SPRING STROLL — Two young Berliners cross one of the lovely bridges on Peacock Island, a small island in the Havel River. The weather threatened to soak about 46 Americans who went on a service club tour of the island Sunday, but the sun finally broke through and gave the group a lovely afternoon. Commissary to expand to double capacity by Michael S. McCollum

In few weeks you won't be able to park your car next to the commissary. Why? Because the commissary is expanding. No, it's not getting bigger all by itself.

At a cost of 2 million DM, the commissary is going to become about twice as big. The construction, due to begin on June 4 of this year, will add to the present shopping area of 8,891 square feet an additional 11,400 square feet.

In addition to the size increase, some of other changes will be made. An increased meat-cutting area, 14 cash registers all total (no pun intended) with seven aisles per register, to name a few. Not to mention an additional 66 feet of frozen goods and about 60 new items which were requested by patrons of the commissary.

Due to current devaluation of the dollar the commissary's business has increased. The expansion is necessary, as the commissary is hard pressed to accommodate the present number of customers.

According to Mather M. Hyatt of Supply & Services Division, the commissary sales increased by about 10% after the last revision.

Some other changes being made in the commissary is the relocation of certain departments. Currently the produce department is the first area you hit when you enter the commissary. Due to customer request, the department will be relocated so that it is one of the last areas you'll shop in before you head for the cash registers.

Major Brian J. Branagan, Chief of Engineer Plans & Service Branch said, "It's important to stress that at no time during the construction will the commissary have to be closed."

With added shelf space you'll find that the commissary won't run out of items quite so fast. There will be more shelf space to store things on.

The addition has been in the planning stage since October of last year and was designed by Hans-Heinz Gaudlitz, Engineer & Installation Division architect.

This expansion should go a long way to alleviate the crowded conditions at the commissary. Hyatt said that the commissary does approximately 15% of its business on payday and the day before payday.

The commissary has a projected customer flow chart located near the cash registers to tell you when the commissary will be most crowded. It's to your own benefit to refer to the chart to find the best days to do your shopping.

Berlin ambulances can aid Americans

by Lucas Hutton

There will be times when an American in Berlin needs the service of an ambulance for emergency transportation to the U. S. Army Hospital in Berlin.

In such an emergency, the common practice is to call the American ambulance service at the hospital. However, there are times when the emergency is located at such a distance from the hospital that it is physically impossible for the ambulance to reach the scene within 30 to 45 minutes.

Lieutenant Colonel Joseph F. Folding, executive officer of the hospital, recommends that Americans call a German ambulance, rather than an Army one, when the emergency is located somewhere at a great distance from the 279th Station Hospital.

Folding emphasizes that the hospital ambulance service will respond to all emergencies. However, he says, "The use of a nearby German ambulance would speed your delivery to the proper medical facility for treatment."

To call a German ambulance, dial 112 and give the address of the emergency and your telephone number. The German ambulance will respond to the call and bring you to the Army hospital or to a nearby German hospital for emergency treatment.

Spokesmen for the Berlin ambulance service say that their units will respond only to true emergencies, such as auto accidents, shootings and other cases where there is immediate peril to a person's life or limb. There is no charge for this service.

For those of you who don't speak German, here's what to say when calling a German ambulance: "Ich brauche einen Unfallwagen. Meine Adresse ist (your address)." ("I need an ambulance. My address is . . .") Folding also emphasizes that the Army hospital is always open for emergencies, day and night. Emergency phone numbers are 819-97, 819-4144 and 819-4185. All emergencies during and after duty hours should report to the outpatient department for treatment.

Folding says, however, that "the service provided after normal operating hours is intended to accommodate emergencies only."

True emergencies, says Folding, "are those instances in which the state of health of an individual requires immediate attention to preserve life and limb, or to prevent undue suffering or pain."

Routine medical care can be better administered during normal duty hours, says Folding, because "all diagnostic and therapeutic activities are operative and fully staffed."

Engineers help to construct playground

by Dee Downey

The 42nd Engineer Company, Special Troops, is helping a group of Berlin citizens to build a new playground for their children.

Groundbreaking took place Tuesday in the Tempelhof District of Berlin. Five men, a bulldozer and a road grader from the Engineer Company set to work to level the area for use by local children.

A group of Tempelhof citizens saw the need for such a playground and began to clear the lot. The people soon realized, however, that leveling the ground and clearing out the debris would require more equipment than they had at their disposal.

The group called upon the mayor of Tempelhof, Bürgermeister Hoffman, and asked for assistance with their project. The district government thereupon called upon the U.S. Army's Community Relations office for possible help with heavy equipment.

It was not the first such request the 42nd Engineers have received. In early December, the company began another playground project in the Schöneberg District. That project was also sponsored by a group of local citizens.

Hazardous area

The area where the Tempelhof playground is being constructed was covered with debris and was considered hazardous for children to play in.

The Engineers' task is to clear the debris and level the ground. Then they will create several mounds of earth for the children to play on. A spokesman for the company says the project should be completed by the end of this week.

