Organization day helps raise funds

by Marcia Cunningham

In spite of the purple-grey sky and a cool March-like wind, children of Field Station Berlin still patiently (and some not so patiently) lined up to board the mini-trains "Berliner Express" and the "Spandau Flyer".

Last Saturday at Andrews Barracks, FSB celebrated their annual Intelligence and Security Command (INSCOM) Day. This ambitious event is staged primarily to raise money for the INSCOM Benefit Association, but it also serves as a means of encouraging the entire unit to get together to enjoy fun, food and athletics. Most of the athletic games required highly specialized skills such as the ability to toss and catch an uncooked egg at ever increasing distances, or for example, a first sergeant's very delicate maneuvering of their company commander in an under-sized wheelbarrow.

But there was also a serious and well fought softball match which began the day before between Field Station Augsburg, the 66th MI Group Munich and Field Station Berlin. According to

Capt. Barrett Kemp who managed the softball tournament, "The 66th MI Group won the women's competition, while Field Station Augsburg took the men's competition."

As far as the tense Egg Toss contest — a sometimes dangerous event, as smashing eggs splattered a few not so quick on lookers Co. B grabbed the championship with the light touch of PFC Laura Saher and Sp4 Scott Hewitt.

Wheelbarrow race

The Company Wheelbarrow Race, bravely and proudly fought by teams of first sergeants and company commanders, was impressively captured by 1st Sgt. Gordan White and Capt. Gary Phillips of H&S Co. According to Phillips, H&S Co. was lagging until he and White switched places in the wheelbarrow and White "flew on top of the wheelbarrow, practically spread-eagle." Phillips' swift-footedness, pushing the lighter first sergeant, managed give them the lead, passing Co. B's 1st Sgt. Robert Young and Capt. Rex Rudy and winning "by the length of four wheelbarrows."

By the end of the day Co. B had their revenge by winning the Company Mini-Olympics. Co. A was able to claim victory for having raised the most money for the INSCOM Benefit Association.

Two Co. A soldiers, Sp4 Kathleen Boone and Sgt. Bryant Sayers were elected as INSCOM Queen and King by having received the most donations from their fellow soldiers. Sp4 Boone stressed that "In only three months our company was able to raise $4,200 for INSCOM-BA." She further explained that the soldiers of Co. A devised various schemes of raising money. Two popular, if slightly embarrassing activities for the victims, were paying to have certain selected individuals chests shaved, or perhaps, in good punk fashion, having someone's hair dyed.

As estimated 1,000 service and family members plus FSB civilians attended INSCOM Day. Activities began at 10:30 a.m. and continued until 1 a.m. the next day with a dance in the Hi-Lite Recreation Center. "The New World Band" from Augsburg, who generously played without pay, performed variety music not only for the dance, but also throughout the day.

FSB soldiers had their once a year chance to flex their muscles with the exquisitely satisfying "Throw a Pie at Your Commander" activity. No company commander, including FSB commander Col. Cloyd Pfister, was spared the tasty, if messy experience of a gooshy pie in the face. One soldier (name withheld) bid as high as seventy-five dollars for the opportunity of expressing sweet revenge.

A good two hours of brisk bidding to CSM Raymond McKnight's notorious auctioneer techniques entertained the crowd and added substantial amounts to the Benefit Association. For many months the command sergeant major collected donations of bicycles, stereo equipment, general household items for him to auction on INSCOM Day. CSM McKnight's talent as an auctioneer is well-known and appreciated throughout INSCOM. He never fails to entertain the crowd with his quick calls, easy guips at the bidders plus his uncanny ability to raise those bids.

One annual event was mysteriously cancelled this year. When a unnamed first sergeant was asked why the popular company commander/first sergeant tricycle race wasn't taking place, he slyly suggested that one other un-named "rather large (but of course, physically fit) first sergeant sabotaged the tricycles so he wouldn't have to race."

Unending food

The grill smoked all day and the food line seemed unending as the senior NCO's of FSB took turns cooking and serving the food. MSgt. Karl Conway, NCOIC of the two FSB Dining Facilities confidently proclaimed, "I figure we fed well over 800 people. Five hundred Bratwurst and Brötchen, 1,200 hamburgers and 520 hotdogs were easily consumed." Not to mention the consumption of a rumored 27 kegs of Löwenbräu.

A good deal of money was raised by INSCOM Day; approximately 1,000 people enjoyed the games, the bake sales, the raffles, the food and drink; the children loved the train rides and the carousel; but it was also obvious that a great deal of work and planning went into

Friday designated POW/MIA day

Ever since the Revolutionary War, America's men and women have heroically served their country in times of conflict. In each of America's wars, our prisoners of war have been required to make special sacrifices, serving their country under conditions of hardship. Their burden greatly increased when they were treated in violation of the fundamental standards of morality and international codes of conduct for the treatment of prisoners of war.

Our POW's and MIA's have earned a very special place in the hearts of all Americans because of their selfless devotion to duty and unflinching courage. We must not forget or fail to honor those who have served their country so faithfully.

Our nation deeply appreciates the acute suffering and pain experienced by the families of our servicemen held captive or missing in action. The loss of a loved one is a tragic situation under any circumstance, but that burden is magnified when the fate of the loved one is unknown. All Americans fully support efforts to end the uncertainties with which they continue to live.

