Commandant French Sector; COL Nari, CDR Tegel Airport; MG William W. Cobb, Commandant U. S. Sector; COL Gail S. Halvorsen, CDR Tempelhof Airport; and Mayor of Berlin, Klaus Schütz.

9 Berliners given airlift fellowships

Nine young Berliners were awarded Airlift Memorial Fellowships on Saturday, May 12, at a ceremony immediately following the commemoration of the 24th anniversary of the Berlin Airlift at the Airlift Memorial on the Platz der Luftbrücke.

Hosts at the ceremony were the American, British and French Commandants in Berlin.

The fellowships will enable these Berliners to study for a period of one academic year in the United States, Great Britain or France.

The Airlift Memorial Fund was established on May 12, 1959, the 10th anniversary of the lifting of the Berlin Blockade, by the commandants of the three Western sectors of the city. The fund enables selected students and young professionals to study in the United States, Great Britain and France.

The three persons who will study in the United States are Fr. Gudrun Heinze, Hermann Hass and Dr. Wolfgang Schivelbusch.

Fr. Heinze is a teacher of mentally retarded children. Hass is a young lawyer, and Dr. Schivelbusch is a cultural correspondent and a freelance worker with Südwestfunk.

Wolfgang Seelentag, a physicist; Ludwig Linden, an economist and sociologist; and Frau Isabella Link-Herskovics, a theater journalist, will study in Great Britain.

Klaus Geyer, a law student at the Free University; Bernd Rudolph, a lecturer in political science at the F.U.; and Rolf Maier, a student of economics at the F.U., will study in France.

Fellowship recipients must be German nationals under 35 years of age permanently residing in Berlin, who have completed or are about to complete their full academic or professional training.

The fellowships are intended for young people whose careers will bring them to some area of public affairs such as government service, education, social work, church work, politics, press, radio, television or trade union activities.

One hundred twenty-nine Berliners have already studied abroad under this program. Applications will be accepted this fall for the academic year beginning September 1974, at a time to be announced later. The selected program for the candidates is supervised by the cultural officers of the three Allied Powers in Berlin.

The U.S. Commandant, MG William W. Cobb, the host this year, addressed the guests and the nine fellows on behalf of the Allied Commandants. Following Cobb's remarks, the fellowship certificates were presented to the candidates by the American, British and French Commandants.

How's your car?

Inspectors tell what's wrong

by Michael S. McCollum

If you are planning to buy a car in the near future, it might be a good idea to have a courtesy inspection done at the POV inspection point at Andrews Barracks, according to CPT Michael E. G. Woods-Humphrey, Chief, Quality Assurance Branch.

Approximately 30% of all cars inspected at the inspection point fail to pass due to such things as faulty exhaust systems, bad tie-rod ends, bald tires, body rust and other problems.

Often someone will come in to have his car inspected a few days before his registration expires. This really isn't a good idea. When your car is inspected, it's checked not only for things which are obviously wrong, but for things which may deteriorate in the months to come. Consequently, if something looks like it's about to go, you may be required to replace it.

Consider this — you go and get your car inspected. It doesn't pass and you have to get a part from EES garages to correct the situation. The guy at the garage tells you, "No problem, but it will take about six weeks to get the part." In the meantime your registration has expired. You can eliminate this problem by having a courtesy inspection done about a month before your registration expiration date. The personnel are more than happy to do it for you.

Many people get "hot under the collar" when they discover that their cars won't pass inspection. They're assuming that the personnel at the inspection point are "out to get them." This just isn't so. Those people are charged with the responsibility of checking a car out to make sure that it's as safe and mechanically sound as it can possibly be.

You'd probably get a little hotter under the collar if you wanted to buy a car, had them check it out at the inspection point and pass it, and then have the car fall apart inside of two months. The personnel feel the same way about your car as they do about their own. If the car is mechanically unsound, there's no way it's going to pass inspection.

Most people don't know it, but unit commanders are required to inspect vehicles bi-annually in addition to the initial inspection for registration of a POV.

It would be to your advantage to have an inspection performed on your car about six months after your car passes inspection, and again a month before the registration expires. It's your responsibility to see that your car is in good shape all year round and not just for inspections, as is the case all too many times. After a courtesy inspection you'll be able to tell if anything needs correcting.

The inspection point's hours are 8 a.m. — 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. They're closed on all German and American holidays. If you have any questions about the standards set for POVs, consult USAREUR Reg 190-3 or call Quality Assurance at 3495.

Safe driving!

MEMBERS OF C/94 are piling into a "chopper" in the Grunewald on their recent training exercise. The training exercise was by and large a success, with the troopers of C/94 avoiding helicopter and jeep patrols in "enemy" infested territory.

C/94 trains in Grunewald

by Chris Shoemaker

Taking a page from the infantry, the men of Battery C, 94th Field Artillery, navigated their way across the length and breadth of the Grunewald in a recent land navigation exercise.

The exercise commenced under sunny skies on the 4-Ring at McNair Barracks. There the battery was briefed on the existing situation, which indicated the presence of large-scale aggressor units in the Grunewald and a friendly underground force from which certain intelligence data was to be obtained.

Because of the importance of this mission, Berlin's artillery battery was chosen and divided into three-man teams. Because of the constant surveillance of likely ground avenues of approach to the Grunewald by aggressor units, it was determined that insertion should be accomplished by helicopter.

So at 10-minute intervals, two choppers from the Aviation Detachment, including one piloted by the Brigade Commander, BG Robert D. Stevenson, inserted these teams in the heart of the enemy-infested Grunewald.

In the vicinity of the LZ, the teams found a friendly local national insurgent who provided them with maps, encoded grid coordinates and a set of special instructions.