BULLDOZER from the 42nd Engineer Company works to clear ground for a new play area in Berlin's Tempelhof District. Five men from the company are using the bulldozer and a road grader to help a citizens group build the new area. Construction will be completed later this week. (Photo by Dee Downey)

Job Fair hits Berlin

Are you a soldier about to leave the military service and return to civilian life? Want to know about the job opportunities back in the world? Then you should attend the Berlin Command's Job Information Fair to be held at the Harnack House May 15-16.

About 20 major U. S. business firms and government agencies will send representatives to the fair. These representatives will not be in Berlin to recruit employees—their purpose is to answer questions about job opportunities and to aid in pre-separation planning.

James F. Oates Jr., national committee chairman of Jobs for Veterans, will also attend the fair, as will local service career counselors, Project Transition and Education Center counselors and Civilian Personnel Division representatives.

For further information, call the Project Transition counselors: 3615 (McNair), 3563 (Andrews) or 6949 (Berlin Brigade).

Register valuables

by Mike McCollum

Do you like good sounds? Now's a good time to invest in a sound system, right? Well, if you're like me, you want to get the best you can get for your money. That means spending enough money to get a good stereo or quadrasonic rig, and that means we're talking about investments into the hundreds or thousands. My question is this: if you owned a car it would be registered, wouldn't it?

If you have something that you want badly enough to spend a lot of bread on, then wouldn't it be worth the trouble to protect your interests and have it registered also?

Just about everything that you buy today (that's fairly expensive) has a serial number or some other way of tracing and/or identifying it. Many people go to the trouble of copying these serial numbers, but then lose the paper in a desk drawer or garbage can.

Try this method. Copy the serial numbers of your equipment or what have you. Also, make note of any particular identifying marks or flaws. Why copy the serial numbers and identifying marks? You can always place a turntable into another cabinet. A speaker cabinet can always be dyed or stained another color, etc.

After you've finished copying the serial numbers, then make an extra copy to give to your supply sergeant to register. If something should get stolen, you will have a positive means of identification that you can give to the MPs.

Lunar-based warfare foreseen

(From the Berlin Observer, March 7, 1958)

Washington (AFPS) — The arresting implications of a military base on the moon were described recently by an Air Force expert. Brigadier General Homer A. Boushey, deputy director of Air Force Research and Development, said that "the moon provides a retaliation base of unequaled advantage."

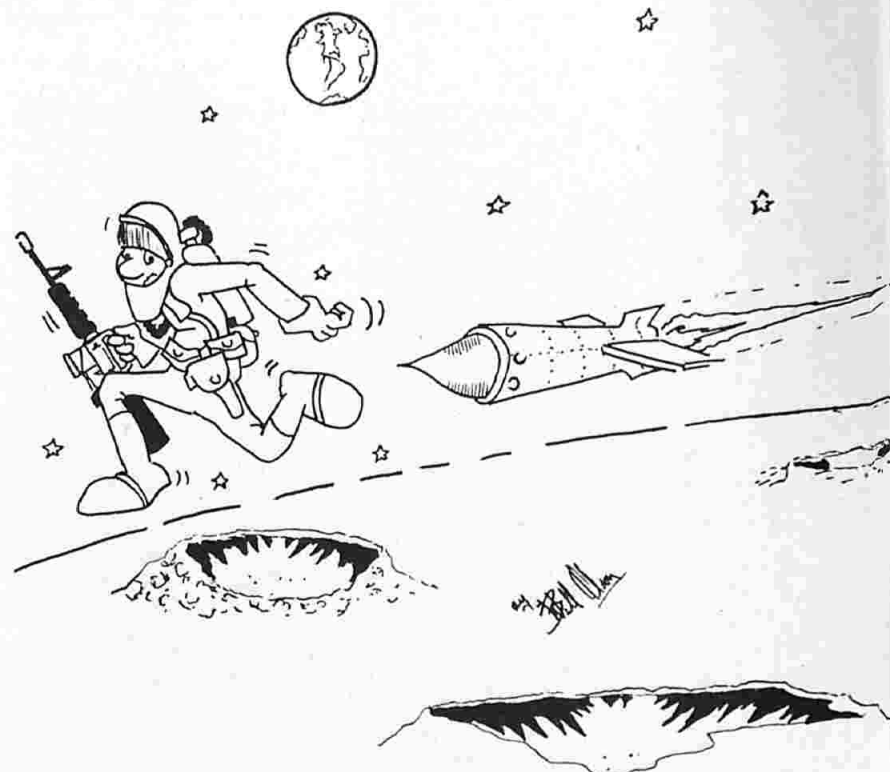

Boushey noted that "a missile attack launched from the earth to the moon could be observed from the moon, with perhaps 48 hours to take counteraction."

"Even if a nuclear detonation occurred near or on the lunar surface, there would be no blast effect, since there is no atmosphere, and protection against thermal, X-ray and neutron radiation would be easy for there would be many hours warning to compute lunar locations and for personnel to go underground."

The general made these statements at a meeting of the Aero Club of Washington.

He told the gathering: "Lunar outposts and even launch sites could be located on the far side of the moon — never to be seen from the earth — yet earth locations could be viewed by telescope from the moon."

Once man was set up on the moon, he said, the possibilities of construction and creation of an artificial environment would be "virtually unlimited."