We accept and remember our obligation to these missing servicemen. Until the POW/MIA issue is resolved, it will remain a matter of highest national priority. On July 20, 1984, the POW/MIA flag will fly over the White House, the Departments of State and Defense, and the Veteran's Administration as a symbol of our unwavering commitment to achieve the fullest possible accounting for the servicemen and civilians.

By Senate Joint Resolution 171, the Congress has designated July 20, 1984, as "National POW/MIA Recognition Day." On this day, I firmly believe that we should recognize the special debt that all Americans owe to their fellow citizens who gave up their freedom in the service of our country and to families who have undergone a great travail.

Now, therefore, I, Ronald Reagan, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim Friday, July 20, 1984, as National POW/MIA Recognition Day. I call on all Americans to join in honoring all former American Prisoners of War, those still missing, and their families who endured the uncommon sacrifices on behalf of this country. I also call upon state and local officials and private organizations to observe this day with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this 9th day of May, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and eighty-four and of the independence of the United States of America, the two hundred and eighth.

2,489 Americans still missing

Hanoi returns remains of eight MIAs

by Rick Maze
Army Times News Service

The Vietnamese Government has told the United States that on July 17 it will turn over the remains of eight American servicemen killed in the Vietnam War, a Pentagon spokesman said. The U.S. will send a plane to Hanoi to recover the remains and take them to the U.S. Joint Casualty Resolution Center in Hawaii for identification.

Pentagon officials believe the remains are those mentioned by Vietnamese officials during a visit to Hanoi last February by a high-level American delegation, the spokesman said. The Vietnamese have identified the remains, but the Pentagon spokesman refused to disclose the names provided by Hanoi, saying "We don't release the names that they provide because they have been wrong."

The offer by the Vietnamese Government to turn over the remains comes after a four-month period during which there was little progress toward resolving the fate of the 2,489 Americans still unaccounted for more than 10 years after the Vietnam War ended.

A planned April technical meeting between the U.S. forensic specialists and Vietnamese officials was cancelled just days before the visit by Hanoi officials, and no new meeting has been scheduled.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, recently asked the Vietnamese government to turn over the remains of eight Americans to the United States as Hanoi officials had promised.

After meeting with members of the delegation that visited Vietnam, Percy said the Vietnamese should consider the issue on humanitarian grounds, suggesting the Vietnamese were not keeping their promises for political reasons. "It is connected with other things that have been said or done and there is a constant deferral," Percy said.

Ann Mills Griffiths, head of the National League of families of Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia, who met with Percy, said Vietnamese officials promised to turn over the remains and to begin holding quarterly technical meetings with the U.S., but have postponed the meetings for "technical reasons," she said.

Letters

On nutrition and AFN ad

editors note: The following letter is in response to the comments made by Sara Lewkowicz (p. 2, July 6, "Berlin Observer") concerning nutritional needs and the propriety of AFN-TV's Sugar Shack commercial.

Ms. Lewkowicz has indeed reached the tip of an iceberg regarding the nutritional illiteracy of the community. For several years my observation has been an astounding acceptance of processed, starchy and sugary food available in the community eating establishments.

Individuals need not only reeducate themselves as to what is nutritious but rethink by questioning why are pre-schoolers, scouts and the youth served Kool-Aid, a drink made of sugar, water and color, as an everyday/social beverage? Why are school children given sugar as a social reward for birthdays as well as academic/good behaviour achievements? Why do we accept food mediocrity in eating establishments provided by a monopoly company?

It is easy to take pot shots and my personal involvement to try and change some of the aforementioned questions has been met with bureaucratic or personal indifference. In this case, I do not think one person can make a difference; however, if enough people band together to evoke a nutritional revolution in the community our families will surely be the winners.

New home for CSB

Combat Support Battalion now has a new home, and it's one of the finest pieces of Prussian architecture to be found in the American sector.

The grand opening ceremony for the renovated building 903 at Andrews Barracks was held Friday. Maj. Gen. Leroy N. Suddath, Jr., commander of the Berlin Brigade and Klaus-Dieter Friedrich, the mayor of Steglitz presided over the ribbon cutting ceremony.

The building built in 1875, was one of four barracks used to house military cadets during the reign of Kaiser Wilhelm.

Bike safety class

Sgt. Guy Robertson (the tall one) and Sgt. Brent Lane (with the long face) otherwise known as Officer friendly and Mr. McGruff, have been conducting a bicycle safety program for children in the Berlin-American community lately.

Robertson and Lane, both from the Crime Prevention section of the Provost Marshall Office, are using the two-day program to teach children the do's and don't's of bicycle riding.

The kids learn how to observe right-of-way, recognize street signs and how to deal with traffic and intersections. On the second day of the program, the children take their bikes to the outdoor testing area and put their classroom lessons to work.

After successfully completing the course, the kids are presented a Safety Program Proficiency Certificate and a Safe Driver's License along with a class picture.

The program has been going on for five weeks now, on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9-10:30 a.m. in the parking lot across from the Sports Center Gym on Hüttenweg. There is only one week left in the program so those interested in participating should call 819-3450 as soon as possible.

NCOA chapter here

On July 9, the Checkpoint Charlie Chapter of the Non Commissioned Officers and Petty Officers Association was established in the Berlin Community.

The following individuals were elected officials: Chairman — CSM George D. Mock, Vice Chairman — SFC Elmer L. Foreman III, Treasurer — SFC Raymond J. Evans, Secretary — PO1 Bradley J. Douglass, Trustee — MSG Robert W. Chesire, and Trustee — SFC Wilfred D. Meek.

