Forces soccer meeting

All members of the U. S. Forces Soccer Team are requested to attend the semi-annual meeting on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at Madison Square Gardens (Andrews Gymnasium). This meeting will kick off the 1974 season and also the first Berlin American Soccer Club. The purpose of the BASC is to promote soccer interest among American personnel in Berlin. If you're interested, truck on over to the meeting and check it out.

AYA basketball

The following is the AYA Senior basketball schedule:
Jan. 19 — Darmstadt at Berlin Feb. 2 — Berlin at Giessen
Jan. 26 — Frankfurt at Berlin Feb. 9 — Budengen at Berlin

Cubs to host Augsburg

The Berlin American High School Cubs basketball team will host the Augsburg team tonight and tomorrow at the high school gym at 6 p.m. and 10 a.m. respectively. Both teams are tied for first place, having been victorious in all of their games, so these games should be worth attending.

Everyone is urged to attend the games to support the Cubs and the Berlin American High School Booster Club. Last week the Cubs defeated the Karlsruhe Knights 62-43 and 47-43.

AYA rifle shooting

The AYA will begin registration for a new program entitled "Riflery". Those teens between 12 and 19 years of age (12 by Jan. 1) interested in rifle shooting should register at the AYA house as soon as possible. There are limited spaces, so the list will be filled on a first-come first-serve basis.

For more information, contact the AYA House at 6239 or 6247.

BAAA members meet

The Berlin American Auto Association (BAAA) is starting off another exciting year of safe and fun-filled auto sports. The first item on the agenda for the general membership meeting, to be held in the dining room of the Harnack House beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, is the election of club officers. Club members elected to be officers will serve until the next election in July.

One major topic of discussion will be the competition rules for the 1974 racing season. The rules committee has been going over the various suggestions by club members for the past several months, in order to end up with a set of safe and competitive rules for the forthcoming season. These rules will be passed on by the members of the BAAA, deciding how they will build and race their cars this year.

If you're interested in racing, actively or passively, get into the Berlin American Auto Association. It'll be worth your while.

B'ball coaches wanted

The AYA will be taking names for coaches to help with this year's baseball season. There will be 29 teams, so many responsible men and women are needed to help the program.

For more information, call the AYA Athletic Office at 6247.

E&I rules indoor soccer

by Mary Best

The E & I team continued their dominance with another sterling performance by defeating Kontakt II 6-0.

In the most exciting game of the night Det. A I, down 4-1 with FSB, bounced back to tie the game with five minutes remaining. They then managed two last minute goals to win 6-4.

The Air Force team flew past the MPs by downing them 12-0 in a very one-sided game. Labor Service I defeated Special Troops 6-2 and Labor Service II finally chalked up a victory, their first of the season, by beating Det. A II 6-1.

The Kontakt I and BAHS teams were enjoying a night off.

The Forces have an important organizational meeting for all persons interested in outdoor soccer slated for Wednesday night at 6:30 p.m. at Andrews Gymnasium. All interested kickers should attend.

Tomorrow morning at 9, the Forces team will play Labor Service near Drakestraße in outdoor soccer.

Good luck to Dan Scioletti and John Wilson who are in Holland this weekend playing on the USAREUR All-Star team.

Spandau downs Bears, American reign ends

by Marty Best

The Berlin Army Team Handball team lost 14-6 to a well disciplined Spandau team last Sunday to end the American domination in league play which lasted one full season and one game this season. The Bears are now 1-1 and definitely have their work cut out for them. The Bears never gave up trying but just couldn't get any momentum as the excellent German goalie stopped the Bears bread & butter play, the fast break, most of the time. The Bears were down 8-2 at halftime.

Team handball is a game you learn from experience only and this year's team is lacking in practical experience. Dale Pirkle and Chuck Swannack are the two returning stalwarts and both agree that the talent is there. It's a matter of time and practice before this team starts rolling.

Marty Best, who broke a finger in two places blocking a shot in the first game, may not return to the goal for quite a while. Rufus Whynot did a good job in his first full game in the goal but defensive lapses giving open shots killed the Bears' hopes. Dan Scioletti, a multiple sport goalie, might be forced to try the goal.

