FABULOUS FRIEND — Renee Smith borrows a cuddly companion for an afternoon of fun at DYA. The center offers a variety of activities for youth between the ages of six and 19. It's open seven days a week.

What's up at DYA? Sports, dance, more

Photos and story by Sue Sweeney

The Dependent Youth Activities center is usually crowded with children and teens from the time school closes each weekday.

Why? They go to the DYA to have fun, play games, learn new skills, or just to relax with friends in a casual atmosphere.

"The DYA's job is to provide regular activities for dependent youths," said Alan R. Keller, director. "These activities are changed to keep a varied schedule. We provide wholesome recreation for youth between the ages of six and 19."

The DYA offers a sports program, a fine arts program and a social program to both pre-teens and teens. They also have a day care center staffed by volunteers from the Army Community Services.

The fine arts program includes the Yankee Doodle Dolls dance team, which has performed at such attractions as the Volksfest; Children's Participatory Theater, in which the children take part in plays and musicals; and ballet and tap dancing lessons.

Besides basketball, soccer, football, softball and other popular sports, the DYA offers karate, gymnastics, tennis and progressive levels of swim classes.

The usual social activities for pre-teens start with Monday's bingo. The prizes include pencils, notebooks and other items for school use. Recently, Tuesdays have been designated as ice skating time. The children take a bus to and from the rink.

Taught by a professional caterer, Wednesday's creative cooking class is enjoyed by the boys as well as the girls.

Tabletop sports tournaments highlight every Thursday.

The children get a chance to show off their skills and match themselves against others their own age.

Arts and crafts are a favorite for Fridays. Friday evenings are the time for meeting new friends at a well-supervised dance or sometimes even a disco roller skating party.

Other special activities include a

Three track system new for rehab program

The Community Drug and Alcohol Abuse Center (CDAAC) has a new name, Berlin Counseling Center. And beginning the first week in February, the center will implement a new drug and alcohol abuse rehabilitation program.

The rehabilitation program will be divided into three "tracks," according to Capt. Walter Sutterlin, Alcohol and Drug Control Officer.

"The tracks are based on the severity of involvement with substance abuse," he explained. "This new system will provide more flexibility for the commander and a program which is more responsive to the level of treatment needed by the individual."

Track I is the most significant change in the rehabilitation program. It is designed for personnel whose involvement with alcohol or other drugs has been identified early.

Service members who are involved for the first time in alcohol or other drug-related incidents, such as driving under the influence (DUI), tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) positive in urinalysis testing or a drunken brawl, normally will be enrolled in Track I.

Track I is an educational program. "It is not designed to be a treatment for alcohol or drug dependency," said Sutterlin. "It presents the facts and consequences relating to drug and alcohol abuse and offers alternatives."

Participation will consist of at least 12 hours of instruction and normally will not exceed 30 days. If more intensive rehabilitation is required, personnel will be referred to another track.

Track II provides individual, group or family counseling on a non-resident basis for individuals who have developed some dependency on alcohol or drugs. Enrollment in this track will be for a minimum of 30 days and will not exceed one year.

Track III provides intensive residential rehabilitation treatment in the U.S. Army Hospital, Berlin, for six weeks. There is a mandatory non-residential followup with the Berlin Counseling Center for a total program of one year.

Commanders may refer service members to the Berlin Counseling Center for enrollment in any one of the rehabilitation tracks. "In every unit, supervisors must get involved with the program," Sutterlin said. "By reporting suspected abuse to the commander, they will help the person involved and ultimately increase the efficiency of their own operation."

Service members with a problem can voluntarily enroll for rehabilitation at the Berlin Counseling Center or ask their commanders to refer them.

Know firearm facts before carrying gun

When carrying a firearm, the owner must have his registration certificate (AE Form 49) in his possession. Firearms can only be carried to and from lawful hunting and range firing events, repair shops and the registration office. Except when being used for hunting or sporting purposes, the firearm must be unloaded and the action open. The ammunition should be more than an arms length from anyone in the vehicle. The firearm must not be concealed nor should it be exposed (in a gun rack) for public view while being transported.

Transfer guns right

To properly transfer ownership of a firearm between service members, family members or DA/DoD civilians, the buyer and seller must both be physically present at the Vehicle/Weapons registration Office, Bldg. 936, Andrews Barracks.