All black flying units of World War II

One of the most outstanding alumni of the 99th Fighter Squadron and the 332nd Fighter Group was the man who went on to become the first black general in the U. S. Armed Forces, Benjamin O. Davis Jr. There were many other men, however, who flew with those units, and who achieved distinguished records.

Captain Charles B. Hall of Brazil, Ind. on July 2, 1943 destroyed a Focke-Wulf 190 over Castelventrane, Italy, giving him the honor of being the first black to destroy an enemy aircraft in aerial combat. For this accomplishment he was personally congratulated by General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied Commander in Chief.

On Jan. 28, 1944, while leading a flight of eight planes on patrol in the Anzio area, a flight of enemy aircraft was encountered. Hall destroyed two of the planes. For this feat he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Of his experiences he modestly said, "Frankly, I don't think I have done anything unusual. . . . You know, there were many whites who thought Negroes could not master swift moving planes under combat conditions. When I shot down a plane they were surprised and changed their minds. Furthermore, I wouldn't feel right if someone writes about me and ignores the hundreds of other fellows who did as much as I to make the 99th Fighter Squadron and the 332nd Fighter Group successful in combat."

Some of these men were Edward L. Toppins of San Francisco, Calif. who was officially credited with destroying four enemy aircraft in aerial combat and one probable, for which he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross among other decorations.

Captain Wendell O. Pruitt of St. Louis, Mo., was credited with three victories and shared in the sinking of an enemy destroyer.

Mayor Lee Rayford of Ardwick, Md. was one of the most decorated black pilots of World War II. After completing 90 missions in two tours of combat, he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with six oak leaf clusters, the Purple Heart, the Order of Yugoslavia Partisans' Red Star, the American Defense Medal and the Victory Medal.

When the units were first formed back in March 7, 1942 at Tuskegee Army Air Field, Ala., General George E. Stratmeyer, then Commanding General of the Southeastern Flying Training Command, said at the ceremonies, "I am sure that everyone present, as well as the vast unseen audience of your well wishers senses that this graduation is an historic moment filled with portent of great good. Our country is engaged in a hard fight for its security and freedom. Here today I opened up a new source to wage that fight. It is my hope and my confident expectation that by your skill, courage, and devotion to duty you will fully justify that confidence and trust reposed in you, and that service records will constitute bright pages in the annals of our country."

The men of the 99th Fighter Squadron and the 332nd Fighter Group more than lived up to those expectations. With a grand total of 1,578 missions, and with a grand total of 15,533 sorties, they were awarded more than 150 Distinguished Flying Crosses, 744 Air Medals and Clustered fourteen Bronze Stars and eight Purple Hearts.

LIBRARY NOTES

by Miriam Steward

The Seven Lively Arts

There's a most fascinating book available at the Hospital Library. It's called The Bluffer's Guide. With one reading, this book provides even the least knowledgeable person with conversational fodder about the seven lively arts, plus the drinking of wine.

Each section is written by an authority, but written with the purpose of giving you witty, erudite comments to lay on. For instance: "The best thing to say about this kind of concrete poetry is that experimentally it is 'significant,' 'viable,' and 'possibly important!'"

Or about modern art: "Be vague. And if you can't be vague then . . . be as frighteningly articulate as you can. Never use a two-syllable word where a multisyllabled one will do."

These lively bits of advice and commentary accompany an absolute goldmine of accurate information. Encapsulated, informative, readily assimilated masterpieces of exposition on opera, music, art, literature, cinema and wine are included, and there's not a moment of boredom in the lot.

In truth, the book is worth reading just to get to the section on German wines. Or dipping into anywhere. Too bad it doesn't have a good index, but the T/CS are adequate.

Request an inter-library loan if you can't get over to the Hospital Library. Keep reading — and have a good week.

STOCKERS DRAW CROWDS — Stock cars prepared for the 1973 season at Berlin's "Friendship Raceway" were the crowd pleasers this past Sunday, as the Berlin American Auto Association held its first annual Auto Open House. Also drawing a great deal of interest were the Military Police escort jeeps, on display through the courtesy of the 287th MP Company. Between trying out the sirens on the jeeps and crawling under and around the stock cars, many of the enthusiastic crowd questioned BAAA members about the racing season, now less than three weeks away. Grand opening is set for Monday, May 28, with opening ceremonies set for early afternoon, with a full slate of racing to follow.

Seminar to train children helpers

A three-day seminar for training Americans to work with handicapped children will be offered at the U. S. Army Hospital Berlin on May 18, 19 and 20.

The seminar, called "Joy for Handicapped Children," will be conducted by the Arbeits Kreis Lerina foundation, a German-American organization which works with retarded children.

The training sessions will prepare American volunteers, both men and women, to work with handicapped children, particularly long-term hospital cases. The training will include work on musical instruments, painting and movement to music, as well as viewing films of the Lerina staff in action.

Professionals

Volunteers will be trained by a professional staff, including Frau Hede Haenchen, Frau Marika Heyck, neuologist Dr. Hirschberg and psychologist Dr. Koppe.

Also on the staff will be Frau Dr. Engelke, a pediatrician, Mr. Sudel, a music scientist, and Mrs. Colpe, a specialist in pantomime, movement and ballet.

Also working with the seminar will be Gary Clayton, an American citizen who trained with Frau Haenchen under Project Transition while he was in the U. S. Army.

