Weather

The transition from winter to spring normally occurs during March. The probability of cold outbreaks is much less likely during the last part of the month, as compared to the first few days. Normal daily temperatures vary from an afternoon high of 45° F to a nighttime low of 31° F, and record high and low temperatures in March have been 76° F and 6° F respectively. Approximately one inch of precipitation can be expected, which is about the same as during February; and snow is still possible in March. By the end of the month, most precipitation falls as rain or rainshowers.

The 49er Party 'Roaring Twenties' at Harnack Casino

"The Roaring Twenties" will be the theme of this year's 49er Party, to be held at the Harnack House Casino on March 6, from 6:30 p.m. till who knows when.

Tickets for the annual event are now on sale at the Harnack House, the French, British and Tempelhof officer's clubs, and from unit and staff ticket representatives within the U. S. Command. Also to be included during the evening will be a buffet dinner and later on a breakfast, along with the usual fun and games that everyone enjoys at the annual 49er parties.

$ 1,000,000 Lost Annually

According to a report from the Provost Marshal Enforcement Section, members of USAREUR report over $1,000,000 annually in lost or stolen property. These range from thefts of privately owned vehicles to barracks larcenies. Many of these could have been avoided by applying a few simple security measures, military police here indicted.

other valuables in a safe container, and be sure to lock storage areas and basement laundry rooms."

The barracks thief finds an easy mark in trusting people in the unit. A recent study of barracks thefts indicated that 35% involved taking money from unsecured lockers, 20% from breaking and entering secured lockers and 45% from nightstands, other unsecured areas within a room and from trousers pockets. The rule is — don't provide opportunity to a thief.

According to Provost Marshal statistics, nearly $70,500 worth of damage was done here in over 600 traffic accidents last year. While significantly below the USAREUR average, these figures are disturbing. The Provost Marshal urges you to employ defensive driving techniques, learn and obey traffic laws and, most important — drive as if your life depends upon it.

Vanguard's Remsen Is Brigade's Top Man

Berlin Brigade Soldier of the Month and the runner-up for the month of February were recently honored at their respective unit headquarters.

Receiving the top honors was Sergeant Lance M. Remsen, driver and radio operator for the commanding officer of Charlie Company, 4th Battalion, 18th Infantry. In the runner-up position was Specialist Four Galen Glen Gordon, chief computer in the Fire Direction Center of Bravo Company, 2nd Battalion, 6th Infantry.

Sergeant Remsen will receive congratulations from Brigadier General Harold I. Hayward, commanding general, Berlin Brigade, along with a $25 U. S. Savings Bond, an engraved wrist watch and a seven-day administrative leave.

A native of Needham, Massachusetts, Sergeant Remsen, who is 24 years old, attended Needham High School where he graduated in 1965. He then went to college at the University of Rhode Island, graduating in 1969 with a Bachelor of Science degree.

Sergeant Remsen entered the Army on October 20, 1969, and took Basic Combat Training at Ft. Dix, New Jersey and Advanced Infantry Training at Ft. Lewis, Washington.

Remsen arrived in Berlin in April of last year, and plans to return to school for a graduate degree when he completes his military obligation. The cash prize Remsen receives as Soldier of the Month will be added to his savings and used to help further his education.

"I plan on taking the seven-day leave to do some sight-seeing and relaxation in Garmisch," said Remsen.

Runner-up

The runner-up for February, Specialist Gordon, is a 23-year old native of Worthington, Minnesota, who was a student at Worthington State Junior College and the University of Minnesota before entering the Army in November, 1969. He attended Basic Combat Training at Ft. Lewis, Washington, and arrived in Berlin on April 26, 1970.

For taking the runner-up honors, Gordon will receive a $25 U. S. Savings Bond, along with an additional monetary award donated by the NCO/EM Open Mess, Club 50.

Asked what he plans to do with the money, Specialist Gordon said, "It won't last long. I have my wife and two kids with me here."

'Guardian' Battalion Gets Ready; Three Day Convoy Involves Work

by Sp/4 Larry Maloney

It's a great responsibility and takes quite a few responsible people to insure that the 130 vehicles in the Second of the Sixth are ready to make the winter journey to the "Zone" (Major Training Area, West Germany).

