, HIYA — The hilarious Charlie Rivel, a Charlie Chaplain act-alike, will be at the Deutschlandhalle Sept. 8-12. The 75-year-old Spaniard performed before sell-out crowds in Munich earlier in the year.

Polo Coming

Anybody for polo? This exciting horse sports event will be going on at the Maifeld at Olympic Stadium Sept. 8-11. British teams will be competing against teams from Hamburg and Duesseldorf. The public is invited to come out — it costs only 50 pfennig if you go on foot and DM 8 per car (no matter how many people are in it) if you want to drive right up to the field. The action begins at 3 p.m. Wednesday through Friday and at 11 a.m. on Saturday.

Another big horse sports event will begin in Berlin on Sept. 10: the German Championships for Riding and Jumping. This pre-olympic horse show, which lasts until Sept. 12, brings Germany's top riders to Berlin, where they will test their skills under Olympic conditions. Special parours have been set up at the Olympic Riding Stadium and at the Maifeld especially for this event.

Since this comes together with the polo games, arrangements have been made to make the admission tickets for the horse show also valid for the polo games and the other way around. The details about the horse show will be in next week's Observer. Horse sports fans should keep the weekend free, because there will be plenty going on at Olympic Stadium.

Cultural Festival

If it's culture you crave, then be sure you're in the city Sept. 12-30 when the city will hold its annual Cultural Festival. Playgoers will not only have the 13 regular Berlin theaters to choose from, but guest performances will also be given by young, foreign Thespian troupes such as the London National Theatre's Young Vic, New York's La Mama Theater and its Manhattan Project Company or Belgrade's Ateljea Theatre 212. The opera will present several premieres aside from their regular program.

The concert scene, which of course includes Karajan and the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, will also be guest-star-studded with the Israel Philharmonic and the Chicago Symphony Orchestras. A series of chamber music recitals in the Oak Gallery of Charlottenburg Castle will round out the musical scene. Special mention should be given to a violin recital there by the American violinist Sonya Monosoff, who will play Heinrich Biber's "Mysterien Sonaten" there on Sept. 21.

For the details on the big cultural event, check with the PX ticket agency. It is wise to purchase tickets now, since events for the festival weeks sell out quickly.

Radio-TV Exhibit

For this weekend, keep in mind that the International Radio and Television Exhibition is open only until 7 p.m. Sunday, and then this big wonderland of audio and visual equipment will close its gates. The overwhelming variety of radios, hi-fi and stereo equipment, televisions and many new discoveries in this field gives the visitor plenty to see and hear. For relaxation, there is a colorful variety show in the pretty garden beneath the radio tower and the studios of various radio and television stations invite the public to come and see how they make their programs. Good walking shoes are recommended, because there is a lot of area to cover.

Part of the extra happenings around town for the exhibition is a guest appearance of "The Soulful Dynamics" in the "Big Eden" on Ku-Damm 202 tomorrow.
