Hospital to have Richtfest

Next Friday afternoon, April 26, a high point in the construction of the new U. S. Army Hospital, Berlin, will be celebrated with a traditional Richtfest. The festivities will be held at 2:15 p.m. at the construction site of the $20 million facility.

A Richtfest is an old German custom, whereby a small pine tree or wreath of pine bows is raised over a building when the roof is finished. When a person builds a new home, he invites all his neighbors and friends who helped in the construction to the Richtfest. The owner drives the last nail and provides his guests with drink and often a feast.

This custom is carried on today and can be seen throughout Berlin and most of Europe. All major construction accomplished by the U. S. Forces in Berlin is "topped out" with a Richtfest.

A large number of German and American dignitaries have been invited to attend the ceremonies, including Major General Marshall McCabe, commanding general of the U. S. Medical Command, Europe (MEDCOM); and representatives from the U. S. Embassy in Bonn. As the Richtfest will be held on the same day as the Berlin Brigade's "Mayor's Day," the mayors of the six districts in the American sector and the chairman of the District Assemblies will also attend.

A number of enlisted personnel from the USAHB will attend to represent the personnel who will operate the new facility. The 298th Army Band will perform.

The ceremonies will be conducted by a representative from the German Construction Agency, Bauamt-Süd, which handles all construction for the U. S. Forces in Berlin.

The ceremony, according to tradition, consists of music, remarks by the owner and contractor personnel, a toast from the foreman and the raising of the pine wreath. After the ceremony, the guests will go to the Prälats in Schöneberg for a traditional Eisbein dinner.

The new four-story hospital incorporates flexibility in design with the most modern technology and combines American and European principles and concepts of medicine and hospital construction.

The facility is due for completion in 1976. Major B. J. Branagan, construction engineer for the Berlin Brigade and the contracting officer's representative for the hospital, says the construction is proceeding on schedule.

Command to lease housing complex

The U. S. Command in Berlin is preparing to negotiate for the leasing of a 422-apartment housing complex in the Wilmersdorf district of Berlin. The complex is now under construction on Schlangenhader Strasse at the corner of Wiesbadener Strasse. U. S. Embassy and USA-REUR approval has been given to lease the complex.

If negotiations are successful, the apartments should be ready for occupancy sometime during the fall and winter of this year. Assignment policy for the complex is now being staffed and should be published soon.

Certain policies are already fairly clear. First priority for assignment will probably go to sponsors authorized government family quarters. Based upon this criteria, about half of the complex will be occupied by junior non-commissioned officers. The remaining apartments will be available to economy families.

The apartments will be treated as normal government quarters. Thus, any family occupying an apartment will forfeit its quarters allowance. Station housing allowance is not paid to occupants of government quarters.

Specific instructions on eligibility and how to apply for these quarters will be announced at a later date.

If the Schlangenhader Strasse complex is leased, it will be the second command project in a program to provide housing for low-ranking enlisted personnel. The leased quarters idea was first tried last year on a small scale. The experiment proved so successful that the U. S. Mission, Berlin, the Berlin Senat and city officials cooperated to find a suitable large complex for leasing.

SCOPES improves field training

FORT BRAGG, N. C. (ANF) — Streaking may be the in thing for school students today. But in the 82nd Airborne Division and in other units worldwide, attention is on "scoping."

SCOPES, or Squad Combat Operations Exercise (Simulation), is a new training technique developed over the past several months.

The System consists of a six-power telescope mounted on each man's M16 rifle. Each squad member also has a number pinned on four sides of his helmet. As the attacking squad nears its objective, the defending unit attempts, by means of the scopes, to read the numbers on the helmets of the advancing wave.

Controllers with radios accompany both the attacking and defending units. If a trooper's number is sighted, the controller designates him as a casualty, and he must drop out of the problem. The officer-in-charge records the numbers of the fallen troopers. After the attack is complete, the OIC supervises a critique at which soldiers are encouraged to suggest improvements to each other's movements and technique.

The concept was initially designed by the Army Research Institute in Washington, D. C. Further testing has been carried out by the Combat Arms Training Board and the U. S. Army Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga.

A total of 3,000 SCOPES sets (six-power scope, rifle mount and numbered patches) have already been distributed. In the next several months an additional 30,000 sets are scheduled to be in troop unit hands.