The Checkpoint Charlie Chapter of the Non Commissioned Officers and Petty Officers Association will hold its first General Membership meeting on September 7 at 4 p.m. The meeting will take place at the Checkpoint NCO club. All enlisted military from ranks E-4 through E-9 are encouraged to come out and see what the NCOA is all about.

Travel safety tips

Tragedy has a habit of striking when least expected. It can turn vacation time into a moment of sorrow and regret. Yet, with careful planning and the addition of a few safety rules, you can enjoy the fun and relaxation you anticipated. The following tips are but a few which will serve to protect you and your family.

Plan for the best possible performance of your car by having it completely checked for safety. See that the headlights are properly focused and give sufficient illumination, and that the windshield wipers are in good working order. Check lubrication and gas and oil supply. Make sure breaks are dependable.

Make sure you have a first aid kit, maps, keys, permits, passes, identification, spare tire, flashlight, warning triangle, fuses, tool kit for changing tires.

Take sufficient rest stops during the day and allow for a good night's sleep each night. Fatigue and safe driving do not go together. Also, schedule your trip to avoid driving after sundown.

Use frequent stops to enjoy the scenery. Never drive and look at interesting sights at the same time; instead, pull off the road and stop.

Obey varying traffic laws in countries you will drive through, by learning the traffic regulations before entering the a country. Remember, being a tourist doesn't entitle you to special privileges.

Wannsee still offers plenty

by Jessica Jacalone

Even in less than perfect weather there are many things to do at the Wannsee Recreation Center.

The Wannsee Rec Center, located at 17-19 Am Sandwerder Strasse, is open Tuesday through Sunday, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.. It is built on street level, with lawns sloping down to a swimming pool, a "kiddie" pool, an MSAD snack stand, and a pier.

Presently the pier is being expanded, and won't be finished until the end of August. This means the paddle, motor, and row boats won't be available until the pier is completed.

Though the boats mentioned above are out of service, wind-surfing boards and sailboats are available. To wind-surf or sail, though, a license is needed. If you wish to obtain a license, instructors are available for $ 1.50 per hour.

A tour of the Wannsee, Peacock Island and the Havel River is also offered. The tour price is $ 10.00 per hour, 25 people a tour maximum. The tour boat rides are by reservation only.

The Rec Center House can be used for social functions and parties. Besides a wonderful view of the Wannsee, the house includes such items as a dance floor, two pool tables, and a kitchen with three refrigerators and two stoves. The house can be reserved by anyone in the command. A DF form signed by an E-7 or above is needed to confirm the reservation. The hours the Rec Center House can be used are from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m.. Call 819-6555 for all matters concerning the boat rentals, the tour boat ride, or the Rec Center House.

Another aspect of the Wannsee Rec Center is the Camping equipment available for renting. Portable stoves, cooking kits, backpacks, tents and camping trailers are only some of the items available.

The camping trailers can be used at Rose Range, or taken outside of Berlin. The cost of renting the camping equipment varies from $ 35.00 per week for the most expensive trailer to $ 1.00 per week for a portable stool.

According to Sp5 Ernie Rangel, Wannsee Rec Center NCOIC, the perfect opportunity to use the camping equipment is at hand. A Camping Jamboree is planned for the weekend of the 27th. This Jamboree will be held in Worms, West Germany. There are no costs involved other than the equipment rental fees. For more information about renting camping equipment or the Jamboree call 819-6696.

For your convenience, the American Wannsee Express bus leaves Truman Plaza at 9:45 a.m., 1:05 p.m., and 4:05 p.m.. You can also reach the Wannsee Rec Center by the German buses, number 18 or 3.

Diamond sparkles at Waldbühne

by Mike Warren

It began with a cool July evening and ended with a "Hot August night." In between, flags were unflurled, firecrackers exploded, a laser beam produced an image of flying sea gull—and Neil Diamond sang some of the most popular songs in America and throughout the world over the last 15 years.

Diamond used his unmistakable sound to captivate the crowd of about 15,000 at the Waldbühne, July 12, and the crowd's enthusiasm reflected the way Diamond sang.

He opened the concert with a rousing rendition of "America," from the movie "The Jazz Singer," which Diamond starred in. As he sang, the flags of the United States and the Federal Republic of Germany descended from above the stage, behind Diamond and his band. Diamond also tossed firecrackers into the air, which exploded over the heads of fans sitting on the grassy area near the stage.

At first the deep voice of Diamond sounded a bit raspy, but after a few songs his powerful sound hit full-gear.

Before the night was over, Diamond's fans heard almost three hours of the music that has characterized the pop singer's unique sound. He captivated the audience with heart-felt ballads, "I am ... I said," "Play Me," and "September Morn," foot-stomping oldies "Cracklin' Rosie" and "Sweet Caroline," and the emotional "You Don't Bring Me Flowers," in which he was accompanied by female vocalist Linda Press.

The climax of the concert was Diamond's performance of "Forever in Blue Jeans."

He began explaining how the song came to be written. He said his lead guitarist, Richard Bennet, knocked on his door one night, excited about a new melody Bennet had just written. He asked Diamond to write lyrics to his new song.

Diamond sang the song once, then shouted, "Let's do it again!" The crowd continued to scream their approval, even after Diamond had sung the entire song once and the refrain three times. He mockingly pleaded for mercy, then sang the refrain one more time.

About 10,000 fans joined him in singing the pop standard from 1972, "Song Sung Blue." Thousands lit sparklers during the song, making the occasion seem like a candlelight procession.

