Somebody cares

ACS gives aid to economy couples

by Michael McCollum

What do you think of when you hear the letters ACS? You should think of Army Community Service, as it could make your stay here in Berlin a lot easier if you're a non-command sponsored (economy) couple.

The sole (soul?) purpose of ACS is to serve the military community. And believe me, if you give them a chance to help, they'll do all they can to make things a little easier for you.

Normally, in any military situation, to initiate any action you have to take the first step. The ACS goes one step further and goes out into the community to welcome newly-arrived economy couples to Berlin.

Somebody cares

They explain how to get around Berlin and where to go to get things done. They answer all specific questions the newly-arrived wife might have about Berlin and generally leave the "newbie" with a good feeling and the knowledge that somebody knows she's in Berlin and cares.

ACS also has an office committee that helps in those first days when you need to get ID cards, etc. The office committee also operates the lending closet. The lending closet can be a great help when you first move into that new apartment.

You can pick up linen, dishes, transformers, irons, ironing boards—just about anything you need to set up house-keeping. The only stipulation is that you must return the articles after 60 days so that other couples, who might also need the articles, may use them.

Big kitchen available

Many economy couples live in less than desirable apartments simply because there are no other places available. ACS can help out here, too. The new ACS building, located at 52 Auf Dem Grat behind the Berlin Brigade compound, has a large kitchen available to anyone who'd like to use it. Some of you may laugh, but when you've lived in a place that has only a hot plate for cooking, you can really appreciate a baked casserole or a roast.

In addition, ACS has a sewing room and a large meeting room with a TV and a homey atmosphere. They also plan to have a laundry room operational in the near future for people who don't have or can't afford to use the available facilities.

ACS also has an emergency committee to meet the emergency needs of the community. The ACS officer can be contacted 24 hours a day through the Emergency Operations Center. Volunteers are on call to provide emergency assistance such as babysitting, transportation, etc.

Why don't you drop by ACS or give them a call at military 6585 or 6500 to see what ACS can do for you? You might learn something.

They have comforts of home you may not have

Hm-m-m . . . decisions, decisions. Staff Sergeant Donald W. Taylor, NCOIC at ACS, has a hard time picking something out of the refrigerator at ACS's kitchen. The kitchen has all the modern conveniences you'd ever need. The kitchen is used primarily by economy couples who don't have adequate cooking facilities at home. ACS is really going out of its way to help out. The only trouble is not enough people make use of the facilities. (Photo by Michael McCollum)

HATFUL OF RAIN — The Tempelhof American Theatre will present its newest production, Hatful of Rain, Nov. 1-4. TAT's publicity man, Rick Kramer, gives us an inside look at the play and the cast on page 3.

FOUR STAR VISIT — General Michael S. Davison, commander in chief of the United States Army Europe & 7th Army, visited the Divided City last Friday. Among his many stops around Berlin was the 3rd Battalion, 6th Infantry, where he cut the ribbon to open the battalion's newly-remodeled mess hall. Ralph Callaway, our 3/6 correspondent, reports on page 4.

LOCAL TELEVISION—Dave Shepherd, a well-known face to AFN-Television viewers in Berlin, gives a summary of the station's new programming to begin next week. See Shepherd's article on page 4.

Bravo Bears, C/94 fight for 1st at 2/6

by Terry Dobrin

Strangely enough, the Guardian League has taken on some of the similarities of the Middle East conflict — both sides are right, everyone knows who is winning and nobody believes in the decisions of the mediators — in this case, the referees.

While Egypt didn't get 15 yards for unsportsmanlike conduct, penalties have inflicted much damage to all the teams concerned. The various assortments of no-no's committed by the teams in the Guardian League make for interesting comparisons with a rule book.

In their first and only game with Bravo Bears, Charlie Company displayed a determined offense and an equally stubborn defense. Bravo's only score came on an intercepted pass thrown by C Co. quarterback Larry Johnson. With the extra point, Bravo ended the game with 7 points as opposed to Charlie's 6. The C Co. defensive squad headed by such outstanding members as Tim Swihart and Harry Miller were responsible for holding the Bears to a single touchdown score.

Headquarters Co., mustering barely enough players to fill a squad, rolled over Alpha Co. 13-7 in their first game of the season. Headquarters' quarterback Jim Stapleton lead his team to the victory utilizing the able hands of Steve Thurman and Roger Jackson.

The next game against the Bravo Bears turned out to be a hotly contested and highly emotional game. Quarterback Stapleton was injured early in the game and his replacement Ed Haydash elected to stay on the ground and lead the team to a narrow 7-6 decision. The Bears, guided by their highly capable quarterback Bill Fleming and a solid defensive squad, held Headquarters Co. to the single touchdown and frustrated any and all attempts to double that score.

When the chastened Bears met the Hellcats of Combat Support Co. a fur-flying encounter developed with the Bears mauling the Hellcats of newly arrived Vince Silvestri 6-2.

The Hellcats went on to meet the men of C/94 and against Silvestri was unable to muster a token offense against a determined team of artillerymen. The game ended in a 6-0 victory for the Battery and the next encounter was with a victorious Headquarters Co.

As usual, HHC could barely account for more than a squad and the end result was a massive barrage of superior ball handling as Angle Huerta, quarterback for C/94, unlimbered his guns and blasted Headquarters Co. off Defenders field 13-0.

The condition of the field was poor but the hard pressed Headquarters Co. defensive squad of Steve Thurman, Ron Lemmons, and Anton Goodell acquitted themselves admirably preventing an embarrassing situation from developing into a rout.

The major factor in all the games was the ridiculous amount of penalties accrued by the teams. Much can be said about the decisions as there was little time to offer protest to the game due to the speedy departure of the officials.

Despite the questionable rulings, the Guardian League was indeed an interesting display of some very outstanding talent. It was unfortunate that the teams fielded by Alpha and Charlie Co.'s were forced to forfeit due to conflicts in training. Some good people from both teams missed an opportunity to compete and one can only hope that future league games will be scheduled in accordance with training schedules to enable maximum participation for all.