Included in the list of key locations was the headquarters of the local insurgent leader, where the teams were provided with food and temporary shelter.

It was a weary group of cannon cockers who finally made their way back into friendly lines, having walked from the Wannsee beach area to the northernmost reaches of the Grunewald and back, avoiding aggressor jeeps and helicopter patrols.

Not all the teams were entirely successful. However, all agreed that much valuable training was derived in this strenuous, rewarding and challenging exercise.

THE LINES AREN'T VERY LONG, as you can well see. It doesn't take too long to have a courtesy inspection done and it will save you a lot a hassle in the long run. They can tell you what's wrong with your car or what's wrong with a car you are planning to buy. (Photo by Mike McCollum)

Lawn mower safety

Can you remember when there were no power mowers? You can if you're 30 or more. Although powered grass cutters have taken much of the pain out of lawn maintenance, the one you use can introduce a lot of pain into your

- life if it's not handled properly.
- Before mowing:
- Check mower for cracks, loose nuts or bolts.
 - Learn mower and controls thoroughly.
 - Fill gas tank before starting (never refuel hot engine).
 - Make sure no one is in immediate area.
 - Clear lawn of foreign objects (stones, wire, etc.).
 - Never use electric mower when grass is wet.
- While mowing and afterwards:
- Keep feet clear at all times.
 - Stay away from discharge side of mower.
 - Push — do not pull — mower.
 - Stop engine whenever you leave the mower.
 - Stop engine before pushing mower across drives, walks or roads.
 - DO NOT unclog mower while it is running.
 - DO NOT allow children or unauthorized persons to operate mower.
 - Stop engine and disconnect spark wire before working on mower.

Recreational safety

With the return of warm weather and our recreational activities being centered out of doors, we find ourselves confronted with a change in seasonal safety precautions. This summer millions of people will flock to play areas to participate in sports activities (individual or team) ranging from highly organized competitive league sports to that of the back yard and vacant lot. And present in these areas will be varying degrees of control, ranging from excellent leadership, facilities and equipment to little or no control.

Research has indicated that a program of supervised activities administered by a trained and experienced leader is relatively safe. Good planning, good organization and a definite program of developing individual responsibility in the supervised program has an important carry-over value to the unsupervised activities on the playground or sports field.

Recreation is a most vital need of man, body and mind. However, recreation needs safety in order to free life for the better adventure. In his book Family Recreation and Safety, Albert W. Whitney writes, "Recreation and safety are bound together as inseparable parts of the involvement for a richer, better, more spiritual, more truly adventurous life."

LIBRARY NOTES

by Miriam Steward

Libraries and research

It seemed like a fairly normal occurrence to me, but the telling of this story has interested so many people that I thought I'd give it wider circulation as an example of what the capabilities of the library system are.

A young man engaged in research in a rather esoteric field had located four magazine articles he needed to read. These articles ranged in date from 1957 to 1963, and were located in rather uncommon magazines. He came to us, without much hope, to see if we could locate them. One thing he did have was time to wait, so we were able to assure him that we could and would get them — from the States if necessary.

As it turned out, Stateside inquiry was not necessary. We had one of the articles in our microfilm collection at Berlin Brigade Library, one was available at the USAREUR Reference Library, and two were in Berlin in the Archives of German libraries. The staff at BB Library — the majority of whom are Germans — were able to establish positively that the articles would be available to the gentleman if he cared to go to these libraries and read them. (They were, of course, in the original English form).

The point is that the long arm of inter-library loan goes all the way back to your home town if that's where the material is. It may take a little time, but we can get almost any book that you need. Ask! Keep reading and have a good week.

Keep those suggestions coming!

by Eric Lambert

The suggestion promotion campaign got off to a good start. Lots of first class ideas are pouring into the Incentive Awards Office. Many are from suggesters trying their skill for the first time. We wish them success, and hope they will become regular contributors.

Incidentally, two of our prolific suggesters just received further proof of the effectiveness of submitting suggestions regularly. SP4 Rickey Johnson, Special Troops, won two cash awards last month for ideas which improved work safety for employees of the Ammunition Branch, Maintenance Division.

CPT John Schneeberger, 4th Bn. 6th Infantry, collected a check for $200 on departing Berlin, for suggestions he made which influenced the contents of a new DA Pamphlet and Regulation concerning military training.

Incentive Awards coordinators and their evaluators are working at high pressure, and doing an excellent job getting adoptable ideas implemented without delay.

They are really giving the campaign their full support, and are trying to ensure that the Berlin Command Suggestion Program remains in the lead. So, it is now up to you, our suggesters, to keep filling up those suggestion forms and sending them to the Incentive Awards Committee, Civilian Personnel Division.

In case of difficulty, or for information phone the Incentive Awards Office at 6453.

BERLIN SUGGESTER — LTC Mark L. Reese of G1 presents a Suggestion Award to Miss Christy Landis, receptionist at the main entrance to Bldg. 42 on the headquarters compound. Miss Landis received DM 42 for her suggestion that mirrors be installed near the main doors to aid the receptionists and the Military Police guards in checking the parking lot in front of Bldg. 42 for unauthorized parking. KONTAKT celebrates first birthday

by Rich Gilbert

Last May KONTAKT had its first event, a mixer at the Gator Club. This May we have a whole calendar of events including our birthday party.

The party will take place Friday, May 18 at 8 p.m. at the Weisse Rose Youth Center, Apostel Paulus Str. 10, Schoeneberg. We will have a discotheque and refreshments and there is no admission charge.

On Sunday, May 20 we will have a special double feature involving our most popular interest groups. The All-American Service Club is sponsoring a free buffet dinner in conjunction with the KONTAKT dining group.