Preparing for the three days of convoy traveling is difficult enough under pleasant weather conditions. However, now you have the cold adding wear and tear on the machinery and increased driving hazards of the snowy and icy winding mountain roads of West Germany.

All this means that each mechanic and each driver must carefully scrutinize his vehicle and prepare for the expected and the unexpected. Each driver must be intensely aware of the added safety precautions to be taken before, during, and after the trip down, the duration of the training and the journey back.

"It takes constant maintenance," says Sergeant James N. Monroe of Company A. Besides the constant surveillance, "the men have done a lot of work on these vehicles, especially in the past three weeks," says Sergeant Norman D. Thomson, Motor Sergeant for Company A, "painting and greasing, checking oil and antifreeze levels. All vehicles are good for 40 below zero. Alpha Company is ready."

One to whom these winter driving conditions are familiar is Specialist

Four Bob Dalessandro of Headquarters Company. "Being from New England, I'm used to driving in the snow and ice and with chains."

What will Bob bring down in the way of supplies? "I plan to bring some extra cans of oil, a case of Coke, some sandwiches, and some personal anti-freeze."

The big test for the Guardian's drivers and mechanics begins next Tuesday. If they have prepared well, or if they have not, the three day journey to the MTA will tell.

'Is Your God Big Enough?' Defenders Hold MTA Religious Service

by Sp/5 Dan Fredrickson

The 3rd Battalion, 6th Infantry took a break in their training at the Major Training Area recently to spend a "Duty Day with God" with their new Chaplain, (Major) Roger B. Knutsen, who discussed the theme, "Is your God Big Enough," in a special religious service in the Bravo Company mess hall.

The Aalesune, Norway, native called to his new Defender congregation to decide whether God had grown in spirit and faith with them, saying, "God has become very far and distant for some of us. But he who believes that Jesus is the Son of God, has a 'bigness' in himself."

Chaplain Knutsen comes to the 3rd Battalion following his second tour of duty in the Republic of Vietnam. Ordained in 1952, he is a graduate of the Northwestern University Theological Seminary. For the next eleven years he was a member of the Wisconsin Conference of Methodist Churches, then in 1962 he entered the military Chaplaincy.

During World War II he served in the Norwegian underground, where "for patriotic reasons students were called to serve their country to help our national goals," Chaplain Knutsen explained, and this was best done when we went underground. "After the war, I was drafted and served in the Norwegian Army prior to coming to the U. S."

Once he entered the military chaplaincy, he spent his first three years in uniform at chapel posts at Ft. Carson, Aschaffenburg and Frankfurt, Germany, splitting his religious duties in the last two locales.

In 1965, he returned to the parish in Oakland, California where he served for two years. Feeling the Army was more suited to his desires, Chaplain Knutsen returned to the Chaplaincy and was stationed at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas.

He was then called to Vietnam and, after a full tour there, went to Ft. Dix to become a Brigade Chaplain in the latter part of 1969.

After that he made his second trip to Vietnam and was assigned to the 25th Division Artillery at Cu Chi. Then he joined the Defender Battalion in January.

Being the senior Chaplain at the McNair Chapel now, Chaplain Knutsen's duties will closely follow the total program offered there. His hope is to improve the communication links between the men and the Chapel and he is optimistic that such links can be forged.

"The young people of today are questioning many things. Concepts have to change as society has. If religion is to flourish, we must base what we teach relative to life, relative to the individual soldier who is isolated with a problem in the barracks.

"I need an open channel of communication. Too often we prejudice the Chapel, its activities, its values. Such opinions only cheat the individual out of an essential ingredient in his life—faith, in something, or someone.

"We all must re-evaluate our faith—true, we all have moments of doubt—but for man to have a balanced wholesome life, he needs to believe in something. That's what I'm here for. To help those who want guidance."

★ Berlin Remembers General Polk ★

MG James H. Polk
U. S. Commander, Berlin
January 1963 — August 1964

GOOD LUCK — General Paul Freeman, Jr., then commander-in-chief, United States Army, Europe, (left), congratulates Major General John F. Franklin, Jr., on becoming United States Commander, Berlin. Looking on is General Polk, then-outgoing USCOB and now retiring commander-in-chief, USAREUR and Seventh Army.