BAHS golf team to finals

by Kenneth Anthony

The Berlin American High School golf team was the host this year for the Northern Regionals held here Oct. 4-5.

In the Regionals the Berlin team placed as follows: Nancy Jung, first; Janet Virgilio, third; Randy Smith, second; Bob Wilson, third; and Keith Smith, eighth. This entitled all of the BAHS golf team to go to the European finals.

The European finals were held Oct. 10-11 in Luxemburg. In the finals Janet Virgilio finished first. After the first day she was down by two strokes with a 56, but at the end of the second day she had shot a 54 and had won by six strokes.

The final standings for the Berlin team were: Janet Virgilio, first; Sylvia Duffy, ninth; Bob Wilson, sixth; and Randy Smith, ninth. All of the BAHS golf team are congratulated for doing so well in both the Regionals and the finals.

H & S to pay gift tax?

In a recent game, H&S defeated Hospital 14-12. The score should have read: Officials 12, H&S 2 and Hospital 12. Hospital outplayed H&S for most of the afternoon but could not overcome the "gifts" H&S received from the refs. H&S received so many presents from them that they should have to pay gift tax this year.

Friday's game between Co. A and Co. B was canceled because the officials failed to show up for the game. I can't begin to describe what a thrill it is to stand in the rain for two hours waiting for the refs to show up. I interviewed players from both teams to get their reactions to the no-show but I will not print them here as I would like to continue with this column.

Veteran tackle, Al Hopp, returns to Co. B after being away on leave. It isn't likely that Al will get a starting assignment. Al isn't as fast as he used to be and the oxygen tanks on his back have slowed him down quite a bit. Also, Co. B may lose the services of top linebacker Jim (Carl Charisma) Kuntz who is supposed to get married in the near future.

In a surprise upset, Service Co. forfeited to 42nd Engineers on Tuesday. Service was a heavy favorite to show up for the game but it just goes to show you that on any given day Service will get lost.

Hospital arranged for their game against Signal to be canceled to a later date and would also like to cancel some of their losses. Hospital's canceling of games at this point in the season is just a case of stalling elimination which is just around the corner for them. Hospital has been using Bill White at QB and although he has an adequate arm, he scrambles with all the grace of a wounded rhino. Even surgery won't help Hospital's sagging offensive team.

Signal was beaten for the third straight game and it's about time the team sat down and realized that defense alone will not win games. Signal's offensive line has let so many people get to their quarterbacks that the QBs are having a hard time figuring out who to hand off to. Signal also needs to vary its game plan a little. The other defensive teams have got Signal down pretty good and it's probably because Signal has run the same play 600 times in a row.

Co. A had a new look on offense with defensive lineman Dan Winkler now at the running back position. All I can say is that Coach Papa Green isn't a very good judge of speed. Co. A also has Glenn Roell at the cornerback position. Glenn lost his quarterbacking job to Brady Bedford and after his last performance at cornerback may just be unemployed before too long.

In the game between Signal and Co. A, Signal quarterback Rick Davis was hurt and had to leave the game. Just to show how bad Signal's luck has been, Davis will be able to play the next game. For awhile it looked like a big break for Signal, but I guess the Hospital, who plays Signal next, figures their best shot at winning is with Davis at QB for Signal, so they did a great job of patching him up.

Game summaries

Thursday, Oct. 18
H&S 14 Hospital 12
H&S remained in first place with a come from behind victory over Hospital. The game was highly disputed and key scoring was marred by arguments.

Hospital surprised H&S by taking the opening kickoff 43 yards to the H&S two yard line. On the next play, Hospital scored on an end sweep. In the second quarter, H&S pressure forced Hospital to fumble in the end zone for a two point safety.

Hospital added six more in the third quarter on a 43-yard pass play but H&S came right back with six of their own when flanker Vic Miller was tackled at midfield after receiving a pass. The refs awarded H&S a touchdown on the basis that Miller would have scored had he not been tackled.

H&S closed out the scoring and the Hospital when, with less than two minutes remaining, QB Jim Little completed a 10-yard pass play into the end zone to give H&S the win.

Wednesday, Oct. 23
Co. A 8 Signal 0
Co. A moved into a tie for first place with an 8-0 shutout over sagging Signal Company. It was Signal's third straight loss and gives them a 4-3 record.

The first half ended with Signal QB Rick Davis out of action for the day after being injured on a punt return.

The only scoring of the game came in the fourth quarter. Co. A QB Brady Bedford play-faked into the line and threw long to a wide open Don Medley who took it to the Signal two. Two plays later, the Co. A express, O.B. Jones, swept around end for the score. Jones also got Co. A a two point conversion by again sweeping around left end for the score.

TAT presents its first straight drama for USAFE Play Contest

by R. E. Kramer

For those who have attended the past three productions of the Tempelhof American Theatre, TAT has a surprise in the works. On Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 1-4 at 8 p.m. in the D-2 Conference Room of the Skyriders Recreation Center at TCA, TAT will present Michael V. Gazzo's A Hatful of Rain, its entry in the 1973 USAFE Play Contest to be held late this month and early November.

The surprise is that this will be TAT's first straight drama: all previous TAT productions have been comedies, but the group is branching out. TAT members feel that their audience has established itself sufficiently, and they have elected to enter the contest with this tale of life in New York's East Side.

The story of the play involves a returned Korean War veteran, Johnny Pope, Jr., who has become addicted to morphine as a result of a wound. Only his brother, Polo, knows of his addiction, and once helped Johnny kick the habit for several months. Johnny, however, returned to the drug, and Polo has spent their joint savings, $2500, to buy him dope.

The two brothers live together in a walk-up apartment with Johnny's pregnant wife, Celia, who does not know the cause of her husband's strange behavior, but suspects another woman. Because of the proximity in which the three have been living, Celia has fallen in love with Polo, or so she thinks, and he has fallen in love with her. Both are ashamed of their feelings, and unsuccessfully try to hide them.

Kelly Powell replies

To the sports editor:

As long as Paul Maggio continues to use The Berlin Observer as a means to voice his juvenile and unprofessional opinions on how a football game should be officiated, there is not much hope of that coveted award, "Best Newspaper — USAREUR and 7th Army," being given to The Berlin Observer this year.