Troop reaction to the new training technique is extremely favorable. 82nd Airborne Division Sergeant Jesse G. Laye says, "The SCOPES training increases both morale and interest in basic squad tactical exercises."

The SCOPES System is available for loan on a first-come, first-served basis from the Berlin Brigade G3 Training Aids Center. Commanders interested in using SCOPES for training should contact the G3 Training Aids Center, McNair Barracks, in sufficient time to insure availability.

B-A Soccer Club joins European league

The Berlin American Soccer Club is one of eight new expansion teams in the American Soccer League of Europe. Representatives of 16 teams in 14 cities met in the Divided City last Friday to organize the American Soccer League's second season.

Hosting the conference was the Berlin club with the assistance of Staff Sergeant Marcel Rodriguez and the Air Force at Tempelhof Central Airport. The representatives discussed regulations and schedules for this season's play. The 16 teams will play on Saturdays May through July with playoffs the first week of August.

Local teams, composed of soldiers, airmen and military-connected civilians, will continue to compete with local German teams, play which has built up strong friendships between American soccer players and their oftentimes more experienced German counterparts.

Last year Landstuhl ended as champs with Stuttgart second and Heidelberg third. Rounding out the league were Boeblingen, Mannheim, Karlsruhe and Dexheim. Newcomers in the league are Berlin, Kaiserslautern, Fulda, Schweinfurt, Pirmasens, Herzogenaurach, Furth and Erlangen. Returning from last year's conference are Landstuhl, Heidelberg, Mannheim and Dexheim. Each team will play each other team in its conference twice this season.

All the teams, under conference rules drawn up here last Friday, are responsible for providing referees, playing fields and post-game refreshments. The military provides transportation to and from the games.

Otis struck out 11 batters, giving him 21 strikeouts in two games, and gave up only six basehits. Kobbe punched out four hits, drove in three runs and stole two bases. Cooper boomed his second and third homeruns of the season to account for six Drill Team runs. He now has 11 RBIs for the season.

Easter is extra special for Field Station couple

by GARY NEWMAN

Easter was special for Specialist 5 Robert Hollis and his wife Tricia this year. The couple was selected to spend Easter weekend at the President Hotel.

The Hollises checked into the hotel at 11:30 a.m. last Thursday to begin their five-day expense-paid vacation.

Besides the meals and treats at the hotel, the couple attended theater performances. On Sunday they attended church at Andrews Chapel.

The couple won the vacation as a result of an invitation submitted to Major General William W. Cobb, United States Commander, Berlin, to select an outstanding enlisted man and his wife from the various battalions in Berlin.

The files of the different candidates were reviewed by a board of officers. Hollis from Company A, Field Station, Berlin, was selected because of his outstanding work within the company and his many contributions to the military community during his off-time.

Hollis and his wife were very pleased with the opportunity and were enjoying their stay very much last Thursday. Said Hollis, "I wish everyone could come down and find out how nice this place really is".

The last meal

With the opening of the new and expanded Andrews Barracks dining hall, the separate dining facility that has served the 287th Military Police Company for many years became unnecessary. So, last Friday evening, personnel of the company and their families gathered to share the last meal to be served in the old mess hall. As anyone can see, it was a deliciously historic occasion.

Here's how to reclaim 'Big 10' funds

In February, the Department of the Army announced that the Uniformed Services Savings Deposit Program (USSDP, commonly known as "Big 10") would be discontinued as of June 30. According to Captain Jack K. Nickens, Berlin Brigade Finance & Accounting Officer, DA has just announced instructions on how service members will receive their Big 10 repayments.

The anticipated date for final repayment is the first week of July, with all checks being mailed not later than July 10.

Repayment procedures fall into three categories of active 10 per cent savings deposit accounts:

(1) Those accounts having no deposits made prior to August 14, 1966. These accounts will not require action by the service member or the finance office.

(2) Those accounts having four per cent deposits made prior to August 14, 1966, and 10 per cent deposits on or after Sept. 1, 1966. These accounts do require action by the finance office and the service member to execute repayment.

(3) Those accounts of service members who arrive in the continental U. S. on permanent change of station, expiration of service (ETS) or retirement from outside the U. S. and its possessions between April 2 and June 30.

Personnel in the first category who are still assigned outside the U. S. and its possessions will not be required to take any action to get their money. Repayment will be made by Treasury check to the service member's unit address as reflected on the JUMPS-Army Master Military Pay File (MMPF). A savings deposit summary statement of repayment will be inclosed with each check.