FIRST STOP — Major General John F. Franklin, Jr., addresses members of the press on his arrival at the Berlin RTO in August, 1964. General Franklin was then replacing General Polk as USCOB. General Polk has since become commander-in-chief, USAREUR and Seventh Army and is soon to retire after more than 37 years of active service.

VOLKSFEST TOUR. General James H. Polk (left), commander-in-chief, USAREUR and Seventh Army, was shown the American space display at the 1969 Volksfest. With him are Major General R. G. Fergusson, U. S. Commander, Berlin, and Mrs. Samuel McC. Goodwin, wife of Commanding General, Berlin Brigade.

“... Mrs. Polk and I consider ourselves Berliners.”

These words were spoken by then-Major General James H. Polk on the occasion of his departure from Berlin in August, 1964, to become Commanding General, U. S. Army V Corps in Frankfurt.

Next Tuesday General and Mrs. Polk will return to the city which was their home for 18 months, to be honored by its people. General Polk, commander-in-chief, United States Army, Europe, and Seventh Army, is ending his active Army career after more than 37 years of service.

In January, 1963, General Polk came to the Divided City as U. S. Commander, acquiring with that position the responsibilities of a soldier-diplomat. In that capacity, he was not only Commanding General, U. S. Army, Berlin, but enjoyed a political role as well, acting directly under the U. S. Ambassador to the Federal Republic. As a member of the Allied Kommandatura, General Polk shared ultimate responsibility for Western Berlin with his British and French counterparts.

“General Polk discharged his duties . . . as always, in an exemplary fashion worthy of high commendation. He has combined resolution with good will, a valuable mixture in dealing with Berlin’s problems,” said George C. McGhee, the U. S. Ambassador to the Federal Republic at that time.

“The unity of purpose and the effective cooperation among Allied and German authorities . . . is characteristic of the situation in Berlin . . . General Polk has contributed substantially to this fortunate, and, I believe, essential state of affairs by seeking always to work closely and in harmony with his Allied and German colleagues,” recalled Ambassador McGhee.

It isn’t surprising that General Polk worked so well with his German and Allied associates. Berlin was more than just another of many assignments to General and Mrs. Polk.

“Mrs. Polk and I have come to love this great city,” General Polk said of Berlin. “I can say quite frankly that Berlin has a firm and permanent grip on our minds and our hearts.”

“... in both critical and in quiet times the lasting and strongest impression has been Berlin itself and its people. I have come to know at firsthand the indomitable will and the stout heart of this city, and I am more than ever convinced that, in time, freedom and justice will prevail throughout Berlin and throughout Germany,” General Polk stated in 1964.

THEN FIVE, NOW EIGHT — Lieutenant General Creighton W. Abrams, then commanding general, V Corps and Vice Chief of Staff designate, visited Checkpoint Charlie with General Polk in July, 1964. General Abrams is currently Commanding General, Military Assistance Command, Vietnam.

COURTESY CALL — Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, famed World War I U. S. flying ace, chatted with General Polk during a visit to the Divided City in June, 1964.

Ford Drives HHC to Championship

Ford Motor Company claims to have a better idea but Coach Frank Butler of Headquarters, Special Troops has his own better idea.

Butler's brainchild is a run-and-shoot fast-break offense powered by another type of Ford, 5-10 guard Tommy Ford. Last week, Butler's Ford-powered offense rolled to the Company Level basketball championship by leveling five consecutive opponents in the ten-team tournament.

The final victim was Headquarters Company, Field Station, Berlin, which succumbed 76-53 after an early fight. The win was one of four lopsided ones for Special Troops, with a 59-58 squeaker over Signal Company in the semifinals being the only close call along the way.

"We've been running all season," explained Butler, who guided his team to an 11-1 regular season record. "We were both an offensive and defensive team. But now we're playing more offense. And the way we've been playing we don't need anything but offense."

Butler's strategy began paying off immediately as Special Troops routed 66th Military Intelligence, 73-45; Company B, 4th Battalion, 18th Infantry, 70-47; and C-4/18, 76-49, in their first three games of the tournament.