After dinner we will hold another folk song evening at the service club. If you like to play, sing or just listen as well as have a good dinner, come on over at 5 p.m.

The KONTAKT crowd will be at the GO-IN at Breustr. 17 at 8:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 24. If you like folk music, why not come down and join us for a real experience.

Another big night will be Tuesday, May 22, the last of our silent film showings. The immortal Lon Chaney stars as the unforgettable "Hunchback of Notre Dame." Call the Amerika Haus (819-7895) to make your reservations. That's at 8 p.m. at the Amerika Haus on Heidenbergstr., right across from the Bahnhof Zoo.

We also have our bowling, swimming, riding and photography groups this coming week. Look for a big weekend next weekend, too, when there will be a big German American Hayride. Call the KONTAKT Office (819-6300) for details.

And Happy Birthday!

Hike & bike in Bavaria

Like to take a look at a Bavarian village and countryside at your own pace and leisure?

You can during your visit to the Garmisch Recreation Area by taking a GRA hiking or bicycle tour.

These guided tours are conducted daily throughout the city, along country lanes and up into the mountains and range in difficulty from beginner to expert.

The hiking tours leave the Garmisch Sports Center each morning and go through some of the most beautiful areas of the Bavarian Alps. These hikes are ideal for those who want to enjoy the mountains in a relaxing manner.

On the bicycle tour you will travel many streets and passes which seem to have been built just for the pleasure of the two wheeler. Your guide will lead you to points of interest, and on paths and trails seldom seen by visitors to Garmisch.

For reservations for accommodations during your vacation to the Garmisch Recreation Area write the GRA Billeting Office, APO 09053 or telephone Garmisch Military (2535) 757 or 557.

"Tombola" tickets will be sold during the evening at $1 each as additional chances on the drawing. Parking will be in the shopping Center parking lot. A shuttle bus will operate between the parking lot and the Harnack House.

Tight race shaping up in B Division, Andrews League

Signal, 42nd Engineers fight for first

by Vincent A. Drosdik, III

The A Division race in Andrews League tightened up May 10 when the 287th MP Co. dumped Service Co. 16-8. Lack of pitching and hitting were again Service's Achilles heel as they managed only five hits while the cycle for MPs — a single, double, triple and inside the park home run — driving in four runs. Jim Bradshaw became the league's first two-game winner.

HHC, Sp Trps upset H&S FSB 10-4 May 10, teeing off on departing Ken Meadows (L, 1-1) with 12 hits. Presley Pippin got his first win, contributing a bloop two-run double and a run-producing sacrifice hit to help his cause.

GAMES OF FRIDAY, MAY 11

Big Ben Hoyle rested and Jim Timmons pitched his first game and victory for 42nd Engineers over Co. B, FSB 21-8. Lack of pitching again was Co. B's downfall, Jim Holt getting his second loss. Kevin Schwab played his first game as catcher for 42nd and broke in well — two grand slams and a total of nine rbi on the day. Mike Henson hit a homer for Co. B.

Independents beat themselves on six errors, 13-8 to Co. A, FSB with Rob Meter getting the win, Chris Hernandez the save. Sam Rotter hit a home run and batted in four runs for Co. A.

GAMES OF SATURDAY, MAY 12

Signal Co. played a sloppy game but still beat Hospital 14-11. Patty Wiecek started the game for Signal, but Ken Staggs came on in relief to win his second game against no losses. "Sugar Bear" Perkins had three rbi for Hospital, while Wiecek and Fred Peterson had three rbi each for Signal.

In a wild scoring game, Service Co. edged Det. A 15-14. Ed Heller and Jerry Martin had three rbi each for Service while catcher Willie Hedden hit a solo homer for Det. A.

Presley Pippin got his second win against no losses in an 8-3 HHC victory over MPs. Juan Navas hit a run-producing single in the 3rd inning and a solo homer in the 5th to lead the HHC attack.

GAMES OF SUNDAY, MAY 13

Although he had illegal pitches called on him, "Big Ben" Hoyle led 42nd Engineers on to an 8-7 victory over Co. A, FSB. Royce Belzung, switched to first base, hit his second homer of the year and drove in two runs for Co. A. Steve Arden had three rbi for 42nd.

Independents went into first place in B Division by downing H&S, FSB 10-8. Murray Kline won his first game of the year while Jerry Alley absorbed the loss. Pete O'Donnell drove in three runs for Independents while Chuck Graham and John Hedges had two rbi each.

Det. A smothered Co. B, FSB 24-3 in a six inning affair. Gene Hill yielded only five hits for his second win, while Frank McLaughlin got the loss. Mike Kelly had three rbi for Det. A to lead the league with 12, while Harold Buck had four rbi and Hare had three.

JIM BRADSHAW

... pitching for the MPs, the league's first three-game winner.

GAMES OF MONDAY, MAY 14

Second baseman John Spiezia led Signal Co. to a 12-4 victory over HHC, Sp Trps with two doubles and a triple, driving in four runs. Dick Westerman got his first win of the season, Craig Kinney losing in his first appearance.

Co. B, FSB escaped from the B Division cellar by downing Hospital 5-3 in one of the lowest scoring games of the year. Frank McLaughlin won the game, with Bill White becoming the league's first three-game loser.

GAMES OF TUESDAY, MAY 15

42nd Engineers romped over Service Co. 24-3 in a five inning contest. Home runs by "Unk" Souza, John Gonzales and Kevin Schwab led the 10-run 42nd attack. Schwab's homer was his third, putting him first in the league in that category, as well as in runs batted in. Jim Timmons got his second victory.

