What's inside

BRITISH TATTOO—The British forces in Berlin will stage their biennial Tattoo at Deutschlandhalle Nov. 1-4. The British military really know how to put on a show, and this should be a treat for folks who like military pageantry. For details, see page 4.

BOOM, BOOM—The 155 mm guns of Battery C, 94th Field Artillery, went into action at the Grafenwöhr Training Area recently, scoring quite high on their tests. See the report on page 4.

MAINTENANCE—Keep 'em rollin' is the name of the game for the maintenance crews of the 4th Battalion, 6th

Infantry. The crews kept 100 per cent of their vehicles on the go during the battalion's visit to the Grafenwöhr training area—so reports Doug Bland on page 4.

VOLKSMARCH—The Thomas A. Roberts School held its first annual Volksmarch Tuesday morning. There were 1550 students, their teachers and lots of parents, too. There were some Observer photographers there, too. See their report on page 5.

NEXT WEEK—Do you know what Army Community Service is? If you don't, look for our feature on ACS in next week's BO.

Co. B 1 Hospital 0
Co. B registered its third win of the season with an overtime victory over the Hospital. It was Hospital's third loss of the campaign and just about kills any hopes they have had to make the playoffs.

Co. B had coach John Duback at the quarterback position and for his first time out did a fair job at moving the team. Duback passed for over 100 yards and was only intercepted once. For Hospital it was another bad day for the offensive team and only their defense, which has turned in good efforts all year, kept them in the ballgame.

Co. B had a great opportunity to score in the third quarter when Duback completed a pass play that put Co. B on the goal line, but inexperience at quarterback showed itself and Co. B failed to take it in for a score. Co. B came back a few minutes later and drove to the Hospital 22 but again came up empty and the ball went back to Hospital.

In the fourth quarter with regulation time almost out, Hospital had the ball on the Co. B 7 but QB Walter Schultz had his first down pass intercepted by linebacker Mike Delabarre. He ran it back 33 yards to the Co. B 38 to give his team one last shot at scoring before the game expired. Duback brought his team down to the Hospital 10 yard line in eight plays but the clock ran out and the game went to penetration playoff.

The Co. B defense gained the victory for the team when they sacked Hospital quarterback Walter Schultz for an 8-yard loss on the first play. Hospital had three more downs but never could make up the yardage lost on the first play.

Hospital 1 Service 0
Hospital played their second overtime game in a row and this time came out on top edging Service 1-0. The win kept a slight glimmer of hope alive for Hospital to make the playoffs and the loss to Service, their fifth, eliminates them from making the playoffs.

Basketball clinic

The Berlin Athletic Officials Association will conduct a basketball clinic Oct. 22 at the TCA Air Force Gym at noon. All officials for the 1973-74 season are required to attend. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Both teams had scoring opportunities but failed to gain any points in regulation time. Neither team showed much offensively and the game was far from being exciting.

Hospital won the game in overtime when Service lost 21 yards on a holding penalty on their first penetration play, and although Hospital couldn't gain any yardage after this, the big first down loss for Service was just too much for them to overcome.

MPs 12 Signal 6
In a game played in rain and mud, the MPs handed Signal their second straight loss while registering their fourth win of the season. Quarterback Charlie Spencer passed for 131 yards to give him the league lead in that department. The rugged MP defense sacked Signal quarterback Rick Davis seven times and except for Signal's lone score, kept them from moving the ball through most of the game.

The first half was spent with both teams trying to overcome the bad field conditions but neither side had much success. The MPs did have one drive that got them to the Signal 12, but the Signal defense held and the ball went over on downs.

The MPs kicked off starting the second half and Signal put the ball in play just short of the 40 yard line. The MP front four sacked Rick Davis twice. A third down pass was incomplete and Signal was forced to punt. MPs now had the ball on their own 12, first down. On the first play from Signal's Billy Gordon, Spencer Charlie Spencer went back to pass, Signal putting on a strong rush and with his receivers covered, Spencer started to scramble. While Signal's front four were trying to get Spencer end Martin Israel had gotten away from Signal's Billy Gordon. Spencer spotted the move by Israel and unloaded the bomb to Israel who caught it on the run and went in for the score. The play covered 68 yards.