The buyer must have an approved registration application (AE Form 2496) and must complete the reverse of the USAREUR Registration Certificate (AE Form 49). The seller must surrender his registration certificate, properly completed. The transfer of ownership is not completed until the weapon is properly registered.

To sell a firearm to a local national, personnel must process it through both the 42nd MP Customs and the Berlin Police. U.S. personnel must have owned the firearm for at least six months prior to the transfer.

Further information can be obtained by calling Sp4 Dale at 819-3493.

Is your knife illegal?

The following types of knives are prohibited items if carried concealed on a person, displayed openly or used in a threatening manner: locking blade knives, regardless of length, and knives with a blade length three inches long or longer.

If a service member possesses one of these types of knives, he can only carry it when it is government issued and designated by the commander as necessary in the performance of duty or when hunting, fishing or camping.

When transporting the knives to a secure place in a service members economy or government quarters or to their units arms room, the weapon must not be concealed on the person or displayed in a threatening manner.

Registration is not required for the knives, but service members are reminded that any violation of the described restrictions for carrying the weapon is illegal and an individual may be charged with possession of a prohibited item.

Letters to Editor

Friend, don't drink life away

Dear Friend,

I haven't known you long, but it takes only a short time to get to like someone as talented and amicable as yourself. The only thing wrong is that it is killing me to watch you slowly killing yourself.

When we went "out for a beer" after work, I was looking forward to "exchanging life stories", and some stimulating conversation. But, as the night wore on, and you kept drinking, I began to get worried. Right before my eyes, you were transformed into a stuporous, practically comatose alcoholic. I could hardly believe you were the intelligent, self-confident person I have come to care about.

I say "alcoholic" and not "drunk" because now I know that you drink often, that the next day you can't remember what happened, that you have tried to convince me, and perhaps yourself, that you can handle it, and that it is beginning to have an effect upon your work, and probably your personal life.

Alcoholism is something I don't know how to approach you about, so I'm writing this, hoping you will read it, and know it is from me. Please, the next time you "go out for a beer," think about it first. And if you decide that you do need help, don't be afraid to talk with me about it. Or seek the help of the people who are trained to help you, and who care about you, like I do. I'll give you all the support I can, because you are my friend, and I don't want to lose you.

The only thing I will not do for you is watch you drink your life away.

Name Withheld

Sole parent: "Love is key"

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to two letters that appeared in the Jan. 24 edition of the Stars and Stripes.

The women who wrote about the children of single parents didn't seem to take into account the fact that not everyone is a single parent by choice. Many became so either through the death of, or divorce from their spouse. They also made no mention of the children raised by men in motherless homes. Will they also be "emotionally crippled?" Will the sons be "unable to form healthy relationships with women?"

The article states the child of a single parent statistically does not do very well. Are we to believe, then, that the children of two-parent families are all going to grow up to be happy, well adjusted, productive members of society who live happily ever after?

Are all of the problems going to be blamed on children of single parents? Of course not. Many troubled teenagers and young adults come from nice middle-class families with two parents. I cannot believe kids coming from single parent homes hold any kind of monopoly on problems associated with growing up.

One writer feels sorry for children growing up without the pleasure of a father around. There's another group of children I feel sorry for: those whose parents don't get along and their home is but a battleground where they fight out their differences. These children also learn from their parents, and just what do you think they're growing up learning and believing?

Then there's the couples who have problems — not necessarily because their own parents were single — that they can't deal with and they take their frustrations out not just on each other but their children as well. They're called child abusers. I'm sure you've all read of the hell some of these kids go through. Do you still believe in father makes perfect?

I'm not advocating single parenthood. I'm a sole parent myself, and it's very hard. But these writers seem to make the blanket assumption that a father in the house makes everything okay. I can't believe such narrow-mindedness still exists.

Perhaps the number of women opting to have a child and raise it alone is growing, but maybe it's because they also read the statistics — the ones on divorce, child abuse, unplanned and unwanted children. I can't honestly say I think it's worse for a child to be wanted by one parent than to be unwanted by two. At any rate, I would dare say the majority of us never planned it this way. And for anyone to insinuate that our children are going to grow up socially or emotionally maladjusted is a real slap in the face.

It's always very aggravating when someone with no personal experience of their own has all the answers. Whether a single parent by choice or not, no one has the right to look down their noses at us and say we're "selfish and overburdened, and therefore pushing our kids into pseudomaturity," or that our children will have any more problems than any others.