The 287th MP Co. beat H&S, FSB 5-2 in a close, quick and exciting game. MPs jumped on pitcher Jerry Alley for three runs in the bottom of the second inning. After a ground out by Rod Clarida, big Jim Bradshaw, pitcher for the MPs, hit a solo home run over the left field fence to make it 1-0. After a ground out by Charly Spencer, Burns got on by an error on the H&S first basemen, moved over to third on a single by Gilbert Myers, Myers going to second on the throw to third. Burns then scored on a passed ball by the H&S catcher, Myers moving to third. Myers scored himself on yet another passed ball, to make it 3-0.

H&S got one in the third when Cowan got on by an error, was moved to second on a single by Willot and then scored on a single by Pete Scalise.

MPs came back in the bottom of the third for a run on a lead-off triple by Roger Pack and a sacrifice fly by Dick Sandel. In the fourth they got their final run when Spencer singled, moved to second on a single by Burns, and came home on a single by Myers.

H&S's final run came in the top of the sixth inning on a lead-off triple up the right center alley. He scored on a ground out by Larry Newton. Final score: 5-2, MPs over H&S, FSB. (Box score below.)

Andrews League

McNair softball

We will have standings and other coverage of Defender League softball starting next week. The Guardian League at 4/6 starts its season May 25.

the scorekeeper

Vincent A. Drosdik, III

Welcome aboard to my first column, a column devoted to fanatics of softball and baseball. I will spend most of this space commenting on the Andrews Softball League, but will venture occasionally to the action at McNair and even into the world of professional baseball back in the World.

Tight race in A Division of Andrews League

Unlike last year in which Signal Company ran away with first place in A Division, this year promises to be a good deal tighter a race and much more interesting. For one thing, any team playing .500 ball makes the Brigade playoffs in July, whereas last season it was the top two teams in each division or league.

The only team that seems guaranteed to take care of the cellar all season and not make the playoffs, is Service Co. A total lack of pitching is the major, but by no means only deficiency. Except for third and possibly first base, each position needs vast improvement.

By total contrast is Signal Co. It has probably the greatest depth of any team. Four of the top 15 batters in the league are on Signal. It has one of the best pitching staffs in the league with Ken Staggs, Dick Westerman and Patty Wiecek. It has the best over-all fielding, throwing and hitting catcher in the league, Paul Maggio, a real student of the game, as well as being undoubtedly the best manager. And the team has the full backing of its company. All in all, a combination hard to beat.

In between Signal and Service, it appears there will be dog-eat-dog competition. Probably coming out on top of the bunch in second place will be 42nd Engineers. In past seasons, 75% of the team was "Big Ben" Hoyle and his pitching. This season is a different story, with Jim Timmons being developed into the second starting pitcher. As of this writing, pitching against weaker teams, he is 2-0. The hard hitting of catcher Fred Schwab, first basemen John Gonzales and "Foggy" Zimmerman, shortstop "Unk" Souza and outfielder Steve Arden could insure second place.

The next three teams are so difficult to predict as to exact final standings that I will simply say that they will be somewhere at third, fourth and fifth place at season's end.

Detachment A has the hitting, with four of the top 15 batters in the league, including outfielder Mike Kelly, who is among the rbi leaders in the league, and Gene Hill, who is the team's ace pitcher. A big loss came recently when their other starting pitcher, Roland Caricofe, who in his first game showed great improvement over last year, broke his leg. This, along with training commitments, makes Det. A's prospects a bit dim.

HHC Sp Trps at first glance appears to have most of the tools: a deep pitching staff headed by Presley Pippin, several excellent veterans from last season, a few slick fielders. But mismanagement probably cost HHC two of their first three losses and thus momentum. This situation could easily improve with some work by manager Mike Pentecost (who missed the first week's action while on leave) and some luck.

Then there is the 287th MP Co. Its rallying figure is their pitcher and prime slugger, big Jim Bradshaw. The heavy hitting of Charlie Spencer, Rod Clarida, Roger Pack and Martin Israel make this a tough team to beat. Its big weakness is, however, in not having anyone to back up Bradshaw in the pitching department.

Next week, a look at B Division.

Player of the Week

Starting this week, I will pick The Berlin Observer Player of the Week in Andrews League.

For the first week of action, it is Paul Maggio, catcher-manager of first-place Signal Co., who hit two home runs and drove in 10 in his first three games.

For the past week of play, it is Kevin Schwab, catcher for 42nd Engineers, who hit three home runs and drove in 13 in his first three games.

Player of the week

PAUL MAGGIO

... batting .333, 2 home runs, 12 runs batted in, his team in first place, talent on the bench. Who could ask for more?

Player of the week

KEVIN SCHWAB

... batting .500, three home runs, 13 rbi, his team in first place, two good starting pitchers. Now if he could only field.

NBA Playoffs
Los Angeles vs New York
The third game of the NBA Championship Playoffs between the New York Knicks and the Los Angeles Lakers moves to wild and woolly Madison Square Garden where "Dancing Harry" leads the over 19,000 fanatic Knicks' fans in cheering their beloved Knicks.
The Knicks "nose to nose", rugged defense throttles the usually potent offense of the Lakers, who are forced to play the final 12 minutes without star Jerry West, who leaves with a strained hamstring muscle.

Randy welcomes members of the Berlin-American Automobile Association for a special pre-season look at the 1973 auto racing season which opens May 28 at Friendship Raceway. Approx. 3:50 p.m.

US-USSR Basketball

The second of the six game series between the basketball teams representing the United States and the Soviet Union is played before a capacity crowd in the International Sports Arena in San Diego.