Signal was still being handled well by the MP defense and the game went into the fourth quarter with the MPs still holding on to the six to zip lead.

After another unsuccessful series by Signal, the MPs took the ball over on downs at their own 29, time being mid-way through the fourth quarter. On first down, after being penalized for holding, Spencer swept around and behind some good blocking and with his fantastic speed was able to go all the way for another score. It looked as if that would be the ball game, MPs sitting on a big 12-0 lead.

But Signal rose up and scored on their first play after receiving the MP kickoff. Rick Davis hit running back Ted Shaw with a screen pass at the 35 and with some key blocking by the Signal offensive line, was able to go in for the score. Signal was back in the game and needed to hold the MPs and get the ball back for another chance to score. However when the MPs took the ball over after the kickoff, they controlled it for eight plays, picking up first down but, more importantly, they consumed a lot of valuable time. When Signal finally got the ball to had time for only three or four plays and just couldn't get anywhere in the face of the MP defense.

Alpha trounces Bravo 20-0 in 3/6 League

by Ralph Callaway

Monday night the long-awaited game between Awesome Alpha and the Bravo Boas of the Defender League was played in the cold, in the corner, and almost in the dark on Defender field.

In what was expected to be a hard-fought game (both teams had been scouting each other for the past few games), things fell surprisingly flat for the Boas as Alpha Company, under the direction of their center and coach, Robert Davidson, trounced Bravo 20-0. The first TD of the game was made by Ray Claude on a pass and this one also got them their first extra points, caught on another short pass to Herbert (Furry Bear) Francis.

Speedy Frank Kinzer took the second one across, finishing up a play started by a pass interception by Mike Rhines, who was the lucky receiver of both of the Boa quarterback's only attempts at long passes that got off the line.

Glen Kookan, the Boa QB, just couldn't get his offense going throughout the game. Continually blocked in his running plays, his passing attempts were even less efficient. It didn't help any that Graham Murchison, the usual star runner for the Boas, found himself with his own personal guard from the Alpha Company ranks, their concession to Graham's running expertise on the field.

Throughout the game, the Boas, strive as they would, could only make one first down, and that on a 12-inch play that barely brought the ball over the line. In the rest of the play, Alpha defensive strategy was just too much for them, especially a play that was brought out just for the Boas, the seven-man rush. Question: if you were a quarterback, how well would you do against seven rushing bruisers?

William O'Brien made the last TD of the game, again catching a pass after the ball had been moved to within trying distance of the goal by Ray Claude. After that final TD, the game slowed down, the Boas defense, captained by Gregory Shin, firmed up and slowed down the Alpha offense. But it wasn't enough to put the spirit back in the out of practice offense for an attempt at a comeback.

Alpha company has one more game to play to finish their season. In the unlikely event that they lose it, they will give the Boas a chance to officially recoup their first place standing in the league. Otherwise, it's Alpha in front for the Defender League, waiting on the brigade playoffs coming up.

U.S. Forces shut out F.C. Turbon 5-0

by Ray Stahl

The U. S. Forces soccer team moved their record to 11-7-3 last Saturday with a 5-0 victory over F. C. Turbon. There are three league games remaining on the Forces schedule with the next coming on Monday at 5 p.m. against Blau-Weiß.

Many new faces made their initial league appearances last week and the result was certainly favorable. The American scores were registered by Larry Newton with two, Howard Wright with two, and Larry Reynolds with one. Bob Taylor notched his first shutout in goal for the U. S. club.

The line-up for last Saturday's game was: Taylor-Kreuscher, Laane (subs. 46 min. Borsky), Stahl, Chapman-Kelly, Reynolds, Schoeller (subs. 46 min. Cardwell) — Newton, Wright, Lebo.

