

Culinary team cooks up USAREUR championship

by R. Gibson

Recently, an eight-member culinary arts team represented Berlin in the first U.S. Army Europe (USAREUR) culinary arts competition in Stuttgart, West Germany.

The team was comprised of volunteer food service technicians from throughout the brigade.

According to the team captain, MSgt. William Scott, food service division, the Berlin contingent "swept the competition," taking not only several individual awards but the overall team event as well.

PFC Cheryl Keirstead, Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Berlin Brigade, earned a blue ribbon in the "live cooking" competition.

In the live cooking event, Keirstead was required to prepare a full meal under the scrutinizing eye of three judges. "There was a lot of tension with the judges standing there," said Keirstead. "They didn't say a word, they just stood there and watched. I just had to concentrate on my own product and try not to pay attention to the other entries cooking around me."

Her menu consisted of onion soup, parmesan cheese croutons, cheese biscuits, chicken a-la-king, lyonnaise carrots, and for desert, baked chocolate custard with fresh whipped cream. All of this had to be prepared within a set time limit of two hours.

In addition to her first place award, Keirstead was one of the three Berlin cooks to be selected to compete in the Army-wide culinary competition at Fort Lee, Va. later this month.

"Starting Monday," said Keirstead, "I'll be working (with another cook) in the MKT 75, Mobile Field Kitchen Trailer, because that's what we'll be cooking out of for the competition at Fort Lee."

What are Keirstead's plans for the Fort Lee competition? "I just plan on giving it my best shot. I'm going there to perform at my very best and to bring back another trophy," she said.

Another top finisher from Berlin was Pvt. 2 Daniel P. Toomey, Headquarters Company, 3rd Battalion. Toomey earned first place awards in both the centerpiece event and the cocktail canape category.

Toomey's centerpiece entry was a Pastille Centerpiece made of dough, gelatin, heavy syrup and Marzipan. The dough was formed into the shape of a buckboard wagon. The back of the

'A front line of freedom'

Vice President Bush visits Berlin

by Mike Gelfand

"I think sometimes we take for granted the United States and what we stand for, and our role in history and what we think we've done to preserve the peace.

"But, if I was ever tempted to do that before, having visited the Berlin Wall, having seen you men and women here today and having had the chance to get that infectious enthusiasm from the kids when I drove up, I'll never in my life ever again take freedom for granted," said Vice President George Bush at the Berlin Brigade Sports Center, Tuesday.

Bush, on a two-day visit to the city, arrived Monday evening at Tegel Airport with German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, where he was greeted by Major Generals J.G. Boatner, J.D.F. Mostyn and Jean-Pierre Liron, Berlin's American, British and French commandants, respectively.

Bush along with Boatner then reviewed a Tripartite Honor Guard, escorted by Capt. Les Szabolcsi, honor guard commander. Afterward he was officially welcomed to the city by Berlin's Governing Mayor, Richard von Weizsäcker.

The vice president then left for the Intercontinental Hotel, where, at a dinner hosted by von Weizsäcker, he delivered an open letter from President Regan to the people of Europe.

During his speech on foreign policy at the Intercontinental, Bush, said, "The United States views its presence in Berlin as an absolutely sacred trust. Our military forces stand ready to defend the Western sectors from any threat. We are totally dedicated to the Quadripartite Agreement, and will continue to expect observance and full implementation of all its provisions in all sectors of Berlin, East and West." He then signed the Berlin Golden Book becoming the fifth American vice president to do so.

Tuesday morning, Bush visited Potsdamer Platz in the British sector, where, with Kohl and von Weizsäcker, he was met by Mostyn, the British commandant. The party mounted a tower to look over the wall at what was once one of the busiest intersections in Berlin. Bush stated that it was a gruesome looking place.

The vice president then left Potsdamer Platz for a press conference at Rathaus Schöneberg. While he was at the press conference, Mrs. Bush visited with about 150 children at the American community's new children's center.

Following this, the vice president and his wife met at the Sports Center gym where two students from the Berlin American High School presented them a Berlin Bear and a sweater.