The most unusual special effect was the blue image of a sea gull, produced in laser light against the tree tops above the stage.

The flying sea gull represented "Jonathan Livingston Seagull," a 1973 movie about the life of a seagull. Diamond wrote and sang the music for the movie. He performed the hit single "Be" from the movie's soundtrack.

He ended the concert with "Brother

Love's Traveling, Salvation Show," which begins with the lyrics, "Hot August night ..."

Despite his reputation for singing "soft pop," Diamond, at a press reception upon his arrival at Tegel airport, claimed he doesn't have a particular style. "The style I've had is whatever music I've felt at the time," he said. "It may have been more sophisticated or more simple, but I've had no special style."

He also said he doesn't have any favorite songs among his own material. "The favorite song is the one you're writing at the moment," he said. "It's new and exciting ... until it's born, and you see it's a happy, healthy child."

Diamond said that many of his songs come from personal experiences. At least one, however, is based on a fictional story. That is "Heartlight," which was inspired by the movie "E.T."

He said he went to see the movie with Burt Bacharach and Carol Sager. They loved the movie so much they were inspired to write "Heartlight" when they returned to their hotel, Diamond said.

Diamond last played in Berlin 1977, and he said he notes no difference between American and European audiences. "If the music I play is good, they respond. If it isn't good, they don't."

They responded July 12 at the Waldbühne.

Louis I. Fischer

It was a war wound suffered during the Ardennes campaign, in the latter stages of the Battle of the Bulge, that ultimately resulted in Louis I. Fischer's first journey to Berlin. And except for a brief hiatus to Nuremberg he has remained here, an eyewitness to one of history's most intriguing chapters, the resurrection of postwar Berlin and the struggles of the Allies, Germans and West Berliners to keep this city free.

Fischer, the chief of the Supply and Services Division here, was honored during the American Express Community Banking Facility's thirty-seventh anniversary ceremony July 12 as the first person to set up an Amexco account in Berlin.

CIB award

As an infantryman with Company L, 330th Infantry, 83rd Infantry Division, Fischer landed in Normandy, France in June 1944, ten days after D-day. From the hot summer of '44 to the freezing winter of early '45 he fought in the campaigns of Normandy, northern France, central Germany and the Ardennes. In the process, he earned one of the first Combat Infantryman's Badges ever awarded and was promoted from the ranks of the enlisted to platoon leader.

But in January of 1945 a wound put him out of action for four months. No longer considered fit for infantry, Fischer was assigned on July 25, 1945 to a quartermaster's job in Berlin as part of the U.S. Control Commission for Germany. His first impressions of postwar Berlin remain vivid to this day.

"At that time, Berlin was catastrophic, absolutely catastrophic," the 60-year-old Manhattan native says. "There was rubble in the street, wire lying around, burnt automobiles, remnants of lampposts — it was just catastrophic."

On the surface, the psychological condition of Berlin's citizens seemed as devastated as the physical remains of their city. But according to Fischer, there remained a stoic resolve beneath the numb and exhausted exteriors of the Berliners.

"They were very depressed," he recalls. "The outward appearance of the Berliners really revealed no hope, but they did have something that Berliners seem to have all the time — an inward determination. They worked hard, cleaned up, and looked toward a future that was very doubtful. And I think it was that attitude which really revitalized Berlin and rebuilt Germany."

The road back to a revitalized Berlin was an arduous one. Facing the Berliners and their Allied compatriots was an economy in shambles.

"The Berlin economy," Fischer notes, "was desolate. There was a tremendous amount of unemployment. Their money was worthless. Getting sufficient food just to stay alive, getting sufficient fuel to keep their homes warm, getting little bits of clothing to wear, was difficult."

Food program started

To help remedy part of the Berliners' plight, Fischer established in 1945 one of the first food programs in the city. It was a hot lunch program designed for German employees at U.S. Army installations. Army dining facilities provided Fischer and his associates with excess foodstuffs which were then served to German workers for a nominal deduction from their paychecks. According to Fischer, the food program provided the necessary sustenance which enabled German workers to survive the war's aftermath.

39 years later ...

one of the first postwar Americans recalls the struggles to keep Berlin free

"It was a survival lunch," Fischer says of the service which went by the unofficial name of the Indigenous Personnel Feeding Program. "It carried us through — that was the important part. It put a hot bowl of soup, a hot meal, into their stomachs to carry them through. Some of these meals just helped them survive."

Fischer left the military in 1946 but remained in Berlin to work for the European Exchange System, a forerunner of the current AAFES. Several years later he was recommissioned as a captain in the Army reserve, serving as both an officer and an Army civilian employee until 1983, when he retired from the reserve as a full colonel.

Fischer was still working in Berlin when the Soviets began their blockade of the city June 24, 1948. He remembers the reaction of Berliners when the blockade was first put into place.

"Although there were events leading up to it, the blockade itself was a surprise," Fischer says. "When it occurred, there was depression but no panic. The Berliners seemed to withstand the hard knocks quite well."

Airlift preserves Berlin

And indeed Berliners withstood hard knocks in abundance during the blockade. According to Fischer, many were subsisting on near-starvation rations. The severe winter of 1948-49 forced Berliners to cut down trees in the city's wooded areas to obtain fuel. But through it all, the American and British airlift preserved Berlin's precarious lifeline to the outside world.