Don't ever pass judgement on me or my child. He's loved and he's wanted. I am very much aware of my responsibilities to him and the difficulties that lay ahead if I continue to raise him alone. Please give me and other single parents credit for recognizing and being able to deal with those problems. Most of us are able and willing to do so.

Bringing smoke on Parks Range

by Sue Sweeney

"Smoke gets in your eyes . . ." according to an old song and lately the soldiers training at Doughboy City have been finding out how this is.

The soldiers of Berlin Brigade have the only special smoke generating vehicle in USAREUR.

The machine is a combination of ideas, equipment, ingenuity and workmanship.

It started as a standard and old idea. The Volkswagen "beetle" picked up at the Property Disposal Office as scrap metal. Then it went to Maintenance Division where Mr. Baumann and Mr. Handke spent plenty of time installing, rebuilding and fixing.

Two weeks ago, it was tested and it passed. The G-3 Chemical Branch then had a Volkswagen that injects diesel fuel into the exhaust manifold and blew smoke out of the tail pipe. Not just smoke, but billowing clouds of smoke, that covered the streets and alley ways of Doughboy City.

"We're satisfied with the machine," said SFC James Culp, brigade chemical NCO. "It's done exactly what we intended it to do. It puts out just as much smoke as a smoke pot, but it's definitely cheaper. You can buy quite a lot of diesel fuel for the price of one smoke pot."

Culp says that it's not only cost efficient, but it was cheap to build as well. He also said that being mounted on a car makes the machine quite mobile. "We can drive it up and down the streets of Doughboy City."

Culp added that the picture speaks for itself as to the quality of the machine and the volume of smoke it's able to produce. The only change will be that in the future fog oil will be used instead of diesel fuel. It makes thicker smoke, that doesn't dissipate as fast.

"It's the most economical and simplest ways to make smoke that we have available to us," said Culp. "Any unit that trains as Doughboy City will be able to use it."

SMOKIN' JOE — Berlin Brigade's new smoke generating VW spreads a cover of smoke around Doughboy City. Making the machine required ingenuity and expert workmanship. It's the first of its kind in USAREUR.

DM income taxable

The arrival of W-2 forms this week came as a reminder that it's income tax time again.

With that reminder, came another form from the office of the Staff Judge Advocate (SJA) to U.S. citizens who are employed in local national (LN) positions by the U.S. Forces or on the Berlin economy:

Deutsche mark (DM) income must be reported as taxable income on 1981 tax returns.

According to Major Everett Urech, office of the SJA, U.S. citizens are required to pay income tax on DM income.

The Internal Revenue Service has requested a list of all U.S. citizens who have been employed in LN positions during 1980-81. This action emphasizes the need for all concerned employees to report their DM income accurately.

There is a deduction which can be taken from the DM income if the taxpayer qualifies. The amount of the deduction, or cost of living differential, varies according to family size. (For example, a taxpayer with a family of four receives a $2,600 deduction for 1981.)

Only persons working in LN positions, or on the local economy are eligible for the deduction. To qualify, taxpayers must have lived overseas for 510 days during an 18-month period.

If individuals do not qualify for the deduction at filing time, they can file an amended return when the 510-day rule is met. They will receive a refund then.

To claim the deduction, taxpayers must attach a completed Form 2555 to their tax return. SJA has not yet received this year's supply of these forms, but they have been ordered.

bowling night, a popcorn and movies night, and holiday parties.

The teens keep busy too with ice skating trips on weekends, their own tabletop games, movies on Mondays, an upcoming dating game to match Berlin teens with a group of visiting DYA teens from West Germany, and of course holiday parties and dances.

The DYA opens at 2 p.m. Monday through Friday and opens at noon on Saturday and Sunday.

For a dependent to become a member, parents must fill out an application with some background information and give the DYA a medical power of attorney. A DYA card costs 50 cents and this gives the member full use of any DYA facilities.

The DYA also needs volunteers to help supervise dances and activities, coach sports, teach classes or to help coordinate activities. If you're interested call the DYA at 819-6239.

