Mini-courses are maxi-fun way to learn

by Michael S. McCollum

Remember when you were in high school? It seems that all there was to learn were the three Rs and a little football on the side. Lately, the Berlin American High School has expanded its curriculum to include many diverse subjects.

This past week has been mini-course week at BAHS. Over 120 classes and more than 90 volunteer teachers have been involved in a program which is designed to bring a wide scope of courses to the high school student. The subjects are types of classes which are not normally found at a high school, but may be of interest to the student.

One week only

Mini-courses are designed to give the participant as much knowledge of a subject as possible in the short time available. The reason was that the mini-courses lasted only a week and not for a school year. The classes lasted only 55 minutes, and the "mini-student" was allowed to take five classes per day.

CHECK AND MATE IN TWO, says Harry Sweeney (right). Sweeney and Lloyd Olsen (left) were teaching beginners chess during mini-course week. Many kids learned about the basics of chess, while others learned some of the finer points. (Photo by Rich Bailey)

Some of the courses, such as Yoga, tie-dying, Karate, mountaineering, and trap and skeet shooting, seemed a bit exotic. Yet, as long as there was an interest, the course was offered.

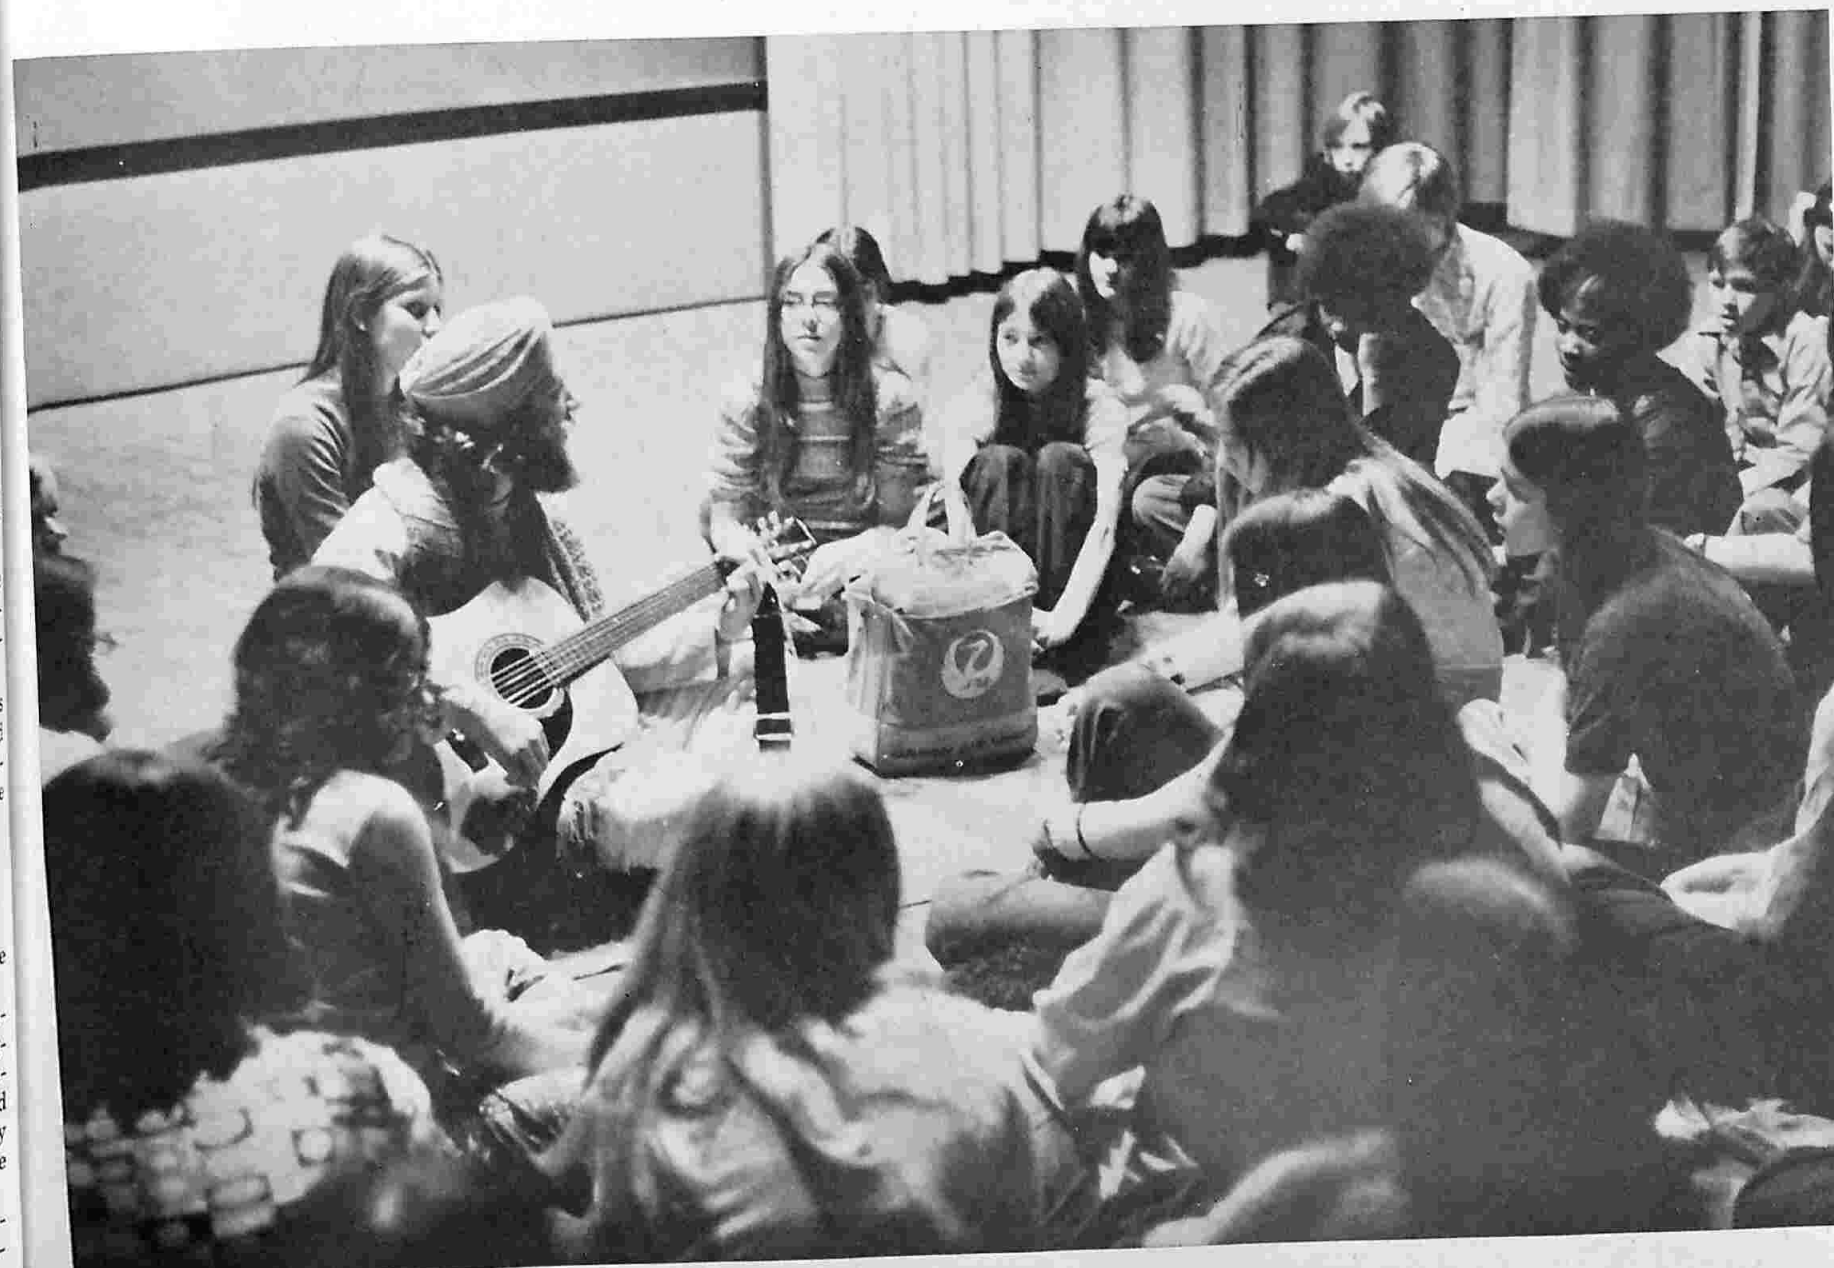

Many of the courses involved things that would be akin to hobbies, such as bowling, tennis, amateur radio and puppeteering.

Courses for everyone

Many classes were on subjects you would have expected to find in a university: hematology, x-ray techniques, dietetics and anthropology, to name a few. There was a course for just about everyone.

There were a few administrative problems to be gotten out of the way. A program such as this requires that volunteer teachers be found within the community, that a curriculum booklet be written and that every student be registered for five of the more than 120 courses offered. Linda Culea, work-study co-ordinator and German language teacher at BAHS, has been primarily responsible for the program. Response to the program, she said, was "excellent."