Comments such as those made in "The Cleat Mark" cannot be categorized as informative or constructive criticism, and in no way help promote the sports program.

I wish to inform the honorable Mr. Maggio that I shall be officiating games as usual during the next weeks, but have taken care to keep Halloween open for the special purpose of haunting him.

Peace,

White Helmets motorcycle team, helicopter, at Tattoo

One of the star attractions of the British Berlin Tattoo will be the "White Helmets," a motorcycle team from the Royal Corps of Signals — a group of young soldiers whose stock in trade is precision motor cycling. The team has travelled the world thrilling audiences with their dare-devil riding. They have just finished a tour of Europe and their appearance at the British Berlin Tattoo is the highlight of their year.

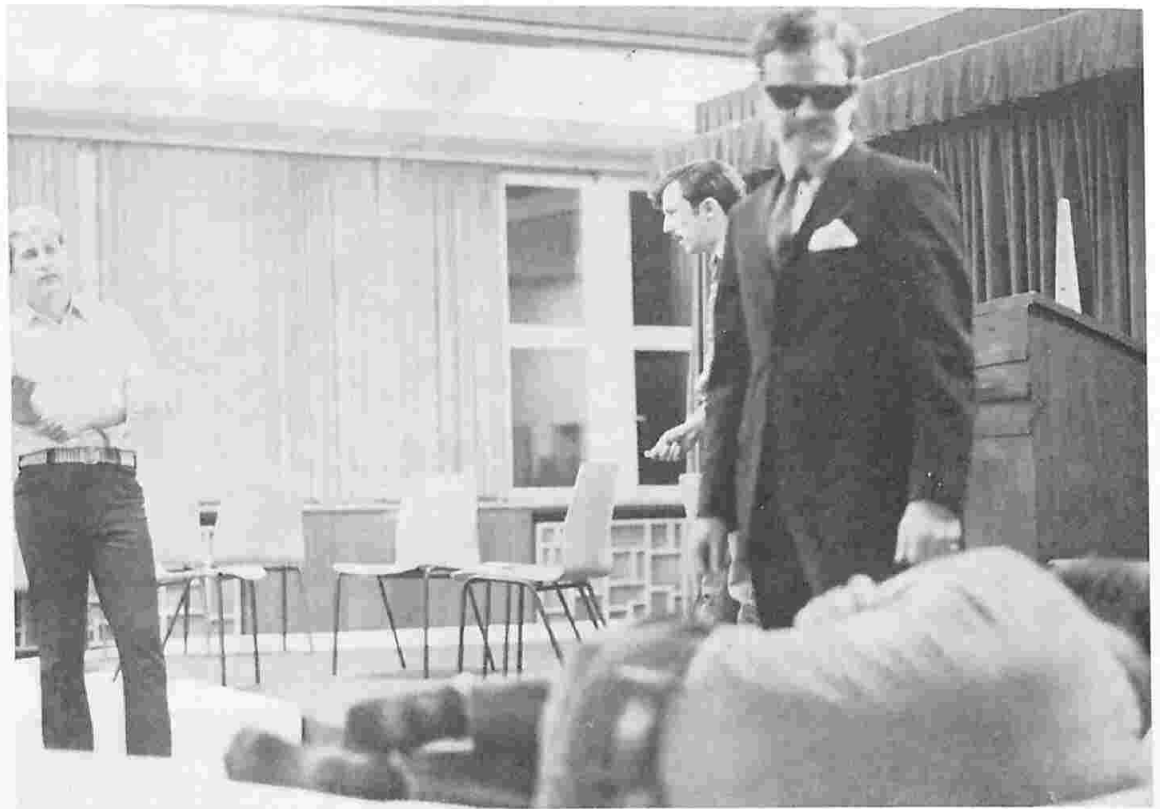

The White Helmets provide a breathtaking display of fast precision riding alternating with some fine balancing tricks and spectacular features such as their famous Car Jump. The team was formed in 1928 from despatch riders of Royal Signals and now performs at well over 100 different showdounds every summer season within Great Britain and undertakes overseas tours every two years. They are popular participants at the Royal Tournament in London and have previously performed in Berlin in 1961 and 1967.

There are 32 team members, each of whom join the team for a maximum of three years. The selection course for new personnel is very competitive and takes place every winter on the Yorkshire Moore which is certainly tough but ideal for cross country motorcycling. Even those who had only limited riding experience before the course are soon trained to the high level of skill acquired by Despatch Riders of the past. The motorcycles used by the Team are 500cc Triumph Adventurers. These machines were introduced to the British and American markets early in 1973 and the White Helmets are able to perform many more advanced rides as they make the most of the 30 bhp that the engine develops within the tight 80 metre arena.

The culmination of the display is the Union Jack ride where 16 riders map out the pattern of the national flag at closing speeds of well over 80 kmph, before forming up for the salute.

Mother, Apples & junkie

will be presented in Berlin Nov. 1, 2, 3 and 4 at the Skyriders Recreation Center, TCA. (Photo by Dick Harrison)

To complicate matters, the boy's father, John, Sr., has come to New York for a visit from Palm Springs. He had expected Polo to lend him the savings so that he could complete work on a fancy bar he has bought, but discovers that the money is gone. Not knowing of Johnny's habit, he suspects that Polo is holding out on him.

The story, though dealing with the drug problem, is more concerned with the way these people live their lives than with the moral issue of the drugs. The real crux of the plot is the interrelationship among the principal members of the family formed by the four Popes. The interaction is complicated, however, by the appearance of Mother, the pusher, and his friends, who are pressing Johnny and Polo for $800 which is owed them for dope bought on credit after the savings was gone.

The cast

The production is under the direction of Bruce Limpus who has directed for TAT in the past. Limpus will also appear in the production as John Pope, Sr., the uncomprehending father. As an actor, Limpus is only slightly better known than as a director in Berlin.

Dave Hickey, to be seen in the part of Johnny, Jr., did little acting before coming to Berlin. Since the formation of TAT, Hickey has appeared as the magnificent Shah of Persia in Tang and Basil Utterwood in Half-Way.