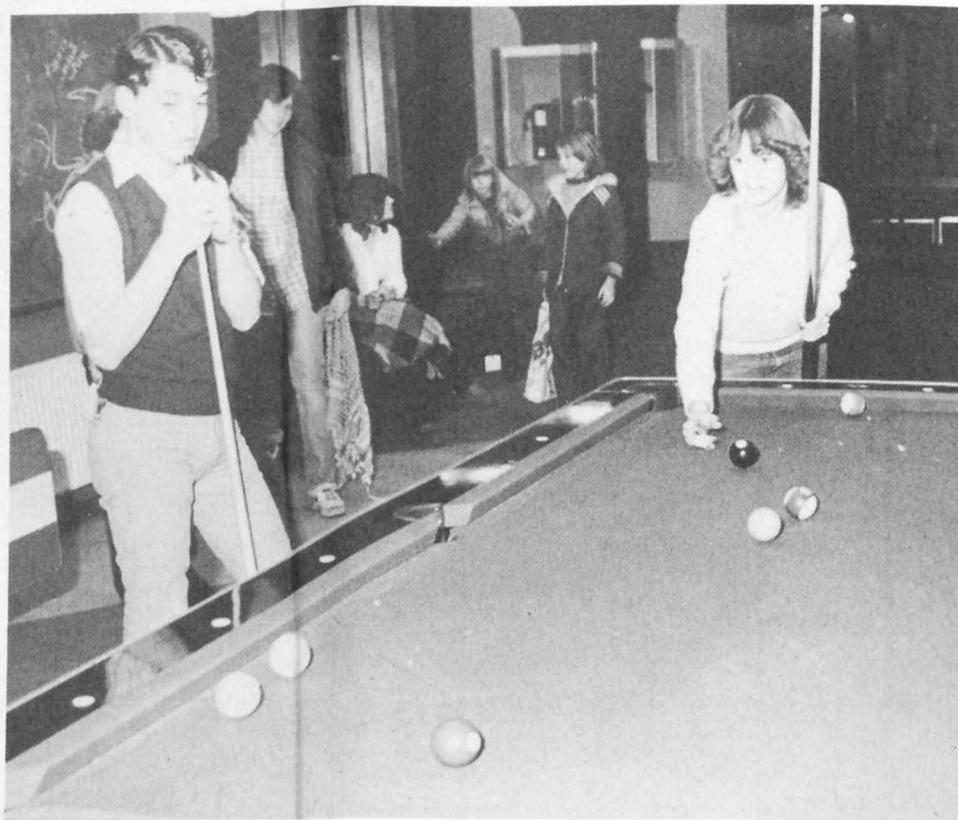

JUST LIKE THIS — The DYA even has classes for the smallest member of the family. These young ladies, three to five years old, attend the ballet class taught by Maureen Hughes. Ballet and tap dancing classes are offered for all age groups. There are other performing arts available also.

TEAMWORK — Building a tower with blocks can be fun. Toys are available to DYA members on a sign-out basis and are rotated every 30 minutes. On Fridays arts and crafts are offered.

LINING IT UP — Two teenagers use the available DYA facilities to practice some pool. The DYA has a teen program that offers a variety of structured activities including dancing, sports, and movies.

A PINCH OF THIS — Creative cooking class seems to be very popular at the DYA. Christine Britton says it is not only fun for her students but for herself as well. The DYA sponsors this basic class in their own kitchen.

Students enjoy, celebrate life on weekend ski trip retreat

by Ruth Williams

Ski-sore but happy, 33 young people between the ages of 11 and 18 returned to Berlin on Jan. 2 from a joint-chapel-sponsored ski retreat at the Armed Forces Recreation Center in Berchtesgaden. Ten adult counselors accompanied the Protestant and Catholic Youth on this exciting Ecumenical Ski Retreat.

The theme for the week was "Celebrate Life/Celebrate God." Darla Mitchell, assistant coordinator of the retreat said, "The young people spent the week celebrating life on the slopes during the day and celebrating God in the workshops at night."

"I think the young people came to realize that when they celebrate life, they celebrate God," said Mitchell. "This was the first time that the entire community pulled together in a youth activity. We anticipate it being the first of many. We went down to Berchtesgaden in separate groups and returned as one community."

When asked what he liked most about the retreat, Butch Reed, a senior at BAHS said, "I liked the meetings at night. They made you really think about life. And then skiing gave us a chance to see how beautiful the mountains are." Lynne Williams, a junior at BAHS said, "The retreat brought me closer to God and it brought us closer to each other." Eighth grader Kim Wimer said, "I liked the meetings after the skiing. I was in the drama workshop. We performed a skit about how we use God's gifts to us." John Jones, 13, who has 2½ years of cross-country skiing in Alaska behind him, thought the downhill skiing was more fun. But for him, too, "The most important part of the retreat was the Christian fellowship."