"The students are very happy about the mini-courses," said BAHS junior Kent Stout, the schedule co-ordinator for the week. "They're getting a chance to learn things they normally wouldn't be able to learn in high school."

BAHS Cubs finish 2nd in tourney

by Debbie Marmor

The Berlin American High School Cubs ended their 1973-74 basketball season this past week, Feb. 21-23, with the US-DESEA Championships held in Rhein-Main. The Cubs, seeded number one in the tournament, drew a bye in the first round when eight seeded Munich withdrew from the competition.

In the semifinals, Berlin went up against a very tough Würzburg team. Trailing by six points at halftime, Berlin staged a third quarter comeback and outscored Würzburg 15-6. But Würzburg fought back, and with 1:35 remaining in the game, Würzburg held the lead 43-42. But Berlin's Greg Davis made two key steals and blocked a shot which were converted into Berlin points. Berlin won 47-43. Randy Smith led all scorers with 19 points followed by Brad Malloy with eight, Bob Todd with eight, and Greg Davis and Robin Westerfield getting six apiece.

Then last Saturday Berlin played Augsburg in the finals. Augsburg, using an effective man-to-man defense and well patterned offense, downed Berlin 51-42. Augsburg led all the way and was never challenged. Their leads varied from two to eleven points. Greg Davis had scoring honors with 12 points followed by Randy Smith with 10 and Robin Westerfield with eight.

Soccer club wins last 'friendly' game

by Marcel Rodriguez

Playing their last friendly game before the season opens next week, the Berlin American Soccer Club brought out their first team and trounced the Berlin Gillette team, 4-1. Newcomers Mick Meechem, John Wilson scored one goal apiece and Paddy Yarr scored two.