After the presentation, Bush addressed members of the community. With vice president and Mrs. Bush were U.S. Ambassador to Germany and Mrs. Arthur Burns and Maj. Gen. and Mrs. J.G. Boatner.

Bush explained his feelings about the Drug use penalties increased

Editor's note: The following is the final part of an article concerning the latest laws on the use and possession of illegal drugs.

by Lonnie N. Groot

If a soldier commits an offense while on sentinal or guard duty, on an aircraft or at a missile launch facility, he or she can receive an additional five years confinement at hard labor.

The executive order also modified existing law by eliminating the so-called 'agency' defense to drug sales. No longer may a soldier say that he or she just passed the drugs on and wasn't really part of the sale.

All persons wrongfully passing drugs on to other soldiers are guilty of distribution. Also, a soldier can receive the same amount of confinement at hard labor that is authorized for distribution (as much as 15 years) if there is an intent to distribute, which means that he or she possesses more than a small amount of drugs, or possesses a small amount under conditions showing an intent to distribute.

President Reagan has sent a clear message to military drug offenders. As scientists continue to discover the horrible physical effects of drugs and as society becomes increasingly aware that drugs destroy the social fabric, the military's position on drugs will become a model for civilian society.

President Kennedy once observed that "the complacency, the self-indulgent, the soft societies are about to be swept away with the debris of history."

The mission of the Army is to keep the United States strong and free. Drug abuse works against that mission. Soldiers must make the decision to avoid drugs entirely so they will always be ready to perform that mission.

Below is a list of the old and new maximum penalties for drug use. The abbreviations used are: DD, Dishonorable Discharge; E-1, reduced to grade E-1; (number) X CHL, the number of years confinement at hard labor; TF, total forfeiture of pay and allowances.

Three soldiers convicted in court-martial hearings

Three soldiers were convicted in courts-martial proceedings during the month of January.

Sgt. Jeffrey A. Mercer, Company A, Field Station, Berlin, was convicted by a Special Court-Martial on Jan. 11 for possession of LSD. Mercer was sentenced to a Bad Conduct Discharge, confinement at hard labor for three months, forfeiture of $382 pay per month for three month, to be reprimanded and to be reduced to grade of E-1.

MSgt. Ruben F. Rodriguez, Medical Company, U.S. Army Medical Department Activity, Berlin, was convicted by a Special Court-Martial on Jan. 11 for violation of a general regulation, assault

(two charges) and wrongful fraternization with a female soldier. Rodriguez was sentenced to be reduced to the grade of E-6, to forfeit $500 pay per month for two months and to be reprimanded.

Sp4 James T. Davis, U.S. Army Communications Command, Berlin, was convicted by a General Court-Martial on Jan. 12 for violation of a general regulation (USAREUR Reg 632-10) (two charges); possession, distribution and use (two charges) of marijuana/hashish. Davis was sentenced to a Bad Conduct Discharge, confinement at hard labor for 20 months, forfeiture of all pay and allowances, and reduction to the grade of E-1.

Reader says freedom brings friendship here

Dear Editor,

I am a soldier stationed here in Berlin since 1979, and throughout my stay in West Berlin I have lived on the economy.

This gave me the opportunity to meet many interesting people of various nationalities; Germans, Yugoslavians, Africans, Australians, and Greeks, to name a few. Many of them became the best of friends, both to me and my family. They have given us support and understanding when we needed it.

To add to the beautiful relationships that exist among various nationalities, that are found nowhere else, I would like to share what could have been a fatal incident, but turned into a gesture of friendship.

On Jan. 22, my wife got into our car and drove to the Spandau swimming facility. When she got to an intersection, our car stopped and smoke started coming out of the engine area.

My wife got out of the car and opened the hood and saw smoke billowing out of the engine. She started walking away from the vehicle toward a nearby gas station and when she turned to look at the car, it was on fire.

My wife ran immediately for help. Three attendants from the gas station and two other people standing near-by volunteered to help her.

When she and the volunteers returned to the car, there were already about 15 people there. They had notified the police and firemen and some were putting water on the flames themselves.

She was still upset by the whole affair, when an elderly gentlemen took her hand and told her that everything was going to be alright. My wife said that those words of comfort really helped her.