The week's emphasis on the spiritual rather than the physical probably accounts for the fact that though there were bruises, sprains and swellings in the 43-member group, all 172 arms and legs returned to Berlin unbroken.

Image building seminar dates set

Some mothers were seated around a kitchen table making small talk, when one made a profound statement: "My child can be inoculated against polio, tetanus, small-pox, and Heaven only knows what else. Wouldn't it be wonderful if someone could devise an inoculation against failure and unhappiness when he grows up?"

These words were spoken in jest, but according to research by Dr. Stanley Coppersmith, an associate professor of psychology at the Davis campus of the University of California, the one factor that most successful men and women seem to have in common is an attitude of mind called "high self-esteem."

The main thrust of the positive image building seminar to be offered by the Tempelhof Chapel is building high self-esteem. If you want to increase your skills in "inoculating" your child against failure and unhappiness, come to the seminar at the TCA Chapel Feb. 5, 7-9 p.m., and Feb. 6, 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

A free nursery will be available, providing you are in possession of your child's up-to-date shot record. Lunch on Saturday also will be provided. Students should be at least 15 years old to fully appreciate the seminar. The folks at the chapel recommend you enroll as soon as possible, since there are a limited number of seats available.

For more information or to register for the seminar, call the TCA Chapel at 819-5317.

Retreats offer refuge from stress

A wonderful way to escape from the stress and strains of the workday world is to go to a religious retreat in Berchtesgaden. Set in beautiful alpine scenery, these retreats offer worship, relaxation, recreation and fellowship throughout the year. Reservations must be made early and no later than one week before a starting date. The Religious Retreat House phone number is (Berchtesgaden military) 2538-601/770.

Protestant Women of the Chapel will be having two separate worship and study retreats. One will be Feb. 1-5 and the other Feb. 8-12.

A Teens Encounter Christ retreat is scheduled for March 12-15 and a Presbyterian and Reformed Laity retreat is scheduled for April 30-May 3. This program is suited for children and teenagers as well as adults and will include speakers from Scotland and the U.S.

For more information about any of the retreats scheduled through June call the American Community Chapel at 819-6761.

BAHS drops two

by R. Gibson

In weekend high school wrestling action the Berlin Bears found the going tough, as they hosted Wiesbaden and Frankfurt. The matches were held in the high school gym Saturday.

Berlin's first meet of the day was against Wiesbaden. Berlin lost the match 45-18, posting only two victories.

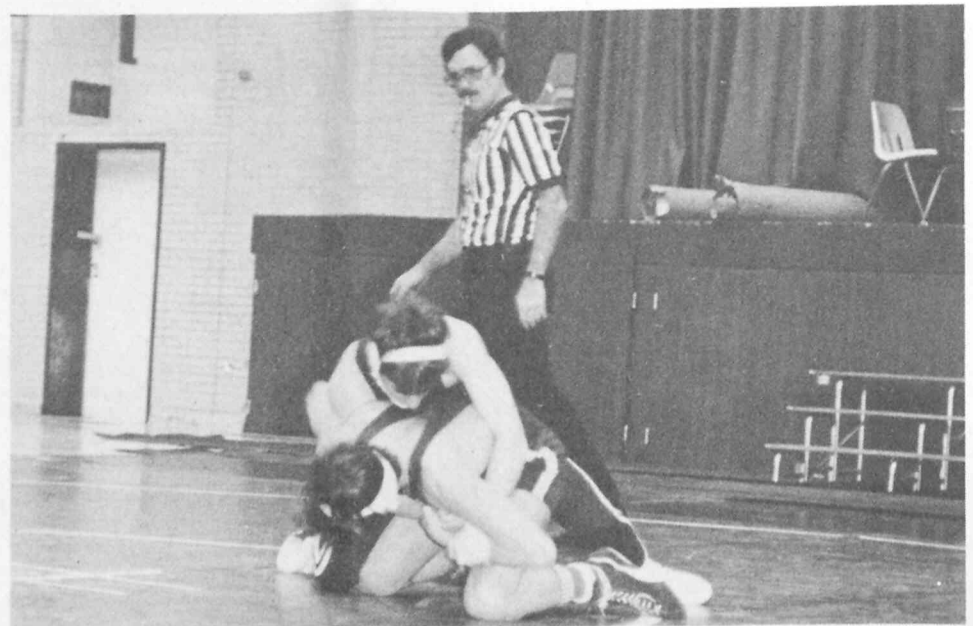

George Seymore, one of the favorites of the Berlin team, beat Antonio Gomez of Wiesbaden in the 105-pound weight class. Seymore was the days only double winner for the home team, taking his bout against Mike Papp of Frankfurt with a pin in 3:52. Larry Speers took his bout against Wiesbaden's Ricky Root in the 112 pound weight class to add to the Berlin Score.