The BASC eleven have a good chance of advancing to the second division this year and proved it by defeating the Gillette team. Last week's lineup forwards were John Wilson, Paddy Yarr, Mick Meechem and Marcel Rodriguez. Midfielders were Larry Reynolds, John Mackerer and Howard Wright. John Veenstra, Ralf Kreuzer, Victor Kasztelanski and Ken (legs) Salmon were the standout fullbacks and superstar Dan Scioletti tended the goal gates.

The first game of the season begins at 8 p.m. versus BSC Stark on March 4 at the Zehlendorf's Ernst Reuter Sportplatz on Onkel Tom Strasse.

ADAC tests autos free

Attention, motorists! The ADAC (German Automobile Club) will test your car's headlights and engine free of charge.

Vehicle headlights for all USAREUR-plated autos may be checked by the ADAC through March 19 at #13 Columbiendamm, across from Tempelhof Central Airport. Operating hours will Mon-Fri, 10 a.m.-1 p.m. for all vehicle owners and 2-6:30 p.m. and 9 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturday for ADAC members only.

To have your engine checked by ADAC, go to Berlin 30 #1-3 Prager Platz (enter at #10-12 Prager Strasse) 8:30 a.m.-1 p.m. and 2-5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and Saturday 8 a.m.-2 p.m. The engine must be clean before ADAC will check it.

Berlin Bears win, tie; will host allied tourney

by Marty Best

The Berlin Bears Brigade Team Handball Team upped their record to 3-2-1 with a win Feb. 17 and a tie last Saturday. The Bears compete in an eight-team league and play all seven teams twice. The top two teams advance to the next higher league. If the Bears are allowed to make up the two games they missed due to a one month late notification of the season's start, and they win both, they will be tied for second place.

The Bears defeated TSV Spandau 17-12 Feb. 17 in one of their most impressive showings to date. The Bears used a slowdown, basketball stall-type offense forcing the Spandau team to come out of their defense and the Bears took the high percentage shots and made them count. Chuck Swannack played a "super" all-around high scoring game while Carper and Valentini were the intimidating defensive walls.

Jerry Alley and Jim Jacobs made their Berlin debut and fit in well with the Bears mauling, bruising defense. Pat Patterson and John Evina picked up the scoring slack with Evina's left-handed fast break shots and Patterson's rifle arm shots for big points. Marty Best decided not to bail out of the goal this week and was more effective than the TSV goalie and that's all that matters. Carper, Alley and Valentini each scored his first goal in a well rounded scoring performance.

Last Saturday was perhaps the most exciting game of the year so far. The second half of league play started, and the Bears played powerful DJK Spandau, the team which holds second place. DJK was the only team to really embarrass the Bears this year in a 14-6 rout in front of such spectators as Brigadier General Robert D. Stevenson and his wife with Colonel Leonard Lewane and his wife. Well, this time defense was the game, and the Bears put it all together for 48 minutes. The only problem was that it's a 50-minute game, and what should have been a Bear victory became a 8-8 tie with two late goals by DJK.

AYA b-ball teams, cheerleaders in tourney

Berlin AYA teams will participate in the 1974 USAREUR Dependent Youth Activities (DYA) invitational basketball tournament and cheerleading contest this month.

The bantam boys, who drew a bye the first round, will play in the finals in Kaiserslautern at the Vogelweh gymnasium and high school March 30. The juniors will play in preliminary rounds in Stuttgart March 23, while the seniors do likewise the same date in Hessen Support District. Either team making the finals will play March 30 in Kaiserslautern. Junior girls will play in Kaiserslautern March 30, while Berlin AYA cheerleaders will compete the same place and date.

AYA needs help

The AYA is looking for qualified instructors to help teach beginning swimming.

Also needed are coaches to help with this year's track program. Anyone interested in either area should contact the AYA Athletic Office at 6239 or 6247.

"Plunge" Pirkle scored five of the Bears goals, three on penalty shots and Chuck Swannack scored the other three goals. "Crash" Carper and "Boom Boom" Valentini were again the defense extraordinaire. Mr. Hustle, John Evina, was tireless in his steady 50 minute performance and Pat Patterson played the unusual role of set up man as he passed off to Swannack and Pirkle on his picks.

Marty Best had his seasonal best of allowing only eight goals, but the defense made it all possible as its aggressive tenaciousness again intimidated the opponent into bad shots and turnovers. DJK's goalie played spectacularly, or else the game might have been a runaway. The score was 2-2 at halftime and this game was indeed unique to the sport that sees from 25 to 40 goals per game. Again the Bears played with only one substitute as this team is really in great shape.

There are two league games each of the next two weeks. Then for the first time the home fans will get a chance to look at the rugby rough Bears March 16-17 in an allied tournament against the French and British at the BB Sports Center in the afternoons.

New team statistician

Ed McCaul became the statistician in the 17-12 victory. Having someone give the score and time set a new tempo for the game and that was the difference for the Bears who had been hampered by the lack of both in the past. He is a welcome addition to the team.

Taxi tripping: head off hassles

Should you ever use the taxis here in Berlin, there are a few things you should know. Lack of familiarity with many of the regulations concerning taxis and taxi rates has caused unfortunate incidents between taxi drivers and members of the Berlin Command.

The meters of Berlin taxis are calibrated into two rates. Rate 1 is used for empty taxis while en route to picking up passengers and on normal working days (Monday-Saturday, except legal holidays) during the hours of 6 a.m.-12 midnight. Rate 2 is used during the hours of 12:01 a.m.-6 a.m., on Sundays and legal holidays.