No charge

The seminar will be offered free of charge to any American interested in the program. The training will be sponsored by the Hospital Ladies Club.

Persons who wish to enroll in the seminar should call Mrs. Lee Vieta at 826-2776 or Mrs. Bernita Mansfield at 831-3615 before 5 p.m. Tuesday to register.

Participants should wear slacks or tights. All other materials will be furnished.

Plagued by drugs? Get help!

Drugs or booze got you down? Do you need someone you can turn on a little stopping power?

Visit the Drug & Alcohol Information Center. It's located in Room 217 in the Army Education Center, Bldg. 1001-D, McNair Barracks. The phone number is 3294.

From 1 p.m. to 10 p.m., the staff of the center offers completely anonymous assistance with your drug or alcohol problems. No records are kept, so no one will squeal to your commander.

Center offers variety of courses

All military personnel, authorized civilians and dependents are invited to participate in the new educational program at the McNair Bks Army Education Center.

Next Monday, May 14, will be the first day for registration, which terminates Friday, May 25. Classes will begin May 29, unless another beginning date is indicated.

AN INTRODUCTORY course in Data Processing will attempt to provide answers to such questions as: What are the capabilities of automatic data processing? What is a computer and what can it do? How is a computer operated? The course will help personnel to prepare for a career in this field.

A criminology course is offered for personnel who are interested in discovering whether criminal behavior has dimensions usually not touched upon in detective stories and crime novels, and for persons who are looking forward to a career in law enforcement and the handling and treatment of juvenile and adult offenders in civilian life.

The introduction to general aeronautics course will give the student the basic concepts and general information about airplane flight, control, construction and operation. Topics will be stressed which have the closest relationship for further study and understanding of the industry and/or allied fields where this basic knowledge of aeronautics is beneficial.

AT THE END OF the course, the FAA test will be administered, which if passed, is good for two years and will enable the student to take the FAA flight test for his pilot license as soon as he accumulates the proper amount of flight instruction. This course will commence Monday, June 4.

The three courses mentioned above are on college level. A high school diploma or its equivalent is the prerequisite.

A brand-new subject on high school level, which has never been offered before in the off-duty program, is on the schedule this term: "The Negro in American History." The course is designed to examine the impact of America on the black man and the black man on America.

It would be helpful for individuals who wish to obtain their high school diploma or certificate of equivalence. Further, it is useful as a basis to pursue postsecondary education and training that is compatible with academic qualifications and broad career objectives. The only prerequisite is an eighth grade reading ability.

THE TYPING COURSE offers instruction of an individual nature and beginners are as welcome as those who desire to develop their speed and accuracy. The purpose of this class is to prepare the student for prospective jobs as company clerks, supply clerks or other positions

New system improves replacement morale

by Lucas Hutton

It's 6:30 a.m., Friday, May 4. Eight weary young men step from the American duty train and into the long shadows cast by the early morning sun. There is good reason for the looks of bewilderment and uncertainty that mark the faces of these men: this is Berlin, their first permanent duty assignment.

After four or more months of basic and advanced training, these eight new soldiers have many questions about what they will be doing in this big, new city. Yet no sooner have they left the train than there comes the man who will answer some of those questions—the Sergeant Major of the Day, who on this occasion happens to be SMG Jack L. Lemar of the Adjutant General Division.

LEMAR GREETES THE MEN, and instructs them to take their baggage to an Army bus waiting nearby. The AG representative (or "troop pusher"), PV2 John Howell, asks for the men's military records. The baggage is moved, and Lemar proceeds to address the group.

Lemar introduces himself and welcomes the men to Berlin. He tells them just the thing they've been waiting to hear: they're going to eat breakfast. After eating, they will go by bus to brigade headquarters, where they will await "further assignment."

That "further assignment" will not be long in coming, Lemar adds. "You should be assigned and in your respective units no later than the end of the day," he says.

The Berlin Brigade's one-day assignment policy for replacements is new, having been instituted since BG Robert D. Stevenson took over as brigade commander on March 3. Before the new policy took effect, replacements sometimes sat around for two, three or more days awaiting assignment. Many of the new men spent their time lounging around in the Wannsee Recreation Center, with no idea of where they were or what they would be doing, and with no one able to answer their questions.

OCCASIONALLY, TROOPS arriving in Berlin by air waited at Tempelhof Airport for several hours before someone came to meet them.

The brigade leadership decided that the old system was a definite morale problem for replacement personnel. So the old system has been replaced with a system which insures that a new soldier will be assigned to his unit on the day of his arrival in Berlin, even on weekends.

Under the new system, the SMOD meets new arrivals at the Railway Transportation Office (RTO) seven days a week. An AG representative and a bus also come to the RTO to transport the men to Service Company at Andrews Barracks, where they will eat breakfast.

AFTER A LEISURELY breakfast, the replacements board the bus again and travel to brigade headquarters. There they wait in the Special Services theater or in the indoor tennis courts until their assignments come through. Last Friday, (Continued on page 5)

Signal wipes out Service 18-1 in opening game of Andrews Softball League

by Vincent A. Drosdik, III

The 1973 Andrews Softball League season began Saturday with beautiful weather and three games at Andrews Field.