An important meeting will be held Sunday, Oct. 28, at the BBde Sports Center at 7 p.m. All present members of the program and anyone else interested in playing soccer are encouraged to attend.

the cleat mark

The race for first place got a little tighter with the MPs knocking off Signal on Tuesday. Charlie Spencer proved that one man can beat another team if given the opportunity. Signal failed to contain Spencer and, because they didn't, toppled out of first place. The MPs had been boasting that they could handle Signal, but Signal just laughed it off. I wonder how funny it is to be in second place.

The Engineers and Service have no chance at the playoffs as they both have lost five games. This isn't exactly the season shocker, but both teams have been improving with every game. It just takes some teams longer to get it together than others. At their present rate of progress, they should be tough to beat by the spring of '76. Hospital is also close to elimination and needs only to lose two games. They shouldn't have to wait too long.

IN CO. B'S last game, coach John Duback made his first attempt at quarterback and did a pretty good job for a first effort. Inexperience and possibly a case of the "choke" kept John from taking his team in for scores when they were in close. When asked why he went to a pass play when his team had the ball on the goal and first down, Duback stated that he thought he was at the 20 yard line and not at the goal. I suggest that the team take up a collection and buy Duback a map of the field.

Head official Kelly Powell hasn't called any games this week, which proves that dreams sometimes come true. Kelly is probably getting ready for Halloween which is the only day in the year he can justify dressing up as an official.

The game between MPs and H&S that ended in a tie on some added importance with the MP victory over Signal. When and if it is finally played off must just decide who comes in first place in league play.

HHC's "Big John" Spiezia returns to the "war" after being on leave in the states. HHC was upset by the Engineers while he was away and "Big John" will be looking to take it out on Service Company. If he scores as well as he did in the states, HHC should put up a big point total.

PROBABLY THE BIGGEST grudge game of the year will be played on Friday when Co. A and Co. B meet at Andrews field. Co. A has been having a lot of problems on offense and Co. B is still adjusting to change in quarterbacks. The defenses are rated about even. It should be a low scoring affair and the game may just be decided by the team that gets into the most amount of penalty situations.

The MPs have finally gotten what they wanted all season and that's the league lead in penalties. Their defense really deserves the "credit" and they attribute their success to their steady diet of raw meat and most brutal in the league and if they can intimidate the team with their rough play, what's 80 yards in penalties?

GETTING READY — Members of the AFRC staff are busy getting ready for the coming winter season. Final checks are being made on all rental equipment such as this inspection of a pair of skis, boots and bindings by (left to right) Mr. Josef Wallner, Gordon Sharp and Ralph Brigham. Complete ski equipment is available for rent at AFRC's Garmisch and Berchtesgaden Recreation Areas. (U. S. Army Photo by PFC Bob Weegar).

AFRCs prepare for ski season in Bavaria

The snow line is still high on the mountains but the Armed Forces Recreation Center's Berchtesgaden and Garmisch Recreation Areas are humming with activity as fall facilities prepare for the start of Bavaria's most popular time of year — the ski season.

Some of the signs of preparation are obvious to AFRC guests as they see the equipment for tennis, golf and swimming disappear and the skis, boots, sweaters, gloves and other winter items appear at the Garmisch and Berchtesgaden Sports Sales Shops. Both sales shops have a complete line of winter equipment for the beginner as well as the expert, child or adult.

Much of the winter preparation goes on behind the scenes and isn't seen by the fall visitors to the AFRC. At the Hausberg in Garmisch and Skytop in Berchtesgaden all of the rental equipment for the upcoming ski season has been checked and needed repairs are being made. Along with the individual equipment the lifts and slopes have also been checked by the experts.

Fees for rental of equipment this year are $3 for boots, skis and poles for adults, with pants and parkas $1 additional; and for the younger skiers under 12, skis, boots and poles are $2.

Ski Weeks

Garmisch has leading facility

Eucom's largest, leading ski instruction facility, the Garmisch Recreation Area's Ski School, will conduct its "Learn To Ski Weeks" November 1973 — April 1974. Ski classes will be held on one of the many locations with the Garmisch area, such as the Zugspitze, Kreuzwankel, Eckbauer, Hausberg, Kaitenbrunn and Grainau.