The Bears hope to get some practice games with the French and higher league German teams before the next league which will be held on Sunday in the Wedding Sports Hall beginning at 6 p.m.

For all men who use the road: a prayer

Lord, impress upon me the great responsibility that is mine as I take the wheel of my automobile. As I need thy guidance in all things, so now especially do I when I have life and death in my hands. Give me always human life.

When I would be careless, remind me of a deep reverence for and a desire to protect homes where there is sorrow and loneliness, of the hospitals where broken suffering bodies lie in anguish because someone forgot.

Write indelibly upon my conscience that each time I take the wheel of my car, I am a potential murderer; that in a few careless moments I could be face to face with dire tragedy for my own family as well as for others.

Give me grace to practice that Christian virtue of patience and thoughtfulness at all times.

Help me to show the same courtesy and kindness to other motorists that I expect from them. When others exceed the speed limit or otherwise break the law, let me not be tempted to do the same.

Forgive my stupidity if ever I think it is permissible to violate traffic laws so long as I do not get caught.

Remind me often that I am responsible to Thee as well as to the state to obey the ordinances of the highway; and when I do not, I sin against Thee as well as against my fellow men, even though nobody else may be watching and no accident result.

Lord, grant me control of my car and of myself at all times. Help me to live lawfully and peaceably, to save life and not to destroy it, and so by example to lead others to do the same. Amen. (Author Unknown)

IT'S BREAKFAST TIME at 4-6 for Curtis and Clifford Sitterle...

... and for twin brothers Mike and Donnie Thomas.

It's a family affair: we've got 2 pair!

by Norman Ham

Things at the 4th Battalion, 6th Infantry have become a family affair. In addition to working together as a family, the battalion now has two pair of brothers serving in it.

Mike and Donnie Thomas, brothers from Findlay, Ohio, are mortar men in C-4-6. They enlisted in the Army under the buddy system in June 12, 1972, and have remained together ever since.

"It's really funny," remarked brother Donnie. "Before we came into the Army, we each went our own separate ways. Now we do quite a bit together."

Assigned to same squad

Assigned to the same squad in their basic training company at Fort Knox, Kentucky, the Thomas brothers went on to Fort Benning for airborne training. During AIT (Advanced Individual Training) at Fort Polk, Mike and Donnie once again found themselves in the same squad.

In January 1973, the Thomas brothers came to Berlin, where they were both assigned to the mortar platoon of "Cougar" Company, 4-6.

"Our parents think it's great," said brother Mike. "It makes it a lot easier for them to keep track of us!" With eight other brothers and four sisters, Mike and Donnie are not the first of their family to serve together. Several years ago, older brothers Harrold and David served on the same ship in the Navy.

Bowl on same team

Off duty, both participate in the service club bowling leagues and bowl on the same team on Wednesday nights. Mike is quite an accomplished carpenter and hopes to become a professional when his term of service ends. Younger brother Don would like to eventually become a Diesel mechanic.

Unlike the Thomas brothers, Curtis and Clifford Sitterle, 18-year-old twins from Perry, Iowa, enlisted and trained separately. Ironically, they were both assigned to 4-6 when they got to Berlin.

Curtis enlisted July 25, 1973, and took basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Missouri. From there he went to Ft. Polk for AIT, and was subsequently assigned to the anti-tank platoon of CSC-4-6.

In time for Christmas

Following in his brother's footsteps, Clifford enlisted August 1, 1973, and also took basic at Ft. Leonard Wood. After completing AIT at Ft. Ord, California, Clifford came to Berlin on the 18th of December, just in time to spend Christmas with his brother Curtis.

Clifford is in HHC-4-6 as a truck driver in the battalion's support platoon.

As far as future plans go, Clifford is contemplating Officer's Candidate School. Curtis would like to take advantage of the G. I. Bill and attend college when he leaves the Army.

It appears that Clifford, like Avis, is trying harder: his twin brother Curtis was born first, arrived in Berlin first and he'll ETS first. Hang in there, Cliff!

Taking your car to Bremerhaven? Read this first

If you're planning to visit Bremerhaven to pick up your car or to ship it to the States, here is some information that may be useful.