The opening tilt saw Signal Co., champs in A Division last year, annihilate Service Co. 18-1. Winning pitcher "Peppermint Patty" Wiczorek gave up no earned runs in the game that saw catcher-manager Paul Maggio belt a single, double and homer in five at-bats, batting in five runs. Also adding to the offensive were Lee "Moose" Angevine who went three for five with three rbi and center fielder Rick Davis who had two singles, a double and a home run in five at-bats to drive in four runs.

Det. A 20, MPs 4

A triple play in the fourth inning highlighted Detachment A's 20-4 shellacking of the 287th MP Co. Included in the 14-hit attack by Det. A were a single, double and four runs batted in by left fielder Mike Kelley and a single, double three rbi by Mike Toman. Winning pitcher Roland Caricofe contributed three rbi.

42nd Engineers 4, HHC Sp Trps 3

The game of the week was a close contest between 42nd Engineers and HHC Sp Trps Saturday afternoon. Headquarters Company got two quick runs in the 2nd inning when Larry Jacobs started the inning with a single, moving over to second on an error by first baseman Steve Zimmerman on a grounder by HHC rightfielder Bob Villeneuve. Jacobs scored on an error by shortstop Bill Sousa on a grounder by Juan Navas, with Villeneuve moving over to third. After Norm Pressel struck out, Bill Webb sent Villeneuve home on a sacrifice fly.

42nd picked up its first run in the 3rd with an infield hit by Randy Hoff, a sacrifice hit by Ben Hoyle and a two-base error by third baseman Juan Navas.

HHC made it 3-1 in the 5th inning with a lead-off double by Norm Pressel and an rbi single by Mike Dunn.

HHC pitcher Bill Webb couldn't hold 42nd in the 6th when Dave Terry had an infield single and right fielder "Doc" Oestreich sent him home on a double. Steve Zimmerman had an infield single, moving Oestreich over to third. Sousa got on by an error by shortstop Orlovski allowing Oestreich to score. After walking Steve Arden, pitcher Webb was lifted from the game, replaced by Presley "The Whip" Pippin.

Pippin pitched effectively, but was brought in too late. On the next play, left fielder Bill Fedor got on by Navas' error, allowing the winning run by Zimmerman to score. (Box score at bottom of page.)

GAMES OF SUNDAY, MAY 6

Headquarters and Service Co., Field Station Berlin walked over Co. B, FSB 14-6 Sunday morning and afternoon. The H&S attack was highlighted by a grand slam by right fielder Jerry Alley, a two-run homer by shortstop Mike Nowicki and a two run shot by third baseman Jim Smith. Catcher John Duback for Co. B had two rbi, including one on a solo homer. Ken Meadows picked up the win, Brian Holt the loss.

Hospital got eight runs in the first inning and seven more on the day, but couldn't hold down Co. A, FSB which pulled it out in the 8th inning to win 16-15. The hero for Co. A was catcher Royce Belzung, who went 3/5, including 2 doubles, 3 runs, 5 runs batted in, and a solo homer in the last of the eighth inning to clinch the game for Co. A. Keith Gave contributed a homer and three rbi for Co. A, with Chris Hernandez picking up the win in relief. Loser was Bert Webb in relief.

Independents won a 7-0 forfeit win over Service Co. to round out the day's action.

GAMES OF MONDAY, MAY 7

Probably the surprise game of the week was 287th MP Company's edging of Signal Co. 11-10. Jim Bradshaw got the win (1-1) with Dick Westerman charged with the loss. Paul Maggio hit a three-run homer for Signal, while Rod Clarida and Bradshaw each drove in two runs for MPs.

Det. A romped over HHC, Sp Trps 11-3 on eight errors by HHC. Each team had 11 hits. Bill Roberts and Mike Kelley had two rbi for Det. A with Gene Hill getting the win. Webb got his second defeat of the year.

GAMES OF TUESDAY, MAY 8

Headquarters and Service Co. won over 42nd Engineers 5-2. Ben Hoyle took the loss (1-1). Jerry Alley got his first win of the season. Pete Scalise, H&S's left fielder, went three-for-three (a double and triple) against Hoyle.

The Co. A, FSB vs Co. B, FSB was called on account of rain after 2 1/2 innings. It will be rescheduled later.

GAMES OF WEDNESDAY, MAY 9

Signal Co. romped over Det. A with Ken Staggs winning his first game of the season in as many tries. Gene Hill was the loser (1-1). Catcher Paul Maggio of Signal got two runs batted in, to boost his lead in that category to 10 in three games. Rick Davis, Ted Shaw and Ken Staggs had two rbi each in the offensive for Signal.

BILL WHITE gives up only two hits to Independents, loses 8-0. (Photo by V. A. Drosdik, III)

Independents won their second game, 8-0 over Hospital. Roy Davis pitched a one hitter, striking out nine batters in seven innings. Hospital's Bill White suffered his first defeat though he gave up only two hits, as Hospital's fielders committed eight errors.

British command unit sets back Forces 5-2

by Ray Stahl

The British command unit team from Montgomery Barracks came from a 2-1 deficit at halftime to score four unanswered in the second half to defeat the U. S. Forces soccer club last Sunday 5-2.