"Nobody could imagine the ability of the American Air Force to fly in that much tonnage of supplies and keep a city like this open," Fischer says of the airlift which supplied 2,325,000 tons of food, coal, and other material in 277,569 flights. "It was a logistical wonder."

When the blockade ended May 12, 1949, Fischer was one of the first to leave Berlin as he headed for Nuremberg to assume a position with the AAFES Cost and Services Division, a position he refused to take until after the blockade was lifted. He returned to the city on a visit in June 1953 just in time to witness the abortive uprising in East Berlin.

"There was tension here," Fischer recalls of the period. "People didn't know what this flame would do, if it would have any effect. But actually, after a few days it quieted down. There was a lot of frustration in the West, but it appears that the Berliners just adjusted and kept going."

A brief hiatus

In the mid-'50s, Fischer left Nuremberg to work in Berlin again, where he has worked ever since. Upon his return, he saw a city vastly-improved from the one which had greeted him in 1945. Reconstruction was progressing well and a new economy was being built. Travel between West and East Berlin was still busy, with many Berliners living in East and working in the West. It therefore came as a shock when construction of the Wall began in August 1961.

"The Germans were just flabbergasted when it happened," Fischer says. "President Kennedy sent Lyndon Johnson here in response. The Germans got moral support out of that."

Later Kennedy himself visited the city to demonstrate U.S. support.

"When JFK visited, it was something out of a dream," Fischer recalls. "JFK was worshipped by the Berliners. His charisma overwhelmed them. His 'Ich bin ein Berliner' remark just topped it off. It was like a mass hypnosis."

A city with charm

After the initial shock of the Wall, things in Berlin calmed down. Throughout the remainder of the 1960s the city enjoyed a welcomed stability which has continued to this day. Lou Fischer's presence in Berlin has also continued. To him, there is a charm to the city which is unlike that found anywhere else.

"The reason I've stayed here," he says, "is because of the people and the beauty of this city. There is a vibrant quality here which is very exciting, as well as an optimistic viewpoint."

Fischer intends to remain in Berlin until his civilian retirement, after which he hopes to move to Florida. Until then, Lou Fischer will continue to perform, as he has since 1945, his unofficial role as American witness to postwar Berlin history.

Amexco celebrates its thirty-seventh birthday in Berlin

by David Porreca

The American Express Community Banking Facility celebrated its thirty-seventh anniversary in Berlin with a ceremony held July 12 at Truman Plaza.

John J. Nemetz, Amexco's assistant treasurer and area manager, presided over the ceremony. Featured guests were Maj. Gen. Leroy N. Suddath Jr., commander, U.S. Army Berlin Brigade, and Louis I. Fischer, chief of the Supply and Services Division. Fischer was honored as the first person to establish an Amexco account in Berlin.

In his opening remarks, Nemetz noted the importance of Amexco to the financial well-being of Berlin Brigade soldiers, particularly younger troops. According to Nemetz, most young soldiers coming to Berlin on their first assignments have no experience with bank accounts. For this reason, he said, Amexco has striven to be helpful and efficient in establishing accounts and offering financial advice.

Commenting on Amexco's performance, Suddath praised the bank's achievements since July 12, 1947. He pointed out the assistance and service which Amexco has rendered to Brigade soldiers, and looked forward to continued cooperation with the facility. Nemetz presented him with an Amexco baseball cap in appreciation.

The ceremony concluded with the introduction of Fischer. In remarks prior to the event, Fischer recalled the establishment of his account, which has been continuous since 1947.

"Although the Berlin economy was devastated at the time," Fischer said, "there was no risk involved in opening an account then because this was an American Express bank. Banking was important in rebuilding Berlin. German banks still had the old Reichmarks, which were worthless. American Express was a move in the right direction. You had to establish something."

Mitchell captures USAB golf tournament

Ernie Mitchell fired a 3-over-par 73 to easily capture first place in the USAB Golf Tourney Friday at the Berlin American Golf Course. Mitchell shot a 223 for the entire tourney, 13 over par.

J. Morris, Jerry Carrell and Joe Maynard finished with scores of 239, 242 and 245, respectively, and qualify to play, along with Mitchell, in the men's open division in next month's USAREUR Golf Tournament to be held here.

Men's seniors representatives for the USAREUR tournament from the Berlin command have not yet been determined.

Mitchell, the defending USAREUR tournament champion, was not pleased with his performance despite his first-place finish.

"I felt I could have done much better," he said. "I just wasn't getting my putts (to go in). "I kept pulling (to the left of the hole) or pushing (to the right) them."

H & S, FSB wins two in slow-pitch tourney

by Mike Warren

H & S, FSB 9, Co. B, 4/502 1

Oswaldo Ortiz ripped a grand slam and a run-scoring double to lead H & S, FSB to a 9-1 clobbering of Co. B, 4/502, in the first game for both teams in the USAB slow-pitch softball tourney, Tuesday at Andrews field.

The game was scoreless until the bottom of the third. Bob Glosser singled to start the inning, but Gayle Cox and Timothy Pilley flew out. Mike Williams then dribbled a ball to 4/502 pitcher Mervin Thomas, who bobbled it for an error. Anthony Carney followed with a three-run homer. Johnny Hoskins then drew a walk, and Ortiz followed with a double to score him from first base.

FSB erupted for five runs in the fifth, all after two out. Williams beat out an infield roller for a single, Carney walked and Hoskins singled to fill the bases before Ortiz unliaded his grand slam. That prompted a pitching change for 4/502. Greg Vanorum relieved Thomas and surrendered a double to George Moore and an RBI-single to Alderman Dover before getting the side out in the fifth.