The role of Celia is performed by a newcomer to TAT. Lynne Kentfield has performed on Berlin amateur stages in the past, and has worked with many TAT members, but she has just recently joined the group. This will be her first TAT part.

Another relative newcomer to TAT's stage is Ed Jones, playing Polo. His first role in Berlin was that of the title character in Albee's The American Dream at TAT last July.

The three pushers are all long-time TAT members, although not all have been seen by an audience before. The chief baddy, Mother, will be played by Rick Kramer, who has had some varied past experience in the theater. Here he has appeared most recently as Lomov in Anton Chekhov's A Marriage Proposal, one of TAT's one-acts last summer.

Mike Disabato, who plays Apples, Mother's lackey, has never appeared on stage before as an actor. Since he joined TAT, he has designed and executed the lighting and sound systems for Half-Way and the one-acts, and will design TAT's lighting for Hatful. Disabato previously was a member of the Pacific Stone group here.

The part of Chuch, Johnny's friend and Mother's strong-arm, will be played by Lou Bash. Bash had no theatrical experience prior to his arrival in Berlin, but since his debut as the Heckler in Sweet Bird, has missed only those shows for which he was out of town. Most recently, Bash and his wife Linda will have been seen in the BEC production of the musical The Boy Friend, in which he sings the role of Bobby.

Another of Mother's erstwhile companions is Putski, a slightly bubble-headed "broad" with a skimpy wardrobe. This role will be played by TAT's secretary, Maureen Hickey, another group member who had no previous acting experience before coming to TAT. Most recently, she appeared as Mommy in The American Dream.

Hank Fontenot, the Man, one of Mother's "assistants," appeared in the "Night of One acts" as Chubukov in The Marriage Proposal.

TAT's jack-of-many-trades, Dave Rogers, will design and execute the set for Hatful. Rogers has exercised this newfound talent for TAT during its productions of Half-Way and the three one-acts. He will also serve as the assistant director of Hatful.

Though TAT has justifiable hopes of winning acclaim in the contest this month, its primary interest is in presenting a good show for its Berlin audience. The November play-dates are TAT's goal and if they are adjudged an excellent group with a winning show at the same time, well, that's fine. At this moment, TAT itself has all the confidence in the world in its cast, its director and its show. It should be a tough combination to beat.

President of PMOC talks here Sunday

The Protestant Men of the Chapel are sponsoring an informal breakfast, a Laymen's service and a Harvest Supper this Sunday at the various chapels within the American Community.

The informal breakfast will start the day's festivities at 7:30 a.m. in the troop area by McNair Chapel. The breakfast will give me members of the various chapels in Berlin an opportunity to get acquainted and exchange views with the USAREUR President of the PMOC, Brigadier General Charles C. Rogers.

At 10:30 a.m., the Laymen of the Chapel will conduct a service at the American Community Chapel, under the direction of Lowell Thomas. BG Rogers will speak to the congregation of the Laymen's contributions to the church in his message which is "Involved-Committed-Together."

The Harvest Supper will also be held at the American Community Chapel beginning at 6 p.m. Everyone is invited to participate in all of the festivities, so get with it and get "Involved-Committed-Together."

TV makes big change

by Dave Shepherd
AFN-Television

"A penny for your thoughts."

If that phrase applied to each viewer's query to the program directors of AFTV/AFN-TV Berlin over the past six years, the wealth would be abundant indeed. If a nickel could be added for each letter and message that has left Berlin requesting assistance in relieving the program restriction problem, that "abundant wealth" would approach "untold riches"!

Six years of requests resulted in some assurances last year that money had been appropriated to assist with additional programming. This year came the word that supplemental programming was being assembled. Three weeks ago, the film arrived—or should I say, the first shipment arrived.

Beginning Oct. 29, the local TV schedule will make its second big change of the fall season. Some changes are the result of additional, unrestricted programming. Some changes are a response to viewer comments. Rather than try to list all the changes, here are the highlights:

- AFN-TV will begin programming at 4:30 p.m. The first hour will be directed at the junior set.
- The Evening Report will move back to its former starting time of 6:30, with hour-long family programs preceding the news.
- Sanford and Son and the Berlin Sports Round-Up have already been shifted to earlier times on Monday evenings due to viewer response. AFN-TV will continue its policy of programming family shows prior to 8 p.m.
- In the 9:10 p.m. spot (except Monday), drama will be the fare. Bracken's World, Naked City, The Rogues and The Outcasts will appear Tuesday through Friday nights, respectively.
- The Nitely News moves back to its 10 p.m. time, again in direct response to viewer preferences. Variety shows will follow the news Monday through Friday.

The Friday evening movie is cancelled. In its place will appear The Ghost and Mrs. Muir, Silent Force and Here Come the Brides, thus making Friday evening a prime viewing time.

Weekends remain basically unchanged, although the station will begin Sunday programming one hour earlier. The TV schedule in The Berlin Observer (see page 6) will list all the changes.

EES inspects cars free

MUNICH—EES customers in Germany can have their car's brakes, lighting, tires and windshield wipers inspected free Oct. 24-Nov. 30 at EES garages which are participating in the 17th International Motor Vehicle Lighting Equipment Week, Oct. 24-30.

EES extends the inspection period beyond the one-week period to allow time for all drivers to bring their cars in on a voluntary basis. Also, all cars brought to EES garages for normal services and repair are inspected.

Any labor or parts necessary for correcting deficiencies found in the inspection will be charged to the customer at the normal rate. All vehicles passing inspection will have a sticker affixed on the windshield.

In addition to checking the lighting in the program, EES garage personnel note the condition of tires, windshield wipers and these segments of the brake system: fluid level, master cylinder, pedal play and cushion, pedal pad, hoses and tubes, parking brake adjustment and cables and an overall inspection for external leaks.

BAHS homecoming ends

by Kirk J. Hine

The Berlin-American High School is currently celebrating their annual Homecoming Week with the grand finale planned for this weekend.