Bill Cheney tallied the first goal of the match just six minutes into the contest as he stuffed home a deflection off the hands of British goalie Pat Jennings. Alan Ball put the game on level terms in the 32nd minute when he blasted in a short shot that gave Forces goaltender Bruce Scolton no chance to make a save.

John Wilson put the American team back on top just before halftime with a brilliant solo move down the left sideline, beating two defenders, then moving crossfield to drill a screaming shot past Jennings into the lower right corner of the nets.

Wilson's goal and the finesse he used to put the score on the board auger well for the Forces' scoring prowess the remainder of the season.

The second half belonged to the team from Montgomery. An early goal, at the 51st minute by David Breadwell, once again brought the match to even terms. The Forces were awarded a penalty shot some 10 minutes later but keeper Jennings made an outstanding save and the momentum swung towards the British club for the rest of the match.

Allan Clarke, Brian Stult and Mike Channon scored the other goals for the command unit team as they were clearly the stronger team in the second half.

In the second half of the soccer doubleheader, the Forces A team lost to F. C. St. Pauli 3-0. They will be back in action this Sunday while the Forces' Industrial League squad returns to league action sometime tomorrow somewhere.

SATURDAY, May 12
 2 p.m. Weekend World of Sports with Randy Campbell

NBA Playoffs
 The "decider" — that's the story of this NBA game as the New York Knickerbockers travel to Boston Garden to meet the Boston Celtics before approximately 15,000 people.

Both teams have won three games in this 4 out of 7 series for the Eastern Conference Championship. There is much at stake in this playoff, not only the prestige of being the Eastern Conference Champs and a shot at the national championship, but there is additional money for each player.

Keith Jackson and Bill Russell report the action.
 Approx. 3:40 p.m.

Randy takes a special look at the TCA Slow-pitch CSC Softball Team with coach Al Reed.
 Approx. 3:50 p.m.

CBS Sports Spectacular
 The Hall of Fame International Invitational Diving Meet at Fort Lauderdale, Florida; and the World Invitational Weightlifting Championships from Tashkent, Russia is the fare on Sports Spectacular.

Cynthia Porter, 1973 AAU Champion, and Christine Looock, 1971 USA Pan Am Games team member compete in the ladies springboard diving. In the men's springboard, LT Phil Boggs and Tim Moore compete.

In the weightlifting event, in which the contestants weigh from 198 to 375 pounds, the man to watch is Adam Gnato, who weighs a mere 113 pounds and is 4 feet 6 inches tall, and makes a clean and jerk of 196 pounds.

SUNDAY
 2 p.m. Weekend World of Sports with Randy Campbell

A look at local softball and baseball results rounds out today's sports scoreboard. Also on tap:

ABA Basketball Playoffs
 Indiana Pacers vs Kentucky Colonels Freedom Hall, Louisville, Kentucky is the site of the first game in a best 4 out of 7 series of the ABA basketball finals.

Both teams have outstanding players such as Bill Keller of the Indiana Pacers whose 87 percent free throws is tons in the ABA. The Kentucky Colonels' 72" Artis Gilmore led the ABA in blocked shots and averaged 17 1/2 rebounds per game.

Rod Hundley and Don Criqui call the action.
 Approx. 3:50 p.m.

Mr. Ted Holland, newly assigned recreation director at TCA, meets the public and talks with Randy about summer sports at Tempelhof.
 Approx. 3:55 p.m.

Wide World of Sports
 The veritable wonderland, Garmisch, West Germany, is the scene of the thrilling International Ski Jumping Championships.

The rascals of basketball, the Harlem Globetrotters, do their thing in Memphis, Tennessee. Sportscasters Howard Cosell, Frank Gifford and Don Meredith, accustomed to report more orderly events, attempt to describe the zany antics of the Globetrotters during the game.

As usual, the star is Meadowlark Lemon, who is well assisted by his buddies, as they make the basketball court a disaster area.
 6:35 p.m. Sports Challenge

For the seventh New York Yankees' Lefty Gomez, Jon DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich defend their "King o' the Hill" title!

Hoping to unseat the Yankees are Detroit Tigers Mickey Lolich, Al Kaline and Norm Cash. Dick Enberg, voice of the California Angels, is the host.

WEDNESDAY
 11 p.m. Pro Bowlers Tour
 Pro Bowlers rolls into its 12th season with coverage of the $65,000 San Jose, California Open.

After a week of eliminations, the five finalists are Allie Clarke, Akron, Ohio; John Petraglia, Gus Lampo, Brooklyn, New York; Don Glover, Indiana, and Don Johnson, Akron, Ohio.

In 1972, the leading money winner was Don Johnson, followed by Don Glover and lefthander, John Petraglia. Professional bowler, Billy Welu, along with Chris Schenkel supply the color as the finalists bowl their way up the "flight board."

NHL Stanley Cup Playoffs
 Blackhawks vs Canadians

The Chicago Blackhawks travel to Montreal Forum, Montreal, Canada, to meet the Canadians in the first game of a "best of 7 series" for the coveted Stanley Cup.

These two well disciplined clubs have a lot of fire power and a lot of speed. The wide open play in this game keeps both goalies, Esposito of the Blackhawks and Dryden of the Canadians busier than usual.
 Tim Ryan and Brian Lindsay report.

