USO Show Opens Here Tuesday

An all black cast of performers from Jackson State College, Jackson, Mississippi, will tour the Berlin area next week with "The Phantom Rides Again."

The "lively musical variety show," sponsored by the USO, the National Music Council and the Department of Defense, is currently making an eight week tour of military bases in the European area. It will play to Berlin audiences on February 9 and 10, at 8:00 p.m. at the Hi-Lite and All American Service Clubs, and again on February 12 at 6:30 p.m. at the 40th Armored Company Mess Hall at Turner Barracks.

According to a USO representative, "The Phantom Rides Again" is a variety package with songs, dances and instrumental numbers. The vocals in this show are out of sight, and the dancers do everything from jazz to a 'Laugh-In' skit. The theme of the show is 'Something for Everyone' — an expression of youth at its best."

Army Nurse Corps' 70th Anniversary

Last Tuesday marked the 70th Anniversary of the Army Nurse Corps, founded in 1901 to serve the men and women who make up the armed services of the United States.

Lieutenant Colonel Elizabeth Campbell, chief nurse, United States Army Hospital, Berlin, said of the men and women who make up the nursing staff at the hospital, "They are an excellent staff with much varied experience. I doubt that anything could happen here which could not be properly handled."

Although there was no official celebration of the event, several of the ten male and female nurses at the hospital commented on their Army careers. Here are some of those comments, representative of the Army nurses in Berlin.

Captain Beverly Albaugh, a former Air Force Nurse, is a graduate of Latrobe Hospital School of Nursing in Latrobe, Pennsylvania, and is "enjoying to the fullest" her stay in Berlin. Captain Albaugh hopes to do quite a bit more traveling while in the Army.

Captain Linda Salmon has had Army assignments at Fitzsimmons General Hospital in Denver and at Nha Trang and Chu Lai in the Republic of Vietnam. She plans to stay in nursing after separation from the Army and "go to Colorado and college" where she wants to ski and study for a degree in nursing.

One of the two male nurses assigned in Berlin is Captain Michael Sexton, a nurse-anesthetist graduate of the Bellevue Mills School of Nursing in New York City. Captain Sexton has also done post-graduate work at William Beaumont in El Paso, Texas. Says Captain Sexton, "I am enjoying my stay here, both professionally and socially. I appreciate the cultural advantages of Berlin as well as the varied and interest-

Use Your Head and Make Money -- Join Army Suggestion Program

Are you cost conscious? Do you wish to save the Army money? Do you wish to earn extra money for yourself?

If each answer to these three questions is "Yes!" you are in luck! The Directorate of the Army announced an Army-wide suggestion program promotional campaign to be known as "Cost Consciousness and Participation in the Army Suggestion Program," to run from January through March 1971.

Berlin Brigade's highest cash award in the present fiscal year is $825.00. We hope to make many more substantial awards before the end of FY 71. To do so we need your suggestions on how to:

- Save manhours in offices, workshops, worksites or storehouses,
- Cut costs of materials,
- Reduce vehicle or machine operating time,
- Economize in transportation,
- Reduce maintenance costs of equipment or buildings by improved methods.

Your awards will be based on what you save the Army. The more you save the Army, the higher your award will be!

Those who need help or advice with their suggestion have the choice of seeking it from the Incentive Awards Administrator, Civilian Personnel Division, their own Incentive Awards Coordinator, or their Supervisor. Suggesters are welcome to visit the Incentive Awards Section at any time, or to phone them at 6453.

At the Commander in Chief's Seventh Command Incentive Award Ceremony, held in October 1970, General Polk mentioned five specific suggestion subjects to which special attention would be given during fiscal year 1971. These subjects are summarized below:

- Improvement of soldier morale and of command-soldier communications,
- Community relations and relations with host governments,
- Supply administration, supply economy, and the structure of logistic organizations,

- Effective use and management of local national employees,
- More effective maintenance of USAREUR buildings, roads, grounds, and other facilities.

The improvement of the environment, including reduction of air and water pollution, has been identified as a sixth subject.

The USAREUR campaign is endorsed by the US Commander of Berlin and the Commanding General, Berlin Brigade. Each endorsement stresses the importance of the need to reduce operating costs, and calls upon us to give the Suggestion Program our full support.