At the time of this incident I was at home looking after our three-month-old baby boy. When my wife came home she told me about all that had happened.

I wrote this letter to you so others here can see how West Berlin's freedom brings peace which leads to friendship and good neighbors. West Berlin you are a "city of good neighbors."

briefly

Bad checks cost

Starting March 1, if you give the Army and Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) a bad check, it'll cost you $15.

Last year one out of every 200 checks received by AAFES cashiers bounced the first time it was sent to the bank.

Eventually, 90 percent of the checks were made good, but the $14.93 cost of handling each bad check for the worldwide operation and the item spent trying to get the money from the customer, decreased what AAFES was able to give to the Morale Welfare and Recreation Funds of the Army and Air Force.

Maj. Gen. Richard D. Murray, USAF, commander of AAFES, said the increase in the surcharge for bad checks from 10 to 15 dollars is to put the cost of recovering the money where it belongs - on the bad check passer and not on all of AAFES customers.

"We considered an across the board service charge to cash checks, but we didn't want to penalize all of our customers because of the few who write bad checks," he said. The increased surcharge for bad checks will cover AAFES's costs and hopefully act as a deterrent to those who take advantage of this service.

Murray added that not only is writing a bad check illegal, but it could also result in loss of exchange privileges, prosecution in a civil court, or military court-martial.

"It would be a shame to ruin a military career or a promising civilian career because of a bad check," the general concluded.

Hospital locations

Some activities at the U.S. Army Hospital have been relocated. The Air Force Liaison Office has moved to Room 1049. Their new telephone number is 819-4273. Speech Therapy is now located in Room 0003 and their new phone number is 819-4289. The Physical Examination Clinic is now in A-6. Their number is 819-4135. The Red Cross Service has been relocated to Room 0012 and their new number is 819-4167.

Policy changes

Foreign Service Tours Extensions for E-6 (P), E-7, E-8 and E-9 soldiers have been changed, effective March 1. Soldiers must now submit requests 10 months in advance. For additional information contact MSgt. Spikes, AG Personnel Management Branch, at 819-6954 or 819-6594.

Pets need shots

Are you planning to ship your pet back to the states? If you are, then you should know that his shots must be at least 30 days old, but not over one year old. The pet must also have a health certificate issued within 10 days of shipping. To make an appointment for the shots call the hospital Central Appointments Office at 819-4211.

Engineer test

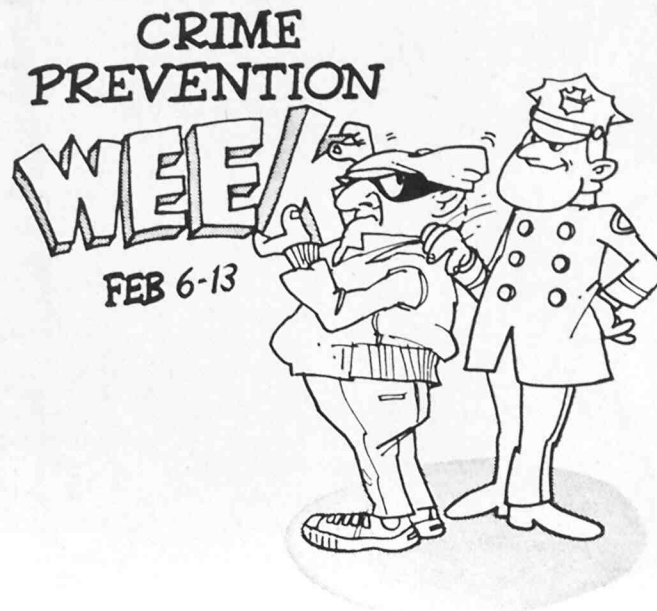

The Professional Engineer Examination and the Engineer-In-Training Examination of Minnesota will be offered April 16 at the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, European Division in Frankfurt.

Qualified applicants in Europe can obtain registration as professional engineers through this testing program, which is offered by the board of architecture, engineering, land surveying and landscape architecture of Minnesota.

The written examinations are developed by the National Council of Engineering Examiners and are administered for the Minnesota state board.