The applicable rate begins at the start of the trip. If a trip has begun before 12 midnight or 6 a.m. and continues beyond this time, the meter will be changed to the appropriate rate at 12:01 a.m. or 6 a.m.

If you order your taxi in advance, an additional fee of DM 1 will be charged. After you order your taxi, if you decide to cancel your request you will have to pay the amount indicated on the meter.

Usually after you arrive at your destination you will find that the driver will tell you what the charge will be. The price will be a mark or two higher than what is shown on the meter. Some of the basic fees are as follows; the initial charge is DM 1.60 and two supplemental charges of DM 0.50 each. The supplemental charge of DM 1 will added to the fare shown on the meter. Under Rate 1, the charge for each kilometer is DM 0.75, and under Rate 2 it will be DM 0.95.

If you are carrying baggage that weighs between 20 and 55 pounds, you will be required to pay an additional charge of DM 0.50. Each additional 55 pounds or less will cost you another 50 pfennigs. If you want the taxi driver to carry your luggage from the taxi to the ground floor of a building, he can charge you 50 pfennigs. He can hit you with a charge of 50 pfennigs for each floor up that you want to go till he reaches a maximum charge of DM 2.

There isn't any charge for the first five minutes of waiting for you, but he can charge you 20 pfennigs for each minute after the first five. Taxi drivers are authorized to ask you for advance payment, if they deem it necessary.

If you are traveling with your buddies, keep in mind that taxi drivers are bound by law to permit a maximum of three passengers in the rear and one passenger in the front. Don't try to pressure the taxi driver, as it will only lead to hassles. If the driver has a no smoking sign (NICHTRAUCHER) posted on the outside of the taxi, please adhere to it.

In case of a dispute, you should pay the requested amount and then ask for a receipt. You should also make careful note of the taxi's license number. The receipt should then be given to the Provost Marshal's Office with all the pertinent data for investigation.

'Here come da judge' and SJA lawyers, too!

This past week has seen an influx of lawyers in Berlin. Was there some kind of important trial going on? No, it was a conference of military court martial lawyers being hosted by the Berlin office of the Staff Judge Advocate.

Over 60 lawyers were here in Berlin to discuss different points of law, refresh their memories on little-used law tactics and go over different aspects of court law. Two previous conferences were held in Berchtesgaden for the simple reason of staggering the number of lawyers at a conference so USA-REUR wasn't left without lawyers for a week.

Among other things, a mock trial was held with different lawyers playing the part of judge. This was for the purpose of instruction in cross-examination and evidence presentation.

Major Dennis R. Hunt, an SJA judge in Frankfurt, was lecturing on evidence presentation and constitutional rulings on evidence. "This type of conference is a good thing," Hunt said. "It gives professional people a chance to refresh themselves and pick up on new ideas."

Thirsty? There is the usual bier or schnapps found in all German establishments, but Mom also has a way with coffee, and what she can do for a cup of hot chocolate can't be described!

Mom says write home

Mom also has a knack for discovering the homesick, offering paper and envelopes to those she feels should be writing home. She keeps a hidden stock of post cards and stamps, just in case the urge should hit you to write that letter you've been putting off for the last couple of weeks.

Has the beautiful Hohenfels weather (I jest, of course) given you a cold? Never fear, Mom can spot you a mile off, and usually offers you her home cure (a hot rum toddy—she calls it Grog) to at least lessen the pain. And always given with a "Gesundheit!"

Yes, Mom's—a place that feels like home, with apple struedel!

The guys call her Mom

by Ralph Callaway

Remember Mom's? You know—Mom, home and apple struedel. Struedel?

Right On! One of the favorite places for the men of the 3rd Battalion, 6th Infantry on their trips to the Hohenfels Major Training Area is Kantine 4011, or as it is known to us—MOM's.

Located at Camp Poellnricht, normally the location of the Bundeswehr units in training, Mom's is a Kantine in the German fashion, providing much the same services as our own Open Mess system, but in an atmosphere more reminiscent of your kitchen at home than a club.

And Mom? She is Mrs. Dorothy Klopper, an honorary lifetime member of the 3rd Battalion, and the reason Mom's is Mom's.

Mom's is a change of pace after a long day of soldiering, providing a homey atmosphere for the weary.

To clear the pallet of the institutionalized meals of the mess hall, Mom does a roaring business in home-cooked German food, including schnitzels, bratwurst and sauerkraut, roast chicken and sandwiches of various types. Her sandwiches were always in demand, so much so that she was heard to complain of the extra hundred or so that she made up to be sold at the nightly free movies.

Spring term begins soon at AEC

by Eva Wendler

The McNair Barracks Army Education Center encourages all Americans stationed in Berlin to make better use of their free time by taking one of the courses offered in the off-duty spring term beginning March 18. It is worth your while to spend two nights a week at the AEC if you keep in mind that the educational process is going on.

Among the following offerings there is definitely one course for any person interested in advancing his education.

The pre-college English course, meeting Tuesdays and Thursdays, is designed for the student who wants to prepare for college entrance examinations, improve his vocabulary and better his writing style. Study skills, note-taking, research papers, essays and listening skills will also be covered. The course will also be helpful for those who want to raise their GT scores.

Prepare for GT test

The pre-college mathematics course will provide an excellent opportunity to review basic math skills in preparation for the GT test or college entrance exams. It is general mathematics with emphasis on basic arithmetic, measurement, informal geometry and basic algebra. This class meets Mondays and Wednesdays.