A HEALTHY 25 YEARS. Mr. Kurt Kunhardt, a traffic control clerk with the Rail Transportation Office of the Transportation Division, Berlin Brigade, has spent the last 25 years working for the U. S. Government in Berlin without having one day of absence caused by illness — an enviable record in anyone's book.

Legal residents of this district who are members of the Armed Forces or spouses of members of the Armed Forces may register and vote while acting as an absentee.

Unless eligible voters are permanently registered (valid for 10 years), they must re-register in each calendar year they wish to vote. Permanent registration can only be accomplished by applying in person.

Additional details regarding voting procedures in South Carolina may be gained by writing the Commissioner, Board of Elections, State of South Carolina, Charleston, South Carolina.

Not Yet Too Late

The test of history indicates that John Muir was, without a doubt, one of the first conservationists of important stature in the United States. A century ago, he preached a sermon to conserve our national resources that fell, for the most part, on deaf ears. Most people at that time just couldn't care less; such causes in a land of apparent plenty were not popular.

Fortunately, President Theodore Roosevelt plus a few others, to their credit, had the foresight and the power to act on Muir's advice. Many of the marvels of nature that are Sequoia, Yosemite and other wilderness parks and reserves, were wisely set aside as public areas for rest, recreation and zones to preserve wildlife for future generations.

For many years, American Armed Forces have practiced sensible, realistic conservation programs. Recently, such programs, good as they were, have been intensified still further. Pollution in the military community is being kept to a minimum, wildlife at military installations is allowed to thrive unhindered, and — as any member of any police-the-area detail will vouch for — litter is practically non-existent.

On the other hand, the tragedy of American conservation has been the long delay in obtaining a sense of awareness from the public at large. In spite of the fears of some alarmists, it appears that we may not yet be too late to reverse the damage we have inflicted — in the name of industrialism and progress — upon our environment. But it will take more than just an awareness, more than just newspaper editorials and magazine articles, more than political speeches. It will take work — very hard, back-breaking work — and a concerted effort, not just on the part of forest rangers, conservationists and like people, but by everyone.

It will mean that all of us will have to give up some of our creature comforts and conveniences. It may mean less air-conditioning on the hottest days of summer; it may mean more walking rather than jumping in the family car and riding; it may mean less so-called progress on a short-term basis in order to obtain a still greater progress in the very real long run for our very survival.

Above all, we must resolve ourselves to these upcoming facts of life — else we will have no life, but rather, a deadly well to which we will have to resign ourselves without any other recourse. (AFPS Editorial)

The Guardian's Operations Clerk: 'Always Knows What's Going On'

by PFC Larry Maloney

"The function of the S-3," according to Master Sergeant Canio E. Pasquaretta, S-3 Operations Sergeant, 2nd Battalion, 6th Infantry "is to direct and control the training and operations of this battalion. All combat units are either in combat or training for combat."

"While in garrison, we inspect the units to insure that the individual soldier is getting the best training possible. The training should keep the men proficient in their jobs and ready for combat at any time. We also maintain and direct in-country schooling for the Guardian Battalion, such as the Non-Commissioned Officer Academy, Intelligence School, Driver Safety school, etc.

"When we are in the field, under simulated combat conditions, we are the operations section. We put out operations orders and procedures. Communications, Motor, and Recon platoons come under our direct operational control. We set up and, in fact, become the Battalion C.P. (Command Post).

"All of this involves a great deal of paper work. We disseminate information to higher, lower, and adjacent units. To get information all the way down to the individual soldier requires a monumental amount of paperwork.

"Specialist Four Linfors, our Operations Assistant and clerk, does the work of an E-7, in my opinion. He not only does most of the typing and filing, but he is the memory of all of us here in the S-3 shop. He always knows what is going on.

"He works side-by-side with officers and enlisted men alike. Most of the people he deals with directly are his superiors in rank. He has an excellent rapport with all of them. He also fills in as radio operator, vehicle commander and helps to establish the Battalion C. P. in the field."