Homecoming Week (also known as Spirit Week) was celebrated throughout the school with students participating in dress-up days, hall decorating, making posters and filling up "Spirit jars." A pep rally followed by a powder-puff football game between the junior-senior team and the freshman-sophomore teams are included in today's festivities. This evening the students will hold a bonfire.

Tomorrow's activities will begin at 1:30 p.m. with a football game against the Baumholder Bucs. During the half-time intermission, the 1973 Homecoming Queen and her court will be announced and presented.

As the day wears on and the week draws to an end, the seniors will sponsor a semi-formal dance at the Harnack House beginning at 7:30 p.m. under the theme of "Indian Summer." Featured at the dance will be the rock group "Midnight Oil," a buffet-style dinner and the Homecoming Queen's coronation.

Davison visits Berlin, helps open 3/6 mess hall

by Ralph Callaway

Last Friday, the Brigade played host to General Michael S. Davison, Commander in Chief, USAREUR.

The first place visited by the CINCUSAREUR was the Race Relations Seminars at the Wannsee Recreation Center, where he was met by Captain Joseph W. Gentry, special assistant to the commanding general on equal opportunity. While at the recreation center, Davison sat in on two of the seminars in progress, and then received a lengthy briefing on the goals of the Berlin program.

Second stop on the CINCUSAREUR's visit was the McNair offices of Brigadier General Robert D. Stevenson, and then on to the Community Drug & Alcohol Assistance Center (CDAAC). Met by Captain John Horn for his initial briefing and introduction to the staff at CDAAC the general then went into one of the counseling booths with Specialist 4 Ray Rykaceski for a briefing on initial counseling procedure with personnel who are referred to CDAAC, and an impromptu discussion on some of the reasons behind drug involvement.

The last stop on the tour was the opening of the 3rd Battalion, 6th Infantry's new dining facility, a 200 man capacity troop restaurant with facilities for serving up to 500 men in one hour. After opening the facility, the general stayed for lunch with 14 first sergeants from the brigade.

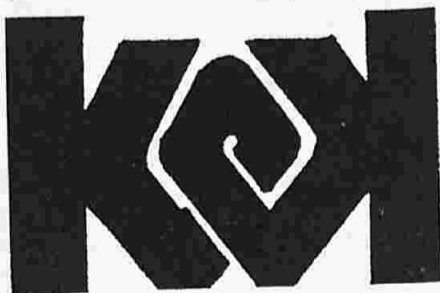

Halloween

KONTAKT's party to be American-style affair

by Ned Morse

Autumn days are now as crisp as autumn nights used to be. Leaves are now more on the ground than on the trees. It's pleasant to divert our steps from clean sidewalks to the leave cluttered gutter just to hear our own passing. Pumpkins can be seen in outdoor market stalls, and we know Peanuts will soon remind us that the watch for the Great Pumpkin is near.

Through these signs of autumn we think of goblins and skeletons, apple cider and too much candy and Halloween parties. But here in Berlin they don't have such things—only Fasching, which isn't until February. So, guess this year we do without a Halloween party, right? Wrong!

Bldg. 2, Rm. 1114

Tomorrow night KONTAKT will sponsor a Halloween party that, while perhaps not 100 percent authentic, will still be in the style of a good-old-American-type Halloween party. The evening starts at 8 o'clock, and will include liberal doses of dancing, entertainment, talking and mixing, all spiced with bobbing for apples, pumpkin carving and ghosts and goblins peering down from the walls. Cost for the evening of fun and enjoyment is only 1 DM.

To get to the party is easy. From McNair, hop on the 53 bus by the back gate and ride until it comes to the first S-Bahn overpass. At this same bus stop arrive the 11 and 17 busses, both easily accessible from Andrews. From this bus stop, cross Königsbergerstr. to find Jungfernstieg running parallel to the S-Bahn tracks. A five minute walk along Jungfernstieg will bring you to number 19, the Folke Bernadotte Heim.

Besides the Halloween party, KONTAKT has many other things going on. Every Tuesday evening there is our bowling group which has managed to work things out so they pay the cheapest rates in Berlin for their bowling enjoyment. It's a shame that not more Americans cash in on this bargain. To find out more, come to the Tempelhof lanes at 7 p.m. Tuesday evening.

Students to solicit for UNICEF

by Bill Knarr

Trick or treat! Ghosts, goblins, black cats and witches are around the corner. For American children, Halloween is a time for fun and tasty things to eat. It is also the time American children remember needy and hungry children throughout the world by collecting for UNICEF, the United Nation's International Children's Emergency Fund.

Students from Berlin American High School begin today to collect contributions for UNICEF. The students aren't "trick or treating." But until Oct. 31, they will solicit money at the Shopping Center and at the Outpost, Andrews and Coliseum Theaters during operating hours.

UNICEF is part of the United Nations, but it has a semi-autonomous status with its own governing body and secretariat. A 30-nation executive board governs UNICEF. The day-to-day operation is the responsibility of the executive director and a staff of over 900 people representing 75 nationalities. One quarter of the staff is located in the United Nations Headquarters in New York, while three quarters are in 35 field offices around the world.

The assisted government is required to place a high priority on each UNICEF-aided project and bears the major responsibility to provide local services and facilities necessary to carry out the project. In recent years, assisted governments have spent an average of $2.50 for every dollar allocated by UNICEF.

What does your money buy? Five cents can protect a child against blindness. Ten cents will buy 80 vitamin capsules. Twenty-five cents can buy seeds for 4,000 tomato plants. Fifty cents will protect seven children from malaria for a year. One dollar will protect 80 children against tuberculosis.

At Halloween time this year give a treat to UNICEF.

Photos & story

SERGEANT ADAM HILL of Charlie Company, 3/6 sits patiently and keeps an alert eye and ear open during his company's latest field training exercise in Berlin's beautiful Grunewald under cloudy, rainy skies.

KEEP ON TRUCKIN' — A young soldier of C-3/6 trucks on out to defend himself against the non-existent aggressor with his 90mm recoilless rifle during his company's recent FTX.