4/502 scored their run in the fifth. With one out, Gewndolyn Mosby doubled to center field and Alvin Howard singled to score Mosby. Thomas also singled, but FSB Cox retired Scott Mansito and Vanorum to end the threat.

287th MPS 15, Co. A, 6/502 5

Home runs by Cuz Flynn and Walter Watson highlighted a seven-run outburst in the fourth inning by the 287th MPs, who pounded Co. A, 6/502 15-5. The game was called in the sixth inning because of the 10-run rule.

With the MPs leading 3-0 in the top of the third, Rob Allen belted a two-run homer for 6/502. In the top of the fourth, Ken Hakul singled and Ken Howard and Roderick Riley followed with doubles to tie the score. Michael Jordon lifted a sacrifice fly to give 6/502 a 4-3 lead.

In the bottom of the fourth, a two-out error by shortstop William Simmons with nobody on base opened the flood gates for the MPs. Damien Zollick and Rickey Bell singled to produce a pair of runs. Watson homered, Les Anderson reached on another error by Simmons, Terry Gerhardtstein doubled and Flynn homered to cap in the sixth with five runs. Flynn hit another two-run homer and Bob Jacobs tripled and scored the final run on yet another error by Simmons.

Pitcher Bernie Keefer went the distance for the MPs, allowing 13 hits and five runs, all earned.

H & S, FSB 7, CSC, 5/502 5

Anthony Carney went three-for-three, including his second homer of the night, to lead H & S, FSB to a 7-5 win over CSC, 5/502 and their second win in the USAB tourney.

5/502 scored first, on a sacrifice fly by Pat Wood. Wood's fly scored Bobby Harness, who had beat out an infield grounder to short and advanced to third base on a double by Bill Watson.

FSB came back with two runs in the bottom of the first. Carney singled and Hoskins doubled. Williams singled in one run and went to third on an error by 5/502 Watson. Moore scored him with a sacrifice fly.

5/502 regained the lead in the second inning. Singles by Bill Vaughan and Vernon Jackson and a sacrifice fly by Dale Zimick produced one run. Lewis Smith singled and Jackson scored with Hoskins misplayed the ball.

In the bottom of the second FSB tied the game on sigles by Cox, Freiburger and Carney.

5/502 again took the lead in the third when Wood scored Bill Regan with a sacrifice fly. They added to their lead in the fifth when Bill Coble scored Regan, who had doubled, with a single.

FSB's come-from-behind rally in the fifth began with a single by Freiburger. Carney then hit a towering fly that barely cleared the center field fence, to tie the game. One out later, Williams singled and Moore followed with a high fly to right field. The right fielder misjudged the ball for an error. Moore advanced to third and Williams scored. A wild relay throw by the short-center fielder allowed Moore to score.

Hoskins dropped a fly by Harness, leading off the seventh, but Cox set down the next three batters for the victory.

In the first-round USAB softball tourney games at McNair Barracks, Co. A, 5/502 won a forfeit against HHC 6/502, Signal Support smashed Meddac 12-1 and Co. C, 4/502 nipped Co. A, 5/502 7-6.

The final games of the tourney will be at Andrews tonight beginning at 6:15 p.m.

Your hospital informs

Patients are arriving at the Optometry Clinic with scheduled appointments, not realizing that what they need is available on a walk-in basis. If the patient's most recent eyeglass prescription is available, the following services can be accomplished by a technician on a walk-in basis: re-ordering civilian and military spectacles and protective mask inserts, and vision testing for stateside driver's licenses. Patients can receive these services by bringing their medical record to the Optometry Clinic during the following times: Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 8 to 11 a.m. and again from 1 to 4 p.m. The waiting time for these services is usually less than 30 minutes.

A Pap and Pelvic Day will be conducted on an appointment basis in the OB/GYN Clinic, U.S. Army Hospital, Berlin, from 1 to 3 p.m. on Thursday. Patients in need of their annual pap and pelvic examination should call the OB/GYN Clinic at 819-4120 or 819-4121 during normal duty hours to obtain an appointment for this day. Due to the limited time available, patients with specific problems will not be seen during this time. If 11 months have expired since your last examination, you are encouraged to call the OB/GYN Clinic for an appointment. Questions may be directed to the OB/GYN Clinic. Patients should pick up their medical record at the Outpatient Records desk before entering the clinic.

Berlin women host tourney this weekend

by Mike Warren

For the first time in at least four years, the Berlin Brigade women's softball team has brought trophies home to Berlin, and Saturday and Sunday they will be out looking for their third one of the season in an invitational tourney they will host.

All tournament games will be at Andrews field. The action gets underway Saturday at noon, with games scheduled every hour and-a-half until 7:30 p.m. The tournament concludes Sunday with games at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The Berlin ladies have been in three tournaments this year and placed in two of them, bringing home a first-place trophy from Schweinfurt and placing third in Heidelberg.

Berlin's strong point, according to coach Georgette Baker, is an air-tight defense led by shortstop Cally Walker, third baseman Lynn Butters, first baseman Sandra LaGande and short fielder Sandy Riley.

For the team to win, however, the hitting will have to be more consistent, she said. "We have some good place hitters, but sometimes they get nervous, or they try to hit to a spot that is not their strength," Baker said.