"I also get donuts in the morning and distribute them," added Specialist Four George E. Linfors. "I have a little metal tree filled with little rubber stamps, of which I use one! I also have all of these pieces of paper under the glass on my desk and I don't know what they are or why they're there. Who knows, they may be important, so I'm afraid to throw them out."

In a more serious vein, George adds: "Our mission here is to keep the Battalion in a constant state of combat readiness to meet any potential threat to the political and moral integrity of a free world, in general, and the 'Divided City' in particular.

We try to prepare a realistic training schedule to give the men an awareness of their mission here, and how to carry it out."

Specialist Linfors, besides his extremely efficient work for the S-3, is taking courses at Boston University towards a Masters Degree in International Relations. He has just recently completed his Law Boards (exams for entrance into Law School) and has qualified for some of the nations top law schools. Says Linfors: "I'm not simply passing my two years in the Army — I'm building my future."

Bills Getting Out of Hand? Here's What You Can Do

At one time or another we are all faced with bills. Sometimes they may seem more insurmountable than may really be the case. The question then is: What course of action may a debtor avail himself of in order to liquidate his bills, or at least eliminate the pressure of creditors in waiting?

One course of action is to pay the bills. This is not always as easy as it may sound and in most cases just not feasible without help. Other means include refinancing which extends the payments, but at the same time increases the cost of the loan with additional interest; debt consolidation by means of one loan to pay off existing debts which creates a situation of paying interest on interest; and seeking the help of a credit counselor. It is this latter course of action which a debtor should be cautioned about.

The function of a debt-adjusting agency is to help financially distressed debtors to settle their obligations. This is done by modification of the indebtedness through services of an intermediary known as a debt adjuster or credit counselor who collects certain sums of money from the debtor and distributes the same among his various creditors according to an agreed plan of modification or extension entered into between the adjuster and creditors. While some debt counselors perform a valuable service, others commit frauds and abuses and add little to the attempts to liquidate pre-existing obligations of a debtor. It should further be noted that not all creditors will accept partial payments which the credit counselor sets up. Unless the creditor agrees, he is not obligated to accept anything less than the full agreed payments. Furthermore, a creditor is not likely to accept a partial payment where he knows that the intermediary credit counselor is making a profit by distributing partial payments. Without proper agreement between a debtor and creditor to make and receive partial payments, the creditor may rightfully refuse the partial payment causing the debtor to be in default. This may then give rise to a repossession, foreclosure or other legal action taken against the debtor without regard to the credit counselor. (AFPS) (Reprinted from "The Bayonet," Ft. Benning, Ga.)

New Voices On-the-Air At AFN-Berlin Tubberville, Tooma, Bodi -- All Pros

If you spend a lot of time listening to the radio, you've probably noticed that AFN-Berlin has recently added two new personalities to its ranks. Staff Sergeant Ray Tubberville and Private First Class Ed Tooma have begun spinning records for the Berlin affiliate of the American Forces Network Europe.

As is the case with most AFN disc jockeys, both of the local station's additions have had a good deal of civilian experience as professional radio announcers. They've also had unusual and interesting military careers.

Ray spent most of the early sixties in the Army, including two tours of duty in Berlin. His first trip to the Divided City happened in 1961 while he was stationed in Mannheim with the 1st Battle Group, 18th Infantry. That was the year the city's Wall of Shame went up and the 1st Battle Group was called to Berlin on alert status. Ray showed up here again in 1964, this time for regular active duty assignment.

In 1968 Ray decided to return to civilian life and a new career in radio broadcasting. After visiting his family in Hot Springs, Arkansas, he attended the Don Martin School of Broadcasting in Hollywood, then landed a job with KQIQ radio station in Santa Paula, California. After a time there, Ray decided he'd like to be back in Berlin, reenlisted and got assigned to AFN-Berlin.

Ray keeps pretty busy at AFN, doing several sports shows, interviews and an afternoon request show — "Frolic" — which runs from 4:05 to 5:45 daily. Most listener mail has indicated a positive reaction to "Frolic" but there's always that person who doesn't understand why a "top ten" request show doesn't play any Beethoven requests.