After the Wiesbaden match the Bears had a chance to relax a little and watch their next opponents in action against Wiesbaden.

Frankfurt was beaten by Wiesbaden, however, they didn't take more than a moment to lick their wounds before crushing the Berlin team 57-12. In addition to Seymore's pin over Papp, Seymore's younger brother Steve pinned Frankfurt's Doug Cook in a quick 1:18.

The Bears travel to Baumholder Jan. 30 to meet them and their other big rival Osterholtz.

WHAT A MESS — Taking a good grip on the situation, these two wrestlers work for those hard won points, as a referee keeps tabs on the match. During matches held in Berlin last Saturday the BAHS grapplers found their backs to the mat on several occasions. (Photo by Jane Bair)

Berlin pins hopes on All-Army

Four Berlin Brigade wrestlers are headed to the All-Army trials next month.

Three of them just returned from the 1982 USAREUR Championship where they garnered four gold and two silver medals among them in the three day competition.

At 180.51 lbs. Eugene "Geno" Clemons totally dominated his weight class and placed first in both the Free-style and Greco-Roman style of wrestling for the second straight year. Clemons' overall record in Europe over the last two years is a perfect and unsurpassed record of 76 wins, no losses!

In the 198 lb. weight class, Scott

Sumpter claimed the runner-up honors in both the Free-style and Greco-Roman. He lost only to highly touted Steve Colling of Mainz in the finals of competition.

Wrestling in the 220 lb. weight division, Berlin team coach, Al Hrnrcir also captured the gold medal in both styles of competition. In the process he secured a couple of USAREUR records. Hrnrcir, a two time All-Army champion, is the first wrestler to have ever won the USAREUR Championship for three consecutive years in both styles.

This is a record achievement in itself, but it was also accomplished in three different weight classes. Hrnrcir won the double gold in 1980 at over 220 lbs., last year at 198 lbs., and this year in the 220 lb. class.

Clemons, Sumpter and Hrnrcir will be joined by teammate Ed Minor on the USAREUR contingent for All-Army trials.

Minor, who was unable to compete at USAREUR this year due to emergency leave, was selected for the All-Army squad because of his past performance as last year's USAREUR and All-Army champion in his weight class.

Berlin's Al Hrnrcir (l) wrestles Vernie Hart, from Darmstadt with the referee watching closely for a pin. Hrnrcir took the freestyle match in a decision 9-3. He went on to win the 220 lb. freestyle competition as well as the Greco-

Roman contest. He and three other Berlin grapplers head to the All-Army trials on February 7.

BAHS cagers have mixed weekend contest

by Ron Watt

On the weekend of Jan. 22, the Berlin American High School boys and girls basketball teams traveled to Bitburg to engage their first conference match-up.

On Friday, the Berlin women's varsity and junior varsity squads lost to two hot shooting Bitburg contingents. The final score of Friday's varsity game was 53-33. The JV girls also lost to Bitburg, 37-16.

In men's action on Friday, the Berlin varsity jumped off to a slow start, but warmed up later in the game, to trounce Bitburg 67-49. Ron Watt and Kevin Buckles led the Bears with 20 points each.

The JV lost a hard-fought game to Bitburg on Friday, 49-47. Benny Brown led the JV scorers with 15 points.

On Saturday, the Women's varsity dropped their second conference game, 40-23. Trisha Lindsey was high-scorer for Berlin totaling 25 points for two games. Lindsey also led the team in rebounds, getting a total of 29.

For the Men's varsity, Saturday was a complete turnaround. The team lost the intensity it had the previous night and dropped Saturday's game to the Barons, 51-48. Buckles led the Bears with 21 points and Watt added 15 more.

The JV squad came through on Saturday, winning their game just as the buzzer sounded. George Moffett sank a 20-footer during the closing seconds of the game to boost the Bears over the Barons, 34-33. Markus Fischler led Berlin with 10 points.

Shooters bowl them over on range

The bowling alley wasn't the only place pins were falling, as the Berlin Rod and Gun Club opened its 1982 activity schedule last Saturday, at Rose Range, with a bowling pin pistol tournament.