The primary objectives of the introduction to data processing course are to provide a broad insight into the many techniques and applications of modern data processing for those desiring a general knowledge of the important and dynamic field, and to provide a good foundation for those planning further study in specific areas of data processing. Some time will be permitted to see and operate KP, sorter, reproducer and interpreter machines. Classes will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays. Prerequisite is a high school diploma or equivalent.

Rewarding career field

Law enforcement is one of the most rewarding career fields open to young men today. Introduction to law enforcement, a one-semester college survey course, will be helpful to persons interested in careers in law enforcement at all levels, in industrial security programs and in correction and rehabilitation programs. A high school diploma or equivalent is required. It's a Monday and Wednesday course.

The typing course is designed for students whose objective is to prepare for a job as company clerk, supply clerk or for any other office occupation where some typing is required. While the course is vocational in nature, any student would profit from the personal-use aspects of the course, the beginner as well as the advanced student. Typing meets Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Try electronics

Electronics is another interesting course on the schedule. This introductory course will provide the student with the fundamental principles needed for all applications of electronics, including television and radio. It is for the beginning student who does not have any previous experience in electricity or electronics. Classes will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The auto mechanics course for beginners will acquaint the student with the general principles and theory of construction, operation and maintenance of automotive engines and the electrical system of the automobile. The student becomes familiar with locating troubles and making necessary repairs in the automotive engine and the electrical equipment. This class is scheduled to meet Mondays and Thursdays.

A Russian language course for beginners has not been on the schedule for a long time. Recent inquiries prove that there is a certain interest in this language. Russian is perhaps the most important foreign language for military and diplomatic personnel. Interested persons should take advantage of the course now, as it will not be offered in each turn. The Russian course will meet Mondays and Wednesdays.

Always a big hit

The German language program is always the big hit! There are beginners, intermediate and advanced courses available. The language barrier makes it difficult to make friends. This should not be the reason to miss enjoyable communications with Berlin's people. Of course, nobody can speak German fluently after only one course—why not take a few consecutive courses? Students who have completed the basic requirements have the chance to enroll in one of the advanced German classes. Courses are available Monday and Wednesday or Tuesday and Thursday.

All classes meet from 6:30 to 9 p.m. for a period of eight weeks at the McNair Barracks AEC, Building 1001-D. Registrations will be accepted March 4-15, Monday through Thursday 8 a.m.-9 p.m., Friday 8 a.m.-5 p.m. in room 327/329, or by phone at 3164 or 3120.

Reading classes begin

While we're on the subject of education, don't forget the Executive Reading Program, a course which begins Monday. The course will be offered only at the reading center, Rooms 3026-3029, Building 1, Headquarters Compound.

Afternoon classes from 1 to 2 o'clock will be given Monday through Friday through April 12. Evening classes will be given Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, 6:30-8:30, through April 5.

The Developmental Reading Program, a 30-hour refresher course in basic reading skills, also begins Monday at the Headquarters reading center. Classes will be offered Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 3 to 5 p.m. through April 12.

What's an AE Form 2074?

If you sell or give any nonconsumable item (such as a stereo) to, say, a German national, you should remember that customs regulations prescribe certain procedures that must be followed by both the seller or donor and the recipient.

Merchandise purchased in PXs are not subject to German import duties, which is why prices are lower in the PX than they are on the economy. Before you may sell PX-purchased merchandise to a non-authorized person, you must have had the item in your possession for at least six months, and you must obtain prior approval from German customs authorities.

USAREUR Regulation 550-175 tells how to obtain this permission: "Five copies of AE Form 2074 (Permit to Transfer) will be completed by the seller or donor and forwarded or personally presented to the 42nd Military Police Group (Customs), APO 09403. All copies of the application must bear separate signatures in ink of the applicant . . . No AE Form 2074 is normally required for a motor vehicle of German manufacture, provided it has not been licensed outside the Federal Republic of Germany or the western sectors of Berlin, and documentary proof (e. g., original bill of sale, canceled German title book) is furnished by the seller to German customs authorities that the vehicle had been originally purchased in the FRG or the western sectors of Berlin without any duty and tax exemption.

"Four copies of AE Form 2074 will be returned by the 42nd Military Police Group (Customs) to the applicant, who will personally present all four copies to the appropriate German customs authorities for final approval. On completion of their action, German customs authorities will retain two copies of the document, and one copy each will be returned to the seller/donor and the purchaser/donee."

For further information, contact the Berlin Office of the 42nd MP Group (Customs) at (819) 3522.

Postage rates go up tonight

In case you haven't heard already, postage rates for all types of U. S. mail go up at midnight tonight. Mail post-marked March 2 will require 10 cents postage per ounce for first class and 13 cents per ounce for airmail. Postage for post cards will go up two cents: to eight cents for first class, to 11 cents for airmail.

All the above postage rates are for mail destined for the United States and its possessions, APOs, FPOs, and to Mexico and Canada. For new rates applicable to international mail and for parcel rates, contact any APO.

'Big 10' program terminated

"Big 10" is no more. Effective July 1, the Uniformed Services Savings Deposit Program, commonly known as "Big 10," will be phased out except for accounts of missing-in-action (MIA) personnel.

The Finance & Accounting Office will accept no new accounts or cash deposits after March 31. Allotments for the savings program will be administratively discontinued April 1. Requests for emergency withdrawals will be processed locally until May 31. Requests received after May 31 will be prepared as a request for final repayment and will be paid by the U. S. Army Finance Support Agency.