"Our offense comes and goes in spurts," she added. "Our stats will show that. Rarely do we win by one run. We usually either win big or don't score much at all."

This is Baker's first year as coach of the team. She said she had been unable to play on the team the last two seasons because she was away from Berlin on temporary duty much of the time. Baker added that she watched the team when she could, and this year was asked to coach.

"I saw there was a lot of talent of this team, but there were some personality problems. I've tried to get the ladies to forget about personality differences and just play softball."

The next step for the women's team are the positional finals, in August. A regional tourney, it will decide who will go to the USAREUR championships.

What's happening

BATC Tennis Day

The Berlin American Tennis Club (BATC) will hold a "Tennis Day" on July 28, 1984, 9 a.m.—6 p.m., at the Harnack House courts. The event is open to the entire American Community and is designed to attract new members. It is also the deadline for old members to renew their membership. Refreshments will be provided throughout the day. Come anytime and stay as long as you can. Tennis clinics for beginners will be conducted periodically throughout the day. In the event of inclement weather, the Hüttenweg bubble will be used. For more information contact Larry Henly, 6882.

Track meet change

Saturday is the second of two dates first and second place winners from the USAB track meet are taking on all-comers in an open track meet at Yankee Stadium (at Andrews Baracks).

There is a time change for this meet, however. The time for this meet will be at 9 a.m., instead of noon, as reported in last week's Observer. Registration for the meet will also be at 9 a.m.

THE WINNER—Brian Burkett of Co. A 5/502 crosses the finish line with a time of 16:11 in the 5000 m race of an open track meet held Saturday at Yankee Stadium.

Post-soccer party

German polizei and American soldiers mingle as the German-American tradition of friendship activities continued July 12. Soldiers of Co. B and HHC, 5/502 met members of the German Polizei Company Einsatzbereitschaft 43 in a soccer game and picnic at the Gallwitzallee polizei compound.

The players were divided into a Red and Green team, each composed of Germans and Americans. Although the game ending in a rousing 10-6 victory for the Red over the Green, the real purpose of the match was to promote harmony rather than competition.

"The main function of events like this is to bring soldiers and policeman (polizei) together so they can talk and find some lasting friends," Capt. Hans-Joachim Steuzee, vice-commander of EB 43, said. Steuzee's American counterpart, Maj. Kurtis A. Meyer, 5/502 executive officer, agreed.

"This game is apart of our police partnership project in which we have a continuing series of partnership activities every other month or so, all of which we've found very enjoyable," Meyer said.

Stumper answers

(from last week)

1. The Milwaukee Bucks broke the Lakers' 33-game winning streak.
2. The Expos' Bill Gullickson was the last pitcher to fan 18 batters in a game.
3. Only Goose Gossage (of the group named) has never won the Cy Young Award.
4. Tricky question. The correct answer is the Philadelphia Stars, in the USFL's initial season.

a fine example of inter-company cooperation."

SFC Robert Tucker, NCOIC of S-4 had his hands full in coordinating the logistics and procurement of equipment. "We were responsible for setting up all the stands and booths, the carousel and trains for the kids, all the dumpsters, the rest-room facilities plus making transportation available. Our Facility Engineers, especially Sp4 Paul Daugherty, did an outstanding job setting up all the electric cables."

McKnight said, "Last year, FSB raised $9,000 for INSCOMBA. So far this year we've raised over $17,000 which is $6,000 more than what all of INSCOM raised in 1983." McKnight explained that the Benefit association forwards grants to family members of deceased INSCOM soldiers and civilians, plus arranges for college tuition assistance for children of deceased personnel. IN-

SCOMBA is actually a living memorial which originated during the Vietnam conflict and thrives today because of the dedicated efforts of concerned soldiers.

Sports Stumper

1. Which of the following pro athletes did not attend the University of Notre Dame: Carl Yastrzemski, Danny Ainge, Ron Reed, or Austin Carr?

2. Who was the last major league player to hit 20 triples in a season?

3. Which of the following played pro basketball: Ron Reed, Lee Smith, Jim Bibby, or Dave Frost?

4. True or false: Gail Sayers never won another rushing title after his knee injury in 1968.

Answers in next week's Observer.

A unique show with scenes from everyday life is presently the attraction at the Dahlemer Gemäldegalerie. The picture gallery of the museum shows approximately 100 paintings "Von Frans Hals bis Vermeer — Meisterwerke holländischer Genremalerei," Masterworks of Dutch Genre-painting. These works originate from museums and private collections in Europe and America, even the British Queen has loaned paintings to the Dahlemer Gemäldegalerie for this occasion. The original idea for this remarkable exhibition came from the Philadelphia Museum of Art. The museum owns an outstanding collection of Dutch paintings which were shown there before coming to Berlin. The exhibition runs until Aug. 12 at the Dahlemer Gemäldegalerie, and can only be seen one more time in Europe, when it will be shown at the Royal Academy in London. Dutch Genre-paintings can be seen Tuesday through Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Ausstellungshalle of the Dahlem Museum. Entrance is on 8 Lansstrasse. Admission costs DM6, and reduced admission fee for students is DM1. Take the underground to Dahlem-Dorf or buses 1, 10 and 68.

Care to do late shopping tonight? Here is good news: shops in the city area of Tauentzien and Kurfürstendamm, as well as adjacent side-streets, will remain open on Fridays until 9 p.m. These extended shopping hours will only be in effect during the Berliner Sommer-nachtsraum Program. Mark your calendar for today, July 27, Aug. 3 and Aug. 10. Thereafter it will be back to normal closing hours at 6 and 6:30 p.m., respectively.