The school is under the tutorage of some of Europe's finest certified instructors and is designed to:

- Start the beginner off on the right ski;
- Keep the intermediate on the correct path to become an expert; and
- Improve the expert's technique with the latest international method.

The school is open to all military personnel, dependents and civilians holding PX privileges. Dependents must be 12 years of age or older, and those under 18 must be accompanied by an adult.

The entry fee will be $70 per individual plus billeting fees and all food except the beer-bust and banquet. This amount covers the following: special instruction in modern ski techniques; transportation to and from the ski slopes (from Ski Week Hotel); ski lift fees; ski equipment (except socks and mittens); slalom and ski test; pins and awards; a Bavarian beer bust (soft drinks for juniors; food included/Bavarian snack); and graduation and presentation of awards banquet (food included).

Registration, to include payment of the entry fee, will be at the Patton Hotel 6-8 p.m. on the Sunday before the Ski Week starts. The welcome and briefing will be at 8 p.m.

Billeting and entry arrangements must be made by the individual concerned on a first come, first served basis by writing or calling GRA at the address and phone listed in the story above.

Berchtesgaden has good price

The Berchtesgaden Recreation Area, home of the original Pension Ski School, takes pleasure in announcing its 1973/1974 Ski School Program. If you have never attended at AFRC Ski Week, your European tour is not complete.

This year, all lunch and supper meals, ski lessons, lift privileges, equipment (except socks and mittens), one banquet and many other extras will be included in this program.

The ski instructors are certified by the German Sports Academy and teach the student the latest official Ski Method of the Instruction Association. Upon graduation, students are classified in one of the four different classes of skiers. This will enable you to select ski slopes throughout the world which are standardized according to the degree of skill required to ski safely.

The ski week is open to all military personnel, civilians holding PX privileges, and their dependents.

Dependents must be 12 years of age or older, and those under 18 must be accompanied by an adult. Member nations may attend as guests on a space available basis. The basic price of the ski school is $65 plus accommodations and breakfast.

Included are all meals except breakfast, instruction, ski lift fees, complete ski equipment, slalom and ski tests, individual ski certificate, awards and ski movies. The following are the arrival dates of the ski schools (Sundays) with departure dates the following Saturday: December 2, 9, 16; January 6, 13, 20, 27; February 3, 10, 17, 24; March 3, 10, 17, 24. The school of March 24-30 will be held snow conditions permitting.

Billeting and entry arrangements should be made well in advance by writing or calling: Berchtesgaden Recreation Area, ATTN: USA Ski School, APO 09108. Telephone: Berchtesgaden Military 823 or 623; Berchtesgaden Civilian: 3270. Make reservations for arrival on Sunday in order to be out on the ski slopes early Monday morning.

Big guns go boom at MTA

Battery C, 94th Field Artillery, returned Sept. 23 from almost four weeks of training at the Grafenwöhr Major Training Area. The climax of the exercise was the Battery Army Training Test, in which C/94's guns hit 94 per cent of their targets.

The officer in charge of the 3rd Armored Division Artillery Test Team praised the unit for its motivation, pride and expertise.

Maintenance

It's a snap for 4/6

by Doug Bland

People with nothing to do are as rare as three-day passes during battalion field training at Grafenwöhr, but that was the situation in the 4th Battalion, 6th Infantry maintenance section.

Sergeant First Class Robert Huckaby, maintenance supervisor, looked over his quiet domain. His mechanics were gone to the barber shop, or to the PX or to wherever mechanics go when nothing needs to be fixed.

The maintenance officer, Chief Warrant Officer 2 William D. Haughton, also surveyed the scene, then turned his attention back to a cup of coffee.

However, neither the chief nor his non-commissioned officer attributed their enviable status to anything so fickle as luck. The fact that their 146 vehicles were in a 100 per cent "up" status and no major repairs had been required since leaving Berlin was the result of painstaking attention to detail and a lot of plain hard work.