Procedures for settlement of the current savings deposits accounts will be published when F&AO receives instructions from the Department of the Army.

Rented cars in East Berlin?

Are you planning to use a borrowed or rented automobile to visit East Berlin or to drive to West Germany? There are some new restrictions imposed by the command on the use of such vehicles by Berlin-based personnel.

Personnel at Checkpoints Bravo and Charlie will not allow the passage of a rented or borrowed vehicle operated by a Berlin-based member of the Forces unless the operator produces authorization signed by the vehicle owner, the operator and the battalion commander or staff chief authorized to approve such travel.

These restrictions apply only to travel to East Berlin and on the Berlin-Helmstedt Autobahn.

Take bus to NAAFI, Economat

Have you thought about visiting the British and French PXs but can't find a way to get there? Don't forget that the Berlin Brigade Transportation Division operates a bus to both these installations every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. This special bus operates on the following schedule:

Dep	Andrews Bks Swimming Pool	9:00
Dep	McNair Bks Bakery	9:10
Dep	Shopping Cntr Bus Terminal	9:30
Arr	French Economat	10:00
Dep	French Economat	11:00
Arr	British NAAFI	11:15
Dep	British NAAFI	12:15
Arr	Shopping Cntr Bus Terminal	12:30
Arr	McNair Bks Bakery	12:50
Arr	Andrews Bks Swimming Pool	1:00

COLA, SHA reduced

The Berlin Brigade Finance & Accounting Office has announced changes in the Cost of Living Allowance

(COLA) and Station Housing Allowance (SHA) effective February 17. SHA for the Helmstedt Support Detachment was discontinued, COLA for Helmstedt was decreased by 30 per cent and SHA for Berlin was decreased by 20 per cent.

Service members who receive SHA and COLA may expect that the overpayments from February 17 to 28 will be collected from March '74 pay.

Gasoline prices climb

Yes, the price of gasoline at European Exchange System service stations has gone up, but don't throw away your old gasoline coupons. Coupons purchased at the price established seven months ago will still be honored by EES stations.

EES estimates that customers have over 30 million liters worth of coupons, or about a two-month supply, which were purchased at the old prices. Regular gasoline now sells for $13.80 instead of $9.40 per 100 liter book. Premium now sells for $15.95 instead of $11.50.

Berlin air fares go up, too

Starting today the Berlin air traffic prices will increase about 9.8 per cent. It means you'll have to pay from DM 12-24 more than usual. Youths and elderly persons will still receive a price reduction of about 25 per cent on the new prices.

Examples of the increased air fares from Berlin are as follows:

To	one-way		round-trip
	old	new	old	new
	DM		DM
Bremen	80	88	132	148
Frankfurt	104	114	176	196

Nürnberg	93	102	154	172
Stuttgart	124	136	208	232

AUSA members meet

by John Spiezia

Why is the Department of Defense terminating the "Big 10" savings program, and what about mandatory conscription? Why aren't more senators and congressmen supporting a reinstatement of the draft?

These were just a few of the questions fired at Dwight Brewer, Resolutions Committee chairman, when he opened the floor to additional resolution proposals at last Friday's business meeting of the Berlin Chapter of the Association of the United States Army (AUSA).

"Unfortunately," Brewer said, "I don't have all the answers. That's why we're meeting here today." And meet the Berlin chapter did! What first appeared to be a few hard-core members trickling into the Club 50 for the Chapter's first business meeting, soon mushroomed into an influx of over 100 curious and prospective members—both men and women alike from every organization in or related to the Berlin Command.

"No supper club"

Brigadier General Robert D. Stevenson, Chapter president and many feel Berlin's most aggressive AUSA proponent, keynoted the business meeting by vowing that Berlin's Chapter would not be merely a "dinner club" like many organizations become after propping to be active.

"The revived Berlin Chapter," said Stevenson, "plans to hold a business meeting in conjunction with every social function it hosts. In this way, Berlin can contribute meaningful resolutions, as it has in the past, to the annual European AUSA business convention."

Government service draft

One particularly interesting proposal, made by one of Berlin's hard-core members, was the establishment of a "government service" draft which would be somewhat more palatable to the draftee than the present purely military induction system.

According to the proposal, all young men of draft age would serve the federal government in one of several ways: as an active duty soldier, as a Peace Corps or VISTA volunteer, as a government employee in a supportive role or in some similar duty capacity. Service would last for approximately 18 months or longer. According to this system, all Americans would serve their country, religious restrictions, physical profiles or political preferences notwithstanding.

"AUSA is Army"

BG Stevenson also reflected how the national AUSA suffered as a result of the military's unpopular post-Vietnam image, and how it is gaining prestige today.

"The AUSA," said Stevenson, "is becoming a more viable force which not only is a voice of the Army, but is the Army." Why the AUSA has gained impetus and what is proposed, however, are still nebulous to many.

An in-depth explanation of AUSA's purpose, which did not exist years ago; a constant interface between the civil and military communities; a pointed and forceful resolutions campaign designed in acquiring "tangible" benefits, such as continued medical care for all dependents, equity in service pay, an improved dependent education system, to include the passage of legislation for the appropriation of funds to modernize and expand existing overseas school facilities and a firm opposing stand regarding any legislation which would grant general amnesty; and an active recruitment of younger personnel have all contributed in making AUSA's position regarded heavily by legislators in Washington.