The Americans, playing without "All Everything" Bill Walton, who was felled in the first game by an injured knee, can match baskets, but not muscle with the burly Russians. The game called basketball, but better described as a pinch of basketball, a teaspoon of lacrosse and hockey, a dash of football, and a generous portion of karate, is close and sometimes well played but marred by excessive whistle tooting.

Commenting on the roughness, U. S. Coach Bob Cousy, himself a veteran of many basketball wars, said, "The criteria for calling fouls is blood. If there's blood under the basket, you call a foul."

6:35 p.m. Sports Challenge
New York Yankee players Lefty Gomez, Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich go for their 8th win as "champs."
Determined to unseat the Yankees, are Oakland A's Ken Holtzman, Vida Blue and Jim Catfish Hunter.
Dick Enberg is the host.

YOU BETTER BELIEVE it, this is a statue of one of Berlin Zoo's most famous residents—Bobby. He came to the zoo as a child weighing 30 pounds in 1928. He died in 1936 at 530 pounds.

A trip to the Berlin Zoo

Photos, story by Vincent A. Drosdik, III

THE MAIN ENTRANCE to the Berlin Zoo at Hardenbergplatz shows that the zoo was 125 years old in 1969. Founder of the zoo was Dr. Martin Lichtenstein, a famous explorer of Africa.

NEW TIGER ENCLOSURE—Finished just last year, the tiger enclosure includes three Siberian tigers, one male and two female. With only 200 wild Siberian tigers left in the world, these specimens are very valuable. The enclosure is quite natural and beautiful.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — Above, one European brown bear is taking it easy after lunch while its mate looks a bit drowsy, too. Below, three of the eight polar bears from the Soviet Union discuss world politics and swimming techniques in the huge open-air enclosure which was finished in 1967.

"I REMEMBER BACK IN 1917 when Lawrence saddled me up in Arabia and . . ." on goes the reminiscing by these two dromedary camels. All varieties of camels are featured at the Zoo, including South American Lamas, vicuñas and alpacas.

Surrounded by the city of Berlin, by skyscrapers and busy city streets downtown, is the Berlin Zoo. When you first visit the place, you are mildly surprised that that is where it is, and how big the place is—at least I was.

The 97-acre zoo was founded 129 years ago by Dr. Martin Lichtenstein, a famous explorer of Africa at the time. It soon became the finest zoo in the world.

The zoo suffered extensive damage in two bombing raids in World War II in late 1943 and early 1944, and during the invasion of Berlin by the Russians in the last days of the war. Nearly everything was destroyed and only a few animals survived, including the famous Knautschke, the oldest male hippopotamus at the zoo.

Since the war, however, the zoo has been rebuilt into one of the top three zoos in the world, probably the best in Europe. Natural enclosures have replaced the old fashioned cages, giving the animals natural surroundings with the public protected only by deep concrete moats and short metal fences.

The Berlin Zoo and Aquarium include 2,409 species and a total of 13,373 animals. Many of these species are rare and near extinction, some of which can be seen at the bottom of this page.

We don't have space for photos of all varieties of animals you can see at the zoo, including birds, apes, and other traditional zoo specimens.

Plan now to spend a day at the zoo—you won't be disappointed. In addition to just seeing the animals, you'll also get to watch them during feeding time. The seals and polar bears are especially fun to watch at these times.

The entire grounds are beautifully landscaped, with benches and refreshments stands available. There are also a restaurant and a band shell where concerts are given daily during the summer 3-5:30 p.m.

Admission price is DM 2.50 for adults, DM 1 for children. A ticket for both the zoo and the aquarium (the biggest in the world) is DM 5 for adults and DM 2.50 for children up to 14 years old.

THE MOST FAMOUS sea lion at the zoo is this huge male who dives off the high rock into the water after feeding time is over, causing a great splash on visitors standing too close.

HAMMING IT UP at feeding time are these two huge Patagonian sea lions, the male weighing about 1200 pounds. After the meal, the two lie down for a nap, the bull inside a cave and the female outside in the sun.

Seals steal the show

AN AFTER DINNER dive is performed by one of the sea lions in the natural seal enclosure. His large friend (seen diving in top picture) waits for him below. The little one required a gentle coaxing from the feeder to make the dive.

Berlin Zoo has rarities

THIS PAIR OF Mountain Anoa cattle are a rare species in the Celebes Islands on Mt. Anoa and are less than three feet tall at the shoulder.

A PAIR OF rare pigmy hippopotami (below) from western Africa get along well, despite the fact that they are male and female. Good relations between the sexes in this species is rare itself. Above, an unusual species of elephant, the African forest elephant (rear), with rounded ears, straight tusks and a hairier body, feeds herself with an African bush elephant in front.

Wilson scores four in 11-0, Forces win over Hamacher

by Ray Stahl

Scoring almost at will, the Forces soccer team trounced H. W. Hamacher 11-0 last Saturday at McNair. The score was 6-0 at the end of the first half.

Hamacher, playing with only 10 men and several of their regular players not suited up for the match, could offer little resistance to the U. S. team's scoring attempts as the American club upped their season total of goals scored to 24 in six league contests.

John Wilson scored four goals, Ken Salmon had three, Ray Stahl got two and Howard Wright and John Cogbill tallied one each as the Forces went from famine (0-0 against BVG Zehlendorf) to feast with 11 against Hamacher.

The Forces A team defeated C Company from Montgomery Barracks (British Forces) on Sunday afternoon by a score of 4-2, with newcomer Larry Newton leading the attack. The next match for the A team will be Sunday afternoon at McNair.

Dräger F. C. will be the Forces' league opponent tomorrow in a match starting at 2 p.m. at McNair. The next four games in league competition will play a big part in deciding the American team's changes to gain promotion to the league's second division.