Ed Tooma has been around in the radio industry, as well. He started his career doing record hops in an Air Force Service Club back in 1961. After separation from the Air Force, Ed went back to his home state, Maryland (he's from Baltimore), and did a country and western show on local radio there. He also worked in Baltimore for a time, doing morning and evening shows as a disc jockey.

Ed is now doing a morning request show for AFN-Berlin, and also does an evening show, at 8:05, on FM, called "Time and Changes," which features underground sounds.

Besides the two new personalities already familiar to Berlin listeners, AFN has acquired another announcer, John Bodi of Toledo, Ohio, who will soon assume duties at the station. John has worked at the Georgetown and Bowling Green University stations and has a Bachelor of Science Degree in Education, Speech and Hearing Therapy. He also worked for a while at WCWA radio in Toledo before he was drafted. John plans to return to college after completing his military service and do work for a doctorate in audiology.

Weather News For February

The weather for February is usually similar to January's weather. Records dating back to 1851 show a normal maximum temperature of 35° F and a normal low of 25° F. The lowest temperature ever recorded was -14° F and the extreme high was 62° F.

Most of the time we can expect a cold, cloudy month with snow or rain falling on an average of 13 days. Past records show February having more snow than any of the other winter months. We can expect about 6 1/2 inches of snow during the month and the ground is normally covered with snow for about nine days. In February, 1969 and again in February, 1970 Tempelhof Central Airport had 17.3 inches of new snow. This figure was a record for the month.

Maintenance At 4/18

Vanguard Armorer Does His Best

by PFC Dale Wanner

Maintenance is a must to prevent a malfunction of a weapon. To insure the proper functioning of the infantryman's weapon is at all times the responsibility on the company armorer.

Specialist Four Thomas Rife, Headquarters Company armorer, 4th Battalion, 18th Infantry, explains "It begins with the individual soldier himself."

"At first I wasn't exactly to keen on telling a soldier to clean his weapon before turn in, especially after he has been trudging out in the field for three or four days. But later I realized it was an important factor for the reasoning that the malfunction of a weapon can be deadly."

Although cleanliness is an important factor in preventive maintenance Specialist Rife is instrumental in assuring that every weapon is functioning properly by following a set checklist. Here he double checks and rechecks each weapon for worn parts and ensures all discrepancies are taken care of.

Daily duties as Headquarters Company armorer are varied. There is a considerable amount of paperwork to be done in addition to making an account for each weapon every day.

Specialist Rife is also the driver for Headquarters Company Commanding Officer, Captain Robert R. Poe. This requires a lot of time on maintenance of a vehicle. Rife comments, "This makes it a pretty irregular schedule for me to operate on, but I manage fairly well to run a consistent schedule."

When an alert is called, an armorer's job takes on an added importance. Specialist Rife states, "It is my responsibility to see that weapons are passed out within a short period of time after the alert is sounded. It is also my responsibility to have the remaining weapons out of the arms room."

"I take pride in my job and consider it a challenge because I have the responsibility of every weapon in the company."

Dental Diagnosis

Smoking Effects Oral Health

Does smoke affect your teeth? Other Oral Tissues?

It certainly does. Habitual smoking can stain the teeth, and it usually causes bad or offensive breath. But, even more important, recent studies have found that smokers have a higher incidence of gum disease and run four times the risk of death from oral cancer (25,000 new oral cases each year).

The Surgeon General has announced that all Medical Personnel should discourage smoking of any form, likewise Dentists have been involved in a campaign to encourage their patients to stop smoking through the American Dental Association Smoking and Health Projects.

Smoking irritates the oral tissues, much as it irritates the lung tissues. Constant irritation of the tissues may eventually cause cancer. Oral cancer is especially insidious because it is usually painless in its beginning stages.

Cancer is a disease where normal cells become abnormal and start multiplying and are no longer under the influence for which the cells were originally intended. Heavy smokers should certainly consult the Oral Surgeon, (Captain Lacy), regularly, so he can observe the mouth for any changes or suspicious lesions. He may take an oral smear to determine if there are any irregularities in the tissues, or he may suggest a biopsy.

Here are some suggestions that may help you stop, or at least cut down drastically.

1. If smoking provides you with a certain amount of stimulation, try a brisk walk or moderate exercise instead of a cigarette.