Of course the chief could remember more hectic times, like when vehicle availability plummeted to a mere 99 per cent. But, a new piston for a fuel tanker had resolved that unhappy state of affairs.

"We started getting ready for the trip in early September," Huckaby said. "We went over each vehicle in a complete pre-inspection, changed all the oil including transmission and differential grease and checked every seal."

The thorough preparation paid off twice. Maintenance received an overall "commendable" rating in the USA-REUR AGI (Annual General Inspection) and accomplished the move from Berlin to Grafenwöhr with no major malfunctions.

Tattoo will show British pageantry

Preparations for the 1973 British Berlin Tattoo are in the final stages, and from the looks of it, this year's bash is going to be one of the best Tattoos ever.

Held every other year, the Berlin Tattoo has grown to become one of the three largest in the world, second to the Royal Tournament in London, and slightly larger than the Edinburgh Tattoo. This year, 891 performers will entertain Berliners and Allies alike with band music ranging from opera to rock, and from Beethoven to the skirl of the Scottish and Irish pipes.

But music is not the only attraction of the festivities. The performers involved in the Tattoo will portray the Royal Army's historical past and present. The British Commandos will stage a battle scene which will include a helicopter hovering over the center of the arena. This will be the first time in 35 years that a helicopter will be flown inside Deutschlandhalle.

There will be seven performance during the first four days of November, so there will be plenty of opportunities to see British pageantry at its finest. The schedule is as follows: Nov. 1 at 3 p.m., Nov. 2 and 3 at 3 and 8 p.m., and Nov. 4 at 2:30 and 6:30 p.m.

Tickets are on sale at the PX Ticket Agency for all shows. Prices range from DM 3-12 for all shows except the first two, which will be half price. —JRB

Howitzer on target

The test is a 22-hour problem in artillery skills. From their position, the battery fired several missions, including an impact and time registration, a time transfer, a meteorological and velocity error mission, and a high angle mission. While firing from their first position, the battery was ordered to conduct a reconnaissance of another area and occupy it.

Enroute, the forward observer detected "enemy movement" to the front and called for a fire mission. Only seconds after taking a new position, the 95-pound, 155 mm projectiles were on their way to the target nine miles away.

One of C/94's big Howitzers launches a 95-pound, 155 mm projectile toward an "enemy position" eight miles away. The battery's big guns scored an impressive 94 per cent during the 22-hour Battery Army Training Test.

After the fire mission, the battery moved on to the prepared position and fired several low-angle time-effect missions over distances of eight miles.

Fifth graders and their teachers pass through the brigade housing area on their way to the Grunewald. The hikers lost no time on the Volksmarsch — the 5th and 6th grade classes hiked the five or six miles in only a little over two hours. The hike through Berlin's only forest gave the youngsters plenty of exercise and a chance to observe some of the city's wildlife. Some of the hikers were tired, but everyone had a good time.

Over 2,000 students, teachers, parents hike paths of Berlin's Grunewald

Imagine almost 1600 grade school students, 60 teachers and about 400 parents marching through Berlin's Grunewald. That's what happened Tuesday morning when the Thomas A. Roberts School staged its first annual Volksmarsch.

The marchers began leaving the school about 8:40 a.m. First to leave were the fifth and sixth graders, who marched five or six miles. Grades 3 and 4 left next for a hike of from three to four miles. The 1st and 2nd grades and one section of Kindergarten walked about a mile and a half. The second section of Kindergarten hiked during the afternoon.

Brigadier General Robert D. Stevenson, commander of the Berlin Brigade and the community leader, marched with the morning Kindergarten classes.

When the hikers began returning about 10 o'clock, the children were a bit tired and thirsty enough to put away 75 gallons of grape Kool Aid. Said Principal Boice I. Winchester, "I think they all had a good time—the kids and the parents alike!"

MANDRAX

Heavily abused sleeping pill has dangerous effects

by Lucas Hutton

On the afternoon of Sept. 13, some soldiers at McNair Barracks went to their company orderly room to report that a buddy of theirs was sick. The men said their friend had been using Mandrax.