U.S. citizens with engineering education and experience who wish to take the exam should contact Roy Braden at Frankfurt military (2311-15353) between 7:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Crime Prevention Week begins Sunday and runs through Feb. 12. The Office of the Provost Marshal is reminding everyone here that an increased awareness of the opportunities for crimes to happen is important.

The Provost Marshal's Office offers many programs here to help prevent crimes from happening. These include bicycle registration and safety classes, orientation briefings for new soldiers, the Officer Friendly program, and regular information and educational campaigns.

For more information on any crime prevention programs call the Crime Prevention Office at 819-3442. In case of an emergency call Crime Stop at 819-98.

Scouts collect

The Boy Scouts of America, Troop 23, have organized a clothing drive for the people of Poland. The scouts will collect clothing from the Düppel Housing area tomorrow and from the Driepfuhl and Sundgauer housing areas on Feb. 26.

All clothing will be given to the International Red Cross. For more information contact Todd Walsh at 801-3854 after 6:30 p.m.

Honda kits

AAFES-Europe has been advised by the American Honda Motor Company that it can supply modification kits for Honda cars with U.S. specifications so they can safely burn leaded gasoline.

According to John Mazzarino, chief, automotive branch, services division, AAFES-Europe Headquarters, "Honda recommends that military customers in Europe who own 1980 Honda Civic California, Accord and Prelude (automatic models), and all 1981 through 1983 models, purchase a conversion kit."

Soldiers who own 1980 or later models of Honda cars can obtain the modification kits by writing: Consumer Affairs, American Honda Motor Company, Inc., 100 West Alondra Blvd., Gardena Calif., 90247.

Prayer Breakfast

A National Prayer Breakfast will be held at Feb. 14 at the Checkpoint NCO Club at 7 a.m. All soldiers are invited to attend.

Know right-of-way

At crossings and road junctions with equal priority, the vehicle entering from the right has the right-of-way. In instances where a driver is traveling on a road marked as a priority road by an official traffic sign, he has the right-of-way over all other traffic entering the priority road.

Priority roads are identified by diamond shaped metal signs, yellow in color with a white border and is normally posted near intersections.

Editor's Note: During the next several issue of the Berlin Observer, the Crime Prevention Section of the Provost Marshal Office will test your knowledge of the German right-of-way laws.

Art exhibit

The German-American Women's Club will hold its 7th Annual Art Exhibit at the Americka Haus beginning Feb. 10. The exhibit will feature about 100 pieces of art in a multitude of techniques and palette.

The Amerika Haus is open to the public Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. and on Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Everyone is invited.

Promotion points

According to Army personnel officials, promotion authorities may drop 100 points from the cutoff score for promotion to grade E-5 and 50 points from the cutoff score for promotion to E-6 in order to accelerate the promotions of soldiers who are airborne qualified.

To receive the point reduction, officials say, the soldiers must be assigned to a position designated as airborne and have a skill qualification identifies of P, S, V, or Y.

Soldiers who terminate their "jump status" within one year after promotion and have an overstrength MOS under this special program could be involuntarily reclassified into a shortage specialty.

Teen books

There are books in the library especially for students. The McNaughton Young Adult books are for teen readers. There are romances, science fiction, books on how to get good jobs, how to live with your family and even how to wear contact lenses. Stop by the library to get some.

Founders Day

The Headquarters USAREUR West Point Founders Day dinner will be held at the Officer's and Civilians' Club in Patrick Henry Village, Heidelberg at 6 p.m. on March 26. All graduates and friends of the U.S. Military, Naval, Air Force and Coast Guard Academies may attend. For more information call Capt. Jim Fitch at Heidelberg military (2121) 6841/8683.

wall to the packed gymnasium this way, "I have thought about it and thought about all that it represents. But to finally see it and to stand in that shadow, even on a day with no sun, the long shadow that it casts on this city. . . To see it, really is to come face to face with one of the cruelist existing realities of our time."

He also delivered a message from the president. "I bring you best wishes and I say this to the men and women serving in the military. I hope through our actions and through our words in this administration, you will sense the feeling that we have deeply inside us. And that ist, we have great respect and admiration for the men and women in the Armed Forces. For far too long, our country, if not turning our backs on those who serve, did not properly appreciate you."