Soldier-oriented problems

These are but a few of the policy goals of the AUSA which have improved the organization's image and effect by addressing soldier-oriented problems.

In summarizing, BG Stevenson stated how all of us in the Army—AUSA members and non-members alike—benefit from positive legislation effected with the help of the AUSA.

Following the president's report, Command Sergeant Major John E. Wise, membership chairman, highlighted personnel gains for the Berlin Chapter. At publication, the Berlin Chapter rolls reflected only 24 members short in the military personnel category, and 20 members short in the civilian category. Berlin's membership goal is hoped to be filled by May. Wise also beckoned all non-members of the Berlin Chapter to re-register with him.

Social activities announced

Command Sergeant Major George Otis, activities chairman, then spotlighted proposed social activities for the coming season. He invited all members, golfers and duffers alike, the latter which Otis quite pointedly inferred we had in abundance at the meeting, to participate in an AUSA golf tournament and picnic this spring. The tournament will be open to members only, while the ensuing picnic festivities will be offered to all.

Otis also announced plans for an AUSA formal dinner late next fall. Allocations, the number as yet unspecified, for the European AUSA convention to be held in Gar-misch May 21-24 will be given to the Berlin Chapter soon and chapter members will be chosen to attend.

MG Burton speaks

The following night, Saturday, over 200 people filled the Harnack House to attend the first AUSA dinner-dance. Major General Jonathan E. Burton, commander of the 3rd Armored Division and guest speaker, lightly incorporated several AUSA resolution topics, such as VOLAR, into an interesting and amusing speech. MG Burton succinctly related several personal Army experiences which he had, such as patrolling the Rio Grande River, cavalry fashion, over 20 years ago, to his recent inspection of the 3rd Armored Division WACs' innovative use of former male latrine facilities as potted plants!

"Quite practical" idea

"The WACs' idea was quite practical," said MG Burton. "Whenever they desired to water the plants, all they had to do was flush!"

Needless to say, those who attended the dinner enjoyed Burton's handling of the subject matter as much as they did the King's Own Scottish Borderers bagpipe dancers and the barbershop quartet which performed.

Berlin's AUSA has been re-vitalized, as evidenced by the successful business and social functions it hosted this past weekend. Can you identify any major areas where the Army needs improvement? Your suggestions, coupled with those of other AUSA members, can be molded into resolutions which can change this organization. Find out for yourself by contacting your nearest AUSA representative.

USO Shows, in affiliation with the American Theatre Association, will present "By Jupiter," a rousing musical comedy set in the pre-Christian era. The story concerns Amazons and Greeks and their fight for the powerful sacred girdle of Diana. Mistakes, chases and pretty girls all combine in song, dance and laughter to tell the story of the battle of the sexes.

'By Jupiter'

"By Jupiter" will be performed at the All-American Recreation Center on March 9 at 8 p.m. and at the Hi-Lite Recreation Center the following night at 8 p.m. There will also be a variety show, "Real World," consisting of music, dance and comedy skits. It will be performed at the All-American Recreation Center on March 11 at 8 p.m. and at the Hi-Lite Recreation Center on March 12 at 6 p.m.

Simple antenna can improve AFN-FM reception

Reception of the AFN-FM broadcasts can be improved by many relatively simple methods. When trying to improve your AFN-FM reception, it must be remembered that FM signals, like TV signals, generally travel in a line of sight pattern and, like television, require special precautions to obtain good reception.

Proper orientation of FM radios with only a built-in antenna can often provide a marked improvement in reception. Turn the receiver at various angles to determine the strongest FM signal. Sometimes moving the set to another location in the room will provide a considerable increase in reception strength.

Placing the radio near a window, or actually on the window sill, may avoid the shielding effect of the thick masonry and brick walls generally prevalent in European construction.

Try exterior antenna

If these methods do not provide satisfactory reception, an antenna exterior to the radio set and/or the building may be necessary. In many cases, a simple home made antenna, as described below, will suffice. If this does not give satisfactory AFN-FM reception, a commercially manufactured FM antenna may be necessary.

CAUTION: WHENEVER WORKING AROUND THE BACK SIDE OF ANY RADIO SET, FIRST BE SURE THE RADIO IS DISCONNECTED FROM ITS POWER SOURCE.

One type of simple homemade antenna can be constructed from inexpensive flat TV lead-in wire (300 ohm type). Cut a piece of this flat TV lead-in wire four feet, 10 inches long and remove the insulation from both of the wires at each end. Next, twist the two wires together at each end and cover these bare ends with electrical plastic insulation tape.

Mount with thumbtacks

Next, move to the middle of this piece of flat TV lead-in wire and remove the insulation from one of the wires and attach any length of twin lead wire necessary to reach the radio receiver. This antenna can be mounted by pushing thumbtacks through the insulation between the wires and tacking it to a wall, the back of a large wardrobe, the back of a picture frame or even spreading it out on the floor beneath a rug.

The positioning of this simple antenna will be critical, and it may have to be moved several times before satisfactory reception is obtained. To further improve reception, it may be mounted outside on a "T" shaped wooden stand, mounted on a flower trellis, etc. As with the TV antenna, the higher it is mounted, the greater the probability of increasing the quality of AFN-FM reception.

Commercially manufactured FM antennas, similar in design to TV antennas, are available on special order through the EES, or can be purchased from a local radio shop. These antennas are either a single antenna or multiple special antennas, depending on the distance the radio receiver is located from AFN's FM transmitter. A three element antenna has been known to provide satisfactory AFN-FM reception over 25 miles from the typical AFN low-powered FM transmitter. Again, the higher the antenna can be mounted, generally, the better the reception.