The FTX

Chasing the ever-elusive aggressor is a cold, wet but necessary job

Last Tuesday, Oct. 16, Charlie Company of the 3rd Battalion, 6th Infantry, took part in one of the many requirements that are often given to an infantry line company. In this case, the requirement was an FTX (Field Training exercise). And also keeping in the tradition of the infantryman, it was the typical blahhhh.

Cold, rainy, damp—as some people say, it was good infantry weather. Also true to tradition, the men of Charlie company performed their job in the usual (for them) excellent manner.

STOP!! Before I write the usual dull, boring and uninteresting story about the trials of the company, their overcoming of the difficulties in the best of tradition, let's tell it like it was.

Makes you want to quit

That day was one of the worst I've ever seen. It starts out dry, but with a cold wind blowing—enough to make you want to quit before you start. The Charlie Company men are working hard to load up their vehicles with everything they have, since they don't know for sure just how long the thing will last.

Once in the woods, the men have to prepare initial defensive positions, to defend what they have already supposedly gained. Out with the camouflage nets! Up with the truck hoods! On with the face grease (two colors of green to break up facial outlines) and into the wet grass to defend against the non-existent aggressor, victor of a thousand battles every month.

(Someone ought to check on this aggressor dude—he's been fighting the U. S. Army for the past 15 years or so, and we still fight him all the time.)

After tiring himself out building fortifications that he knows he'll be leaving soon (although he still builds it as well as he can), our Charlie Company infantryman is subjected to a gas attack. Then he moves out, through the woods against the aggressor stronghold, five miles away.

Before he's there though, our infantryman will have walked 10 miles to keep from being seen. And it's all a struggle, only this time against nature—and against the Forest Service, who planted rows of trees across the line of march. Swish! Hack! Snap! And don't think about keeping dry—that is quite impossible.

Only meager shelter

Onward through the woods he presses, until finally a clearing is reached, one that promises some respite from the dripping leaves. The shelter is meager, though, for it has now begun to rain with a will.

In a clearing, the lead platoon finds indications that the aggressor might finally be caught. (Actually, he's trying to ambush our heroes.) The company spreads out under cover for an assault on the hedgerow in the field.

The word comes: Attack! Onward they press, still wet, with all that means in terms of personal comfort. But "Attack!" it was said, so attack they will.

The aggressor blows it, caught unaware and on the wrong side of the hedge. He retreats in his truck to fight another day, if the infantry can catch up with him. Charlie Company troops regroup and catch trucks to another part of the city, where the aggressor is said to have another strong point.

Is it worth it?

By now it's dark and starting to rain hard, making it difficult to try to find cover under the trees. As the men wait for their ride, some men wonder if it's worth it to be infantrymen—cold, wet, hungry and out in the woods while the others are back in the barracks taking it easy.

For these men, and for many others who are doing the same thing this year, that question will hopefully never be answered. Because it's only a game right now, part of training. The reason for it all comes only in the real thing. Or maybe the reason is that doing it now in play will keep it from being the real thing some day.

Community Observations

Old toys wanted for orphans

The All American Service Club is sponsoring a collection of old toys for Christmas gifts for children of various Berlin orphanages. Anyone wishing to contribute old toys may do so by bringing them to the All American Service Club between 9 a.m. and 10 p.m. Those not able to bring the toys to the collection point may contact program director Patricia Parrot at 3147 or Christina Roth at 6024 and arrangements will be made for the toys to be picked up on Saturday, Oct. 27 at your home. Broken toys will be accepted if they are repairable.

Red Cross first aid courses

The Berlin Brigade American Red Cross will conduct a first aid course starting Oct. 30. The Standard First Aid Course will be held 9 a.m.-noon, Oct. 30-Nov. 1 and 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Nov. 2. An Advanced First Aid Course will be conducted 9 a.m.-1 p.m. daily Nov. 5-8. All course sessions will be held in the hospital lounge. Interested persons should call Mrs. Blume at 813-8619.

Thanksgiving tour to Copenhagen

Spend your Thanksgiving holiday in beautiful Copenhagen. AG Special Services Tours Office is sponsoring a tour to Copenhagen leaving Berlin the evening of Nov. 21 and returning to Berlin the morning of Nov. 26. The price of $73 includes all transportation, three hotel overnights with breakfast and a tour of the city. Deadline for reservations is Nov. 9. Reservations can be made at the Tours Office, Room 3077, Building 2, Headquarters Compound. For further information, call 6523.

AWC interest groups, luncheon

Interest groups

The American Women's Club of Berlin announces three new interest groups: What To Listen for in Music is a six-week course of 12 lessons for $12 in music appreciation taught by Redina Miller. For more information call her at 813-8906.

Knitting and Crochet begins next Tuesday for six weeks at $6, to be taught by Sherri Warner. To sign up, call her at 813-6611.

The Instant Art class, taught by Joseph Le Gerrette on Mondays at the Harnack House is open to new members. Call Lynn Chambers at 813-6855 for information.

November luncheon

The November luncheon of the AWCB will be held at the Harnack House Tuesday, Nov. 6 at 11:45 a.m. The program will feature a film on the Berlin Airlift with Colonel Gail S. Halvorsen the guest speaker. In addition, the program will include a special film of the original Battle for Berlin, filmed during the battle three years before the airlift. Herr Al Weker who made the film, as well as Halvorsen, will be available to answer questions after the films.

All women of the Berlin American Community are invited to attend and are eligible to join the club. Reservations may be made by calling Ella Everrett at 813-8914 before noon Friday, Nov. 2.

NCO/EM Wives bazaar, luncheon

The NCO/EM Wives Club of Berlin will have a bazaar Nov. 3 10 a.m.-6 p.m. at the PX Shopping Center lobby. A wide selection of useful Christmas items and baked goods will be on sale.

The regular monthly meeting and luncheon will be held Nov. 7 at the Club 50 at 12:30 p.m. Call 813-6213 for luncheon reservations before noon, Nov. 5. All enlisted men's wives are eligible to join the club.

Girl Scout Hut open House Sunday

The Girl Scouts will have an open house at the Scout Hut Sunday 2-4 p.m. The hut is located at 52 Auf dem Grat. All are invited; refreshments will be served.