On the reason for his trip to Europe, Bush explained, "It is a mission for peace. We are committed to reducing the terror of nuclear war. If that message is spread to capitals of Europe," Bush said, "I would consider this trip worthwhile."

While talking about duty in Berlin, Bush said, "You are really, and this was brought home to me as I looked across that wall, on the front line of freedom here."

"For the rest of your lives, it seems to me, wherever your adventures take you, Berlin is going to be a part of you," Bush added. "I think because of that, you, more than most Americans, will know, how precious that freedom really is and what it costs."

I'm proud to stand here as vice president of the United States and say that we are grateful, from the bottom of our hearts, to every single one of you."

After finishing his speech, the vice president and his wife walked around the gym shaking hands and talking to as many of the large crowd as possible. They then left for the airport to continue on with their European trip.

Dental Health Week focuses on children

by Sue Sweeney

The Children's Dental Health Care Week begins Feb. 14 and runs through Feb. 21.

The week was designed to amplify and highlight some of the many activities that revolve around children's dental needs, according to Dr. Stephen D. Stone, a pedodontist at DENTAC.

The students of the Thomas A. Roberts school participated in a dental poster contest. The winning poster will be displayed in DENTAC's hallway throughout the entire month of February.

"This is a time for us to make parents aware of the services available here," said Stone. "Also of the things they can do to help enforce good dental health. Our message is that parents should start dental hygiene and prevention as soon as the first teeth erupt."

According to Stone, prevention of cavities has three major parts.

The first part is oral hygiene. This includes regular brushing, flossing and a yearly visit to a pedodontist.

The second stop is monitoring the diet.

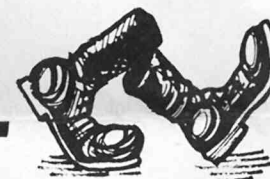

This is limiting sweets and making children aware of what constitutes a good diet and good eating habits. Stone also said that parents need to teach children about the basic food groups.

The third portion of prevention is to supplement the diet with fluoride. The students at TAR school have an oral fluoride rinse program, according to Stone. He also said that parents that need to start such a program can come to the dental clinic for a fluoride prescription.

Stone said that some of the most important advice he could give to a parent was "Don't wait for a problem." He also said that parents should prepare the child for his first appointment and refrain from passing fearful ideas to the child. Parents can pass anxieties of their own on to their children by mentioning such things as shots and drilling. Parents should often let the dentist ease the child into the dental situation.

If you wish to make an appointment for your child during Dental Health Month, call Central Appointments at 819-4211.

Only three more days until Green Week leaves with all its wine tasting, food sampling and the flowers in Hall 23.

Twenty-one halls are full of agricultural products, and it costs you DM 9 to spend a whole day, looking around at Green Week. It's open daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and the U-Bahn takes you to Theodor-Heuss-Platz, or buses 4, 10, 66, 69, 92 or 94 run to the Funkturm Exhibition Grounds.

Holiday on Ice

Every year, around this time, the biggest ice show in the world finds its enthused public at the Deutschlandhalle, when Holiday on Ice hits town to stay for about 10 days.

Introducing the program is a play "Fire and Ice," followed by an excursion into the fairy world, where "three little piggies" are hunted by the big, bad wolf. "Viennese Waltz Melodies," an oriental love drama, entitled "Symphony of the Sand," and an amusing parody of the "Wild West" are some of the presentations at this ice show. Performances begin daily at 8 p.m. with an additional showing at 4 p.m. Sundays. Additional afternoon performances will be also given today, tomorrow, Wednesday, and on Feb. 11 and 12. On Monday, no performances will be given. Tickets from DM 10 can be purchased at the Deutschlandhalle, Monday through Friday from noon to 6 p.m., and on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tickets can also be bought at all downtown ticket agencies, and the Truman Plaza ticket agency, located in the American Express Travel Agency. ITT sells ticket vouchers.