2. If you like to hold a cigarette, try a substitute, like a pen or a paper clip or even a plastic cigarette.

3. If smoking is primarily a relaxant, try different activities which can give you relaxation or pleasure.

4. If you use smoking to ward off stress, consider undertaking some activities which will provide physical exertion or involve you in social activities.

5. If you are a craver of cigarettes, try spoiling your taste for cigarettes by smoking twice your usual number for three or four days.

6. If smoking is strictly a habit, pay attention to each cigarette you smoke, try keeping them inaccessible or do not carry matches. Make it a point to ask yourself if you really want the cigarette before you light up. Then cut down gradually. Some use a buddy system or group therapy.

One last word: Do not substitute pipes or cigars for cigarettes. Both pipes and cigars have been identified as a factor in lip and tongue cancers. The best rule is to stop smoking — completely. Remember it's what you put in your mouth that may cause a malignancy and not what comes out — therein lies the problem.

Hospital

by SFC Vern F. Kardell

Promoted to the grade of Captain were Jeanette Nice, Army Nurse Corps and Terry G. Pasqualone, Commanding Officer of the Medical Company. Congratulations to them both for a job well done.

Interest in the educational opportunities available through the Education Center and USAFI has increased throughout the unit. The number of individuals enrolled in the beginning German classes was sufficient for the education center to hold classes within the hospital compound rather than going all the way over to McNair Education Center. Within the Medical Company building an Education Adviser is on duty five days a week to help not only with Education Center Classes but with MOS testing as well.

The 279th Station Hospital welcomes the following new members to the staff: Staff Sergeant John T. Rowe, Food Service Section; Specialist Five James D. Baily, Nursing Service; Specialists Four Christine Locklear and Tameron Wolfe, Nursing Service; Specialist Four Linda Harris, Headquarters Section; and Private First Class Robert Pascale, Motorpool Section.

Leaving us this month are Master Sergeant Myra C. Schweinberger, Wardmaster on Ward 4; and Specialist Five Michael S. Dickens, Laboratory Technician. Although their leaving is a loss to the hospital, we wish them success in their future careers and assignments.

Special Troops

Service Company has a major reassignment in the Headquarters Section — First Lieutenant Michael J. Stevens is the new Executive Officer.

Two Specialists Four have been promoted to Specialist Five. They are Darrell L. Van Veldhuizen of Maintenance Division and James T. Young of Headquarters Platoon. Also, five Privates First Class made Specialist Four. They are: James A. Green of Maintenance Division; Hilton Harrell of S & S Division; Gerald J. Jablonski and John C. Littlefield, both from Transportation Division Motor Pool; and Thomas G. Tripp of S & S Division.

The number of reenlistments in Service Company has given this unit the Berlin Brigade Trophy for most reenlistments for the second quarter of Fiscal Year 1971. Service Company also won the trophy for the first quarter of Fiscal Year 1971. The Unit Career Counselor is Sergeant William E. White.

Bear Cagers Top Hilltoppers

Again the Berlin Bears basketball team made another fine showing last weekend as they defeated the Frankfurt Hilltoppers 82-76 Saturday night and 64-63 Sunday. These wins boost Berlin's winning streak to a 10-2 record for second place in the Northern TASCUM League.

Saturday night, Berlin jumped off to a quick 15-5 lead and headed for a easy win over the Hilltoppers. Big Bill Benford, Mitch Murphy and Greg Lake helped Berlin pull ahead for a 46-36 half time lead. In the second half, free throws helped Berlin move out and ice the game for the final 82-76 victory.

Big guns for Berlin in this game were Bill Benford with 33 points, Murphy and Lake each had 12 points.

The Northern Region playoff will be conducted under sponsorship of the 3rd Armored Division at Coleman Barracks in Gelnhausen. Matching court games in the Yankee loop will be teams representing 3rd Armored Division, V Corps, Berlin Brigade, TASCUM, 8th Infantry Division and 32nd AADCOM.

Southern Region competition will be hosted by the 4th Armored Division at the William O. Darby Caserne in Fuenther, Nuernberg. Dixie circuit quintets include 4th Armored Division, VII Corps, 1st Infantry Division, 3rd Infantry Division, USAREUR and Seventh Army Troops and SETAF.