AYA Halloween Costume Party

The annual AYA Halloween Costume Party will be held Saturday, Oct. 27, at the Outpost Theater. Dr. Phibes Rises Again, rated P. G. (on basis of its horror content), will be shown free of charge to all American dependents between the ages of four and 19 who are in costume.

Show times are at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m., with tickets being given out at the door one half hour before each performance. A free drawing will be held before each showing with a Halloween door prize to be given out. Children under the age of seven must be accompanied by an adult. Admission for parents is 50 cents.

Numismatic Club meets Nov. 1

The next regular meeting of the Berlin American Numismatic Club will be held Wednesday, Nov. 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the Harnack House. The meeting is open to all persons in the American, British and French communities interested in coin collecting. A coin auction and coin trading session will follow the short business meeting.

Tempelhof Semi-Annual Orientation

The Tempelhof Semi-Annual Orientation will be held Nov. 13 9:50 a.m.-2:30 p.m. in the D-2 Conference Room, TCA. All wives are invited and the Kinderkeller is free if you make your own reservations. The orientation, sponsored by the Personal Affairs Office, will explain the functions of the following: Personal Affairs, Mortuary, Transportation, Legal Office, Hospital, Commissary, EES and Family Services.

Lunch will be served free. Make reservations by Nov. 6 by calling 819-5191 before 1 p.m. or 819-8957. A bus will depart the Shopping Center at 9 a.m. via the Kinderkeller and return by the same route after the course is completed.

'Fists of Fury'

BRUCE LEE AND the circle of death! Actually, Bruce Lee is surrounded by a group of movie goers who were tricked into seeing The Chinese Connection when it was here a couple of weeks ago. Fists of Fury, well, maybe, but acres of bad acting. (National Screen Services Corp. photo)

Bruce Lee attacks audiences again

by Ray Stahl

The incredible Bruce Lee! Sends you lurching for the air sick bag again this week in FISTS OF FURY! Yes, Bruce is back, he's back to win your heart and your solar plexus all over again in fists of fury! The usual action and completely out of place sex scene return again! Added attraction: Bruce will also take on the Atlanta Falcons and Detroit Lions in Tiger Stadium in the short subject where, it is rumored, he will kick Falcons coach Norm Van Brocklin all the way back to nearby Pontiac, Michigan!

LOST HORIZON — This is a musical version of the 1940 film classic. The music is by Bacharach and David. It is a good family offering and don't let the fact that none of the leading characters can hold a note keep you from attending. Starring George Kennedy, Sally Kellerman, Liv Ullmann, Peter Finch, Charles Boyer, Michael York, Sir Ralph Richardson and the Abominable Snowman.

PETE, PEARL, AND THE POLE — An Italian look at the roaring 30s with Tony Anthony (Pete), Lucretia Love (Pearl) and Adolfo Celi (the Pole). You already know the standard gangster plot, but go see the film. Anyone with enough gall to call herself Lucretia Love must have something.

DUCK YOU SUCKER — An Italian Western with Rod Steiger and James Coburn, both of whom didn't pay title to the title of this picture. Director Sergio Leone still cringes when he thinks about it and Steiger hasn't recovered from it either. Coburn must have had the good sense not to see it. Plenty of disjointed action for you "shoot 'em up" fans.

GONE WITH THE WIND — The all-time classic with Clark Gable. If you are one of the few who have not yet seen this film, now is your chance. The movie is quite long, but truly memorable. An enduring favorite.

Coin as slogan for clean city

Say, how good is your German? Do you think you could get a catching slogan together that shouldn't be longer than 10 words? The Berliner Stadtreinigungs-Betriebe (the street cleaning association) is looking for the "Berliner of the Year" in their campaign to make the public aware of the importance of a clean city and general environmental control.

The winner of this contest who came up with the best slogan not only gets a color TV but will be the guest of honor at a most original party put on by the association. Why not give it a try and maybe the "Berliner of the Year" will be an American. Send your entry, which must be postdated Nov. 5 at the very latest, to this address: Berliner Stadtreinigungs-Betriebe, 1 Berlin 42, Ringbahnstraße 96, "Berliner des Jahres." Good Luck!

American Indian Theater Ensemble

There is a very interesting theater group currently in the Reichskabarett that I would like to call to your attention. New York's famous "La Mama" Ellen Stewart has brought the "American Indian Theater Ensemble" to Berlin for a four-week stand. The ensemble of 12 genuine American Indians had its world premiere here with a theater evening that not only shows the culture of these people but also mirrors their problems. Check with the PX ticket agency for ticket reservations.

Two lovely ladies sing

Two lovely ladies are scheduled to appear in the Philharmonie, and though both of them sing, they have quite a different audience appeal.

Tonight the young Greek pop singer Vicky Leandros will sing for her fans. Vicky can proudly look back on six golden discs which she achieved in Luxemburg, Canada, Greece, Holland and France. In England she "only" got a silver record.

On Oct. 30, Anneliese Rothenberger is sure to charm her audience at her song recital. The songstress of classical and operetta music not only delights with her vocal qualities but also is a pleasure to look at. Miss Rothenberger will be accompanied on the piano and clarinet.

British Tattoo

A colorful spectacle of military tradition is coming on at the Deutschlandhalle Nov. 2, 3 & 4. The British "Tattoo" is bringing a list of attractions that won't be found so soon again in Berlin. Over 450 musicians will march and play for you, dare-devil artistry on motorcycles will be imported from the British Isles as well as one of the major tourist attractions from London the change of the guard. A feat which has taken place only once before in the Deutschlandhalle will be repeated — a helicopter will fly around inside.

These are just some of the things awaiting you at the 8 p.m. shows. Ticket prices range from DM 3 to 15. If you are thrifty-minded come to the final rehearsals on November 1 and 2 at 3 p.m. — you pay only half of the usual prices.

Classical guitar quartet

And then I would like to pass on an inside tip to those who can enthuse themselves for classical guitar music. On Sunday, Nov. 4, "Los Romeros" will play in the Philharmonie. They are billed as "the best classical guitar quartet in the world," and even though I haven't heard all guitar quartets in the world yet, I am willing to agree with this title. The four gentlemen and their guitars make some very fine music!