Interested in a guided tour through the observatory? The Wilhelm-Förster-Sternwarte is located on the Insulaner, at 90 Munsterdamm. Tonight, tomorrow, Sunday, Tuesday and on Thursday two tours will be conducted at 6 and 9 p.m. Take buses 25, 68, 75, 76 or 83 to the Sternwarte.

Tonight, tomorrow and on Sunday "The COSH" (Cinetics of Social Harmony), a summer dance theater from England, presents "The Act" with dancers Fiona Creese, Vincent Keane, Sian Williams, and Simon Storey. Lighting is done by Inderjit Baria, music by Howard Davidson, and design by Leslie Gilda. Acrobatic sequences by Johnny Hutch and choreography by Julian Hough. The director is Michael Merwitzer. You can see "The KOSH" on all three days at Quartier Latin, located on 96 Potsdamer Strasse. Curtain time is 9 p.m. For additional information, call 261-3707.

Weekend happenings

For 24 hours, Ernst-Reuter-Platz will be blocked to the entire traffic when tomorrow from 4:30 p.m. until Sunday at 4:30 p.m. Klang-Installationen, an unusual sound happening will be on the program. Berlin choirs, electronic music, heavy-metal-groups, percussionists and Berliner Bigbands will be on the scene to present music as a modern, topical form of art. Compositions by Karlheinz Wahren, Wilhelm Dieter Siebert and Luigi Nono will be presented. The public is asked to dress in white, as the musicians and actors will be on the scene, dressed in black. Take the underground to Ernst-Reuter-Platz.

Another big party, in the name of Shakespeare, is going on at the Technischen Universität. The forecourt of the technical university will be converted into a phantasy island for everybody to have a ball from 4 p.m. tomorrow until 6 a.m. on Sunday. Enjoy food, drink and dancing at this long summer night. The Technische Universität is located on 135 Strasse des 17. Juni. Take the underground to Ernst-Reuter-Platz, or buses 9, 54, 62, 73, 90, 92 or 94.

Beginning tomorrow until July 29, all places around Kurfürstendamm become the scene of an open air happening. Beginning at 5 p.m. tomorrow, Wittenberg-, Breitscheidplatz, Los-Angeles-, Joachimstaler and Adenauer Platz will be offering a great variety of entertainment. There will be music groups playing, authors reading from their works, Liedermacher presenting their ballads, and many more Phantastische Geschichten, that are phantastic stories, will be going on.

If you care to watch children perform for children, come to Breitscheidplatz (memorial church) tomorrow. A theater program for eight- to 12-year-olds begins there at 2 p.m. Take the underground to Zoologischer Garten.

Need parts for your car? There will be an Oldtimer- and Teilemarkt tomorrow and on Sunday on 52-54 Rubensstrasse, corner of Rembrandtstrasse in the Friedenau district. The market opens at 10 a.m., and runs until 6 p.m. on both days. For additional information, call 881-4171.

Sommerkonzerte im Schloss is a program at Charlottenburg Castle's Eosander Chapel this weekend. Tomorrow and on Sunday, French, Polish and German music of the 17th and 18th Centuries will be presented, with works by Boismortier, Marais and Bach. Curtain time is 8 p.m. on both days. Tickets can be purchased at the Büro der Bach-Tage Berlin in Charlottenburg, 17 Bismarckstrasse, today until 6 p.m., or any downtown ticket agency.

Another Sommerkonzert is offered at the Lietzensee, on Sunday. Works by J.S. Bach and Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy will be presented by Annetta Schmid at the organ. The concert will be given at the church at Lietzensee, located on 4-6 Herbartstrasse. The program begins at 5 p.m., and DM8 tickets can be purchased at the door.

Jazz im Stadtpark Steglitz is the title of a jazz concert, offered at the Musikpavillon in the Steglitz park on Sunday. The Peter Neubauer Combo will be playing for your musical entertainment at 5 p.m.

There are still tickets available to the Sommer-nachtsmusik auf dem Wannsee on Sunday. Sommer-nachtsmusik is a concert, given aboard the "Havelstern," a cruiser of the Stern- und Kreisschiff-fahrt. The Ricciotti-Orchestra Amsterdam will be playing works by Ricciotti, Mozart, Wagner, de Falla, R. Strauss and Satie under the direction of Ton van der Kieft. The cruiser leaves from Anlegestelle Wannsee, opposite Wannsee Bahnhof, at 8:30 p.m., and returns at about 11 p.m. Tickets are DM23 on all seats, and can be purchased at the Stern- und Kreisschiffahrt in Zehlendorf, on 60 Sachtlebenstrasse, today until 3 p.m. Tickets are also available at any downtown ticket agency, or on the boat on Sunday.

The Musicalische Compagnie presents a concert with battle music, songs and dances from the Renaissance at Jagdschloss Grunewald, the hunting castle, on Sunday. The program is entitled "A la battaglia" and will be presented by the Ensemble für alte Musik mit historischen Instrumenten, an ensemble for ancient music, played on historical instruments. There will be two performances, beginning at 3 and 6 p.m. at the Jagdschloss. In case of rain, the concerts will begin at 4 and 7 p.m. at the Kreuz-Kirche, on 130 Hohenzollern-damm. Tickets cost DM5, and can be purchased at ticket agencies, or can be reserved by calling 693-2326.