Then Butler's crew had its biggest scare of the week when Signal Company battled them to the wire before falling by one point.

Headquarters, FSB, meanwhile, dropped a 62-53 decision to Signal Company in their first game to fall into the losers bracket of the double-elimination tournament.

They came back to roll off four wins in a row, though, topping Company B, 2nd Battalion, 6th Infantry, 53-47; C-4/18, 48-36; Service Company, 51-31; and Signal Company, 69-68, in a rematch.

That set up Friday's showdown between the Ford-powered Special Troops and Headquarters, FSB, which relied on the inside play of Linear Jackson and the outside shooting of Charlie Sowell.

The game started out evenly enough, with Ford shooting Special Troops into an early 9-6 lead before Jackson led FSB on a surge that carried them to a 21-17 lead midway through the half.

But Special Troops began chipping away at the lead and a drive by Tommy McGuire knotted the game at 24-24. Ford then popped in a five-foot jumper with 4:00 remaining to give his team a lead it never relinquished.

By the half, the lead had swelled to 37-29, with Ford accounting for 19 of the points. Jackson, meanwhile, had poured in 15 points in an effort to keep FSB close.

In the second half, FSB closed to within five at 41-36 but McGuire caught fire and shot Special Troops back to a 52-42 advantage. By this time, Jackson had picked up his fourth personal foul and the FSB big man was forced to lay back for fear of fouling out.

McGuire, John Harris and Tommy Hughes took advantage of the situation and, whereas Special Troops had held an edge in rebounding before, they now began to completely dominate the backboards. At the same time, the trio shut Jackson out from the field until the FSB star finally fouled out with 4:00 remaining.

By this time, Special Troops was in the midst of a run of nine straight points that gave them a 75-49 margin with 3:30 left. The outburst ended there, however, and Special Troops didn't score again until Hughes' free throw brought the final score to 76-53.

Ford was the leading scorer with 28 points, followed by McGuire with 21 and Midget Taylor with 12. Jackson led FSB with 20 while Sowell chipped in 14 and Pat Donahue 12. "What did I tell you all along," Butler beamed after accepting the championship trophy. "Conditioning—that's the key. I knew we'd get them sooner or later."

The only problem left for Butler to solve was how to get all of the trophies home. He had a carload of them.

Bishop's Bears Make Hay of Cottonbailors

Last Saturday night the Berlin Bears downed the Aschaffenburg "Cottonbailors" in two exciting exhibition basketball games held at the sports center. In the first game Berlin had to use a lot of substitutes due to injuries caused in past games. This disadvantage helped the Cottonbailors jump off to a quick lead in first half action. Even though Aschaffenburg put the pressure on Berlin, the Bears were able to close the scoring margin by six points. The half ended with Aschaffenburg leading, 46-40. Ralph Guyton's 15 first half points helped Berlin stay close to the Cottonbailors.

Second half action started off with Berlin rallying quickly to take the lead. Berlin kept their lead all the way through this half as Dave Floyd made 22 points and Ralph Guyton got 19 to help the Bears toward their victory. A new face that was seen on the court Saturday night was center Art Adais who did a fine job rebounding and also contributing 14 points. Also scoring in double figures was Greg Lake who had 11 points, for the Berlin 72-69 victory.

Sunday afternoon's game against Aschaffenburg ended with another three point win over the Cottonbailors. The Bears started this game with a zone defense that effectively neutralized Aschaffenburg's fine shooting performance. Berlin managed to keep at least a three point lead during the entire first half. First half scoring was attributed to Dave Floyd, Ralph Guyton and Dan Newman who led the way for a Berlin advantage of 29-28.

The second half was in repetition of the first as Berlin used a zone defense. The Cottonbailors shot well from the outside, but weren't able to close the scoring gap until a minute and a half remained in the game with the score 66-66. As time was running out, Berlin's Art Adais made a key tip in and with four seconds left, Guyton sank a free throw to ice the 69-66 victory for Berlin.

Dave Floyd took Berlin's scoring honors with 17 points, Dan Newman had 15, and guard Larry Norris chipped in 12 plus doing an outstanding defensive job.