You should arrive at the Bremerhaven Bahnhof at about 6:26 a.m., if you took the duty train, that is. There is a military bus that leaves from the Bahnhof 20 minutes after the train arrives, so you shouldn't have any trouble getting to Carl-Schurz Kaserne. If you miss the bus, or if you'd rather take a civilian bus, you can ride on the number 11 or A11 to get to the kaserne. It goes right in front of the post, so there shouldn't be any problem about knowing when to get off. The bus will cost you 70 pfennigs.

You'll find the transient billets and mess facilities at the 'Officer's Club on Adolf-Butenandt-Strasse. With TDY orders the price of a night's lodging for enlisted men is 50 cents and $2 for officers. Without orders the cost for one night is $4 for enlisted men and $5 for officers. Reservations may be made by writing to U. S. Army Transient Billets, APO 09069, or Adolf-Butenandt-Strasse, 285 Bremerhaven, or by calling Bremerhaven military 488-7740 or 488-7604.

Meals are served at the transient facility as follows: breakfast, 7 a.m.-9 a.m.; lunch, 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m.; dinner, 5 p.m.-9 p.m. On Saturday and Sunday a brunch is served 9 a.m.-4 p.m. On the last Sunday of the month a buffet is served 5 p.m.-9 p.m. The Snack Bar, located at Karl-Schurz Kaserne, is open 7 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday-Friday and 10 a.m.-5 p.m. on Saturday. It's open 9 a.m.-4 p.m. on Sunday.

Since shipping your car or receiving it will probably be one of your main interests while in Bremerhaven, you might be interested to know that the Vehicle Processing Center is open 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Monday-Friday. When everything is taken care of, you may return by duty train, which leaves at 9:24 p.m.

Editors note: Our thanks to the Public Affairs Division, U. S. Support District, Norddeutschland, for the information used in this article.

New plates required Feb. 16

Does your car still have non-reflectORIZED license plates? They become invalid February 16, according to a message from USAREUR Headquarters.

If your POV (that's Privately Owned Vehicle, in case you wondered) still has green plates with silver numerals, you should receive forms for re-registration soon. If you do not receive forms from the USAREUR Motor Vehicle Registry by Feb. 1, call Heidelberg Military (2121) 7222 or 7226.

Military Police have been instructed to remind individuals whose vehicles still display the non-reflectORIZED plates of the need for re-registration.

Speed limits still in force

As reported last week in this column, there will be no further weekend driving bans until further notice. However, all drivers should remember that newly-imposed speed limits are still in force.

Since Nov. 20, 1973, the maximum speed limit for military vehicles has been 50 miles per hour. Personnel traveling in the Federal Republic of Germany are subject to the Status of Forces Agreement and should observe the speed limits of 100 kilometers per hour on highways (Autobahns) and 80 k.p.h. on all other streets. Speed limits in Berlin and other cities is 50 k.p.h. on non-Autobahn streets. Lower speed limits may be posted in some areas.

The German federal government has formulated standard plans for driving restrictions, should it become necessary. Announcements of any restrictions will be made sufficiently ahead of time to allow for preparation.

Illinois lady writes to soldiers

Would anybody in Berlin like to have a new correspondent? Mrs. Shirley Barrett of Rock Island, Illinois, is looking for correspondents in the military service. She says she's been writing to servicemen for eight years. Her address is 1111-18 1/2 Avenue, Rock Island, Ill., 61201.

In memoriam

by Joe Bolduc

Tuesday may not have been a legal national holiday, but it was a day of importance throughout the United States. The day was the anniversary of the birth of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., one of the most influential men of the civil rights movement of the 50's and 60's. Berlin Brigade and Air Force personnel honored Dr. King with services at each of the American chapels within the city, commemorating his struggle for equality and freedom for the black people.

Major General William W. Cobb, U. S. Commander of Berlin, speaking during the services at Andrews Chapel, noted that Dr. King "... earnestly believed in and struggled for peace among his fellow man."

"Dr. King," he added, "continued his struggle not with guns, but with peace, love, dignity and self-respect."

General Cobb and Brigadier General Robert D. Stevenson spoke at Tuesday's memorial services.

Dr. King's fight against discrimination and his peaceful method of achieving his dream of equality earned him the Nobel Peace Prize in 1964. He was the youngest person ever to receive the award.