The company commander had scheduled a commander's call for later that afternoon. In view of the incident with the Mandrax victim, the commander decided to include in the session a discussion on the dangers of using the drug.

AFTER THE COMMANDER had delivered his talk, two soldiers, their speech somewhat slurred, asked questions about what he had said. Before the commander could finish answering their questions, they were asleep in their seats.

The commander dismissed the company and ordered the two men to report to the orderly room. As the company left the classroom, however, the two soldiers who had fallen asleep and two other men were unable to walk unaided. All four men were suffering from the effects of Mandrax and were taken to the hospital.

On Sept. 22, a young private first class collapsed unconscious about 10 p.m. in a barracks on the McNair compound. An Army ambulance took the soldier to the U. S. Army Hospital, where he was admitted and treated for an overdose of approximately six tablets of Mandrax.

Last month, a man in a unit at Andrews Barracks swallowed four to five Mandrax tablets along with three or four bottles of beer. Later that same night, he shot up some morphine. When his buddies found him the next morning, he was pale, convulsing and gagging. At the hospital, he was near death.

Dr. (Major) Douglas J. Anderson, chief of the Department of Psychiatry at USAHB, says that in terms of admissions in September, Mandrax was "the most abused drug" in the U. S. Berlin command.

MANDRAX TABLETS have been popular among U. S. soldiers in West Germany for some time, according to Captain Richard Lopez, assistant Berlin drug control officer. Only since late August has use of the drug become widespread among U. S. forces in Berlin.

Lopez says that Mandrax is illegal for all personnel subject to the Uniform Code of Military Justice in USA-REUR, unless authorized by medical authorities.

Mandrax is the German trade name for a sleeping tablet. The medical name for the drug is methaqualone. Commercially, it is known as Quaalude, Sopor, Optimil and Parest, among other names.

Lopez says the effects of the drug closely resemble those of alcohol. The user staggers around as though in a drunken stupor. Mandrax raises the pain threshold, so that the individual may injure himself without feeling pain.

Anderson says that the drug's "singular quality is that it depresses consciousness, reason and judgment." After taking two or three tablets, the individual loses track of his actions and keeps taking tablets until he overdoses.

ACCORDING TO Dr. (Major) Herbert M. Archer, Department of Medicine, USAHB, an overdose of Mandrax can result in coma, convulsions—even death. Mandrax is addictive, both physically and psychologically, regardless of anyone's claims to the contrary.

Alcohol and Mandrax taken together are a dangerous combination, as each substance tends to multiply the effects of the other. Archer says Mandrax can cause permanent brain and kidney damage.

Heroin ODs can be treated with antidotes, but according to Archer, no such antidote exists for Mandrax. The only treatment for serious Mandrax ODs is to flush the drug from the blood stream intravenously. A respirator must be used when breathing stops.

Says Archer, "I just hope that guys will realize how bad (Mandrax) is before somebody dies from it!"

Sorry, friends--we goofed twice!

Sorry, folks, but we goofed.

In last week's issue we had a front-page story on the TEC 1 system. We told you that as of November 15, you would be able to use the system 'til 9 p.m. That should have read, as of October 15.

In our Oct. 5 issue, we carried a full-page report on the first annual Hi-Lite Service Club dog show. In listing the winners in the various categories, we gave a prize to the wrong dog.

In the field pedigree category, second prize went to a wire-haired dachshund named "Anja vom Breitenfeld," owned by Renate Bade of Berlin. We had erroneously reported in the article that the runnerup was a Siberian husky named "Katyusha," owned by Linda Howard.

'Pat Garrett & Billy the Kid'

"AND BE CAREFUL not to hit your light man." Kris Kristofferson shows his new back-up group, Glazed Oatmeal, how to handle those overzealous fans at the big rock concerts in Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid.