Bitburg Downed Berlin 43-34 Cubs Capture Second Place

by John Freeman

The BAHS Cubs placed second among eight Class B school's at the USDESEA basketball tournaments last weekend, bowing to the Bitburg Barons who took the title. The Heidelberg Lions took the crown among the larger Class A schools.

Thursday's action at the Rhein-Main Air Base gym began with the Berlin Cubs competing against AFCENT high school from Holland. The Cubs outscored the AFCENT Lions 19-2 in the first quarter, and then tied second period scoring 9-9 to lead at the half, 28-11. Berlin fell behind AFCENT's scoring in the third quarter 12-11, but still maintained a lead of 39-23. The Cubs came on with strong scoring in the final stanza, racking up 24 points to the Lions' 16, and then left the boards with a 63-39 victory.

On Friday evening the Cubs took on the Baumholder Bucs, who moved up in tournament play by defeating Rota high school from Spain with a 66-46 score. The Cubs then downed the Baumholder team, edging by 46-44. The Bucs led first quarter scoring, 13-10, and were also ahead 25-21 at the half. The Berlin Cubs bounced back in the third quarter to outscore the Bucs 15-6, and took the lead with a 36-31 tally. Baumholder then edged up with 13 points to Berlin's 10, and with five seconds remaining, Baumholder had two free throws and a chance to tie up the 46-44 game. Neither shot was good, and Berlin's Ed Sears grabbed the rebound to advance the Cubs into the play-off game against the Bitburg Barons. The Barons were the only team to defeat the Cubs in Berlin's season play (13 wins, 1 loss), squeezing by with a 49-47 tally.

In the final play-off game for the Class B championship, the Berlin Cubs were defeated by the Bitburg Barons 43-34. It was the second title for the Barons out of their six consecutive play-off games.

The Cubs fell behind the Bitburg team in the first quarter 13-5 and then the Cubs outscored the Barons 12-9 in the second period. Berlin still trailed 22-17, and the margin increased to 37-23 after the third quarter. The Cubs were unable to catch up, and finished behind the Bitburg Barons 43-34 to take second place among Europe's Class B schools.

In Berlin's game against AFCENT, Bill Planz led all scoring with 27 points, Dan Sinnard followed with 13, and Dave Howard tossed in another 11. In Friday's action versus Baumholder, Planz and Ron Holt shared honors with 12 points apiece, and Sinnard led Berlin scoring in the play-off game with 10 points.

The high school sports schedule is now turning toward the spring sports, soccer and track.

Wild Chase Scene Thru New York Marks 'Cotton Comes To Harlem'

COTTON COMES TO HARLEM — Detectives Godfrey Cambridge and Raymond St. Jacques pursue bandits who have stolen a fortune from a phony reverend's "Back to Africa" movement. The money is hidden in a bale of cotton which keeps disappearing. The suspenseful comedy is highlighted by a wild chase through Harlem.

A BULLET FOR PRETTY BOY — Charles Floyd was one of America's most dreaded criminals. Floyd parlayed a little ambition and a lot of ammunition into a successful career in the bank robbing business. Parents are reminded that this film is not considered suitable entertainment for children. Starring Fabian Forte and Jocelyn Lane.

JENNY — JENNY is pregnant and needs a husband. Aland Alda is 1-A and could use a wife to save him from being covered with Army Green. So they get married, much to the chagrin of Alda's steady girl, and discover they even like each other. Also stars Marlo Thomas.

BUTCH CASSIDY AND THE SUNDANCE KID — Butch and the Kid, as likeable a pair of outlaws as you could hope to meet, find the west entirely too tame for their needs. They plan one last train robbery to collect enough money to head for South America where there is a better market for their talents. Starring Paul Newman, Robert Redford and Katharine Ross.

OPERATION CROSS EAGLES — In Yugoslavia during World War II, a commando unit joins forces with a partisan band to capture a German commandant and exchange him for a captured American officer. A traitor in the group complicates things. Starring Richard Conte and Rory Calhoun.

THE CHRISTMAS TREE — A boy is contaminated by radiation when he is exposed to an atomic bomb blast. His father, learning that his son has but a few months to live, determines to make that time a memorable one by cramming a lifetime of experience into the boy's short life. Starring William Holden, Virna Lisi, Bourvil.