King realized that a nation needs a lasting brotherhood in order to survive. He strived to unite the peoples of America, and in doing so he led, said General Cobb, "... one of the most influential and significant human relation movements that our nation and the world have ever seen."

His peaceful actions and perseverance brought about the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and a decline in discrimination against blacks.

Unfortunately Dr. King didn't live to see the results of his efforts. He was killed by an assassin's bullet on April 4, 1968, in Memphis, but the memory of him and of his dream lives on.

"This is the day," proclaimed Dr. King, "when all God's children will be able to sing with a new meaning 'My country 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

Land where my fathers died, land of the pilgrims' pride, from every mountainside, let freedom ring."

"When we let freedom ring," he continued, "we will be able to speed up the day when all of God's children, black and white men, Jews and Gentiles, Protestants and Catholics will be able to join hands and sing in the words of the old Negro spiritual; 'Free at last! Free at last! Thank God almighty, we are free at last!'"

On the cover . . .

The photos of the procession at Andrews Barracks and the placing of the floral cross in the Andrews Chapel were taken by Rich Bailey. We thank Klaus Anger of Pictorial Branch for his generous assistance in composing our front page.

King was 'outstanding leader'

The following address was given at Andrews Chapel Tuesday by Major General William W. Cobb, the U. S. Commander, Berlin.

In preparing for this service, I was thinking about why are we having a memorial commemoration for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.? I don't remember having any such annual services for John F. Kennedy or Franklin Delano Roosevelt, or any other famous American.

I am sure that it's possible that they did have memorial services shortly after the untimely death of Abraham Lincoln. As time went by, these services were replaced by another means of recognition: a national holiday.

I believe it is right that we have this service for Dr. King, and perhaps one day our entire country will recognize the overall contributions of this outstanding leader by honoring him in the form of a national holiday.

This commemoration of Dr. King's birth, which has become an annual affair, signifies more than just a national memorial service for a great American. It is significant that we commemorate his birth on this day in January and not his death on that April afternoon in Memphis. It represents a continuation, and perhaps a catalyst for one of the most influential and significant human relation movements that our nation and the world have ever seen.

It's ironic that a man who so earnestly believed in and struggled for peace among his fellow men should die a violent death. Violence, terror and injustice plagued our society then, as it does now, but Dr. King continued his struggle not with guns, but with peace, love, dignity and self-respect.

He continued because he believed too many Americans had not yet recognized, nor did they fully understand, the need which existed for all people to love each other as brothers.

Have all Americans yet acquired that understanding and love, or have all Americans made a true effort to foster brotherhood? Do we strive, as did Dr. King, to further harmonious human relationships in our daily lives? The answers to these questions will tell us why we are remembering Dr. Martin Luther King today.

As we depart the chapel today, let us remember the words of Dr. King, "that we must live together as brothers, or perish together as fools." Take this message of peace and put it into your hearts and into your lives.

BAHS program lets students see 'the real world'

by Ken Anthony

Remember how frustrated you felt as a high school student at the number of years it took before you could get into the "real world"? Berlin American High School has a solution.

BAHS offers a Career Work Education Program that enables a student to get up to three high school credits for working in an area of his vocational interest. The student works at his job for from two to three hours during the school day. At the end of the nine-week grading period, the employer and one of the program directors, Linda Culea, Adam Hildenbrand or Joe Ferguson, evaluates the student's performance.