Contestants fired a maximum of six shots at five bowling pins, atop a table, at a distance of twenty five feet. A combination of time and total pins hit, determined the winner.

Local expert John Weeks, dropped all five pins in five seconds to take first place in the Men's Revolver Class. Second place honors went to Jay Raymond, who shot all five in seven seconds.

The Men's Automatic Class was won by Tim Fitzpatrick, who scored five pins in five seconds. He was followed by Reed Avey, who got his five in eight seconds.

Karen Fitzpatrick took first place in the Women's Open Class, with Doris Johnson placing second.

Dan Simmons, covering the event for AFN, took an unofficial turn on the firing line and delivered a fine, rookie performance.

The Club will host one major event every month thru the first half of 1982, culminating with a gala 4th of July celebration. The upcoming events are:

February — All Calibers Rifle Tournament

March — Spring 100 Trap/Skeet Tournament

April — Combat Pistol Shoot

May — Running Boar Target Shoot

June — German Hunting Association All Weapons Shoot

July — 4th of July Membership Picnic.

The club is presenting the German Hunting Course from February 10 to 26, 1982. This course is mandatory for anyone desiring to hunt in West Germany and Berlin. Details of these events are available at the club store, McNair Barracks, 819-3566.

'Friendly' way to teach kids safety

by R. Gibson

Discovering a method of teaching our children how to avoid accidents and danger has always been a major goal of parents everywhere. And it's not an easy task. It's so difficult in fact, that most parents welcome and appreciate a helping hand every now and then.

Helping parents and school teachers instruct children in how to handle emergency situations or how to avoid getting into an emergency situation is the goal of Sp4 Philip N. Cage, otherwise known as Officer Friendly.

Cage, who turned 21 on Wednesday, comes from Fairfax, Va. He has been Officer Friendly to the young people of the Berlin Military Community for the past 18 months, since the idea for the program was conceived.

"The main idea of the program is to teach school-aged children the importance of practicing safety and physical security," said Cage. "We try to teach the kids about things like fire drills at school, using their seat belts when riding in a car and memorizing their address and phone number."

One of the more popular methods of teaching these things is through the use of a small coloring book called "Crime Prevention Coloring Book." The book shows scenes with relating captions like, "Lost? Your MP will help find Mom." or "Can you dial '98'?"

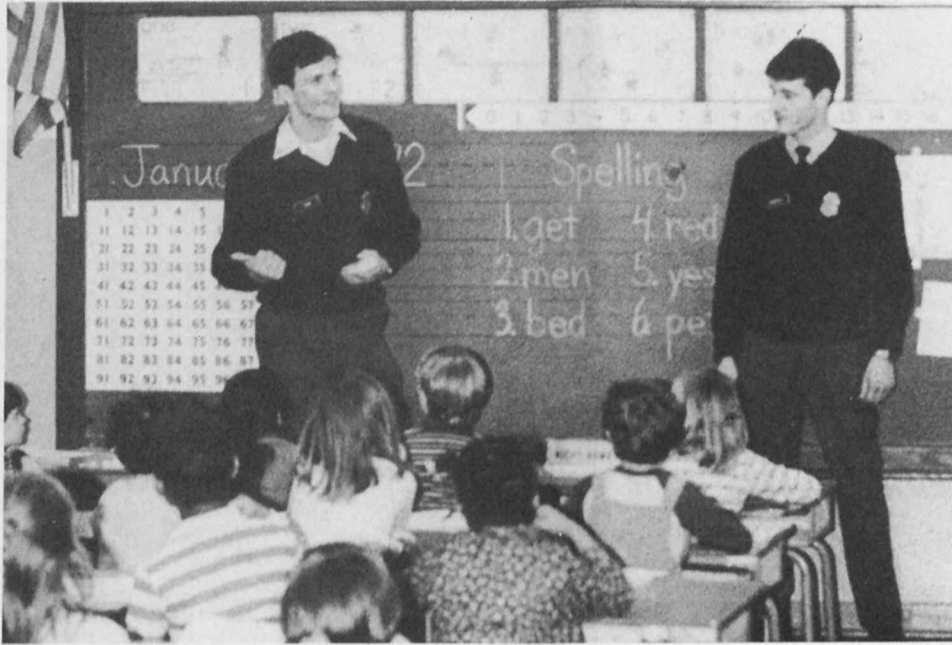

"The kids are just terrific!" said Cage. "Their attitudes (about safety and security) have really changed since the program started. One day when I was at the school, I saw some kids acting up during a fire drill. When I explained to them how important it is to practice fire drills, they stopped playing around. Since then their teacher has told me that they take fire drills very seriously now," Cage explained.