Permission required

Antennas requiring any attachment to or modification of a building can be mounted on government buildings only with the permission of the local facilities engineer. Request to install an antenna on a government building or quarters must be submitted on DA Form 2701 (Job Order Request) to the local facilities engineer. The request generally should include a statement that the work will be performed without cost to the U. S. government, that the owner accepts responsibility for the antenna, and that the antenna will be properly protected from lightning.

The application generally should include a diagram indicating where and how the antenna is to be mounted. When this request has been initially approved by the facilities engineer, the antenna may be erected. Upon completion, the facilities engineer is normally notified, and engineer personnel inspect the completed installation prior to granting final approval.

When all else fails . . .

If all above measures fail to improve reception, the FM section of the radio receiver should be checked and aligned by a reliable repair shop. Since many of the AFN-FM transmitters are extremely low-powered, it requires maximum set sensitivity for good reception.

These helpful hints should increase your listening enjoyment of AFN-FM programs.

Superfly, Samurai & spooks

"JEEZ! LOOKA' DAT!" Spring has arrived in Berlin and along with warm weather comes short skirts and skimpy blouses. Our friend has gotten a sneak preview of summer fashions and reacts accordingly. Actually it's a scene from "The Legend of Hell House" and he's just seen a spook. (Photo courtesy of 20th Century-Fox)

by Michael S. McCollum

THE LEGEND OF HELL HOUSE — You wouldn't want to live there. Things fly about and attack people. Spirits invade people (Bourbon, Whiskey and Gin) and make them do evil things. A team of investigators move in and are plunged into a living hell of festering horror.

PAPER MOON — This movie features the much talked about debut of Tatum O'Neal as a very worldly nine-year-old who out-cons a con man. It's the '30s, and Ryan O'Neal's dodge is selling Bibles to freshly-widowed ladies.

SUPERFLY TNT — Priest (better known as Superfly) leaves his Harlem haunts for some action in Rome. The action is mainly high stakes poker, and that's when Superfly gets a proposal to support a revolution in Africa. It's upbeat all the way as Superfly takes on an Army on the dark continent.

RED SUN — A gunfighter, a prostitute, an outlaw and a Samurai warrior are all involved with a stolen Samurai sword. Greed and honor are the motivations behind the double crosses, plots and killings to recover the sword. In the end they band together and help each other get the shaft.

IMPORTANT PROGRAM NOTE TO OUR VIEWERS

During the next few weeks, there will be numerous last minute changes to the published program schedule. The problem is caused by slowdown in the mail delivery of our television films. AFRTS in Angeles is sending us special film packages to insure that we have enough material to remain on the air. However, these packages do not contain all of the same programs that are presently being shown on AFN-TV Berlin. We cannot schedule these special film packages in advance, because we are not sure precisely when they will arrive here. We will strive to stick to the published schedule whenever possible and will promote the changes during our broadcast day. The undesirable situation should be resolved by late spring. Until then, we appreciate your patience and understanding.

Two generations of Brubeck

This Sunday afternoon the Philharmonie will be a pretty swinging place to be. Why? Well, because two generations of Brubeck, Dave Brubeck and sons, will be playing together. Last year Brubeck took three of his six children on a tour through the States with him, and the family undertaking turned out to be a sensation acclaimed by critics and public alike.

The music is a communication between jazz and rock, which started in Brubeck's family since his sons also turned out to be active musicians. Darius, 26 years old, is at home on all keyboard instruments, his favorite being the electric piano. Chris, 21, plays the bass guitar and the trombone, and the youngest son to accompany his father is at home on the drums. Newsday called them a "rock-jazz-country-blues-goodtime-group." The time to be there is 3:30 p.m. It sounds like one of the events you shouldn't miss.

Many of the things that make vacations worth while can be seen at the exhibition halls around the Funkturm from tomorrow until March 10. Two big happenings which seem to go together are on at the same time: The International Boat and Vacation Show and the International Tourism Exchange.

The Boat Show is not limited to merely showing the visitor what's new on the market in boats, but gives a look at all the many facets of fun and play on, in and around the water and the great outdoors. Tents, camping gear, trailers, sports and life saving demonstrations are awaiting to be scrutinized by the visitor.

The first sailors to round Cape Horn, the Berliners Goetz Schreiber and Hajo Pusch, will be on hand with their boat "Joshua" to answer questions. The two courageous young men have over 23,500 sea miles to tell about. Then there will also be a showing of two color films made by Rollo Gebhard, who took three years off in order to sail around the world. This exciting film can be seen twice daily in the atrium of Hall 23.

Foreign lands beckon

Maybe those far off and fancy places are calling you too, but not everyone is in the mood for getting into a sail boat and casting off. Today's tourism offers much simpler and more comfortable means to get to know more about this globe we're living on. That's what the Tourism Exchange is all about. Over 54 countries from A (like Argentina) to Z (like Zambia) have signed up to come and inform experts in the field as well as the man on the street about the travel possibilities their countries have to offer.

Needless to say, you'll have to search pretty hard in order to find a travel agency which has such information, from the horse's mouth so to say, available. The information you can get here isn't limited to those promising travel folders. You can also talk to the representatives of the many lands or sit down for a couple of hours in the "Travel Cinema" at the exchange, where films are shown. With a bit of imagination, you can have that trip around the world for the mere admission fee to the exhibition. Bon Voyage!