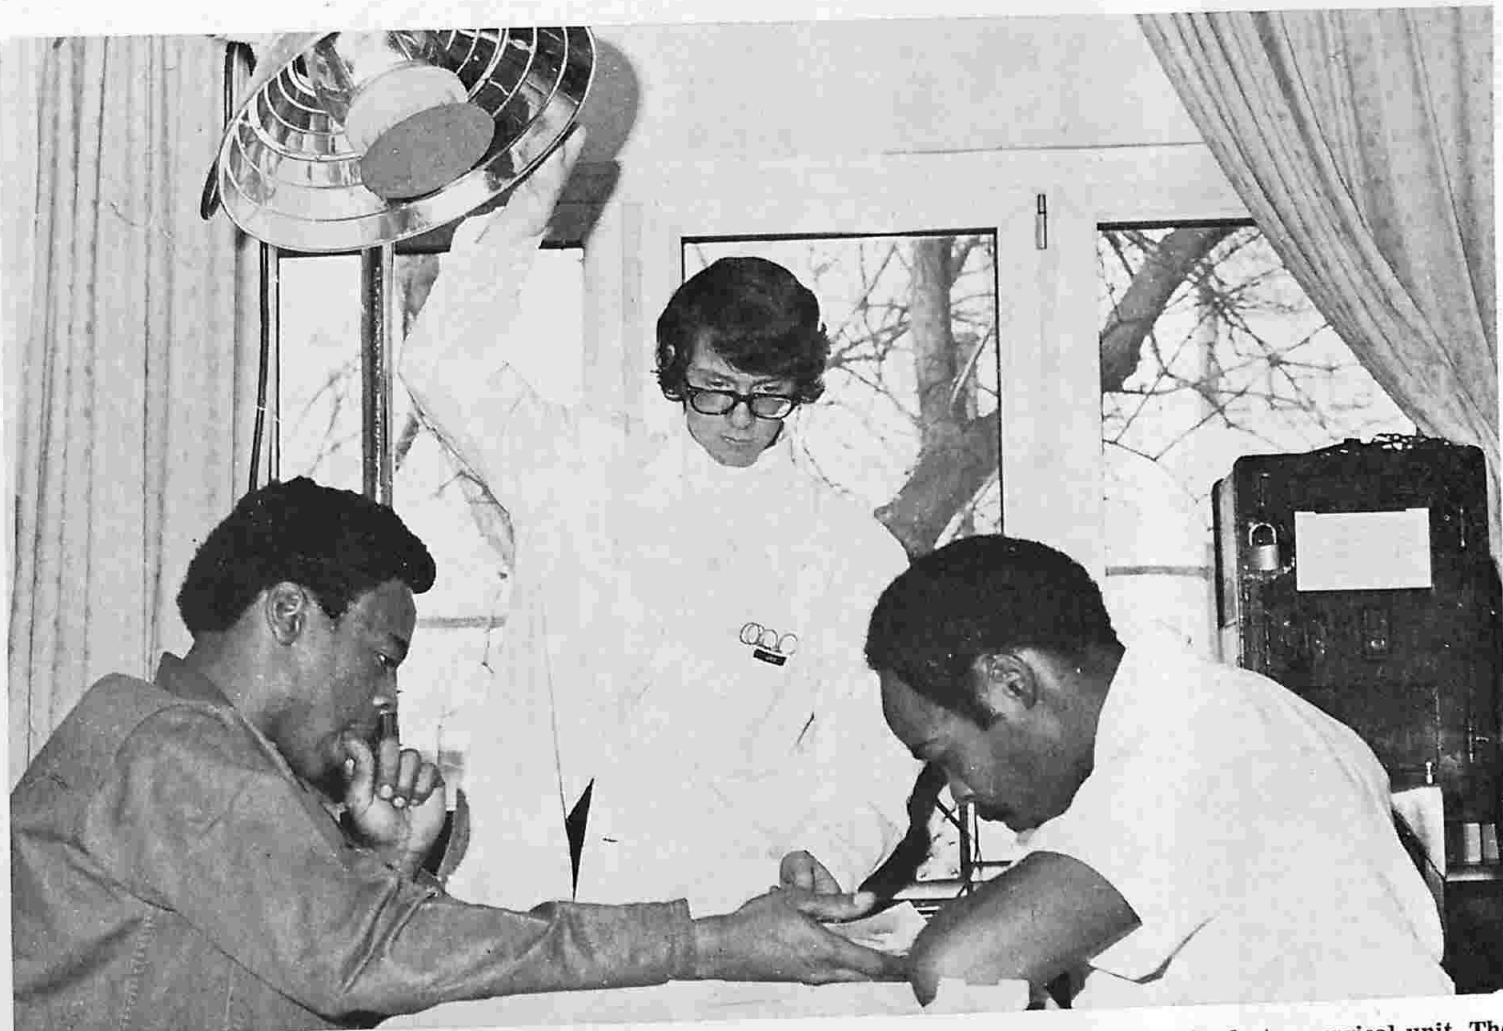

Some get paid

Many students are excited about being able to help others while helping themselves. Besides receiving credit, some students receive pay. CWE students who work as EES illustrators or PX or ESSO employees receive 75 cents an hour. More importantly, their experience makes them preferred summer hires.