Carnival live

Ever been to Mainz, West Germany, when it's carnival time? German TV offers "Mainz bleibt Mainz" a live carnival show from Mainz Castle coming to your home Feb. 11, on Program II, Channel 18. The carnival program begins at 8:15 p.m.

If you don't go for carnival, a Jazz Fest might be of more interest to you on Thursday, when Programm III, Channel 31, offers Jazz Fest Berlin 1982 with Howard Johnson's "Book of Miscellanies," the Inter-South-American Drums Allstars, at 10:55 p.m. The program runs for an hour.

News of the Week can be seen at 7:45 p.m. each Thursday on Program III, Channel 31.

The Great Eight

Teddy Wilson, Red Norvo, Buddy Tate, Slam Stewart, Billy Butterfield, Johnny Mince, Tal Farlow, and Sam Woodyard will be giving a concert, entitled "Swinging" the Forties with the American Jazz All-Stars, on Feb. 20 at the Philharmonie. Curtain time is 4 p.m. for the All-Stars-Orchestra, where every musician represents a piece of jazz history. Tickets to the "Great Eight" can be purchased at any downtown ticket agency. The Truman Plaza ticket agency, located in the American Express Travel Agency, sells ticket vouchers ranging from DM 18 to DM 36.

Start training now for 25 km run

by Rick Huggins

Probably one of the most popular sporting events among Americans in Berlin will be coming up in a few months. The French forces will be hosting the 25 km de Berlin on April 24 this year.

Last year, over 150 members of the Berlin Brigade braved cold winds, rain, and hail through the downtown streets to finish the course at Olympic Stadium.

This year's run will be no different except for better weather, possibly, and even more American participants (rumor has it that the entire 2nd Battalion will enter the race).

If you are planning on running the 25 km de Berlin, now is time to begin preparation. One of the worst mistakes a runner (beginner or otherwise) can make is to wait until several weeks before a race to start training.

A good number of people running on April 24 will be relatively inexperienced in racing or in training techniques. For this reason, a suggested 11-week-training schedule is included at the end of the story.

Basic assumptions related to this schedule are as follows:

Ø That the person is in normal "Army standards" condition. In other words, he (she) should be used to running two or three miles daily in PT and should not have any unusual problems in the brigade quarterly fitness exercise (4 miles).

Ø That the person does not have a serious injury or handicap.

Ø That the person is under 40 years of age. A beginner over 40 should consult a physician before starting any rigorous exercise program.

The schedule at the end of the story is only a guide. The daily mileages and rest days can be adjusted. You may want to decrease or expand upon the program, depending on your level of fitness.

However, if you're a late starter, you shouldn't jump into the program at the maximum mileage level. Start slow and gradually increase the distance.

The most important point of the program is to follow a hard (long distance) day by an easy one. This is used as a recovery period, allowing your body to build endurance.

Other helpful hints include:

Don't ignore pain. Contrary to some opinions, pain is not a necessary part of running. Basic guidance is to seek help if any pain gets worse during a run and does not fade away after a week or so of training.

Warm up and warm down properly. Allow 5 to 10 minutes of stretching exercises before and after a run. Start a run slowly. Improper warm-ups are a leading cause of injury.

Use Proper Equipment. Good shoes are a necessity. The major brand names are always a good bet, and a good guide is to look at the shoes with five-star ranking by various running magazines.

Run comfortably. Use the style that suits you best. You don't have to look like an Olympic sprinter.

Eat well. The best diet to follow is high carbohydrates (including fruit and vegetables) and low amounts of red meat, processed sugar, salt, fat, and cholesterol. Fish, veal, and poultry are good. Don't eat immediately before running. A high carbohydrate meal is desirable the night before the race.

Don't quit because of minor injury. Minor injuries are often caused by improper running style, which can be corrected. If the pain is only discomforting and is not causing a limp or change in your running motion, most likely it is not serious. See a doctor if it persists.

If you keep these points in mind, and follow the training schedule fairly closely, you should have no trouble running (or even racing) in the 25 km de Berlin. See you April 24!

Berlin cagers stop Kaiserslautern Panthers

This past weekend Berlin beat the Kaiserslautern Panthers, 89-79, at Kaiserslautern.