TICK . . . TICK . . . TICK . . . — As the first Negro to be elected sheriff in a small southern town, Jim Brown soon finds himself in trouble with both white and black folk. When he arrests the son of the county's most important man, he faces what could become a disastrous race riot. Also starring George Kennedy, Frederick March.

Boat and Watersports Exhibition To Start Tomorrow at Funkturm

by Judy Pricks

No reason for anyone to sit home and pout this March; there are all kinds of things happening.

The International Boat Show and Watersports Exhibition, for example, will be getting off to a "splashy" start tomorrow at 10:00 a.m. While, of course, boats are the big attraction (almost everything from a nutshell to a huge yacht is on display), there is also plenty to see in the line of outdoor sports and camping equipment.

For some the most important question "what will I wear?" is answered in several fashion shows, giving a preview of what's going to be seen on the beaches and in the water this summer. The traditional swimming pool has been set up in Hall G again, where water sports, skin diving and fashions can be seen in action.

An International Tourism-Exchange is also part of the International Boat Show. It gives the visitors a chance to see what those "far off places" have to offer their visitors.

From 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. daily until March 14 you can get a bit of summer ahead of time at the exhibition halls around the Funkturm. Adults must pay DM 3 for the pleasure.

Norwegian Art

Those who like to visit art exhibitions should consider it a "must" to go to the Neue Nationalgalerie before April 12. The reason for this "must" is the collection of graphics and water colors by Edvard Munch on display there, which has been discovered not too long ago and is now being shown for the first time in various European capitals. From an art historical point of view, this exhibition can be considered sensational. Admirers of the Norwegian artist and those who would like to get acquainted with his works can visit the galerie from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday and from 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. on Monday. There is an admission fee.

While on the subject of exhibitions, it might be fun to see some "Hohenzollern-Pop" at the Hammer Gallery at the Europa Center (garden terrace). Under the title "The Gall Re-sounds Like a Clap of Thunder," the founding of the German Empire 100 years ago is commemorated with a collection of items reflecting the turn of the century. What appears as a gag today was once taken seriously. Antique collectors will be disappointed since they may only look and not buy. You can do this from 11:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. daily.

JULIETTE GRECO, the grand dame of chansons, will present her touch of Paris at the Philharmonie on the evening of March 15.

Musical Happenings

So much for looking; there is also all kinds of listening to do. At the Sportpalast you can listen to Lionel Hampton and his Allstar Jazz Inner Circle on Sunday (March 7) from 8:00 p.m. to about 10:15 p.m. Tickets are available at the door.

On March 15 musical entertainment from France and Israel is offered in Berlin.

In the Philharmonie that night a touch of Paris will be brought to Berlin by a most charming representative — the grand dame of chansons, Juliette Greco. The fascinating star who has climbed to fame from the cellars of St. German-des-Pres will greet her fans at 8:00 p.m. accompanied by Gerard Jouneust and his Musette Orchestra.

The Israel Kibbuz Choir will sing a capella in the Hochschule fuer Musik the same night. The choir, made up of musically schooled men and women from a great number of different kibbuzim in Israel, is in Europe for the first time. Their repertoire includes works of the Renaissance and the baroque period, as well as contemporary Israeli and Jewish compositions and Israeli folklore.

Sounds of quite a different nature will fill the jagged corners of the Philharmonie on Thursday, March 18, when Ravi Shankar plays his sitar. Accompanying him will be Alla Rakha, who is considered one of the greatest tabla players in India. The tabla is a two-piece drum.

The sitar is the most popular stringed instrument of India and has existed in its present form for about 700 years. According to Ravi Shankar it must take almost that long to learn all there is to know about the "ragas" and "talas" which are played on the instrument. He says that "it takes more than one life to master the sitar."

The musical trip to India begins at 8:00 p.m.

Good old American melodies will resound in the Philharmonie the next night, March 19, when the Symphony Orchestra Berlin will play another Gershwin Concert, conducted by Boris Iwanov. Vocal soloists will be Ellen Buckner and John Waddell.

If you are going to be there, you should hear the "Rhapsody in Blue," the Piano Concerto in F, the "American in Paris" and songs from musicals.

You can reserve your tickets for the above-mentioned events at the PX ticket agency.