Variety of positions

Currently there are about 100 students in the program working throughout Berlin. Students work in such diverse places as a German kindergarten, dental clinics, AFN-TV, supply, Berlin Observer, Thomas A. Roberts Elementary School with the teacher aid program and the hospital.

Debbie Cole, a student in CWE, says, "It is a very worthwhile program because it gives the student a chance to have the responsibilities of a regular job."

Community Observations

On-duty NCO speech classes

Two on-duty speech classes for NCOs will be conducted by the Army Education Center beginning Jan. 21-22. Two hours of college credit will be awarded for successful completion of the final examination. A class will meet at McNair Education Center on Mondays and Wednesdays and at Andrews Education Center on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Cemetery off-limits to BAHS students

The principal of the Berlin American High School has placed the Waldfriedhof Cemetery adjacent to the high school off-limits to all high school students to avoid causing resentment from German citizens due to loitering.

Cub Scout Pack 46 on transportation

Cub Scout Pack 46 will hold its monthly pack meeting at the TAR School Audio-Visual Room next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The theme for the meeting is transportation. All Cub Scouts and parents and potential Cub Scouts are invited to attend. The pack needs adult volunteers; no experience is necessary, just the desire to learn and help young people in scouting. Book of Numbers

"HERE, TRY THIS on for size." Some shady-looking city-slickers are given a suspicious once-over by a suspicious-looking trio of ex-city-slickers in Book of Numbers.

by Michael "Whatcha" McCollum

BOOK OF NUMBERS — Equal Opportunity finally reaches a small Arkansas town when a couple of enterprising blacks bring a big city numbers racket to town. In the depression era (just like now) everyone is out to make a buck and the little town is overrun by shady characters.

WHITE LIGHTNING — Burt Reynolds was a first-class whiskey runner until he got caught and thrown into jail. And to think, all these years I thought he was an actor. Well, this film proves me wrong as the "Centerfold of the Year" decides to change sides and becomes a special agent with the job of breaking up a local sheriff's illegal booze operation. This film contains violence and profanity.

KANSAS CITY BOMBER — Raquel Welch sprouts wheels (among other things) to portray the spill and thrill world of a Roller Derby skater. The exciting drama is supported by Playtex and real pro skaters to keep the action on the track lively (heh heh).

TRAVELS WITH MY AUNT — An eccentric (that's a polite way of saying nuttier than a fruitcake) English lady is trying to get the most of her whirlwind tour of Europe. The object of her travels is to raise some money, and her methods are just this side of legal. It's all fun and has some great scenery.

TRINITY IS STILL MY NAME — I have a feeling that if people wouldn't ask this schmuck what his name is, he might just fade away and take his movie with him. Trinity's super-fast gun hand is instrumental in breaking up a scheme to sell arms to some Mexican amputees. Why don't they ever stage Mexican revolutions in Oshkosh, Wisconsin?

Performers called 'Singing UN'

What—you haven't been to "Holiday on Ice" yet and you had planned not to miss this well-mixed ice cocktail? Well, better get to it, because tonight at 8 p.m. and tomorrow at 3 and 8 p.m. the last three shows will sparkle over the ice. Ted Shuffie has used all the favorite ingredients needed to make such a show a success: international skating stars, pretty girls, hilarious comedians, clever costumes, peppy music and some adorable chimpanzees. If you want to take children along, go to the matinee on Saturday, because children pay only half at the afternoon performance. Ticket sales begin at DM 6.

The "singing UN" is coming to the Deutschlandhalle tomorrow night. Forget sights of diplomats singing the folklore of their countries, and remember the peppy pop sounds of the Les Humphries Singers. What gave this group the nickname is the fact the singers come from Trinidad, Korea, Sweden, England, Scotland, Germany and the USA. They not only bring forth a colorful mixture in their looks and personalities, but also in their sound.

The Humphries Singers present a mixture of gospel, blues, soul and pop, plus the compositions of their English boss and founder, Les Humphries. They put on a show that is well-timed and professional, but makes the audience think it is improvised. Have a look and a listen (they sing mostly in English) to this young, explosive team. The event begins at 7 p.m.