If the interest payment is $600 or more, an Internal Revenue Service Form 1099 will also be provided for income tax returns.

Automatic repayment will not be made to personnel in the second category. The Finance Support Agency (FSA) will notify the servicing finance office, which will in turn notify the applicable service member. The service member will have to go to the finance office and execute a request for repayment. This will likewise apply to any inactive accounts that are recognized.

As for the third category: the action required by the F&AO will be taken care of with the service member during out processing, or the service member may wait until he returns to the U. S. These personnel must submit DA Form 2082.

The 90-day limitation rule for interest accrual upon return from overseas will not extend beyond June 30. The date of arrival in CONUS begins the interest period in relation to the 90-day limitation rule. Repayments are computed based on the receipt date of the DA Form 2082 at the Finance Support Agency. Those service members arriving in CONUS through June 30 may delay submission of the form until July 1 to have interest accrue through June 30.

An application for emergency withdrawal will be treated as a voluntary request for the closing of the savings account regardless of the amount of the withdrawal.

For further information on repayment of Big 10 funds, call Berlin military 6566.

42nd Engineers make MTA trip

by RICHARD T. WEEKS

The Berlin Brigade's 42nd Combat Engineer Company visited the Hohenfels Major Training Area in West Germany from March 13 to April 4. The three weeks of training stressed the engineers' traditional duties of demolition, construction of field fortifications, rigging lifting devices and the emplacement and removal of minefields.

The company constructed a 45-foot span of the M4T6 heavy duty prefabrication bridge, with equipment furnished by the 16th Engineer Battalion of the 1st Armored Division. This exercise was to familiarize troops with bridging operations.

The engineers' secondary mission of combat infantry capability was incorporated into the training, with weapons qualification on the M16 rifle, the M203 grenade launcher and the M60 machine gun. The engineers also ran day and night compass courses and constructed a night defensive perimeter.

The trip was not without its highlights. The troops enjoyed seeing what a few pounds of C4 explosive can do to a Volkswagen. After the dust settled, only the tires remained. The company also had the opportunity to rappel off a 60-foot cliff, depending only on a coil of rope and a safety hook to get down safely.

The training concluded with a two-day all night exercise to test each squad in a simulated-combat environment. Problems ranged from minesweeping a road to repairing a truck while under a gas attack.

The trip demonstrated the diversified capabilities of the combat engineers and focused on their combat function.

'Jesus Christ Superstar'

JESUS CHRIST SUPERSTAR—The film adaptation of the stage rock musical about the last week in the earthly life of Christ adds a new dimension to the runaway success of the live show. Shot in Israel, it presents a modern interpretation of the events that led up to the crucifixion.

HAMMER OF GOD—A student in a Karate school is stomped by a gang of Kung Fu heavies. When he gets his health back, the young man goes into training to become the meanest of the mean. His goal is to annihilate the bullies.

COME BACK, CHARLESTON BLUE—When a series of razor murders hits Harlem, it's up to Gravedigger Jones and Coffin Ed Johnson to unravel the mess.

Somebody's moving in on the Mafia, and it looks like the work of a long-dead black gangster.

DILLINGER—His sole ambition was to become the best bank robber in the world, and he probably was. Nobody knows how much money he stole, how many women he loved, or if he ever really killed anyone. He came to be part monster, part myth and part hero. In the end he was betrayed by a woman and shot down by G-men.

BROTHER SUN, SISTER MOON is the story of a historically famous youthful dropout who made good. St. Francis of Assisi discarded his material possessions and set up a communal-type church which outraged the local community. St. Francis defied established order to pave the way for a new approach to religion.

IMPORTANT PROGRAM NOTE TO OUR VIEWERS

During the next few weeks, there will be numerous last minute changes to this published program schedule. The problem is caused by slowdown in the mail delivery of our television films. AFRTS-Los Angeles is sending us special film packages to insure that we have enough material to remain on the air. However, these packages do not contain all of the same programs that are presently being shown on AFN-TV Berlin. We cannot schedule these special film packages far in advance, because we are not sure precisely when they will arrive here. We will strive to stick to the published schedule whenever possible and will promote the changes during our broadcast day. This undesirable situation should be resolved by late spring. Until then, we appreciate your patience and understanding.