In the early stage of the game, Kaiserslautern jumped out to a 7 to 2 lead and immediately went into a delay game, forcing Berlin out of their 1-3-1 zone.

Berlin's man-to-man defense then forced three quick turnovers to give the Bears an 8 to 7 lead. Berlin never relinquished that lead, at times building up a 16 point margin. At halftime, Berlin led by a score of 47-39.

In the second half, Berlin stayed with it's defense, forcing Kaiserslautern to shoot from the outside. With 11 minutes remaining and a 12-point lead, Berlin held the ball, forcing the Panthers out of their zone defense. This allowed Berlin to utilize their speed and height advantage to dominate the remainder of the game.

Leading rebounders for Berlin were Willie Upshaw and Robert Izzard with 11 apiece and Jerome Finney with 7.

Leading scorers for Berlin were Stephen Hunter with 19 points (including 9 of 11 from the free throw line), Roderick Riley with 16, Finney with 15, and Upshaw with 12. Tyrone Saunders had five steals for Berlin.

In the women's game, Berlin was mismatched inside. Kaiserslautern's 6-foot-2-inch center had little trouble dominating the defensive and offensive boards. Berlin's record now stands at nine wins and seven losses. Leading scorers for Berlin were Queen Risher with 28 points and Gwen Benton with 16.

The next games for the Berlin teams will be at the Sports Center gym at 6 p.m. on Saturday and at 1 p.m. on Sunday. They face Mannheim.

High school Bears lose to Blackhawks

Last week the Berlin American High School Bears travelled to Osterholz for a non-conference match-up against the Black Hawks. The teams came home with what appeared to be one of their worst showings this season.

Considering the fact that three of the starting five varsity men were excused from play and the girl's team was missing two of their starters, the teams made a respectable showing.

On Friday night the decimated ranks of the men's varsity team took on the unbeaten hoopsters from Osterholz. John O'Connell had the hot-hand for Berlin with a total of 19 points. Markus Sischler was also a high scorer with 15.

Although the Bears out-scored their opponents 22-14 in the fourth quarter in a valiant attempt at a comeback, the Black Hawks prevailed 84-40.