Wednesday, January 23, offers you Demis Roussous in the Philharmonie. Mr. Roussous is a wild-looking Greek fellow who lives in Paris and makes a living by singing pop songs. There must be something to his voice, because his concert in the Philharmonie was sold out last year. This will probably be your last chance for a while to see and hear him, because he'll be singing "Goodbye, my Love, Goodbye" to his fans before he launches a tour to Mexico and Brazil. Show time is 9 p.m. It's probably better to get tickets ahead of time at a ticket agency.

Berlin's biggest horse sports event of the year begins next Friday, January 25, with a "Berlin Day," which gives the local mounts and riders a chance to show what they can do. It also gives the public an opportunity to visit the horse show for very low prices (DM 2.40-10.40) and see the traditional surprise show that ends each event.

One thing is for sure already, and that is that the top show jumpers from England, France, Italy and Germany will compete for many lucrative prizes. Of course, the dressage riders will also show their skills. Ten major events are scheduled between January 25 and 30, and it can be said that each one will be a delight for any horse show enthusiast.

International Green Week Berlin 1974

On January 25 the gates will open on the Berlin exhibition grounds for the International Green Week Berlin 1974. For 10 days the 23 exhibition halls in Germany's largest industrial city will again be both the traditional and international meeting centre for experts from the foodstuffs industry and from agriculture, as well as for hundreds of thousands of interested visitors. On the 88,000 sq.m. of Berlin exhibition grounds, more than 1,000 exhibitors from over 30 countries will submit a survey of the latest developments and technical achievements of modern agriculture and the foodstuffs industry, and will present a world-wide range of foodstuffs. This year Halls 7, 8 and 9 will form the garden centre. Special attraction in the international flower hall (Hall 7) are thousands and thousands of flowers, and in Hall 8 the visitor is furnished with detailed information on flower production. The special show in Hall 8 organized by the Federal Ministry of Foodstuffs, Agriculture and Forestry takes place with the theme "Modern Gardening". Ornamental plants are the main subject.

STAATLICHE MUSEEN

The Museum für Völkerkunde at Dahlem, near Dahlem Dorf U-Bahn station, on Lansstrasse 8, now has an exhibit on the American Plains Indians, a special exhibition that will run until March of this year. The exhibit, titled "The Plains and Prairie Indians from North America" is designed with children in mind. You may take your children to the exhibit and leave them there to play with buffalo robes, Indian headdresses and tepees. However, the exhibit is not intended for children only. It's definitely a family exhibit and one that shouldn't be missed. The museum is open: Tuesdays to Fridays from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays from 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

TOUR TO INTERNATIONAL GREEN WEEK

During the early afternoon of the 26th KONTAKT will be taking a group tour to the International Green Week exhibition on the Funkturm grounds. Green Week features foods and beverages typical of each country represented. It's a feast in itself just to see the exhibits and smell the aroma that pervades the air, but best of all you can sample all of the foods for a very modest fee. We're leaving from the McNair main gate (on Goerzallee) at 2 p.m. sharp via public transportation and returning directly to the party going on at the Folke Bernadotte. It's going to be a pretty full day; come prepared money wise. No reservations needed for anything on the 26th.

BARBER SHOP QUARTET SOCIETY

Did you know Berlin has what is the only European chapter of the SPEBSQSA? Great huh? Well it does and it is looking for new members, German as well as American. So if you want to come and see about joining the Berlin SPEBSQSA drop by the Harnack House any Wednesday at 8 p.m. By the way SPEBSQSA stands for the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America (and seems "in Europe" now). We recommend it to anyone interested in singing and good times.

Museum gets flags of territories

The official flags of six American territories were installed Monday in the Sixth Infantry Regimental Museum Hall of Honor of the U. S. Command, Berlin, officiated by Brigadier General Robert D. Stevenson, Commander of Berlin Brigade, and Captain Charles Green of the Berlin Brigade Equal Opportunity Office.

The flags of American Samoa, Washington, D. C., Guam, the Pacific Trust Islands, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands were unfurled and presented by members of the Infantry and Special Troops units as Green stated a few facts about the territory.