Arts & Crafts Week here April 22-28

Arts & Crafts Week will be celebrated in Berlin during the week of April 22-28 as a part of a USAREUR-wide event. The event is sponsored by G1 Recreation Services.

The week will feature a crafts display near the entrance to the Shopping Center on Clayallee on Saturday, April 27; and a photo tour of Berlin on Sunday, April 28.

The crafts show will feature displays of various crafts, such as homemade candles, leather work, model airplanes and clocks. Pottery making, leather work and copper enameling will be demonstrated.

The photo tour will depart the Andrews photo center at 10:30 a.m. and the McNair photo center at 11 a.m. Instructors will accompany the tour to aid photographers.

Berlin has two craft shops, one located below the Hi-Lite Service Club at Andrews and one at McNair in the All American Service Club. An automotive craft shop is located at Andrews Barracks.

Facilities, tools and equipment at the craft shops, photo centers and automotive shops are provided on a no-cost basis to the soldier-craftsman. He pays only for the materials used in practicing his favorite craft skill. The popularity of the facilities is mirrored in the more than 372,000 man-hours averaged each month by do-it-yourself enthusiasts who make use of craft facilities throughout USAREUR.

Other events planned for the week are as follows:

OPERA

Opera coordinator Harry Heinzelman has scheduled two trips to the Deutsche Oper this month. The first trip is on April 19 to make up for the performance of Madame Butterfly which we missed in February. The tale is easy enough to understand and enjoy so we will have no preview sessions for this performance. The second opera is Tales of Hoffmann. The preview session for this opera will be at 6 p.m. on the 20th in the upstairs of the Folke Bernadotte Heim, Jungfernstieg #19. For both operas tickets must be reserved by the 12th through the KONTAKT office. Upon making reservations you will be given details on picking up the tickets and meeting with the other people. Tickets will cost around 10 DM.

Voilà!

Have a satisfying evening at French Forces' Pavillon du Lac

by KARL B. MILLER

Le Pavillon du Lac . . . Ever since I arrived in Berlin, I had heard about it. We all have heard about it, that shrine of French culinary excellence, a temple of unsurpassed dining, magnificent food and wines served at lakeside. Well, Le Pavillon du Lac may not be all that, but it certainly is very good and very reasonable. For those of you who have never had the pleasure of dining at Le Pavillon du Lac, I will try to pass on to you some inside tips and answer some of your questions.

First of all, Le Pavillon du Lac is not the French Officers Club. It is a restaurant provided by the French Forces for the enjoyment of all the Allies, regardless of rank. It is, in a sense then, a private club for the Allies, but your guests are always welcome. The restaurant is located lakeside at Malchsee, by the Tegeler See. Lost already? Don't worry.

Get there first . . .

For those of you with a car just drive towards Tegel Airport. Instead of turning at the airport, continue north on Scharnweberstr. This street changes names to Seidelstr. and then to Berlinerstr. You know you are getting close when you pass the Tegel U-Bahn station. Continue north until you reach Heiligenseestr. and turn left. There are no signs to help you, but don't worry—if you have followed directions you are doing just fine. After traveling about one-quarter of a mile there will be a turn off on your left. This is Scharzer Weg. Turn left here and continue for another mile. You should have seen a sign by now. If so, follow it; if not, return to the Tegel U-Bahn station to have a currywurst to fortify yourself.

For those of you without a car, take the U-Bahn to the Tegel station and take a cab the rest of the way. It costs about DM 6.00. Once there, you have completed the most difficult part of your evening, except of course, leaving to go home. Now relax and enjoy some of the best French cuisine in Berlin.

After a drink . . .

After settling down with a nice Campari and soda or dry sherry (Scotch and water if you must), turn your attentions to the menu. Unless you studied French, you are in for some problems. Don't worry, that is the purpose of this article. The prices look awfully high at first glance but they are all in French francs. The rate of exchange is one franc to 60 pfennigs or about five francs to the dollar.

Begin your feast with the Escargots de Bourgogne (12 fr), 12 savory snails smothered in garlic wine butter. If your date is nervous about snails, you order them and share them. Also try the Salade de Homard (18 fr), lobster salad or the authentic Terrine de Foie Gras Perigord (50 fr) for two persons. The smoked trout (12 fr) and the Cocktail de Crevettes (11 fr) or shrimp cocktail are also popular. If you prefer soup, the Bisque de Homard (6 fr) is superb. This is a delicate creamy soup with chunks of fresh, moist lobster.