A sweep of those matches would put the Forces in an outstanding position for the second half of the season, while a split of those four contests would, for all practical purposes, surely resign the American club to another season in the third division.

The team is particularly pointing toward a May 28 encounter with Rex-Wunnicke 65, who are presently leading the league at the top of the point table.

Mountain Climbing

by William Perry

The last two articles in the "Mountain Corner" spoke of boots and proper socks for mountain walking and climbing. The un-glamorous but logical and important subject of the care of one's feet is the subject of today's article.

As every infantryman should know, it is impossible to over-emphasize the importance of proper foot care. The feet are unquestionably the most neglected portion of the anatomy, doing the most work and receiving the least attention.

Blisters can immobilize a walker as certainly as a broken leg. They should never be taken lightly, as blisters can lead to serious infection that can only be cured by medical attention and antibiotics.

Blisters, of course, are caused by friction of the foot against the boot. To avoid blisters and to prepare your feet for a backpacking trip, here are some suggestions from experienced walkers and climbers.

First, get your feet into shape by practice walks. If you are not in shape, start with an easy few miles without a pack and build up to a long day's walk with about the same load on your back you intend to carry on the trip. Of course your boots should be broken in. Never start a trip with brand new boots.

Colin Fletcher, in his book The Complete Walker, tells us to rub up the skin by regular applications of rubbing alcohol a week or so before the trip. Fletcher also feels that conditioning the feet with practice walks is far better than the alcohol treatments.

Secondly, keep the feet as clean as possible at all times. Medicated foot powder is a good idea, particularly in the mountains; the foot powder issued by the Army is very good. Talcum powder will also work. This is inexpensive and helps avoid athlete's foot, and also helps keep the foot dry.

Should hot spots or sore areas develop on the foot, they must be protected immediately or they will get worse. Moleskin and molefoam seem to be the best for this and can be obtained from a number of back-packing and mountaineering catalogs. Back in the U. S., most drugstores carry moleskin. Lacking moleskin or molefoam, bandaids or adhesive tape will work, but less efficiently.

MOS change due for G.I.'s

(Heidelberg) — Some 11,000 soldiers may face a change of Military Occupational Specialty (MOS) in the near future.

The Department of the Army has authorized a reclassification of Military Occupational Specialty for the Army men who are not working in their primary MOS, a USAREUR spokesman said. The program is designed to reduce the number of soldiers whose primary MOS are surplus to the command and who are not working in these MOS.

The program will provide retraining toward reclassification into MOS that are understrength Army wide.

There will be two phases to the program: voluntary and involuntary. Every effort will be made by the commanders during the first (voluntary) phase to aid affected troops in choosing a new MOS.

Ideally, the member's new MOS will be related to his past training and skills, and he will be eligible for change of MOS. As far as possible, his own desires will be followed.

If a soldier needs additional training in his new MOS, it will be accomplished in Europe wherever possible. In many cases this will mean a combination of on-the-job and service schooling.

In some instances, soldiers will be sent to Stateside schools under the non-commissioned officers education system.

Phase one is expected to be completed by June 30, 1973. At that time USAREUR will analyze whether or not an involuntary reclassification is necessary.

If phase two is needed, a review of the remaining surplus personnel not performing in primary MOS duties will be made.

The aim of this analysis will be to identify soldiers for involuntary retraining and reclassification. Those identified will be informed of reclassification board action by August 1, 1973.

The spokesman said that many troopers have held their primary MOS for many years and have been reluctant to change voluntarily. In some cases, the career opportunities offered in these overstrength fields are bleak and it is possible that reenlistment could be more difficult.

By not working in his primary MOS, a soldier becomes less able to compete with others who have maintained their skills, the spokesman pointed out.

Baseball league begins tight race

GAMES OF WEDNESDAY, MAY 16

The first game, between Det. A and Co. B, FSB, was rained out and has been rescheduled for July 17 at 6 p.m. Thanks to having tarpaulin on sections of the infield, the second game got underway only 15 minutes late after groundwork by the two teams.

Co. A, FSB edged Hospital 7-6 by a sixth inning four-run rally. Rob Meter won his second game of the season with center fielder Klossner leading the offensive with an inside-the-park home run, driving in three runs. Royce Belzung had two rbi in his quest for league lead in that department. Hospital pitcher Mark Webb had two rbi while his center fielder, Don Peabody, had a solo homer in the fourth, the first hit off Meter.

Besides reducing these problems, the reclassification program supports the USAREUR goal of using all men in duties for which they are trained and in which they show aptitude and interest.

"YOU SAY YOU WANT to go into the men's headgear field? Then Chase Manhat is the firm for you." Small question and answer sessions such as this were typical at the Job Information Fair held at the Harnack House Tuesday and Wednesday for short-timers and soon-to-be retirees. (C&E Pictorial photo)

BAHS soccer team beats B.K. 3-0

by Wally Roberts

The Berlin American High School soccer team traveled to Bad Kreuznach this past week-end. The Cubs won 3-0.

The Cubs were up for the game and the weather was great. The B.K. Wildcats were all hustle at first, but about 10 minutes into the first half Terrera scored.

This raised the Cubs' spirit and kept the defense strong. Steve Kincaid playing an excellent game, had an assist as Terrera scored his second goal.

As the first half ended, the score was 2-0. The second half was tight, and Berlin's defense was never broken.

Randy Daugherty made the second assist of the day as he passed to Wally Roberts for the third score early in the second half. From then on, the Cubs played defense as they wrapped up their season.

Berlin's B team, with only one loss for the year, finished their season with a win. With one minute left, James Duffy scored on an 11 meter penalty kick, and the B team won 1-0.