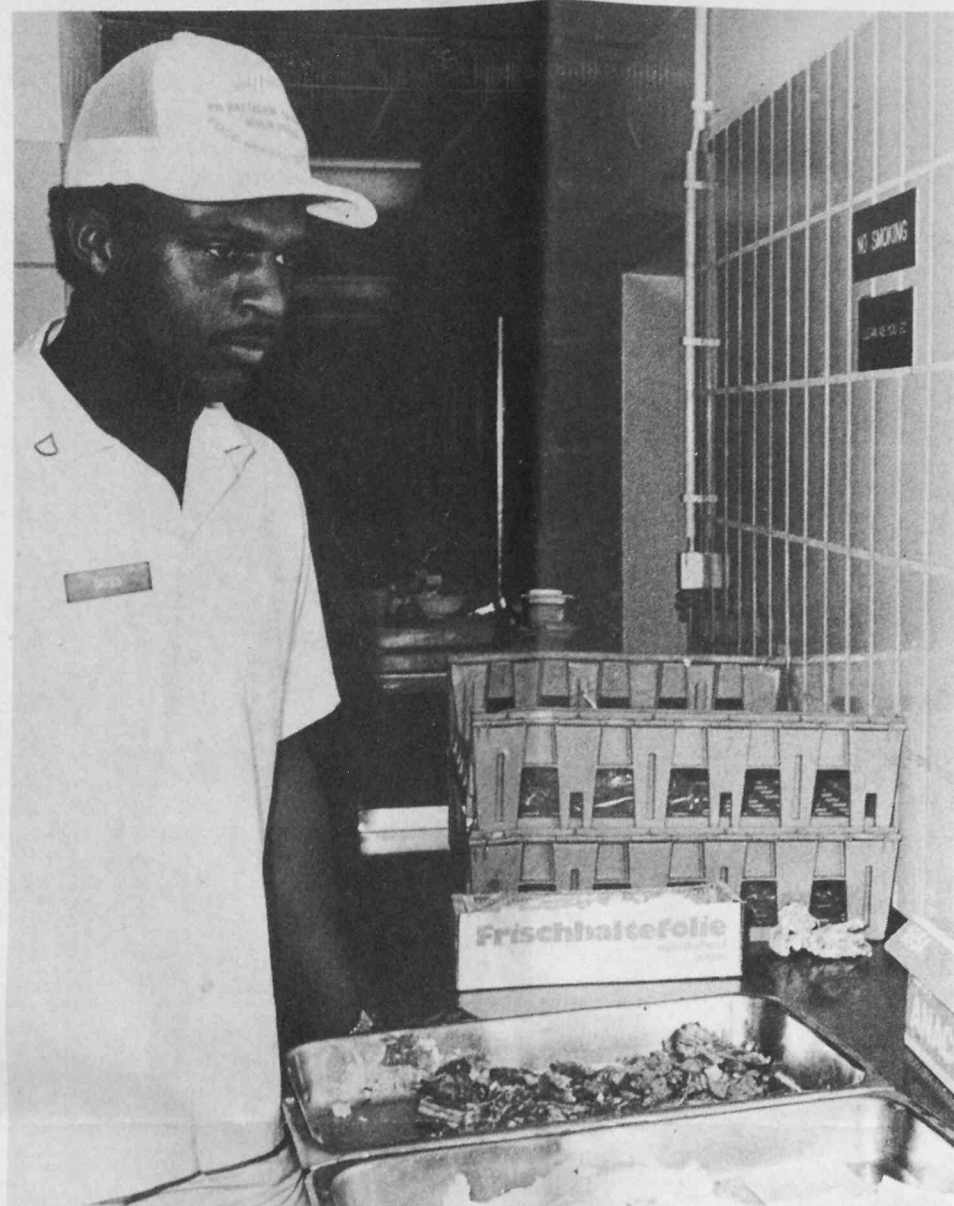

That afternoon the J.V. boys triumphed over the Black Hawks with Malcolm Thompson hitting the winning bucket at the buzzer, to give them a 31-29 triumph.

Saturday's contest proved no easier for the J.V. Bears. Markus Fischler scored 16 points and John O'Connell chipped in seven in their 30-23 setback.

In women's varsity action Friday, the She-Bears also found it hard to make a stand against the Black Hawks with their weekend team roster. Shirley Trotter had 10 points and 17 rebounds while Robin Murphy had four points and seven rebounds for Berlin. Final score was Osterholz 58, Berlin 24. The Girl's J.V. team lost by a score of 18-8.

Saturday's contest was also a struggle. Shirley Trotter was again high scorer for Berlin with 16 points. Osterholz finished again on top by a score of 62-24.

wagon was filled with Marzipan roses.

In the canape category, Toomey prepared stuffed pickles, stuffed celery, stuffed peppers, stuffed mushrooms and a ham roll. The entry took 18 hours to prepare and featured 186 pieces of red and black caviar.

"When I heard I had won the canape event I couldn't help but shout," said Toomey. "But then when I went out to the display area and saw a blue ribbon on my centerpiece entry, you couldn't have beaten the smile off of my face." Toomey will also travel to Fort Lee to compete.

From the 4th Battalion dining facility, PFC Robert Gates earned a second place and an invitation to Fort Lee with his entry in the cold buffet-meats event. Gates prepared a turkey galantine for the competition. A turkey galantine is a stuffed meat roll dish.

Gates said he owes his culinary experience to his uncle, John Jefferies. "My uncle is a chef and I used to travel with him. He's the guy who taught me to make a galantine."

Other top winners from Berlin included Sgt. James W. Eaton, 3rd Battalion. Eaton won a first place award with his entry in the seafood category. Sp4 Joseph J. DeBlaker, Company F, 40th Armor, earned a second place in the fancy pastry event, and Sp4 Kurt A. Moon, 2nd Battalion won third place in the breads event.

Scott said that in addition to the fine individual efforts of the team's members, the entire team deserves congratulations for winning the overall team event.

The cooks bound for Fort Lee are scheduled to depart in about two weeks. If they show well at Fort Lee, the next stop is the International Culinary Arts Festival in Chicago.