Outlaws, murderers, politicians, spies

by Ray Stahl

PAT GARRETT & BILLY THE KID — increased admission, $1 and rated R. Forget James Coburn, director Sam Peckinpah, and that 35-year-old Kristofferson is playing 20-year-old William Bonney. This film's for all you heads out there who groove on Kris, his chick Rita Coolidge, and inside-guy, folk-rock immortal, Bob Dylan. Peace and Power to the mumbler. Also the Saints vs Cowboys.

A REFLECTION OF FEAR — rated PG. A murder-mystery that apparently did not make it big. The film stars Robert Shaw and Sally Kellerman, both of whom are big stars by today's standards.

WALKING TALL — rated R. "Alright boys, put on a clean pair of cheenos, roll those cigarettes up under your shirt sleeve, and puff up those biceps, we're goin' down to the movin' pitcher show to see Walking Tall. Ole' Joe Don Baker's the star and he's goin' get bloodied up some but he'll git 'em afore it's over. Hey, somebody open me up 'nother Dr. Pepper."

ON HER MAJESTY'S SECRET SERVICE — rated PG. The Bond film we wish really hadn't happened. George Lazenby plays James Bond with all the fluff of an over-fed goat, and he has never been seen in a film since. Telly Savalas, as villain Blofeld, gives the comedy performance of his career in this dramatic role. The talented Diana Rigg is completely wasted as the young lady who marries the elusive Bond.

THE MAN — rated PG. Go to this to see James Earl Jones and it will be worth your time. He gives the film a chance, the rest of the cast is too busy competing with one another in the over-acting category.

Ekseption plays the classics

The concert in the Philharmonie next Thursday, Oct. 25, will include works by Beethoven, Schubert and Bach, but these composers would hardly recognize their music were they to come and listen. Five young fellows from Holland, who've gained fame under the name "Ekseption," are the performing "orchestra" that evening.

Ekseption got this classical touch 1968 when the founder of the group, Rein van der Broek, asked Rick van der Linden if he would like to join in. Rick studied music at the conservatory and started as a classical pianist. It took eight years of hard work and many, many appearances before this band got their present firm place among popular groups on the European mainland. Even though the popped up classics are still part of their repertoire, they now also play their own compositions.

As always in such concerts, there is a group to fill the first part of the evening. In this case NOVA Sweden takes this difficult stand. Needless to say, there is no need to get out your dark suit for this concert in the Philharmonie.

Historic music

A concert with a historic significance is scheduled in the Academy of Arts in the Hansa District next Wednesday at 8 p.m. Music of the Revolution of the Citizens of 1848/49 will be sung and played. The revolution in question was an uprising of the people against the king in 1848, at a time when Germany as such didn't exist. The German people were split up in many principalities.

The revolution didn't achieve anything, but it did leave its traces in the music of those days, as the works by Chopin, Liszt, Lortzing and Schumann will show at this concert. John Tilbury and Juergen H. Traber will play the piano, vocal soloists are William Pearson and Rudolf Stodola, the Berliner Cappella Choir will perform, and Ilse Scheer and Otto Zonschitz are the orators. The admission prices are DM 5 for adults and DM 2.50 for students.

Baroque trumpet

Looks like this is turning out to be a "concert column," but I just came across a notice for a concert in the Philharmonie this Monday which I want to pass on to all fans of the baroque trumpet, Maurice and Raymond Andre on trumpet join Hedwig Bilgram on the organ on the program. A couple of years ago I stumbled across this unusual combination per chance in the concert guide and decided to have a listen since Telemann, Vivaldi and J. S. Bach are on my list of favorites. I expected a partly filled Philharmonie. To my absolute surprise, the place was jammed with a young audience and after the first strains of the clear trumpets and the deep organ, I knew why. That music just went under your skin and the applause was deafening! The Andre brothers always draw big crowds, so I'm not certain whether tickets are still available. But if you like baroque music, check with the PX ticket agency. I'm willing to eat this week's Observer if you didn't enjoy this concert....

More classical recitals

In the mood for a piano recital tonight? Milena Mollova from Sofia, who has won many international prizes in her field, is going to play in the concert hall on Bundesallee 1-12 (the huge building across from the ID furniture store) beginning at 8 p.m. She has chosen selections by Bach, Liszt, Beethoven, Chopin and Albeniz for her Berlin appearance.