"LOOK I'VE BEEN in this business for a long time. If you think I don't know a Mickey Mouse set-up when I see one, then you're out at your mind. Nobody fools me with that hidden camera routine," says Mickey M. Rodent in Money Talks. (Photo courtesy National Screen Service Corp.)

'Money Talks' has Allen Funt proving larceny in our souls

Tinsel Town Review with Mike (Flash) McCollum
Well, here it is fans, the column that you've been waiting in breathless anticipation for, bringing you all the latest news from that city of glitter and glory, Hollywood. We'll have the "inside scoop," as we say in the newspaper business, on all the latest movies coming your way.
FLASH-Money is the root of all evil? That's what Allen Funt of Candid Camera fame tries to prove in MONEY TALKS. Hidden cameras and microphones (see picture) expose the larceny hidden in men's souls. Try it, you'll like it. P. S. Don't miss the Walter Lantz cartoon.

LIFE AND TIMES OF JUDGE ROY BEAN. The Judge staggers into a small town (here come da Judge) and declares it the "Law 'n' Order Capital of the West." Guess who represents The Law? Nope, not Moses, it's "Da Judge." Oh, pshaw! The film contains violence, profanity and a bear!
FLASH-This week we've also got a revival. It's not exactly Billie Graham. It's... Ta Da... THE OWL AND THE PUSSYCAT. It's about a brassy but "well rounded" New York City girl (Barbara Streisand) who wants to become the biggest thing since The Incredible Shrinking Man.
FLASH-In SAVAGE MESSIAH we have a frustrated young sculptor trying to make good. He's frustrated because he keeps getting interrupted by World War I. Scott Antony and Dorothy Tutin.

FLASH-To round out this week's line-up we've got an unbelievable horse opera you just won't believe. TRINITY IS STILL MY NAME, starring Terence Hill and Bud Spencer is an original plot about breaking up a scheme to sell arms to a band of Mexican revolutionaries. That's about as original as a Volkswagen. Lots of "horsing" around though.

AYA baseball season opens

by John Gregg

The American Youth Activities baseball season officially opened Saturday with doubleheaders played in the Major and Minor Leagues.
The festivities began at 2 p.m. with a parade led by the 298th Army Band and followed by the teams from the Senior, Major and Minor Leagues dressed in their uniforms and carrying banners with their teams' names.
The parade ended at the field at Stewardstrasse where the National Anthem was played and the flag raised. Dick Miller, league president, introduced Brigadier General Robert D. Stevenson, Berlin Brigade commander, who addressed the crowd. Stevenson was then presented with three baseballs which he threw out to the three home team catchers for the opening games.
The first games in the Major League saw the Twins come from behind to beat the Angels 7-5, while the Orioles downed the Twins 4-1.
Sunday, the AYA Girls Softball League got underway. The Peppermint Stripes defeated the Teenie Boppers 22-11 and the Tups edged the Hot Dogs 5-3.
In the Senior League opening games Sunday at the Berlin American High School field, the Red Sox won over the Yankees 9-4 and the Indians were victorious over the Senators 5-3.

which would entail training in typing.
Berlin can be more attractive to Americans if they speak and understand the German language. German courses play a large role in the curriculum. German I classes will provide the student with the basic knowledge of the language. Intermediate and advanced German courses are scheduled for the convenience of personnel who have already completed the elementary prerequisites and want to make their stay in Germany more eventful.
All courses meet two nights a week from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. for a period of eight weeks. Participation is free of charge. Registration will be accepted in the registrar's office, Bldg. 1001-D, Monday through Thursday 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., or by calling 3164 or 3120.

Replacements...

that wait was short—all eight men were in their companies in time for lunch.
When the bus takes the man to his new assignment, the first stop is his respective battalion headquarters. There he will be welcomed by the battalion command sergeant major and/or adjutant. The battalion calls the man's company orderly room, and the company first sergeant or the company commander comes to battalion headquarters to escort the man to his new unit.
CSM John E. Wise, the brigade command sergeant major, believes the new system is a definite boost to the morale of the replacement troops arriving in the command. One plus factor, Wise says, is the fact that the new soldier is met by a sergeant major.
Furthermore, adds Wise, "the new soldier is immediately impressed with the fact that Berlin is unique, and that he is a man specially screened and selected to serve in the Berlin Brigade."

Motorsport Fans

Believe it or not — the AVUS will come to live this weekend when after a two-year pause racing cars will crowd the scenery again. For the 18th time the Berliner Automobil-Club conducts the competition for the "Golden Bear". About 200 participants in 16 categories — from Fiat to Carrera — registered for this Sunday's race. There are 16,000 seats waiting for motorsport fans to be filled. Tickets for the Sunday event are from DM 8-22. Training is on Saturday and tickets cost only DM 3-5 to watch. Here's a reminder: The AVUS will be blocked to all traffic on both days from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

SICHERHEITSAUSSTELLUNG

Security Show
Mercedes-Benz is conducting a "Security Show" at the Funkturm Exhibition Grounds until May 13. The show can be seen daily from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. (also Saturday and Sunday) at Hall 22, entrance Hammar-skjöldplatz/Masurenallee. Models, diagrams, thrilling films and security equipment are here for you to test and to give you a wide range of information about the whole security system. You can sit in the "Janus-Kopf", a car with two steering wheels, and feel the difference between the two steering systems. Test yourself how easy it is to stop a car with "servo-assistance". You can see films on crash tests with test dummies, or scenes from the development in work, or test the experimental security vehicle. Daimler-Benz continuously makes expensive tests to increase more and more the safety of the automobile. To drive secure, a driver needs a cooperative attitude towards the traffic. He must know the possibilities and limits of his car's security. The big Mercedes-Benz Security Show wants to show all drivers what Mercedes-Benz is doing and what YOU can do to increase safety on the road.