USDESEA track finals

Johnny Hayes, representing the Berlin track team at the USDESEA track finals in Munich, showed his back to all the other hurdlers, as he won two firsts in the low and high hurdles. Johnny had hoped for more, but could not do it. He placed fifth in the 200 meter run.

Bicycle racing

A bicycle racing team is being started to compete with German teams. Those interested must: 1) have a 10-speed bicycle, 2) desire to train hard, and 3) have a dedication to bicycling. If you are willing to ride 20 miles for training, then call Lt. Gomes at 6932 or 813-3633.

Ladies golf

Lady golfers — don't forget the Spring Tournament May 23-24. This is the annual two-day, 36-hole established handicaps tournament. There will be a luncheon following play on the 24th, the luncheon price included in the entry fee.

If you miss the tournament, come out for Hanny West Day May 31. After 18 holes of golf, there will be champagne and a "Dutch treat" luncheon honoring a departing favorite member — Hanny West.

JUST DUES — John Wayne and company give a gang of thieves a taste of Law and Order in The Train Robbers.

Wayne

Back with 'The Train Robbers,' Duke plugs for 'Law and Order'

by Vincent A. Drosdik, III

John Wayne is back again with another Western adventure, this time in pursuit of stolen loot in THE TRAIN ROBBERS. Getting in his way are a gang of train robbers as the action moves into volatile Mexico. Adding some nice scenery to the movie is Ann-Margret with Rod Taylor providing more firepower. Rated PG, admission charge is increased to $1 but probably is worth it.

By the way, anybody who saw Getaway and thought it was worth $1, please write me, enclosing another dollar you'd like to waste.

Richard Burton is BLUEBEARD, but make sure you haven't any skeletons in your closet before you see it. According to the promos, "He did away with beautiful women," but as a result of a little fooling around with those actresses, Burton was almost done away with by Liz. And Joey Heatherton almost did in (temporarily) Playboy for using a still from the movie unauthorized. And for all this trouble, you pay $.75. But wait! You get to see Requel Welch and Virna Lisa, too.

THE DOBERMAN GANG is not about the crew at the Outpost that will show the film. It's about Byron Mabe, who may be in for an award for training the dogs to rob a bank and do in anyone who tries to stop them. A Walter Lantz cartune is added.

Faye Dunaway teams up with Barbara Parkins and Frank Langella in

THE DEADLY TRAP. She thinks she's cracking up, her husband losing interest in her and her kids giving her strange looks. Well, if you always looked like you just woke up, what else can you expect?

Our cub reporter tells us he saw THE OMEGA MAN "a million times" —and he hated it. A masochist, I think. Anyway, with Charlton Heston and Rosalind Cash, the revival is about a germ warfare war between Russia and China that all but destroys humanity. Heston is one of the last ones left, and he has the antidote.

Berlin group reaches out

The Outreachers, a Berlin group comprised of 40 high school and college students and members of the Berlin Brigade, performed at the American Community Chapel on May 12.

THE OUTREACHERS, a group of young singers and musicians from the Berlin American community, performed Saturday at the American Community Chapel. The 40 performers were organized by Robert Spillman of Berlin's Schiller College.

The group had its beginning in September of 1972. It was formed by Robert Spillman, a music teacher, vocal coach and piano accompanist from Schiller College.

The group has a repertoire of over 50 songs ranging from popular contemporary to traditional spirituals. They delighted the crowd last Saturday with over 30 songs, including selections from the Broadway play Godspell, which were an exemplification of Spillman's ability as a vocal coach.

The group's age range is as wide as its vocal range, with the youngest member at age 12 and the oldest (not counting Spillman) at 22. Unlike many amateur vocal groups, the Outreachers can boast of an excellent back-up group of four guitars, a five-man brass and woodwind section, a bass, piano and drums.

The back-up section provided the right touch and proved that the musicians are as talented as the choral section.

Outreachers have no plans as yet for another performance, but if they do perform again you might find it worth your while to check them out. — MM

USAREUR to hire youths for summer

USAREUR has announced its summer hire program for dependent youth, ages 14-21, during the period of May 23 through September 30.

To be eligible you have to be a dependent of one of the following: members of the U.S. Forces on active duty in Berlin; U.S. Military Forces, including appropriated and non-appropriated fund activities; and members of the State Department.

Also dependents of personnel working for European branches of Boston University or the Universities of Maryland, Southern California and Utah; members of the American Red Cross or a technical representative or consultant on Department of the Army, Navy or Air Forces invitation orders.

The pay rate for unskilled labor positions will be $1.60 per hour, and the pay rate for jobs requiring certain skills will be in accordance with the grade of that position.

Applications are being accepted by the Civilian Personnel Division, HQ Berlin Brigade, Building 4, Room 312.

Those applications received through May 21 will be placed on a referral roster in the order established by a drawing of all applications received during the initial "open" period. Applications received after May 21 will be placed on the referral roster in order of receipt.

Applications may be submitted by the youth's sponsor for those children who are not presently in Berlin. The applications are available at the Civilian Personnel Division, as well as the Berlin American High School. Parental consent must be submitted together with the application.

AFN frequencies on your radio dial: AM 935 KC; FM 87.85 MC. FM Berlin presents its "Golden Sound" around the clock in STEREO.

Rock Festival

Music fans — there will be a 9-hour "Rock Festival" going on on Sunday at the "Freilichtbühne Rehberge". Rock begins at 3 p.m. and lasts until midnight! The fun costs DM8.50 and in case of rainy weather, the festival will take place at the "Mensa" of the Technical University on Hardenbergstrasse.

Dancing in the Moon . . .