Also on tonight, at 8 p.m. but in the Hochschule fuer Musik on Hardenbergstrasse, is "the angle of the Polish chanson" Ewa Demarczyk from Warsaw. Tickets for both events can be purchased at the door of the respective concert halls.

October 22

The day to honor our veterans is also 'a day of world peace'

The day to remember those who fought in the war to end all wars and all wars since is 54 years old this year.

On a drizzly day in 1918 Marshall Ferdinand Foch, the supreme commander of Allied Forces in World War I, and Matthias Erzberger, Germany's secretary of state, entered a railway car in the Compiègne Forest in France. At 5 a.m. they signed an armistice ending the four-year conflict which was then known as the war to end all wars.

The next year President Woodrow Wilson set aside Nov. 11 to commemorate the signing of the armistice. The signing was remembered with punctual fervor. All was stilled at a precise moment: eleven minutes after the eleventh hour on the eleventh day of the eleventh month.

Celebration of this day continued through the years with decreasing fervor as the people of the world forgot the joy which they felt when news of the armistice reached them, and when the wars brought new memories and scars.

The last armistice day was celebrated in 1966. The next year President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed an act of Congress which changed the name and meaning of Armistice day to Veterans Day "To honor veterans on the 11th day of November each year . . . a day dedicated to world peace." With this change it became a more meaningful day to more Americans as it now commemorates the courage and patriotism of all service men and women.

Nov. 11 also is celebrated in France and Great Britain as Armistice Day, and is set aside in Canada as Remembrance Day in memory of the men and women who have died in World Wars I and II and the Korean War.

In 1968 a federal law was enacted moving the holidays, Veterans Day included, to specific Mondays, starting in 1971. Veterans Day now observed the fourth Monday of October, the year the 22nd of the month.

He's your best friend, not mine

Man's best friend is his dog, right? Well, he may be your friend, but he's not always mine.

A pet, be it a German shepherd, a hamster or a goldfish, is a wonderful thing to have. However, a pet is not all fun and games—it requires a great deal of responsibility on the owner's part. A pet owner, like a parent is to his children, is and should be responsible for the actions of his pet.

I can think of few things worse than coming upon a grassy area and sitting or stepping in dog excrement. Take a good look around the area sometime. There is refuse from animals everywhere—on the sidewalks, in the grass, in parking lots and on ball fields. For crying out loud, people—can't you keep your animals under control? You housebreak your animals. Why? Because you don't want that mess on your livingroom floor. But it's OK to leave it on the sidewalk for the rest of us to enjoy, huh?

I don't know exactly what steps can be taken against owners whose animals leave those wonderful little reminders for us to watch our step. I do know that one of these days the owner of one of those four-legged dump trucks is going to find a large pile of canine X X !? . . . dumped on his doorstep, courtesy of some irate pedestrian who picked up a little reminder along the way.

If you're going to keep a pet, how about having a little consideration for us humans too! —MM

Could YOUR best friend be guilty?

Give generously to Combined Campaign

Men and women, civilian and military, serving overseas learn from experience that hunger, disease and privation of essentials are the lot of millions of people all over the world. Because of this, they know why for the eighth year there is a Department of Defense Combined Federal Campaign benefiting 24 health and welfare agencies that work constantly to relieve that suffering.

These agencies, working at home and abroad, help more than 75 million people to remove or ease their problems. In the group are the 10 International Service Agencies, 13 National Health Agencies and the American Red Cross.

Your contribution to OCFC means that you are supporting direct and supplementary aid to members of the armed forces, veterans and their families, direct assistance to patients and research to ease major health problems, and mass care for the afflicted and starving everywhere.

The OCFC has now been underway for more than four weeks. If you have not yet made your pledge or contribution, there is still time. The Secretary of Defense as well as the commander of your installation urges you to act now. If a payroll deduction is more convenient than a cash contribution, you may pledge now, and your gift will be deducted from your check over a 12-month period.