Teams finishing first, second and third in the Northern and Southern Regional playoffs will advance to the USAREUR finals scheduled for the Sports Center, Berlin. Regional and championship competition will be governed by the 1971 Official National Collegiate Athletic Association Basketball Rules. Team and individual member awards will be presented to the USAREUR champion and second place teams upon conclusion of the final game in Berlin.

Coach Bob Bishop stated that even though his team had some low spots in the game, "they played well enough to win."

Sunday's game against the Hilltoppers was a close one, as the small Frankfurt team really hustled. Berlin came out into this game doing a lot of shooting and hitting an amazing percentage of the baskets. The Hilltoppers took a ten point lead in the first half with eight minutes remaining in the first half. But the Bears went on a scoring rampage and managed a 28-27 half time lead.

The second half was a repetition of the first half as Berlin had several opportunities to put the game away, but could not capitalize from them. This game was neck and neck all the way until Ralph Guyton converted a pair of clutch free throws to move Berlin in front with a two point lead.

Berlin's Gary Werntz who was fouled during the last seconds of the game made good a free throw to move Berlin out in front for their 64-63 victory. High scorers in Sunday's game were Gary Werntz with 16 and Larry Norris with 12 points. Berlin's next in league game will be against number one Bamberg February 14th and 15th at Berlin Brigade Sports Center.

BAHS Cups Dump Hawks Twice

by John Freeman

The Berlin American High School Cubs won both of their basketball games in Bremerhaven last weekend, defeating the Bremerhaven Hawks with scores of 69-55 and 47-31.

Berlin was nine points ahead of the Bucs at the end of the first quarter, with the tally 17-8. The Cubs continued to press on against the Bremerhaven stall, scoring four times more than the Hawks, to lead at the first half with a 32-12 score. Bremerhaven managed only eight points in the third quarter compared to Berlin's 15, and even the Hawks' strong fourth quarter scoring fell behind to the Cubs, 69-55.

On Saturday, Berlin again had a first quarter lead of 11-7, and increased this to 22-14 by the end of the first half. Bremerhaven again attempted to stall, and even though it was a good effort, the Cubs' "Maroon Machine" put it to them. Leading 38-21 at the third quarter, the Cubs left the boards victorious 47-31.

Phys. Ed. Program Big Success

January 4th marked the beginning of the new Special Services Women's Physical Fitness program. The program runs five days a week with two one hour classes held each day at 8:30 a.m. and at 9:45 a.m., and are designed to provide exercises that tone and strengthen muscles.

Pete Ticconi is the program's director which now has an enrollment of 210 ladies. Pete's knowledge of physical education comes from his college days where he earned a Bachelor of Science Degree in Phys Ed from St. Lawrence University. Every morning Pete instructs the ladies in exercise which concentrate on specific areas of the body.

Assisting Pete in instruction are ladies from the class who volunteer their services and have either a degree in Phys Ed or have taught fitness classes in the past. The program is specifically geared to the individual's level and is designed for physical fitness, not necessarily for weight reduction. A person taking the class can hope to tone muscles and shift her weight around.

Each class begins with five minutes of jogging around the gym, followed by a series of ten exercises which include toe touching, knee raising, lateral bending, arm circling, partial sit ups, chest and leg raising, side leg raising, push ups, leg lifting and run and hop.

For one half of the class period the ladies have a choice of seven varieties of exercises: they may use the health room, play badminton, volleyball, basketball, use the trampoline or run. After 30 minutes of exercise, the ladies are free to use sauna and whirlpool facilities. Says Pete Ticconi, "Thus far the ladies have made an enthusiastic showing and sincere concern to improve their physical fitness and make the program successful."

Berlin's Gary Brown floored his opponent in the 165-pound class with a quick time of 55 seconds. In the unlimited category, Pascal Sherrod flattened his opponent after finally breaking him down, and won with a time of 1:58. Berlin came out on top in this match with a score of 35-23.