The Stern- und Kreisschiffahrt with her fleet of passenger boats is offering a wide variety of "Moonshine Boatrides". The passenger boat "Havelstern" departs at 8:30 p.m. from Schlossbrücke Charlottenburg, Bonhoeferufer for a leisurely "Dancing in the Moon" ride every Saturday until September 22. Price per person is DM 8.50 and advance tickets can be obtained at the Stern- und Kreisschiffahrt building, located at Kleinmachower Weg in Zehlendorf, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. So remember, it's every Saturday at 8:30 p.m. until September.
If the Schlossbrücke is too far for you — the Stern und Kreisschiffahrt offers another moonshine boatride with the "Wappen von Berlin" or "Ernst Reuter" from Wannsee Lake (right across from the S-Bahn station Wannsee). Departure is 8:30 p.m. every Saturday until September 22. Advance tickets can be obtained at the above mentioned place and price per person is DM 8.50. If you'd rather boat-ride on Friday nights, the Stern- und Kreisschiffahrt has another offer for you. The passenger boat "Grosser Kurfürst" will depart from Tegel, Greenwichpromenade, for "Dancing in the Moon" every Friday night at 8:30 p.m. until August 31. The price is the same and advance tickets can be obtained at the above-mentioned location.

berlin doings

From forests to French song

The doings in Berlin cover a pretty wide range this and next week — you can choose between cleaning the forest, modern theater, rock music or a sunny boy from France who sings German pop songs.

The forest cleaning bit is part of the "Action Clean Landscape" which invites everybody to pitch in and help to gather up what litter-bugs have left behind. Believe it or not, but this can be fun and a chance to meet some people who like you (taking for granted that a clean environment is also your concern) are interested in preserving those few green spots left in our dirty, concrete world.

Since hard work makes one hungry and thirsty, free soup and beer will be served at noon to all those eager beavers that came to help. Why not round up some people and pitch in? The meeting place tomorrow morning at 9 a.m. is at the Forsthaus Hubertusbrücke on Kohlhasenbrueckerstrasse. The bus A 18 takes you there. It is recommended to wear "working clothes" and to bring some old gloves and plenty of good humor along.

The modern theater will interest those who have an open mind for experiments and underground theater. At the Academy of Arts the first English underground theater, "The People Show," which was founded in 1966 by Jeff Nuttall, will perform tonight at 11 p.m. The show does not have a certain stage play, but develops out of the place where it is happening. It could be compared with Concept Art. Light and sound effects underline the action of the 4 to 7 members of the group. These kinds of theater events are pretty difficult to describe on paper; it's best to go and see it. I'm not making any promises, but it is sure to be unusual. The tickets cost DM 5.20.

FRENCH SINGER Salvatore Adamo will perform at the Philharmonie Tuesday.

Theater festival
Tomorrow night the action at the Academy of Arts promises to be quite entertaining. At 9 p.m. the doors open to a "Theater Festival." For the coupon, which you purchase at the box office for DM 10, you not only get food and drink, but also the following events: slapstick and underground theater, house music, magic acts, tap-dancing, trained poodles (you read that correctly . . .), film, and Dixieland and jazz music.

All this will take place in the foyer and in the exhibition rooms of the Academy. To the above-listed attractions one might add the people that come to the festival, because they are sure to be a colorful bunch.

Comb your mustache, let down your hair and join the fun.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday there is more theater from London on the program of the Academy. On these nights (also at an hour for night owls — 11 p.m.) "The New Road Show" is scheduled. I can't tell you much about this group, but I'm sure it won't be dull. The investment is only DM 5.20 and a bit of lost sleep, if you usually turn in earlier.

Open air concert here
Rock "made in Germany" was pretty much ignored here until British pop publications wrote detailed and praising articles about German rock music. So now the festivals with German groups are in. One of these is planned at the open-air stage "Rehberge" (in the northern part of Berlin, Wedding District; there is a U-bahn stop Rehberge) this Sunday, May 20, at 3 p.m. The bands that are to play are: Emergency, Karthago, Birth Control, Wallenstein and Epitaph. All tickets cost DM 8.50. In case of bad weather the whole affair will be moved to the Mensa (cafeteria) of the Technical University.

French singer
The Philharmonie will probably be filled with swooning teenies next Tuesday, May 22, when Salvatore Adamo sings for his fans. Adamo, as he is called for short, comes directly from Paris for this only concert in Germany. With a most adorable French accent, he sings light-hearted songs in German accompanied by the "son Orchestre." Check with the ticket agencies if you'd like to get acquainted with Adamo.

Looking ahead, there is a guest appearance of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra to register on May 28 in the Philharmonie. Seiji Ozawa will conduct. Works by Berlioz, Bernstein and Tchaikovsky are on the program. Tickets are on sale now.

Community Observations

Singers need beds

A 100-voice group of young singers from Wiesbaden, FRG, will visit Berlin during the Memorial Day week end, May 26 & 27.

The group of Catholic and Protestant teenagers, who call themselves "The Revelation Generation," will perform concerts throughout the Berlin American community.

Overnight accommodations for this group are being arranged in homes in the American community. There are still a number of overnight homes needed. Families interested in assisting in this effort should call the project coordinator, Master Sergeant Phil Tullar, at 813-6487.

'Company' plays

AG Special Services Entertainment presents Company, the recent Broadway musical about marriage, friendship and company. Performances will run from Wednesday, May 30 through Sunday, June 3, in the Entertainment Center at 8 p.m. each night. For free ticket reservations, phone the Entertainment Office at 6465 or 6565. "A wife is the person who stands by you through all the troubles you would never have had if you hadn't married her."

Kinder Keller

The Kinder Keller Nursery BCM will be closed on Memorial Day, May 28.