The Osmonds

Wow! After reading through the press material I received about these fellows I'm quite impressed. Madison Square Garden was sold out a month ahead of their show, they had three records in England's Top 5 at one time, the single they put out in Holland zoomed to the No. 1 spot two weeks after its release in Holland, and they've already headlined at a Royal Command Performance in London for Queen Elizabeth. These are just a few of their extraordinary goings. "They" are none other than America's wonder boys "The Osmonds." I don't think I have to write more, other than that they are appearing at the Deutschlandhalle on Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. If you get your tickets ahead of time you pay DM 12; the night of the performance you have to shell out DM 15.

Weekdays

To communicate, don't abbreviate!

Dear reader: For one minute, imagine that you were a civilian who had never entered the Army. Now don't start daydreaming yet. Imagine first what your reaction would be if you were to read the following, paragraph . . .

SP4 Jones, a CSC dvr, had to rept to the TMP ASAP to get the APC for the ATT in the MTA in southern FRG. He will rtn NLT 1900 HRS. You should fol the SOP atch to the DF from the NCOIC which is FYIO for more info.

Now, admittedly, abbreviations serve a useful function in the military. Instead of always referring to an armored personnel carrier, we can call the vehicle an APC. Instead of going to the transportation motor pool as soon as possible, we go to the TMP ASAP. When a message must be conveyed in a hurry, abbreviations save both time and space.

However, the usefulness of the abbreviation is lost if the person receiving the message does not know what the code means. It is not safe to assume that everyone who reads The Berlin Observer will know the meaning of the many military abbreviations that often appear in articles submitted to us for publication. Sometimes the editors don't know what they mean, either!

The Berlin American community comprises both military and civilian personnel, and we have both military and civilian readers. That's why it is The Observer's policy to avoid most abbreviations. So, we ask our contributors to please spell out words and phrases in their articles.

SOME THINGS LOOK GREAT in abbreviated form. But when the reader doesn't get your message, the abbreviation hasn't served its purpose. (Art by Buster Overstreet)

Essay contest deadline nears

The Valley Forge Patriots Awards program—an activity of Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge—offers you the opportunity to express your thoughts on "Human Goals—Values for Living."

Freedoms Foundation does not lobby. It is nonsectarian, nonprofit and nonpolitical. It is dedicated to furthering the cause of freedom and man's God-given dignity.

More than 400 active duty and reserve members of the U. S. Armed Forces were recipients of awards from Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge in the 1970 Valley Forge Patriots Awards Program.

Principal award winners received cash awards, a VIP Trip to Valley Forge and Washington, D. C. and the George Washington Honor Medal.

If your letter is selected for a Freedoms Foundation Award, it can bring you a principal award of $1,000, plus an encased George Washington Honor Medal. The two best letters—one from an active duty member and one from a reserve component member—earn principal awards for their authors.

Or you may receive one of up to 50 $100 and George Washington Honor Medals, or one of up to 50 $50 and George Washington Honor Medals. In addition, the recipients of the two principal awards, and a number of writers of other award letters, will be invited to Valley Forge, Pa., and Washington, D. C.

Your entry need not be a "letter" as such, but may be in essay or poetry form. Entries should be no less than 100 or no more than 500 words in length. If letter style is used, the addressee may be any person or organization, real or imaginary.

Little time remains. Be sure to include your full name, social security number, complete military address, service or reserve component and your complete permanent home address.

Your letter—addressed to Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa. 19481—must arrive before Oct. 31, 1973. Now, in less than 500 words, "Human Goals—Values for Living."

U. Md. Dean's List

At the end of the third term, 1972-73, the following students from Berlin completed at least 15 semester hours in the European Division of the University of Maryland with an average of 3.50 or better. These students have been placed on the Dean's List and a letter of commendation has been sent to each student. Tech Sergeant Sammy M. Baker, Staff Sergeant Charles T. Crump, Mary J. Huskey, Donald I. Rice, Frederick W. Walton and Master Sergeant Gerald J. White.

At the end of the fourth term, the following students made the Dean's List: Master Sergeant Stanley A. Bishop, Master Sergeant Charles J. Covern, Master Sergeant Edward P. Goodson, David P. Halvorsen, Specialist 4 Norman C. Harvey, Sergeant Werner S. Hindrichs, Rainer K. Hohler, Kaye M. Johnson, Billy D. Koch, Specialist 6 Alexander A. Kulas, William E. Mashburn, Dennis J. Molchan.

At the end of the fifth term, the following students also made the Dean's List: Specialist 4 Craig R. Coleman, Carol S. Fuller, First Lieutenant Raymond W. Gibbons, Sergeant Stephen S. Malley, Yvonne Nilles, Edgar H. Rawl, Staff Sergeant Gurney E. Strouse.

Specialist 4 Rick White and his wife Connie claim they really aren't very good pool players. But their skill in billiards, ping pong, Fussball and spades is good enough to win a trip to gay Paris. Last month the couple won the Hi-Lite Service Club's games contest, defeating nine other couples and winning a free trip to the French capital. The ticket was provided by American Express. Rick is assigned to the 592nd Signal Company's sound team, and Connie works at American Youth Activities. The couple plans to take their vacation in late November or December.

I'm sure most of you are acquainted with the handy book drop which is located outside the Shopping Center Post Office. Unfortunately, the old adage "because of a few, many must suffer" is about to become true again.

There must be some people in Berlin who still cannot read. It says Book Drop—nothing about trash—and yet there always seems to be a wide assortment of candy wrappers, soft drinks cans, and other rubbish in with the books. I do not understand why people must go out of their way to destroy the property of others.

Another problem seems to be getting books. Evidently a few people don't know that all they have to do in order to check books out of the library is to come and fill out a registration card. We even have paperbacks available on a "bring one—take one" basis. There's no need to break into the book drop!

For your convenience and ours, we hope the book drop can stay where it is. But if the vandalism continues, we still have no choice. It will have to be removed.