In the high school matches Saturday morning, Berlin tied with Nuremberg 28-28. Jim Short and Robert Ryan again picked up wins by forfeit. Rick Walsh was victorious this time after 60 seconds, and Ralph Ryan picked up his win by a 5-0 decision. Paeky Short pinned his opponent on Saturday one second faster than in the previous day's match, winning this one with a time of 3:29. Pascal Sherrod wound up the match by again pinning his opponent, this time after a short 56 seconds.

Not so successful in their matches over the weekend were Berlin's Marv Rissing, Jim Stottle, Ed Ritter, Larry Garrels, and Jim Wright.

The BAHS wrestling team left last Wednesday night for Bitburg to compete in the Northern Regionals. The top three wrestlers in each category from these matches will then go on to compete in the All-European Wrestling meet to be held in Wiesbaden on February 12-13.

Green Week Still Going Strong; Riding Tournament Closes Sunday

This weekend is your last chance to visit the two big events, which have been (and still are) attracting the big crowd. The International Green Week and the Riding and Jumping Tournament both end this Sunday. Both happenings have been covered quite thoroughly in past issues of the OBSERVER.

For those who still aren't inform-ed: Green Week is a big agricultural fair, which is so popular because of all the international delicacies to be tasted or taken home, the big show of farm animals and the beautiful flower show. For DM 3 you can wander through all the displays from 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Riding and Jumping
The International Riding and Jumping Tournament features Euro-

HIGH JUMPING FROM THE EAST. The Russian Ballet Company Irina Grjebina will come to Berlin on February 13 and 14 to present a fast-moving, colorful evening of Russian song and dance in the Hochschule fuer Musik at eight in the evening.

pe's elite riders in difficult jumping competition and dressage trials, plus a show picture — this year the band of the famous Royal Horse Guards from London — and the Berlin brew-ery wagons. Tickets in the medium price range (DM 11-14) are still avail-able for the Saturday afternoon show at 2:00 p.m. and the final event on Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

Keeping with the international trend is the upcoming entertainment in Berlin. The Moscow Chamber Or-chestra will be featured in the Phil-harmonie next Tuesday, February 9. Most of the program will consist of Bach selections. The evening also in-cludes a "first" — the premier of the Symphony No. 14 by Shostakovich for Soprano, Bass, Chamber Orches-tra and Kettle Drums. Tickets for the eight o'clock concert sell for DM 6-15.

Russian Ballet

More guests from Russia will come to Berlin on February 13 and 14. On these days the Russian Ballet Com-pany Irina Grjebina will present a fast-moving, colorful evening of Rus-sian song and dance in the Hoch-schule fuer Musik at 8:00 p.m. The 45 members of the troupe will have quite a number of changes in order to show the public the 300 costumes they've brought along. The folklore from the various lands of this huge country sells for DM 13.50 to 30.

On February 18 the melodies of the Latin American Indios will once again (for the third time!) be heard in Berlin. The Argentinian flutist Facio Santillan entrances his audi-ence with his skillful playing of the kena (wooden flute), his most famous song being "El Condor Pasa." He is accompanied by other typical Latin American instruments, such as the custro and the charango. His con-certs are always sold out, so don't delay getting your tickets (DM 7-18) if you want to be in the fascinated audience.

Guitars With a Beat

The guitar will be the main instru-ment at the festival "Guitar and Per-cussion" in the Philharmonie on Fe-bruary 17. The star of the evening is a native Berliner, Siegfried Beh-rend, who has traveled to the far corners of the globe to give concerts and has attained world famous with his virtuosity on the guitar. Also participating will be the Japanese master guitarist Seiko Obara, Siegfried Fink and Claudia Brodzinska-Behrend. Tickets cost DM 6-12.

It is still three weeks until the afternoon program in the Philhar-monie on February 28 (3:30 p.m.), but the popularity of such events is such that tickets must be reserved early. The program in question is a com-bined concert and ballet performance entitled "Tchaikovsky's Fairytale Pic-tures." Scenes from the "Nutcracker," "Sleeping Beauty" and "Swan Lake" will be danced by solo dancers from various ballet companies and a child-ren's ballet. Kurt Gabel will direct the Symphony Berlin Orchestra. The enchanting afternoon for young and old is yours for DM 3-15.