Some indoor diversions

Anybody out there saw that lovely show the Philippine group "Bayanihan" put on in the Philharmonie last Monday? I'm still dazzled from so much beauty, even though I'm a member of the female sex. There isn't anything so pretty on the schedule this week; the only thing comparable are the blossoming trees. But that big light technician up there sure is pretty stingy with the spot light, while he must be running up one heck of a water bill.

Films at British Center
Well at least there are a couple of things I can recommend for the "great indoors." Excellent movie entertainment and free of charge to boot can be had at the British Center tonight. At 7:30 p.m. The Go Between will be shown, in English, of course. Julie Christie and Alan Bates are the stars of this color film, which plays in a charming old English setting. The action takes place at the turn of the century. It tells about a summer spent by a naive 12-year-old boy at the estate of a schoolfriend. By acting as the private postman for the older sister of this friend and a neighboring farmer, he becomes inextricably entangled in their furtive love affair. A sensitive, well-photographed film that's just perfect for those romantically inclined. It's best to reserve your free tickets by calling the Center at 31 01 76. You find the British Center on Hardenbergstrasse 20, right behind the Amerika Haus.

Folkpub
And then I discovered a neat place to go for all those that like pubs and live, amateur entertainment. The place I have in mind is called the "Folkpub" and it is located on Leibnitzstrasse right off the Ku-Damm (in the vicinity of Olivaer Platz but on the other side of the Ku-Damm). Here young people gather (on weekends they pack the place) to chat, have some good draught brew and listen to the musicians that come to play.

As the name of the place suggests, folk music is most often on the playbill. Tuesdays and Saturdays a group of German fellows come on around midnight with some of the most lively Russian music I've ever heard. The "Schastroffs," as they are called, are such masters of the typical Russian instruments that it seems difficult to believe that they are German and students of architecture, medicine and a dentist. They play as a hobby and fun, and that's probably what makes their music so refreshing. To my mind, they alone are worth a visit to this pub.

But if you don't care for folk music all that much, you might want to drop by on Monday, when jazz is dominating sound here. The admission fee to the "Pub" is DM 2 and the prices of the food (they have some real tasty salads) and drinks are reasonable. As far as I know, anybody can come and sing. So if you are talented you might make inquiries there. They even pay you.

Chamber music
A delicacy for chamber music enthusiasts is coming up in the Philharmonie on May 25. The English Chamber Orchestra will be directed by Pinchas Zuckerman, who is also the soloist for the evening. Zuckerman's virtuosity on the violin is sure to make this a grade-A musical happening. The program will feature works by Bach and Mozart. Check about tickets soon.

Humor at Uraniahaus
Even though perfect knowledge of the German language is mandatory in order to enjoy the program at the Uraniahaus this Saturday and Sunday, I think it should be mentioned for the benefit of a few. Werner Finck will present his most particular kind of humor with his intelligent monologues. Delightful word plays keep the audience on its toes and in stitches when Finck chats about life and what's wrong with it.

He is the founder of the "radical middle" party and finds that the best way to show people his teeth is smiling. Finck fans can come to the Uraniahaus at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and also Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m.

Community Observations

Child care program

Army Community Service is sponsoring another Home Nursing/Home Child Care Program. The topic will be Your Child — From Birth to Five Years. Dr. Guedes, pediatrician, will be there to answer your questions. This program will be held May 25 at 1 p.m. in the Main Conference Room, U. S. Army Hospital (second floor of Headquarters Building, Hospital Compound). To make your reservations, please call ACS at 819-6500. Free babysitting will be provided at the Kinder Keller, but you must make your own reservations.

KONTAKT is one year old

by Bob Sader

KONTAKT is one year old this month. To celebrate a year of successfully bringing Germans and Americans together, we are sponsoring a big anniversary party May 18. Beginning at 8 p.m. in the Weisse Rose Youth Center in Schoeneberg (Apostel-Paulus Str. 10, close to the 85 bus route right down the street from the city hall). It will be a dance with a discotheque atmosphere. Come and enjoy the discs, drink the wine, beer and coke, and help celebrate. There will be no admission charge and all refreshments will be sold at a reduced price. Silent films will also be shown.

Other events coming up include: May 12 — Bowling — City Bowling (Kurfürstendamm 156) at 3 p.m.
May 14 — Swimming — Andrews Pool from 6:30-9 p.m.
May 15 — Silent Film Night — Amerika Haus (Hardenbergstr. 22, across from Bahnhof Zoo) at 8 p.m. The film: Thief of Bagdad, starring Douglas Fairbanks.