The installation of the flags was to honor the men and women of the territories who have served in the American Armed Forces both in time of war and of peace.

The newly installed flags will be permanently displayed with the state flags in the Hall of Honor. —JRB

Army's free legal aid can save you headaches

by Captain Robert Kimball
Attorney, U. S. Army

Every year, thousands of service men and women learn expensive lessons because they did not seek legal advice before they signed a contract for some service or before they signed a lease for a new home.

Most serious legal difficulties could be avoided by getting expert advice when the problem first comes up. It's often too late if you wait until you're already in trouble and then ask an attorney to "make it right."

As a possible guide, here is a sampling of services which are frequently provided by a military legal office. Your problem may not be included in the list, but don't hesitate to seek help for any problem you may face.

WILLS — This is a standard problem that you may want legal assistance with. If you're concerned about providing for someone particular upon your death, want to change your will, or want to appoint guardians for your children in the event of the death of you and your wife, a legal officer can draw up a sample will. It's also a good idea to review your will periodically to make sure it's up to date.

DEBT COUNSELING — Members of the military may face problems because of an inability to pay debts or they may receive letters of indebtedness requesting that his unit commander insure payment of the debts.

Any serviceman who is having problems with bills, or who is being hounded about a debt which he feels that he doesn't owe, had better get legal help. An arrangement can often be made with creditors to make smaller or delayed payments. If the soldier doesn't actually owe the debt, legal action can be taken to stop the creditor from trying to force payment.

Sometimes members of the military may find themselves hopelessly in debt with no apparent way out. In such a case, the legal officer can advise him on the wisdom of declaring bankruptcy.

DIVORCE — Legal help is often sought by a serviceman who either wants a divorce or a support action by his wife. Usually, if his wife is seeking a divorce, the man's concern is with a property settlement, custody of children, or with the amount of support payments.

Often it is desirable to delay the proceedings under the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act until the man can return home to protect his interests or until he can work out an agreement with his wife. The legal officer can assist in arranging the necessary delay or in working out an agreement with the wife's attorney.

If the soldier is seeking a divorce, the legal officer can advise him on grounds for divorce, where to file the divorce, and how to begin divorce proceedings.

POWERS OF ATTORNEY — Another valuable service provided by the legal office is the preparation of powers of attorney. By filling out a power of attorney, a soldier can give someone back in the United States the power to use the soldier's money to pay debts or make purchases, buy, sell or lease cars, real estate or make deposits or withdrawals on the soldier's bank account. The power of attorney enables someone in the soldier's family to handle his business affairs.

CLAIMS — The legal office has a claims office to help military members to be reimbursed for items which are damaged, stolen or destroyed in the course of military duties.

Items shipped in hold baggage may be damaged on their way to the destination or they may be lost. In such cases, the serviceman may be paid for all or part of his loss, depending on the type of items involved and their age.

Losses from theft are recoverable through filing a claim with the legal office. The property, however, must have been properly secured at the time of the theft. Military Police reports, commander's reports and statements by other people can be used to establish the fact that the property was properly secured.

A legal officer may be able to help with problems other than those listed here or he may be able to send you to someone who can give you the help you need.

The main thing to remember is, if you think you need help, ask. —AFPS

Crump Hall Library begins exhibitions

Displays and books are a natural combination. Each represents a means of spreading knowledge and exciting interest, books through word symbols, and displays through visual symbols.

With the new year we have an added feature at the Crump Hall Library: every two months we will focus on an exhibition of paintings, drawings, photographs, prints, local museum material, collections of insects, stamps, coins, stones or works of arts and crafts.

Our January/February display of paintings has been graciously lent to us by Mrs. Horton, art teacher at the John F. Kennedy School, and her students. In the near future we plan a neighborhood exhibition of your works of art. Everyone who has painting or drawing abilities is welcome to exhibit his work of art with us. If you have never tried your hand at art work, why don't you give yourself a chance? You might discover a hidden talent! Books for beginners and advanced hobby artists are available at your Special Services Libraries.

We would also appreciate knowing which collectors would let us display their items for a short period of time. Our utmost care is guaranteed. If you are interested in displaying your paintings, drawings, photographs or collections, please contact Marga Danesy, program chairman at the main library, at Berlin military 6119.