The Officer Friendly Program also has included the installation of a bicycle safety course adjacent to the Thomas A. Roberts Elementary School. The course is designed to teach children the meaning of international traffic signs and hand signals and the importance of riding their bikes on the proper side of the street. The children are given a Certificate of Bicycle Safety upon successful completion of the course.

Cage is now preparing to leave the command for a new assignment at Fort Polk, La., for the remainder of his tour of duty. He then plans to return to civilian life to study criminal law at Madison University while serving as a civilian policeman.

The Officer Friendly Program will, however, continue with new Officer Friendly, Sp4 Tim Warfield. Though the mission of educating young people in these very important areas is a great one, the success of it is not measured by statistics, but by the lack of them.

THE OLD AND THE NEW — Sp4 Philip N. Cage (l), otherwise known as Officer Friendly, will be leaving Berlin in the near future. The Officer Friendly program will, however, continue. Cage introduced his replacement to Mrs. Anderson's first grade class on Tuesday. (Photo by R. Gibson)

Lots of variety — new shows, movies

AFN offers 'best' in February TV viewing

by Mark White

AFN hit the jack-pot with a bevy of shows and movies that has to be the best to come along in some time.

First, if you enjoy good movies, you won't believe the complete variety of films being offered: Marilyn Monroe and Tony Curtis with Jack Lemmon star in that incredibly funny "Some Like It Hot." Monroe and Jane Russell team up for several songs in what turned out to be "Best Picture of the Year" with Oscars going to Monroe and Lemmon.

One of the top domestic box office grossers stars Tony Curtis and Burt Lancaster with Gina Lollobrigida in a circus story appropriately titled "Trapeze." An American joins a Paris circus to persuade the top aerialist to teach him daring triple somersaults. They go on to build a top act which turns into a shattering triangle, as you might have guessed.

Russians are coming

Cod and a landing party goes ashore for help. Townspeople are in a frenzy thinking they are being invaded. That's the premise in "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming," featuring an all-star cast of Carl Reiner, Eva Marie Saint, Alan Aarkin, Brian Keith and Jonathan Winters.

Science fiction drama

For those who enjoy science-fiction drama at its very best, it's "Rollerball," where the earth is no longer divided among nations but managed by six worldwide corporate cartels. There is no hunger, overpopulation, crime or war. There is only "rollerball," a brutal sport combining the violence of all other sports, and the players are modern gladiators. This definitely adult epic stars James Caan, John Houseman and Maud Adams.

Other top films to watch for: George Segal and Louise Fletcher in "Russian Roulette"; Burt Lancaster and Jean Peters in "Apache"; Julie Andrews and Omar Shariff in "The Tamarind Seed"; Maurice Chevalier and Leslie Caron in the five-Oscar-winning

"Gigi" and Peter Sellers and George C. Scott in "Dr. Strangelove."

Weekly shows

Six new dramatic shows show up in February and at the top of the list is Carroll O'Connor in his award winning "Archie Bunker's Place." Other top-rated shows are "BJ And The Bear"; "Alice" and two mini-series, "Seagull Island" and "Origins Of The Mafia."

"Seagull" was filmed on location in Italy and is the five-episode story of a young, pretty blind girl disappearing from a music academy in Rome. Her sister sets out from America to join a U.S. consulate official to find her. They encounter mystery and murder along the rocky, investigative road. There is excellent acting and beautiful photography of Italian landscapes.

A new 13-week variety series features singer-actor Jack Jones as host for entertainers such as Gloria Gaynor, Barbie Benton and the Lettermen. That's on "Broadway To Hollywood." ABC's successful "That's Incredible" returns to AFN for 17 weeks along with the "Barbara Mandrell Show" for 11 weeks.

Newhart special

And to wrap up the February schedule, Bob Newhart has an hour-long special using some new and old bits of his own inventive comedy routines. He takes off on some poorly-dubbed foreign films called "out of synchitis"; a take-off with Marian Mercer on "the new celibacy" and a typical retirement party ala Newhart.

February promises to be a super month for entertainment and information with even better and more to come in March as we begin to wind winter down.