Beaucoup entrées

The list of entrees is enormous. There are 15 seafood dishes including Filets de Sole Bonne Femme (13 fr), sole in white wine cream sauce with mushrooms, Turbot Poche, Sauce Hollandaise (13 fr), poached turbot, Coquilles St. Jacques (10 fr), scallops in cream sauce, Grenouilles, frogs legs (14 fr) and Scampis (prawns) prepared in two manners (13 fr each).

Under the heading VIANDES (meats) on the menu, we find an equally large number of dishes. If you have never tried it, Steak Tartare Garni (14 fr) is excellent and very healthful. Fresh, lean tenderloin of beef is finely ground and served with chopped onions, salt pepper, egg yolk, capers and parsley. You might also try the Tournedos Henri IV (16 fr), small beef filets with artichoke hearts filled with Bearnaise sauce, Filet de Bœuf Stroganoff (17 fr), and the majestic Chateaubriand à la Bouquetiere (36 fr).

On my last dinner I enjoyed the veal. It was served à la Provençal with tomatoes and garlic (20 fr). If you like, share the Carre d'Agneau (24 fr), rack of lamb or the Selle de Chevreuil (36 fr), saddle of venison with a friend. You get a great dinner and classic, faultless French table service when you order some of the poultry dishes. I would try the Faisan à l'Alsacienne for two persons (36 fr), pheasant served with sauerkraut and bacon in the country manner of Alsace. The Canard à l'Orange, duck for two (26 fr) is also popular.

Cheese to end your feast

As you can see, the choices open to you are wide enough to make anyone satisfied. Finish your meal with some French cheese (fromages) or a cool salad and then if you have the room, dessert.

Far and away the most popular dish at Le Pavillon du Lac is the Omelette Surprise for two or more persons (7 fr). This is more commonly known as Omelette Normande or Baked Alaska. Because it's a surprise—I can't tell you what's inside, but believe me it's worth it.

And of course, wine!

As it should be, wine plays an important part in this restaurant. Simple inexpensive house wines are provided along with vintage growths from France's great wine districts.

The best buys in wine are in the 15 to 25 franc category. I had an 1971 Alsacian riesling for 15 francs that was very good. It was dry with a good clean aroma and showed promise in the years to come. The non-vintage Fleurie, a red burgundy bottled by Mommessin (22 fr) is superb. Be sure to let the bottle sit open for a few minutes before drinking it. This will bring out its big, beautiful bouquet and its subtle nuances.

My last dinner for three without wine was 110 francs or about $25. My party had four courses and we received much more than our money's worth. Since I usually overeat don't go by my standards. Figure it will cost you about $10 per person for the whole meal including wine and coffee.

Outstanding service, elegant atmosphere

Most of the staff speaks English and they all are familiar with Americans and their habits. The service can only be described as outstanding and the atmosphere is elegant. Le Pavillon du Lac is closed Monday. The phone number is 418 16 00; reservations are a must.

The service clubs occasionally sponsor a gourmet tour of Le Pavillon du Lac. This is an excellent opportunity to go with friends and not worry about the transportation. Bon appetit, mes amis!

Spring is clean-up time

by GARY NEWMAN

Berlin is one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Berliners are conscious of this fact and strive to maintain the lush landscape and beauty of their neighborhoods.

As members of the Berlin community, the American Command traditionally emphasizes grounds and building beautification and encourages members of the command to do their part in beautifying the American community.

An active beautification program

This year, as in the past, the American community will see an active area beautification program, and individuals will be asked to do their part. The Facilities Engineer is providing flowers for apartment window boxes and starter plants for other areas. Top soil and gardening tools are also available. Get a copy of the Engineer & Installation Division's "Area Beautification" booklet for more information.

Spring is the time of year when we are reminded of the earth's beauty and fertility, a time when we feel a sense of community with the earth and a renewal of such with our fellow human beings. It is a time to ask ourselves to respect our fellow travelers and not offend them with our garbage.

A matter of courtesy

Keeping the neighborhood clean is a matter of courtesy. It is a matter of taking the time to put trash in the garbage can, not on the ground, and of finding a place other than the earth to throw that cigarette butt.

By doing more than keeping things clean, by working with the earth to find the joy and eternity in its greenness, we can affirm the community as the most profound expression of human values. The least we can do is respect these values by not littering. Let's clean up the house of man.
